Vickery Hall

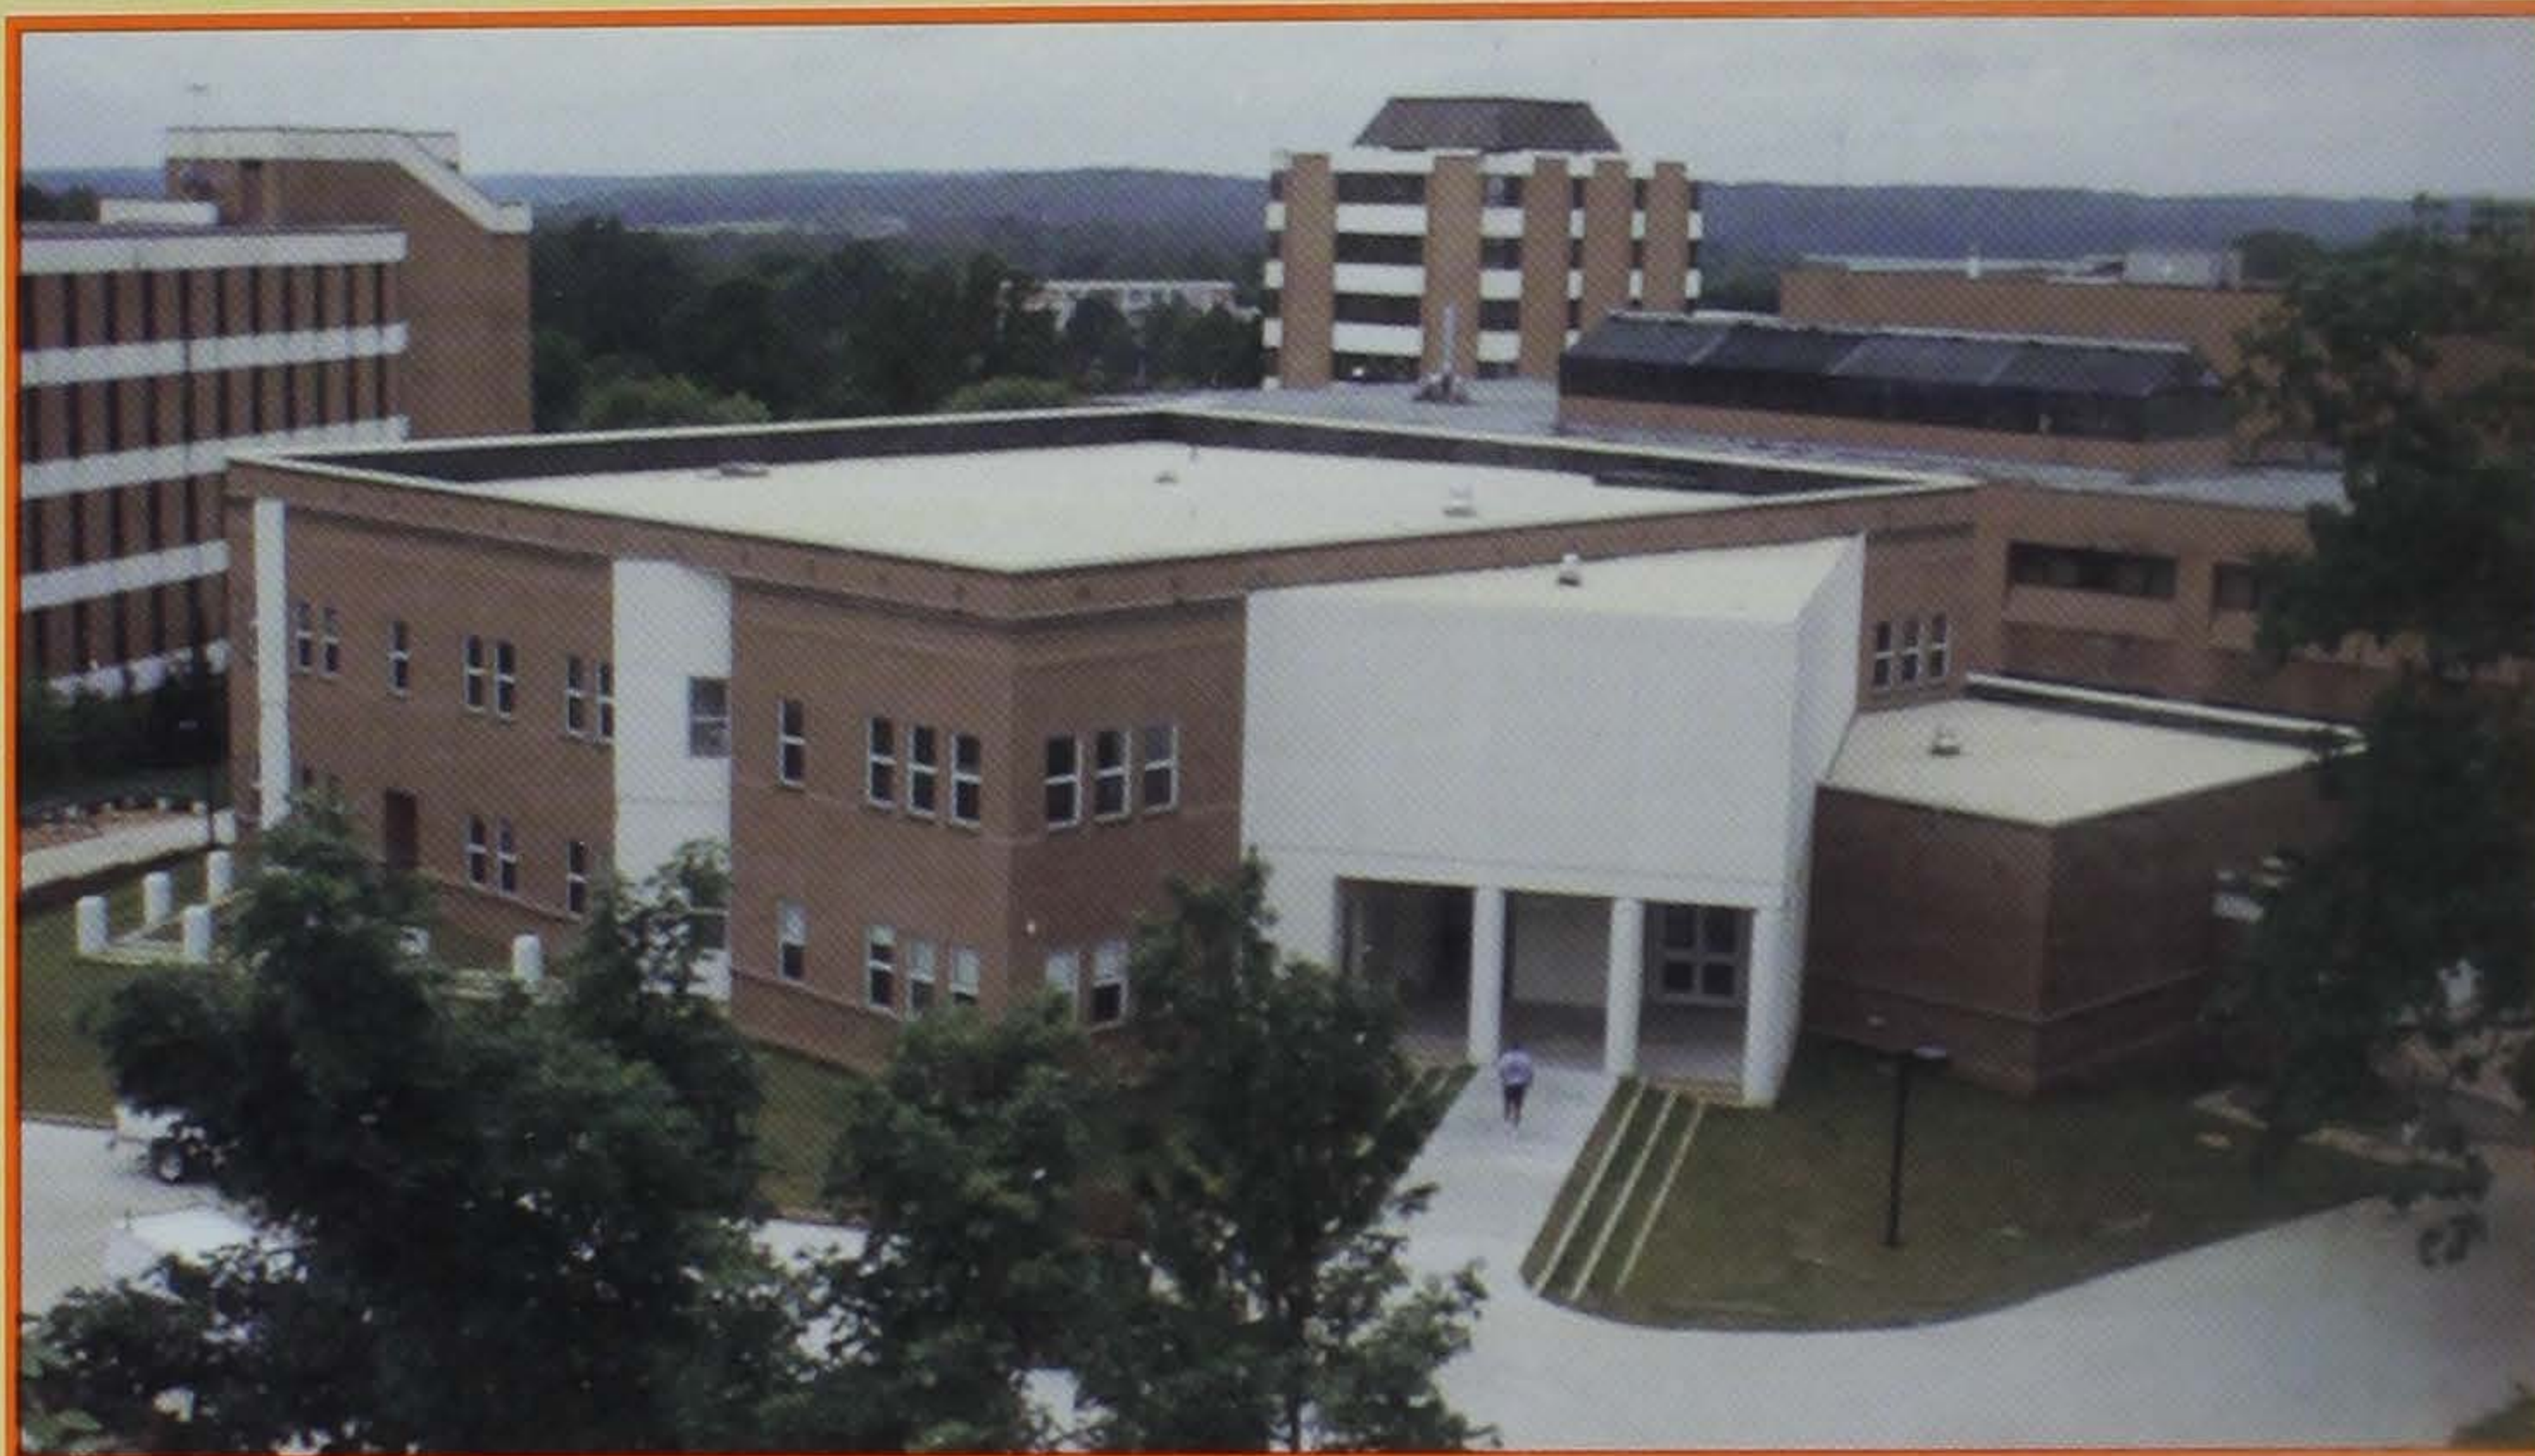

Clemson is proud to provide the best of facilities for all phases of its athletic program, from competition sites, to practice fields, to the strength training and training rooms. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

The philosophy behind Vickery Hall is to provide the Clemson student-athlete with a program that will meet his or her needs academically, in personal growth and development, and with career assistance. Vickery Hall is tangible evidence that, at Clemson, the athletic department has made a commitment to make the student-athlete's total experience a rewarding one.

The two-story, 27,000-square-foot Vickery Hall is located on Clemson's east campus and is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes. It was the first facility in the country originally constructed for the purposes of meeting the comprehensive needs of student-athletes.

The structure has 11 classrooms and 28 tutorial rooms, along with a computer facility that houses 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses. A 175-seat auditorium is used for classes, guest speakers, meetings, and review sessions. It is also the site of many guest lectures the athletic department provides for its athletes on subjects that range from money management to media relations.

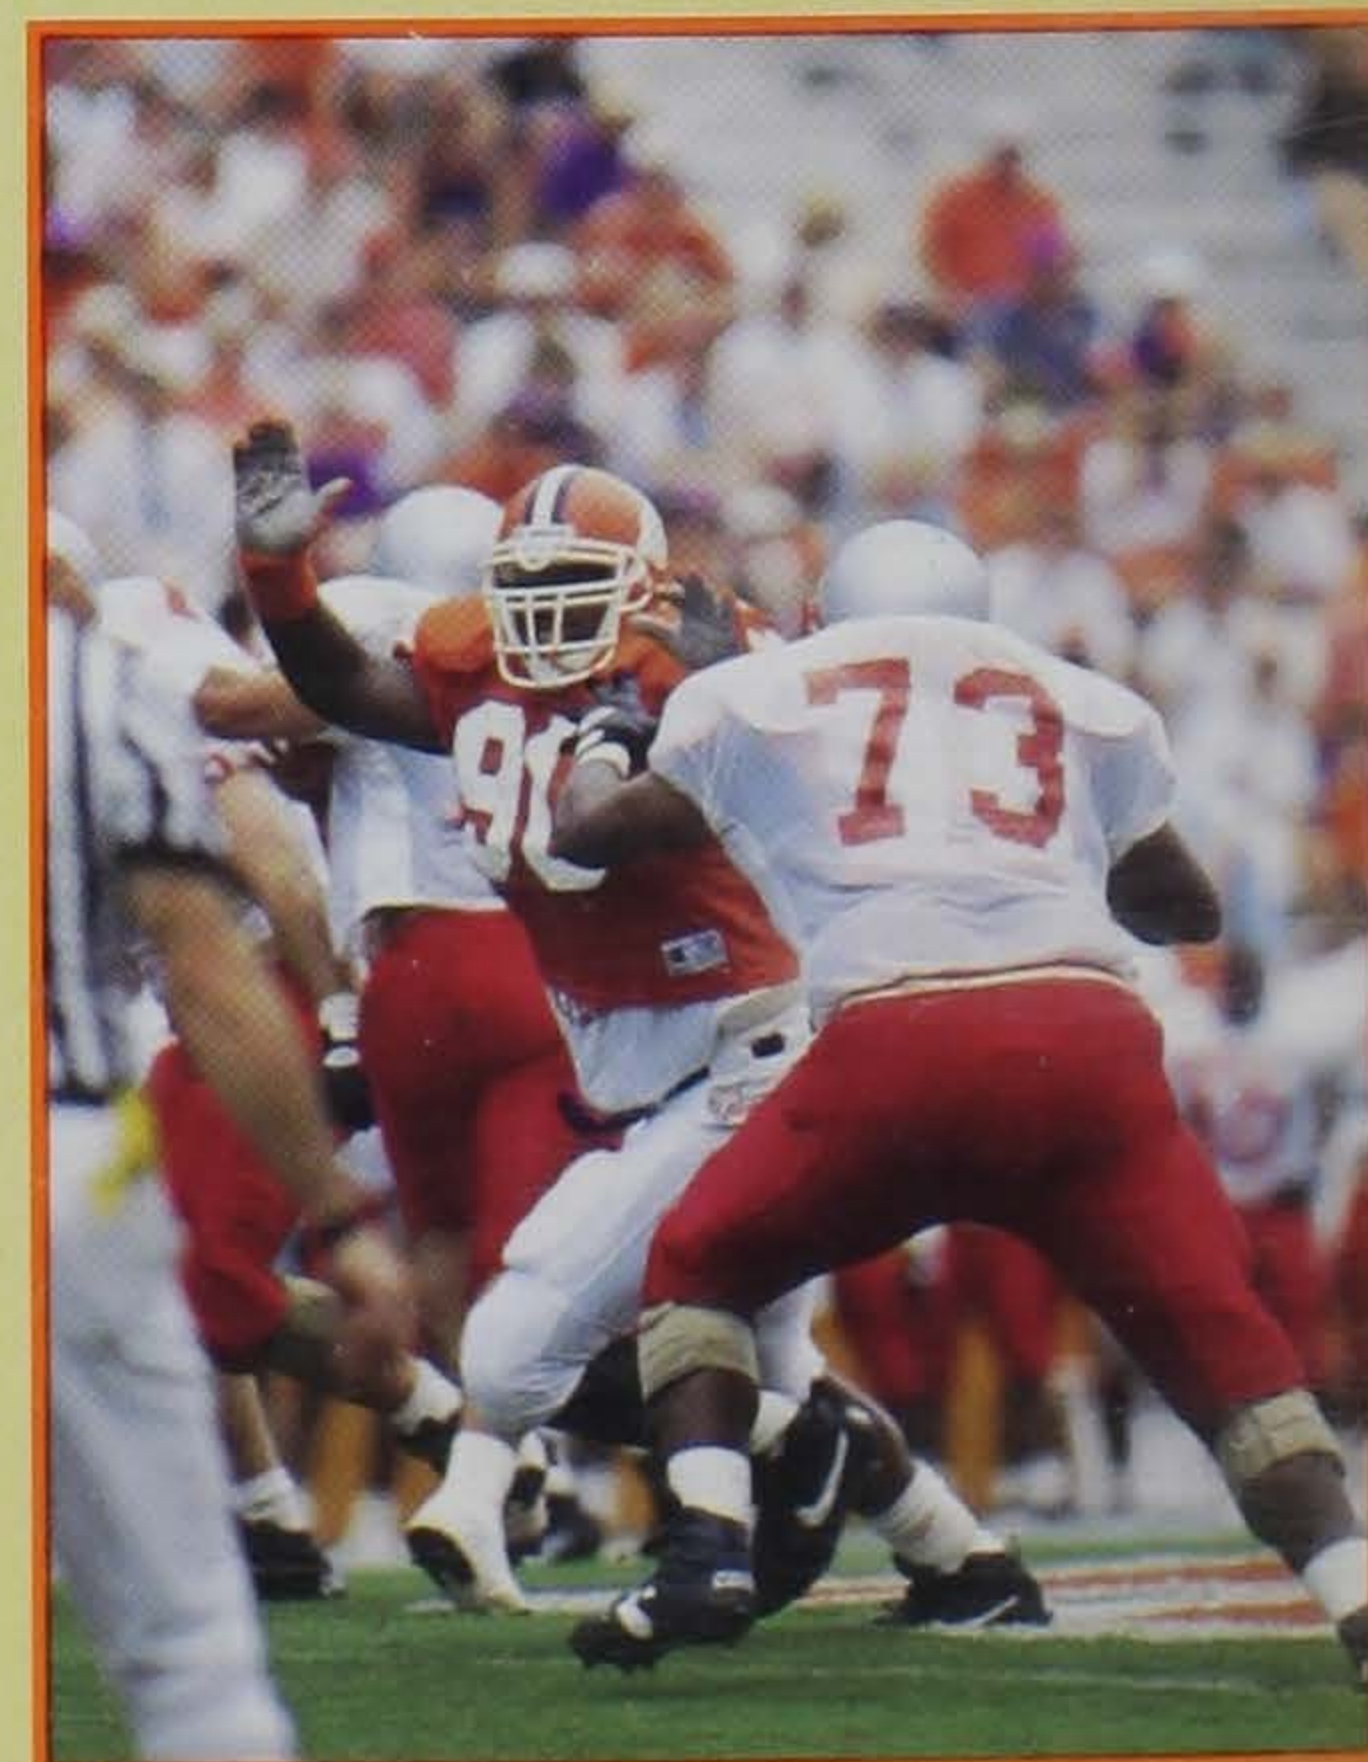

The mission of Vickery Hall is to function as a comprehensive support system to address the various transitional needs of student-athletes and, in turn, give each individual the opportunity to make the most out of his or her college experience. Vickery Hall operates under the guidelines and policies of the university and the center's staff adheres strictly to the rules and ethical conduct standards of the university. The staff consists of the director, six full-time advisors, two graduate assistants, and 50 tutors.

Vickery Hall

The Clemson football team has made good use of Vickery Hall. Since it opened in 1992 the Tiger football team has recorded the top three semester GPAs over the last 10 years.

Warren Forney, a 1992 Academic All-ACC selection, was named the 1994 recipient of Clemson University's Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award, an honor presented each year to a Clemson student for his or her service to others. The junior delivered the invocation at the May graduation exercises.

She served the Clemson SID office with distinction as a student and full time assistant for eight years.

Media Information

Tommy West holds his weekly press conference every Tuesday at Clemson Memorial Stadium.

If you're assigned to cover a game in Clemson Memorial Stadium this fall, the following hints will be helpful:

Press Entrance

Enter through Gate 13 which is located on the press box (South) side of the field at the southeast corner. If you need to pick up tickets at our press will-call, they will be at Gate 13. Come through Gate 13, and go straight ahead to the elevator, which will take you to the press box.

Press Box

There are two levels to Clemson's press box, located in the center of the club level of the South stands. The first level contains the photo deck, a dark room, the outside PA, stadium operations & security, along with booths for field telephones, radio networks, and athletic officials for Clemson.

The second level is for the print media, with seating accommodations for 104 members of the working press. This level houses Clemson's famous buffet, and the work room.

Working Credentials

We'll appreciate getting these as early as you know your assignment. Requests for working press and photo passes are honored from SPORTS EDITORS of DAILY newspapers and RADIO & TV SPORTS DIRECTORS ONLY. Make request directly to Tim Bourret Sports Information Director. There is not room for individual radio stations in the press box, only the two networks of the participating schools. Spouses, dates, non-workers, and anyone 16 years of age or younger, are not permitted in the press box.

Telephone Installation

Our press box is equipped with eight outside phone lines. It is the responsibility of each paper to make prior arrangements for season-long or individual game phone installations. Electrical and phone jacks are at each seat. Call the Clemson Telecommunications Center (803) 656-2601 to install a phone at your seat.

There are also three other phones which are reserved for radio voice reports for an hour after the game's conclusion.

Tommy West Press Conference

Coach Tommy West holds a press conference every Tuesday at the President's Box at Memorial Stadium. If you can't attend in person, the conference is available via telephone. Call Tim Bourret for the telephone information and schedule.

Locker Room Interviews

The team dressing rooms are located beneath the west end zone stands, to your left from the press box. The two SIDs will escort writers wishing postgame interviews to this area with about three minutes showing on the scoreboard clock. The Clemson dressing room is closed to all media, but Coach Tommy West will be in his interview room (Tiger Lettermen's room) and players chosen by media members will be in their interview area (underneath west stands) for post-game comments following a short team meeting. The Lettermen's room will also be the site of the opposing coach's interviews and all opposing player interviews.

1994 ACC Teleconference

The Atlantic Coast Conference offers a weekly teleconference with the school's head coach on each Wednesday throughout the football season. The teleconferences are scheduled to run from August 31 through November 23rd between 11:00 am and 12:30 pm. Listed below are the times for each head coach:

Time	Coach
11:00-11:10	Jim Caldwell, Wake Forest
11:10-11:20	George Welsh, Virginia
11:20-11:30	Mike O'Cain, N.C. State
11:30-11:40	Mack Brown, North Carolina
11:40-11:50	Mark Duffner, Maryland
11:50-12:00	Bill Lewis, Georgia Tech
12:00-12:10	Bobby Bowden, Florida St.
12:10-12:20	Fred Goldsmith, Duke
12:20-12:30	Tommy West, Clemson

1994 ACC Weekly Satellite Feed

The Atlantic Coast Conference Office will offer a one-hour satellite highlight feed of conference games highlights and coach's comments on the upcoming game on a weekly basis. The feed will take place on 12 consecutive Wednesdays beginning on August 31st and running through November 23rd. The feed will run from 10:00 am-11:00 am. The satellite coordinates are C-Band, Galaxy 7, Channel 16.

ACC Faxback

The ACC uses a "Faxback" Machine to distribute its conference stats and each school's weekly release and statistics. Members of the media may simply dial a phone number from their fax machine to retrieve the information. To access the faxback service and attain a list of code numbers call Brian Morrison of the ACC office.

'94 Tiger Outlook

15 Returning Starters)

"A new direction" is an overused theme when writing the lead for an outlook in an athletic program that features a first-year head coach. But, it is certainly appropriate for Clemson, a school located in the Northwest corner of South Carolina, that hopes to move north in the Top 25 national rankings behind a coach named West.

Tommy West took over the Clemson football program from Ken Hatfield last November 29 and promptly led the Tigers to a thrilling 14-13 victory over Kentucky in the Peach Bowl. In addition to making the offseason pleasant, and giving a big boost to a successful January and February recruiting effort, the unusual experience allowed West a jumpstart in evaluating his personnel for 1994.

"It was certainly an unusual experience," said West, who was just the second coach in NCAA history to take over a program for a bowl game without having worked on that staff earlier in the season. "We worked hard in preparation for that game and it gave us a chance to evaluate our personnel."

"It was a great experience, we received outstanding leadership from some fifth-year seniors who had been at Clemson my final year as an assistant (1989). I owe a lot to many of those players who provided leadership in preparation for that game. I think the way we won the game was also significant in terms of confidence for next season."

It was an exciting debut for West, who had been the head coach at UT-Chattanooga in the regular season. The Tigers drove 82 yards in just over a minute and scored the winning touchdown on a 21-yard pass from Patrick Sapp to Terry Smith with just 20 seconds left to down Kentucky, 14-13. It was the latest Clemson has scored a touchdown to win a game since 1958. Clemson's one-point victory over Kentucky was typical of the 9-3 Tigers of 1993, who finished the year ranked in the top 25 of both polls.

With little time to evaluate his personnel, West changed little in Clemson's offensive and defensive look for the Peach Bowl.

So what will be the Clemson look in 1994? Will Clemson hold the conservative, ground-oriented attack offensively? That style was the hallmark of Clemson's successful teams of the 1982-89 era, the term of West's first tour of duty at Clemson as an assistant under Danny Ford, and the tenet of the Ken Hatfield Era when the Tigers won 32 games in four years. Or, will Clemson be a gambling team offensively, featuring a wide open attack that was a mainstay of West's offense at UT-Chattanooga?

"We will have a multiple-I formation look and will be balanced," said West. "Balance means effectively throwing the ball. You are not balanced when someone can take your running game away by jamming the line of scrimmage and you have no alternative. It won't have to be third-and-12 for us to throw the ball. We want to get to the state where we have as much confidence in our passing game as we do in our running game."

"That will take time because you can't change an offense overnight because of personnel. You have to take a look at who you have and run the offense that will give you the best chance to win. We don't want to change Clemson's ability to be a tough, running team. You still have to be able to run the ball to be a championship team.

"But, to win championships you also have to be able to throw the ball when it's not expected. That will probably be the biggest change offensively, throwing the ball when people don't expect it. We can't be afraid to throw the ball on first down."

"In the past Clemson has had a running game and a triple-option game on offense. We are striving to have a running game and a passing game."

"Our primary philosophy on offense will be to be hard nosed."

Clemson ran a one-back set most of Spring practice, but that was due to a lack of running backs. The top three tailbacks from last year graduated and further injuries depleted the talent to the point where there were not enough healthy backs to play two at a time.

How about on defense? Clemson ranked fifth in the nation in total defense with a style featuring abandoned play of outside linebackers during West's final season at Clemson (1989) as an assistant. Or, will the Tigers be a bend-but-don't-break defense that was a key to Clemson allowing just 16.3 points a game in 1993, 15th best in the nation?

"We have the core of a tremendous defense returning. We have a chance to be a very exciting team defensively, it is the strength of our football team. We will run a multiple-50 defense. We would like to incorporate some of the features we used when I was here in the 1980s, but as I said before, we will adapt our formations and characteristics to our personnel."

"But, I would term our style of defense as attacking. We want to put pressure on the other team's offense. We will be a disguise defense...what you see won't necessarily be what you get. Playing defense is like war, if they know where you are they'll blow you up. We don't want them to know where we are prior to the snap. We want to force college quarterbacks to make decisions after the snap of the ball."

Michael Barber will be a key to Clemson's defense in 1994.

West looks to field a team with a "balanced" offense and an "attacking" defense.

West will be the first to tell you that Clemson's look offensively and defensively will be the result of input from an outstanding staff, a group of men who have collectively been to 71 bowl games as players and coaches.

The staff will be doing a lot of teaching this fall. Only six of the starting 22 positions are held by seniors.

"I feel we have one of the best staffs in the nation," said West. "We have coaches with experience, coaches who are good people, coaches who have very little egos."

"On defense we have four coaches who have experience as coordinators. Offensively it is much the same situation. Everyone has worked together very well and no one tries to grab the credit or pass on the blame. It is a real team coaching concept and that concept is passed on to the players."

"To work together and win that bowl game with little time to prepare as a staff was a significant accomplishment. I am excited about this staff."

OFFENSE

(Multiple I)

15 Returning Lettermen)

Clemson won nine games last year with an offense that controlled the clock and rarely made mistakes. The Tigers led the ACC in time of possession and turnover margin (9th in the nation), but finished last in scoring and total offense. Tommy West hopes to continue the ball control and turnover margin stats, but looks for an increase in yardage and scoring.

Based on relative levels of experience, it doesn't take a statistics research specialist at ESPN to figure out that Clemson's strength on offense will be the so-called skill positions and its weakness will be the offensive line. Seven of the top 10 offensive linemen on the 1993 team have graduated, while Clemson has three players on its roster with starting quarterback experience.

Patrick Sapp is the number-one quarterback for the Tigers entering Fall workouts. The junior has started 11 games over the last two years and has 126 career completions in 277 attempts for 1834 yards. He has thrown just seven interceptions in those 277 attempts and his .0252 career interception avoidance is best in Clemson history.

The native of Jacksonville drove the Tigers 82 yards for the winning touchdown in the Peach Bowl victory and hopes to gain momentum from that drive heading into 1994. He is capable of brilliance, as he showed when he connected on 10-14 passes for 194 yards and two scores in the win over UNLV last year. He threw for 188 yards in the first half against eventual National Champion Florida State, a game in which he picked up 225 yards in total offense.

"Patrick Sapp had a solid Spring," said West. "He completed over 55 percent of his passes in scrimmages and was 11-16 in the Spring Game. We worked a lot on the throwing game in the Spring because he already has two years of experience running the option. We will review that in the Fall. Patrick has the arm to be an outstanding passer for Clemson."

Louis Solomon has been injured more than he has been healthy over the last two years. The junior is 22-44 for 252 yards in his nine-game career, but each of the last two years he has had injury problems. He will always be remembered for engineering Clemson's 29-28 victory at Virginia in 1992. He led the Tigers to 29 straight points in the last 32 minutes of that game, the greatest comeback in Clemson history. Solomon played in six games last year, one as a starter, and hit 11-21 passes for 114 yards. For his career the nifty runner has a 5.4 rushing average on 72 attempts.

Dexter McCleon is a third returning Tiger with quarterback experience. The gifted athlete led the Tigers to wins over Virginia and South Carolina last year and started the win over Kentucky, but he is slated for duty in the secondary this year.

"Dexter McCleon and I believe we have made a decision that is best for Dexter and best for Clemson football," said West. "We were on the same wavelength, the meeting we had to discuss the matter didn't last more than five minutes." The move allows McCleon to pursue a football and baseball career at the same time. He started 50 games as an outfielder on Clemson's ACC Championship Baseball team that ranked number-one in the nation heading into the NCAA Tournament.

Clemson's top returning rusher is Emory Smith. The fullback with the sound pedigree was the offensive MVP of Clemson's Peach Bowl win over Kentucky. He gained 45 yards rushing, 57 receiving and scored a touchdown on the same Georgia Dome turf that was the theater of operation his brother Emmitt used a month later when he led the Dallas Cowboys to the Super Bowl Championship.

Smith finished last year with a rush, gaining 242 yards in just 41 carries in his last three games, all Clemson victories. He had four receptions for 74 yards and 40 knockdown blocks in his freshman season. He had a season high 113 yards in just 18 carries in a victory over a top 20 Virginia team.

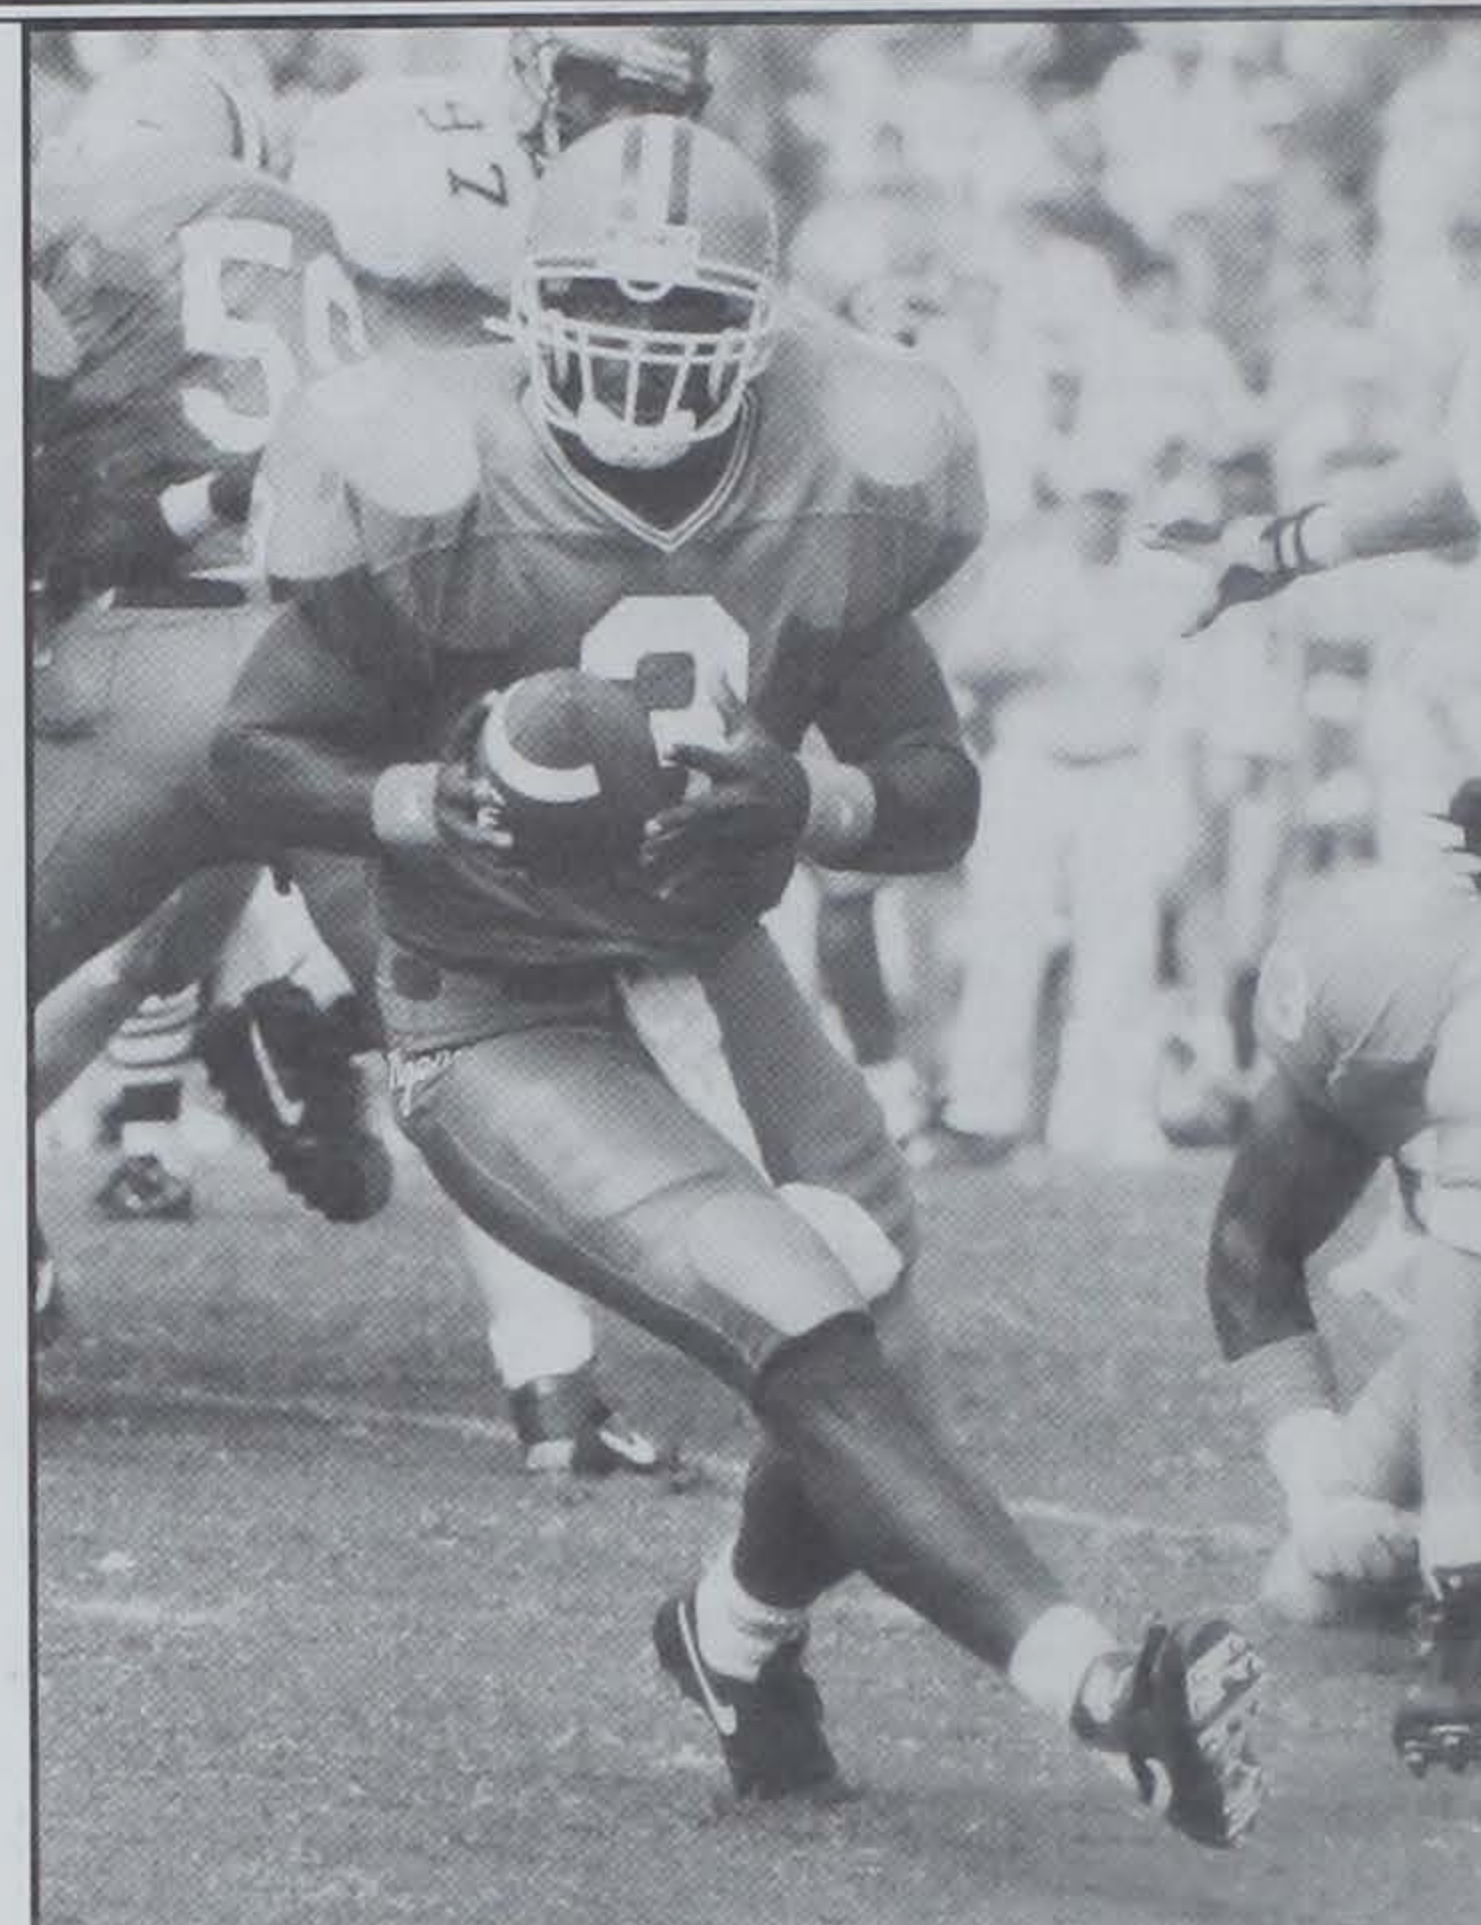

But, Smith is the only one of the top four rushers from last year's team returning. Each of the top three tailbacks were seniors so that position is wide open heading into Fall practice. Milt Shaw and Tony DeSue are the only two players on the roster who have carried the ball from the tailback position for Clemson, and that is just a total of 34 carries.

Shaw is a sophomore who had 26 rushes for 83 yards and two touchdowns in 1993. Thirty-two of those yards came on one run, perhaps the top tackle-busting gain of the season in a victory over East Tennessee State. DeSue had just eight carries and scored a touchdown.

Freshman Amel Jackson red-shirted last year and certainly will get ample opportunity to show his abilities this Fall. He is listed as #1 at tailback heading into the fall. Another talented possibility is Antwuan Wyatt, a sophomore who played wide receiver last year. Wyatt moved to tailback for the last week of Spring practice and concluded the whirlwind move with 107 yards rushing on just 14 attempts in the Spring Game, the top rushing figure of the game.

Clemson could get immediate help from the freshman class of 1994 as Coach West signed the top running back in North Carolina, Lamont Pegues, and Anthony Downs, the top running back in South Carolina. Raymond Priester, a freshman from Allendale, SC, and Kelton Dunnican, a junior college transfer from Northeast Oklahoma JC and a native of Sumter, SC, are two more highly regarded rookies.

Another area that could see a first-year player make an immediate impact is the offensive line. Gone are two-time first-team All-

Sapp is Clemson's career leader in interception avoidance.

America guard Stacy Seegars, All-ACC tackle Brent LeJeune, and starting center Bryce Nelson, prime reasons Clemson averaged over 32 minutes a game in terms of time of possession, best in the ACC.

"Our offensive line might be the all-time rebuilding challenge. In the Spring you normally develop depth. Last Spring we had to develop starters in the offensive line. The addition of Dwayne Morgan, Perez Davis and Mark Landry is key. I have a lot of faith in John Latina (offensive line coach), but he might have the biggest job of any assistant coach in America this Fall."

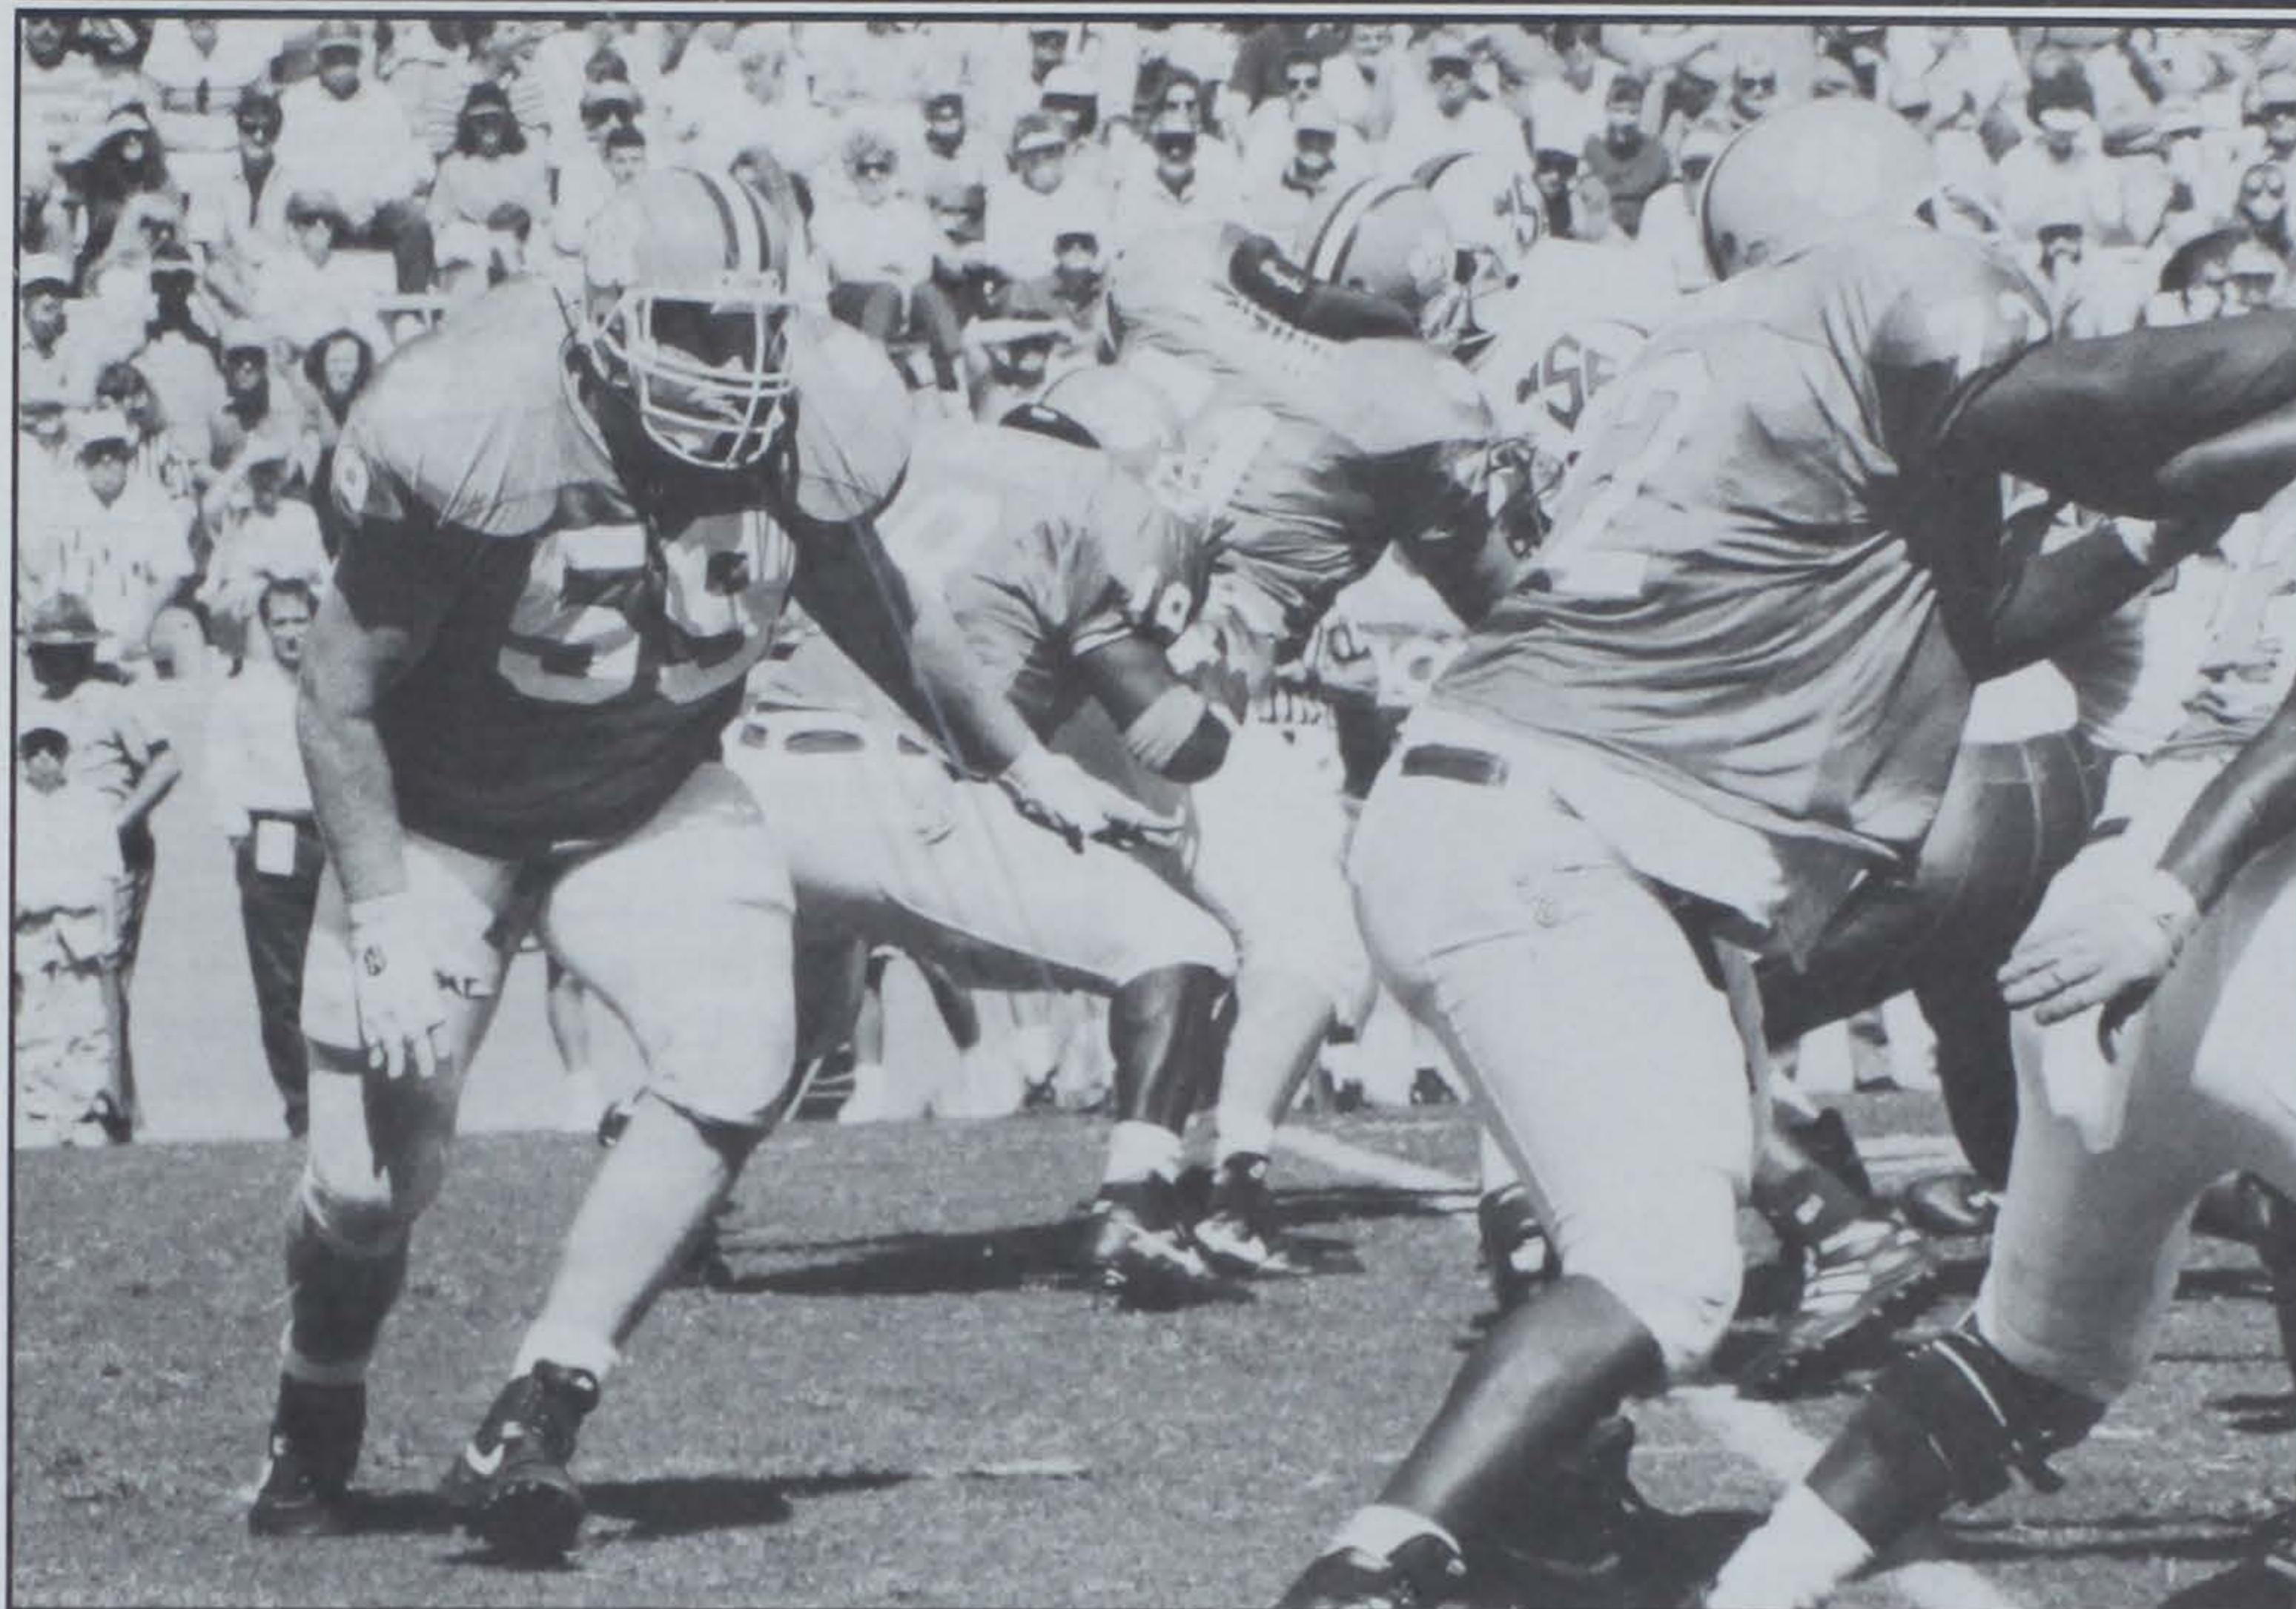

Including the tight end position, Clemson does have three starters returning in the offensive line. Will Young and Robert Jackson stand as the most experienced having served as starters in 1993. Young, a native of Clemson, started every game last year at guard and was in for 772 snaps, the fourth highest total on the team. He had a career high eight knockdown blocks against N.C. State and was a prime reason Clemson gained 250 yards on the ground that day.

Jackson, a junior and a native of Washington, DC, is a 6-6 tackle who started 10 of Clemson's 12 games last year. He missed the Kentucky game with a blood clot in his leg, but he did see at least 50 snaps in 10 other contests and should be ready to go in the Fall. He had his best all-around game in the victory over Georgia Tech when he had an 80 percent grade and seven knockdowns. Freshman Holland Postell was a high school All-American at Summerville High (SC) last year and could be one of those rare first-year freshmen who see significant playing time early. Glenn Rountree is listed as a starting guard after a solid spring. The red-shirt freshman was on defense last year.

Stephon Wynn is back at the tight end

Emory Smith closed with a rush (242 yards in last three games) and is Clemson's top returning ground gainer.

Will Young (#59) and Robert Jackson (#72) are Clemson's only returning starters on the interior offensive line.

position. The senior from Winnsboro, SC is one of Clemson's greatest comeback stories. He missed the 1992 season after being shot in the abdomen when he was attempting to break up an altercation in his hometown. He started nine games last year and had four receptions for 45 yards. He also collected 21 knockdown blocks. Lamont Hall is a red-shirt freshman who had an outstanding spring and could see a lot of action in 1994.

Clemson has only three other returning lettermen on the roster at any offensive line position. Trevor Putnam played 51 snaps at center in five games last year and should be the starter at center, while Ed Glenn earned a letter at tight end behind Wynn. Terrence Abney, who started his career on defense, lettered as a backup tackle.

There were three offensive line members of the 1994 signee class on the Clemson campus for Spring practice. Junior college transfer Perez Davis is a 6-5, 340-pound tackle from Port St. Joe, FL who was ranked among the top 15 offensive tackles in the last nation year. The fine all-around athlete was the state shotput champion in Florida in High School.

Mark Landry, a 6-4, 275-pounder, was ranked as the 16th best offensive tackle in the nation by the Max Emfinger Report and also has outstanding all-around athletic credentials. He might be the first Clemson football player in history to receive all-state lacrosse honors in high school. Landry played at Milford Academy in Connecticut last year, so the native of New Hampshire still has four years of eligibility at Clemson. Dwayne Morgan is a 6-3, 320-pound tackle who is a junior college transfer. The Griffin, GA native was a SuperPrep JUCO top 100 selection last year and a JC Gridwire All-American. West felt he was Clemson's best offensive lineman at the end of spring practice.

The wide receiver position has some talented performers, but it will be difficult to replace Clemson all-time receiving leader Terry Smith. The native of Clemson caught 162 passes for 2681 yards in his four years as a starter. He capped his career with the touchdown reception to beat Kentucky in the Peach Bowl.

Marcus Hinton, Henry Guess and Antwuan Wyatt are the letter winners returning at the receiver positions. Hinton is the top pass catcher statistically after grabbing 14 passes for 241 yards, a healthy 17.2 average. He was third on the club in catches last year and has an 18.6 average for his career.

Guess and Wyatt both played over 100 plays last year and will compete for a starting berth. Of course, Wyatt could play tailback this fall also. Bobby McGowens, a gifted athlete who was also an all-state basketball player, red-shirted last year, and has the most physically impressive frame (6-4, 192) among the wide outs. Kenya Crooks is the most highly regarded of the incoming freshmen.

"With the reduction in scholarship limits to 85 and the constant threat of a player turning pro one or two years early, you are going to see the end of red-shirting entire classes," said West. "We might play a lot of freshmen on offense this year, something we would not have dreamed of 10 years ago."

DEFENSE

(Multiple 50)

(9 Returning starters,
23 Returning Lettermen)

While there are many holes to be filled on the Clemson offensive side of the ball, there are barely enough positions to go around for defensive players returning with starting experience. Eight of the 11 starters from 1993 are back, plus another who started every game in 1992, but missed almost all of 1993 due to injury. Another returnee started six games apiece in 1991 and 1992, while another had four starts in 1993.

"We will work hand-in-hand with our offense when it comes to our defensive strategy," said West. "But, we have a chance to be very exciting on defense. I think the secondary will be strong, the defensive line will be solid. We have outstanding senior starters at linebacker, but we could use some depth because we use a lot of linebackers in our defensive schemes.

"If we can get our offense to improve to the levels of our defense we will really have something."

Five lettermen are back to fill the defensive front, but the leader of the group might be someone who did not perform during 1993. Warren Forney was third on the Clemson team in tackles in 1992 when he collected 83, including nine for losses. He started every game in 1992 and had 4.5 sacks. Also a member of the 1992 Academic All-ACC team, Forney is one of the top all-around student-athletes at Clemson.

"Warren Forney is an overachiever, I can see that already even though I have not coached him in a game. I can see that in the way he has worked to rehab his leg. He has big shoes to fill in taking over for Brentson Buckner, but he is certainly capable. He will be one of our team leaders. The positive aspect of his injury last year is that we will have him in 1994 and 1995."

Joining Forney up front should be returning starters Carlos Curry and LaMarick Simpson. Curry started every game in 1993 and has 830 snaps of experience entering his junior year. Clemson's starting middle guard the last 16 games had 56 tackles last year to rank 10th on the team, including a career high 10 against North Carolina. The consistent performer had seven tackles in the win over Kentucky in the Peach Bowl.

Simpson was eighth on the club in tackles last year with 67. He had four tackles for loss and 20 quarterback pressures. His quarterback pressure total ranked second on the club last year. Like Curry, he finished strong with 12 stops against South Carolina, only the third Clemson defensive tackle since 1985 to record that lofty a tackle total in a single game. He was named ACC Defensive Lineman-of-the-Week for that performance.

Brett Williams and Marvin Cross were both productive last year as underclassmen. Williams had 28 stops, including six behind the line of scrimmage for his 331 plays last year. Cross, a native of Durham, NC, had 25 stops for the season, including four behind the line of scrimmage. Bernard Randolph, who lettered at OLB last year, could see a lot of action on the interior line this season.

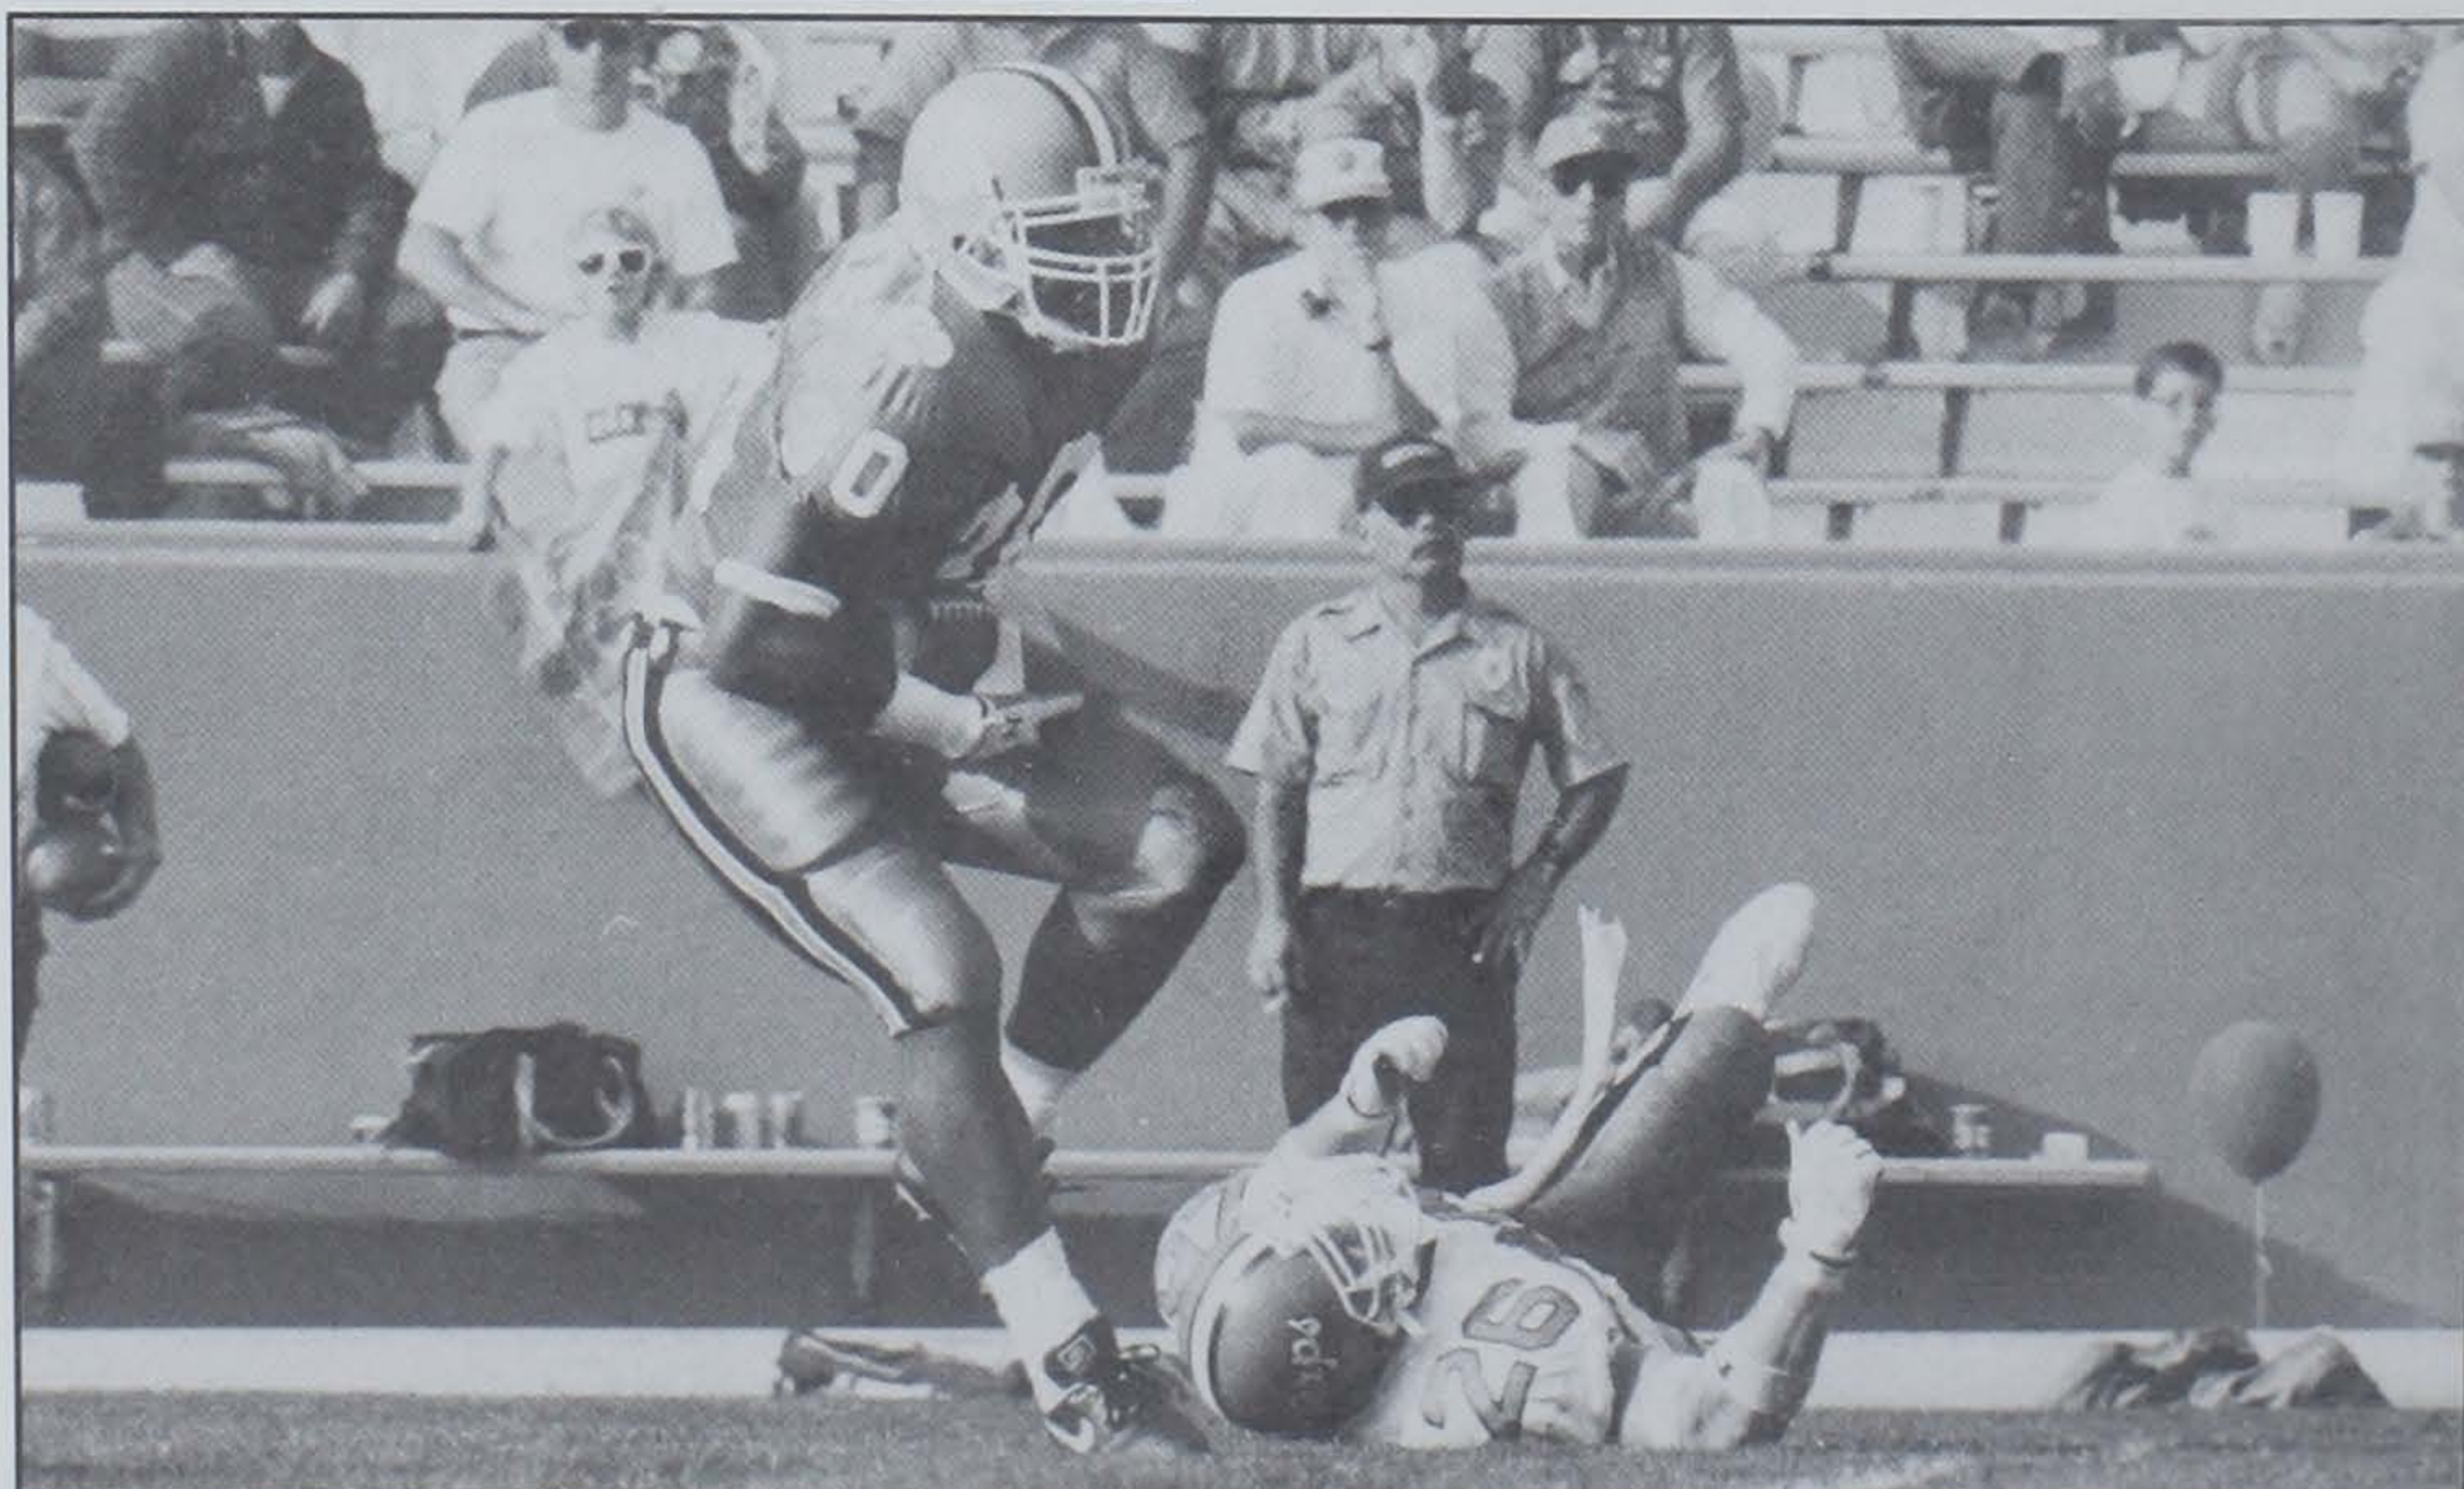

The outside linebacker positions should be held by third-team All-ACC selection Wardell Rouse and 1993 reserve, but 1991 and 1992 starter Darnell Stephens. Both are all-conference candidates at some team designation for 1994.

Rouse had 78 stops and 10 tackles for loss in 1993 to rank within the top three on the squad in both areas. His 78 tackles ranked as the most ever by a Clemson junior college transfer in his first year of play. He had 10 tackles against Kentucky to rank second on the team that night. He had his best game against Maryland when he had nine tackles, including three sacks to tie a Clemson single game record, most ever by a Clemson linebacker.

Stephens was a second-team freshman All-American and a first-team sophomore All-American in the secondary as a starter in 1991 and 1992, respectively, but was a reserve outside linebacker in 1993. He has lost 15 pounds in the off-season to improve his quickness in the aggressive linebacker position this year. Stephens had 45 stops last year and has 124 for his career. The gifted athlete has six career interceptions and 11 career pass deflections.

Darnell Stephens is in his second year as an outside linebacker after serving as a strong safety his first two seasons.

Tim Jones is the leader of the inside linebackers, the leader of the defense, and perhaps the leader of the team. The 1994 Butkus Award candidate has a chance to become the first player in Clemson history to lead the team in tackles three straight seasons. The native of Rock Hill, SC paced the team last year with 109 stops, 10th best in the ACC. The active performer has five interceptions and 11 pass deflections in his career, an example of his nose for the football, something West feels is his best asset. Time and again he came through with the big play. Just ask N.C. State who saw Jones knock down passes at the goal line on the last two plays of the game.

"Tim Jones has the physical ability and the field awareness to be a great football player for Clemson this year. He will be a leader and he has already shown that in the off-season program. His play is important to the overall performance of this football team in 1994."

Jones was a second-team All-ACC selection last year when he had five double figure tackle games. He averaged 11 tackles per outing over Clemson's three-game winning streak to finish the 1993 season.

Michael Barber is also a returning linebacker who was a key reason Clemson ranked 15th in the nation in scoring defense and 24th in rushing defense in 1993. Barber, a senior, had 72 tackles last year, including 50 first hits. He averaged a tackle every 4.29 plays last year, the best plays-per-tackle figure by a Tiger in seven seasons. He posted a career high 13 tackles in the victory at Duke and finished the season with consecutive double figure performances, 12 at South Carolina and 10 against Kentucky in just 40 plays.

Chris Franklin is a talented athlete who started five games at fullback in 1993 and gained 169 yards. He led the team in touchdowns with five despite his limited play. The sophomore will move to inside linebacker in 1994, a position he excelled in as a high school senior. Football News named him the number-one inside linebacker in the country in 1992. West has five players returning with starting experience in the secondary. And, all five of the players will be juniors or sophomores in 1994. Overall, 10 lettermen return in the secondary and none are seniors in 1994. When the 1993 season began the secondary was Clemson's area of greatest deficiency, as all four starters had never been on the field for the opening of a Clemson game. Now, a year later, it is the area of strength for West's first full season.

Andre Humphrey might be the smallest starter, regardless of position, in the ACC in terms of height, but he might be the biggest when it comes to heart. The 5-8 Humphrey, who has participated in three different sports on the varsity level at Clemson, ranked fourth on the team in tackles last year with 74. Thanks to an incredible sixth sense when it comes to kick returns, Humphrey led the team in all-purpose running with 842 yards. He set a Clemson record for kickoff return yards in a season. On top of that, the second-team All-ACC player led the team in special teams tackles and ranked third in interceptions.

Joining Humphrey at the cornerback slot could be sophomore Dexter McCleon. Without a doubt, McCleon was Clemson's most versatile football player last year and perhaps the most versatile over the last decade. He was ACC Rookie-of-the-Week as a defensive back and a quarterback, the first player in league history to be named Rookie-of-the-Week on offense and defense in the same year.

As a defender McCleon had 14 tackles and three interceptions. He also finished 11th in the nation in punt returns. Offensively, he averaged 5.4 yards a rush and quarterbacked Clemson to its most impressive game of the year from an offensive standpoint, a 470-yard effort against Virginia. He had 127 yards rushing in the contest, second highest total in Clemson history for a quarterback.

The Fords, the first twin-brother lettermen combination in Clemson football history, will also challenge for significant playing time, if not starting positions, in the secondary. Peter Ford started six games in 1993 and had 26 tackles, three passes broken up and two interceptions. Andy played in 10 games, mostly on special teams and made four tackles.

Clemson ranked 28th in the nation in passing efficiency defense last year and allowed just 11 passing touchdowns. The play of then sophomores Brian Dawkins and Welch needs just eight field goals to move into first place on the Clemson list ahead of present or former NFL kickers David Treadwell, Obed Ariri, Donald Igwebuike and Chris Gardocki.

Leomont Evans certainly had a lot to do with that fine performance.

Dawkins, a strong safety, led the team in pass deflections and recorded 66 tackles on the way to second-team All-ACC honors. He wasted little time in making a name for himself as he was ACC Defensive-Back-of-the-Week for the UNLV contest, his first career start. He had three interceptions to tie for the team lead. Evans did not make All-ACC, but he posted four more tackles than Dawkins in his 12 starts. The free safety was outstanding against Kentucky with 10 stops to tie his season high. Andy McCrorey and André Carter are fine athletes who will also see time in the secondary.

SPECIAL TEAMS

"If you are solid on defense you should be solid on special teams. And, as I have said, we should be solid on defense this year," said West. "We have some speed on defense and those players should contribute on special teams."

"Your special teams should be an extension of your offense. We plan to be wide open on special teams. We won't be afraid to try some things, reverses, fakes, whatever. We have some talented players returning who excelled in the special teams area last year and we plan to take advantage of their abilities. Starters are not exempt from playing on special teams. It is a key part of the game and many front line players will be contributing on punt returns, punt coverage, etc."

On paper it would appear the Tigers will be most effective in the return area. The players who helped Clemson to a number-nine ranking nationally in punt returns and 22nd ranking in kickoff returns are back. No less than three players on the Clemson roster have had season punt return averages that have been among the top 15 in the nation. Clemson was the only ACC team to rank in the top 25 in the nation in punt returns and kickoff returns last year. That was also a first for any Clemson team since 1959.

Dexter McCleon ranked 11th in the nation in punt returns last year with a 12.0 average, but he did not have the highest average on the Clemson team. Andre Humphrey posted a 13.8 average, but his 13 total returns were one short of the total necessary to qualify for the NCAA statistics. The duo had a 12.9 average, the seventh highest in Clemson history.

Darnell Stephens is a third player on the roster with significant accomplishments in the punt return area. The senior was eighth in the nation in punt returns as a freshman with a 14.2 average. He was moved to outside linebacker last year, so he did not handle any punt return duties. Even without last season, Stephens is seventh in Clemson history in punt return yards.

The Tigers should also be outstanding in kickoff returns as Humphrey set a Clemson record last year with 663 yards. He had a 23-yard average, fourth best in the conference and in the top 40 in the nation. Humphrey is already third in Clemson history in kickoff return yards and still has two more years to play. With another 663-yard season this year he will break Ray Williams's all-time record.

Clemson also has significant experience in terms of kicking the football. Nelson Welch has 56 career field goals, including 15 last year, and needs just eight to become Clemson's all-time leader. The senior was a third-team All-American in 1992 when he connected on 22-28, including 9-11 from 40 yards or more. He is attempting to become the first player in Clemson history to lead the team in scoring four straight years. He is already the only ACC player in history to lead the conference in scoring in consecutive seasons (1991 and 1992).

Welch, who also handled the kickoffs, split the punting work with Chris McNally in 1993. Welch averaged over 40 yards a punt in 1992 and posted a 38.5 average last year. He had 11 punts inside the 20 a year ago. McNally had a 35.2 average on 23 punts and had nine punts inside the 20. Jeff Sauve, also a pitcher on the Clemson baseball team, red-shirted last season, but could serve as the kickoff man.

1994 Clemson Football

Notes on the Tigers

Tommy West was the sixth coach in Division I annals to make his debut for a school in a bowl game.

Jones Seeks Clemson Record

Butkus Award candidate Tim Jones had an all-star campaign in 1993. He led the Clemson team with 109 tackles, 25 more than anyone else, and was a key reason Clemson ranked 15th in the nation in scoring defense. Clemson gave up more than 14 points in just three games all season.

Jones was a second-team All-ACC selection last year and has more career tackles than any other Tiger with 220. He has been Clemson's top tackler each of the last two years and can become the first player in Clemson history to lead the Tigers three years in a row if he can hold that number-one ranking on the tackle charts in 1994. He averaged 8.9 tackles a game in 1992 and had a 9.1 figure last year.

Jones finished 1993 with a rush with a dozen tackles in each of Clemson's last two regular season games, leading the team in the victories over Virginia and South Carolina. He also had nine tackles in the win over Kentucky.

The native of Rock Hill, SC might have had his best all-around game as a Tiger in the win over Virginia. Jones registered 12 tackles, broke up a pass, had a caused fumble and intercepted a pass, the fifth of his career. He was named ACC Defensive Lineman of the Week in that performance.

For the 1993 season, Jones had five double figure tackle games and now has 11 such games for his career. He has led Clemson in tackles 10 times over the last two years. He has been especially active on pass coverage. In addition to his five interceptions, he has 11 passes broken up for his career, including six in 1993. Two came on the last two plays of the N.C. State game. Both saved the game as the Tigers had a six-point lead in the closing seconds and both pass deflections took place at the goal line.

The 1994 Schedule

Each December ACC Athletic Directors meet to review the conference football schedules, so there are changes from the schedule listed in the 1993 Clemson Football Guide. This will be the case every year.

Coach Tommy West will coach his first regular season game against Furman, ironically, the team he faced in his final game as coach at UT-Chattanooga, and the same team his former boss, Danny Ford, faced in his first regular season (1979) game after taking over for the Tigers in a bowl game the previous season. Three of Clemson's first four games will be at home with the only road game prior to October 8 scheduled for Charlottesville, VA on September 17.

Clemson will have three straight road games October 8-22, the first time since 1990 and just the second time in 10 years that the Tigers have gone on the road for three straight contests. The schedule is similar to 1993 as far as ACC opponents at home and on the road. Clemson must go to Duke, Florida State and North Carolina for a second straight year. N.C. State, Maryland, Wake Forest and Georgia Tech all must come to Clemson for a second straight year. The only change is that Clemson will go to Virginia, last year the Cavs came to Clemson.

This will be one of Clemson's toughest road schedules in years as the Tigers will face 1993 bowl teams from Florida State, North Carolina and Virginia away from Death Valley. The Tigers also must go to Duke and Georgia. The Tigers have won in Athens just seven of 32 games over the years. Coach West did experience one of those wins in 1986 as an assistant coach with the Tigers.

Non Conference Opponents

As explained above, the ACC meets every December to plan the following fall's schedule. As a result, the only games that are virtually written in stone as far as dates are concerned are the non-conference games. Here is a list of Clemson's non-conference games over the next six years:

1995:	Sept. 2 Western Carolina; Oct. 7 Georgia; Nov. 18 at South Carolina
1996:	Sept. 7 Furman; Sept. 21 at Missouri; Nov. 23 South Carolina
1997:	Sept. 6 Appalachian State; Oct. 4 UTEP; Nov. 22 at South Carolina
1998:	Sept. 5 Furman; Oct. 3 at Missouri; Nov. 21 South Carolina
1999:	Sept. 4 Western Carolina; Oct. 2 Missouri; Nov. 20 at South Carolina
2000:	Sept. 30 Missouri; Oct. 7 at Tulane; Nov. 18 South Carolina

West Wins Debut in Bowl

Tommy West won his debut as Clemson coach with a 14-13 victory over Kentucky in the 1993 Peach Bowl. West became just the second coach in NCAA history to coach his first game for a school in a bowl game without having served as an assistant coach for the program in the regular season. West served the 1993 regular season as the head coach at UT-Chattanooga.

The only other coach to do it was Jeff Bower, who took over for Curley Hallman at Southern Miss for the 1990 Hall of Fame Bowl against N.C. State. The Wolfpack won that game so, West is the only coach to win a bowl game in that difficult situation. All four of the other previous instances in which a coach took over for a bowl game involved coaches who were elevated from the same staff that worked in that season.

West was the sixth coach in history, and the second Clemson coach, to take over a team for a bowl game regardless of the site of his previous job. In 1978, Danny Ford, West's former boss, took over for Charley Pell in early December when Pell took the Florida job. But, Ford had been the offensive line coach during the 1978 regular season. So Ford, at the age of 30, coached his first game at Clemson against Woody Hayes and Ohio State in the Gator Bowl. The Tigers won the contest 17-15 in what would be Hayes's last game with the Buckeyes.

As you can see by the list below, a coach has won his debut in a bowl game three times. Two of the three wins are by Clemson coaches and the other occasion was a victory scored against Clemson.

Peach Bowl 1993: Clemson 14, Kentucky 13

- ◇ Terry Smith scored the winning TD on a pass from Patrick Sapp with just 20 seconds left in the 14-13 win over Kentucky on New Year's Eve. That was the latest touchdown Clemson has scored to win a game since 1958. You have to go back to the Vanderbilt game in Nashville that season to find a later Clemson TD that decided the game. That year Harvey White scored a three-yard run with just :03 left to give Clemson a 12-7 victory.
- ◇ In the Peach Bowl, Clemson took over possession of the ball with 3:50 to go in the game, down 13-7, at the Clemson 18. The Tigers drove 82 yards for the winning score. Clemson had just four touchdown drives of 80 yards or more all year (including 98 yarder in first quarter of the Peach Bowl) prior to that possession.
- ◇ Smith broke Perry Tuttle's reception and reception yardage records in 1993 and he finished his career in dramatic fashion with his late TD catch. Smith and Tuttle now have something in common, a touchdown reception on their last catch as a Clemson Tiger in a bowl game. Tuttle's last catch as a Tiger was a 13-yard scoring pass from Homer Jordan in the third period of Clemson's 22-15 victory over Nebraska. Tuttle had 5 receptions for 56 yards in that game, Smith had 4-56 against Kentucky, his final game as a Tiger.
- ◇ Stacy Seegars, Clemson's two-time All-America offensive guard, began his Clemson career as a defensive tackle as a first-year freshman in 1989. He never played in a game at defensive tackle, but a tackle he made in the final minute of his final game might be his most memorable moment as a Tiger. It was Seegars who stripped Kentucky linebacker Marty Moore on his interception return in the game's last minute. The fumble was recovered by Brent LeJeune and Clemson scored three plays later.
- ◇ Perhaps it was fitting that red-shirt seniors had a significant impact in Tommy West's first victory as a Tiger. The red-shirt seniors were on the Clemson team in 1989, the last year West coached at Clemson. Terry Smith scored the winning touchdown, Rodney Blunt was the top rusher (15-58), Stacy Seegars forced a fumble with under a minute left to give Clemson possession for the winning touchdown and Brent LeJeune, another red-shirt senior, made the recovery. Red-shirt senior Brentson Buckner was the top tackler with a career high 12 stops.
- ◇ Tommy West has now been a part of five straight bowl victories at Clemson. As an assistant from 1986-89, West and Clemson experienced four straight bowl wins.
- ◇ The Tigers are now 26-7 lifetime in orange pants. That includes a 13-2 record in games Tommy West has been associated with. Clemson was 12-2 in orange pants when West was an assistant coach. By the way, the Peach Bowl was the first bowl game since the 1981 National Championship clinching victory over Nebraska in the Orange bowl that the Tigers had worn Orange pants.
- ◇ Clemson opponents had 12 first-and-goal possessions in the 1993 regular season and the opposition scored 11 times. But, in the first half of the Peach Bowl, the Tiger defense did not allow Kentucky to score a point on two first-and-goal situations.
- ◇ Clemson's 98-yard scoring drive in the first quarter was the second longest scoring drive in

Dexter McCleon became the first player in ACC history to be named Rookie-of-the-Week as an offensive and defensive player.

Tiger history. Only a 99-yard TD drive against Florida State in 1988 is longer. The 18 plays on the drive rank in a tie for second. The Tigers had a 19-play drive against Georgia in 1979.

Tiger Recruits Among Nation's Best

Head Coach Tommy West had a successful winter. Not only did he win the Peach Bowl in his first game as head coach, but he also had a solid recruiting season. No less than 12 of his signees for 1994 were ranked among the top 20 players in the nation at their position by noted recruiting analyst Max Emfinger. Five were chosen SuperPrep All-Americans.

According to Emfinger, Jamie Day was third among defensive backs, Brent Banasiewicz was fourth best among offensive guards, Howard Postell was ninth among offensive tackles and Howard Bartley was 10th best among defensive backs. Also, Kelton Dunnican was ranked 11th among fullbacks, Tony Plantin was 11th among defensive linemen, Anthony Downs was 12th among running backs, Kenya Crooks was 13th among receivers, Perez Davis was the 14th best offensive tackle, Mark Landry was the 16th best offensive tackle, Zane Lewis was 17th among offensive guards and Steve Duncan was 17th among running backs.

Postell was sixth among offensive linemen according to SuperPrep, Crooks was the eighth best receiver, Downs was the 10th best running back, Lamont Peques was 12th best among running backs and Landry was 29th among offensive linemen.

Tigers Back in Polls

Clemson had an overall record of 9-3 and finished ranked in the top 25 of both the AP and the USA Today polls in 1993. It marked the seventh time in the last eight years that Clemson has finished the season in the final top 25. Overall, 1993 was Clemson's 20th top 25 season in history.

Clemson's highest ranking during 1993 was a number 17 ranking by USA Today heading into the Florida State game. Clemson was ranked in each of the first three polls, snuck back into USA Today at 24th prior to the Duke game, then was out of the next five polls before coming back after defeating #16 Virginia on November 13. Clemson was ranked in the top 25 of each of the last four regular season polls.

McCleon Will Play Defense in 1994

Clemson Head Coach Tommy West has announced that Dexter McCleon will play a cornerback position when the Tigers report for practice next August. McCleon played both quarterback and cornerback last fall as a freshman.

"Dexter and I believe we have made a decision that is best for Dexter and best for Clemson football," said West. "We were on the same wavelength, the meeting we had to discuss the matter didn't last more than five minutes."

"I think this is the best decision for the team and for my future," said McCleon, who was also a outfielder for the Clemson baseball team. "It will allow me to play football and pursue my baseball career."

"I don't think moving back to the secondary (from quarterback) will be a big adjustment at all because I played there last year. The only difference will be the mental approach next fall. You have a different mindset on defense than on offense. I just want to make a contribution to the Clemson University football team and I think I will make the biggest contribution by playing in the secondary."

Even though he started just two games in the secondary in 1993, McCleon tied for the team lead in interceptions with three. The native of Meridian, MS had 14 tackles and a pass deflection for his 176 plays in the secondary last year. McCleon also ranked 11th in the nation in punt returns with 13-179, a 13.8 average.

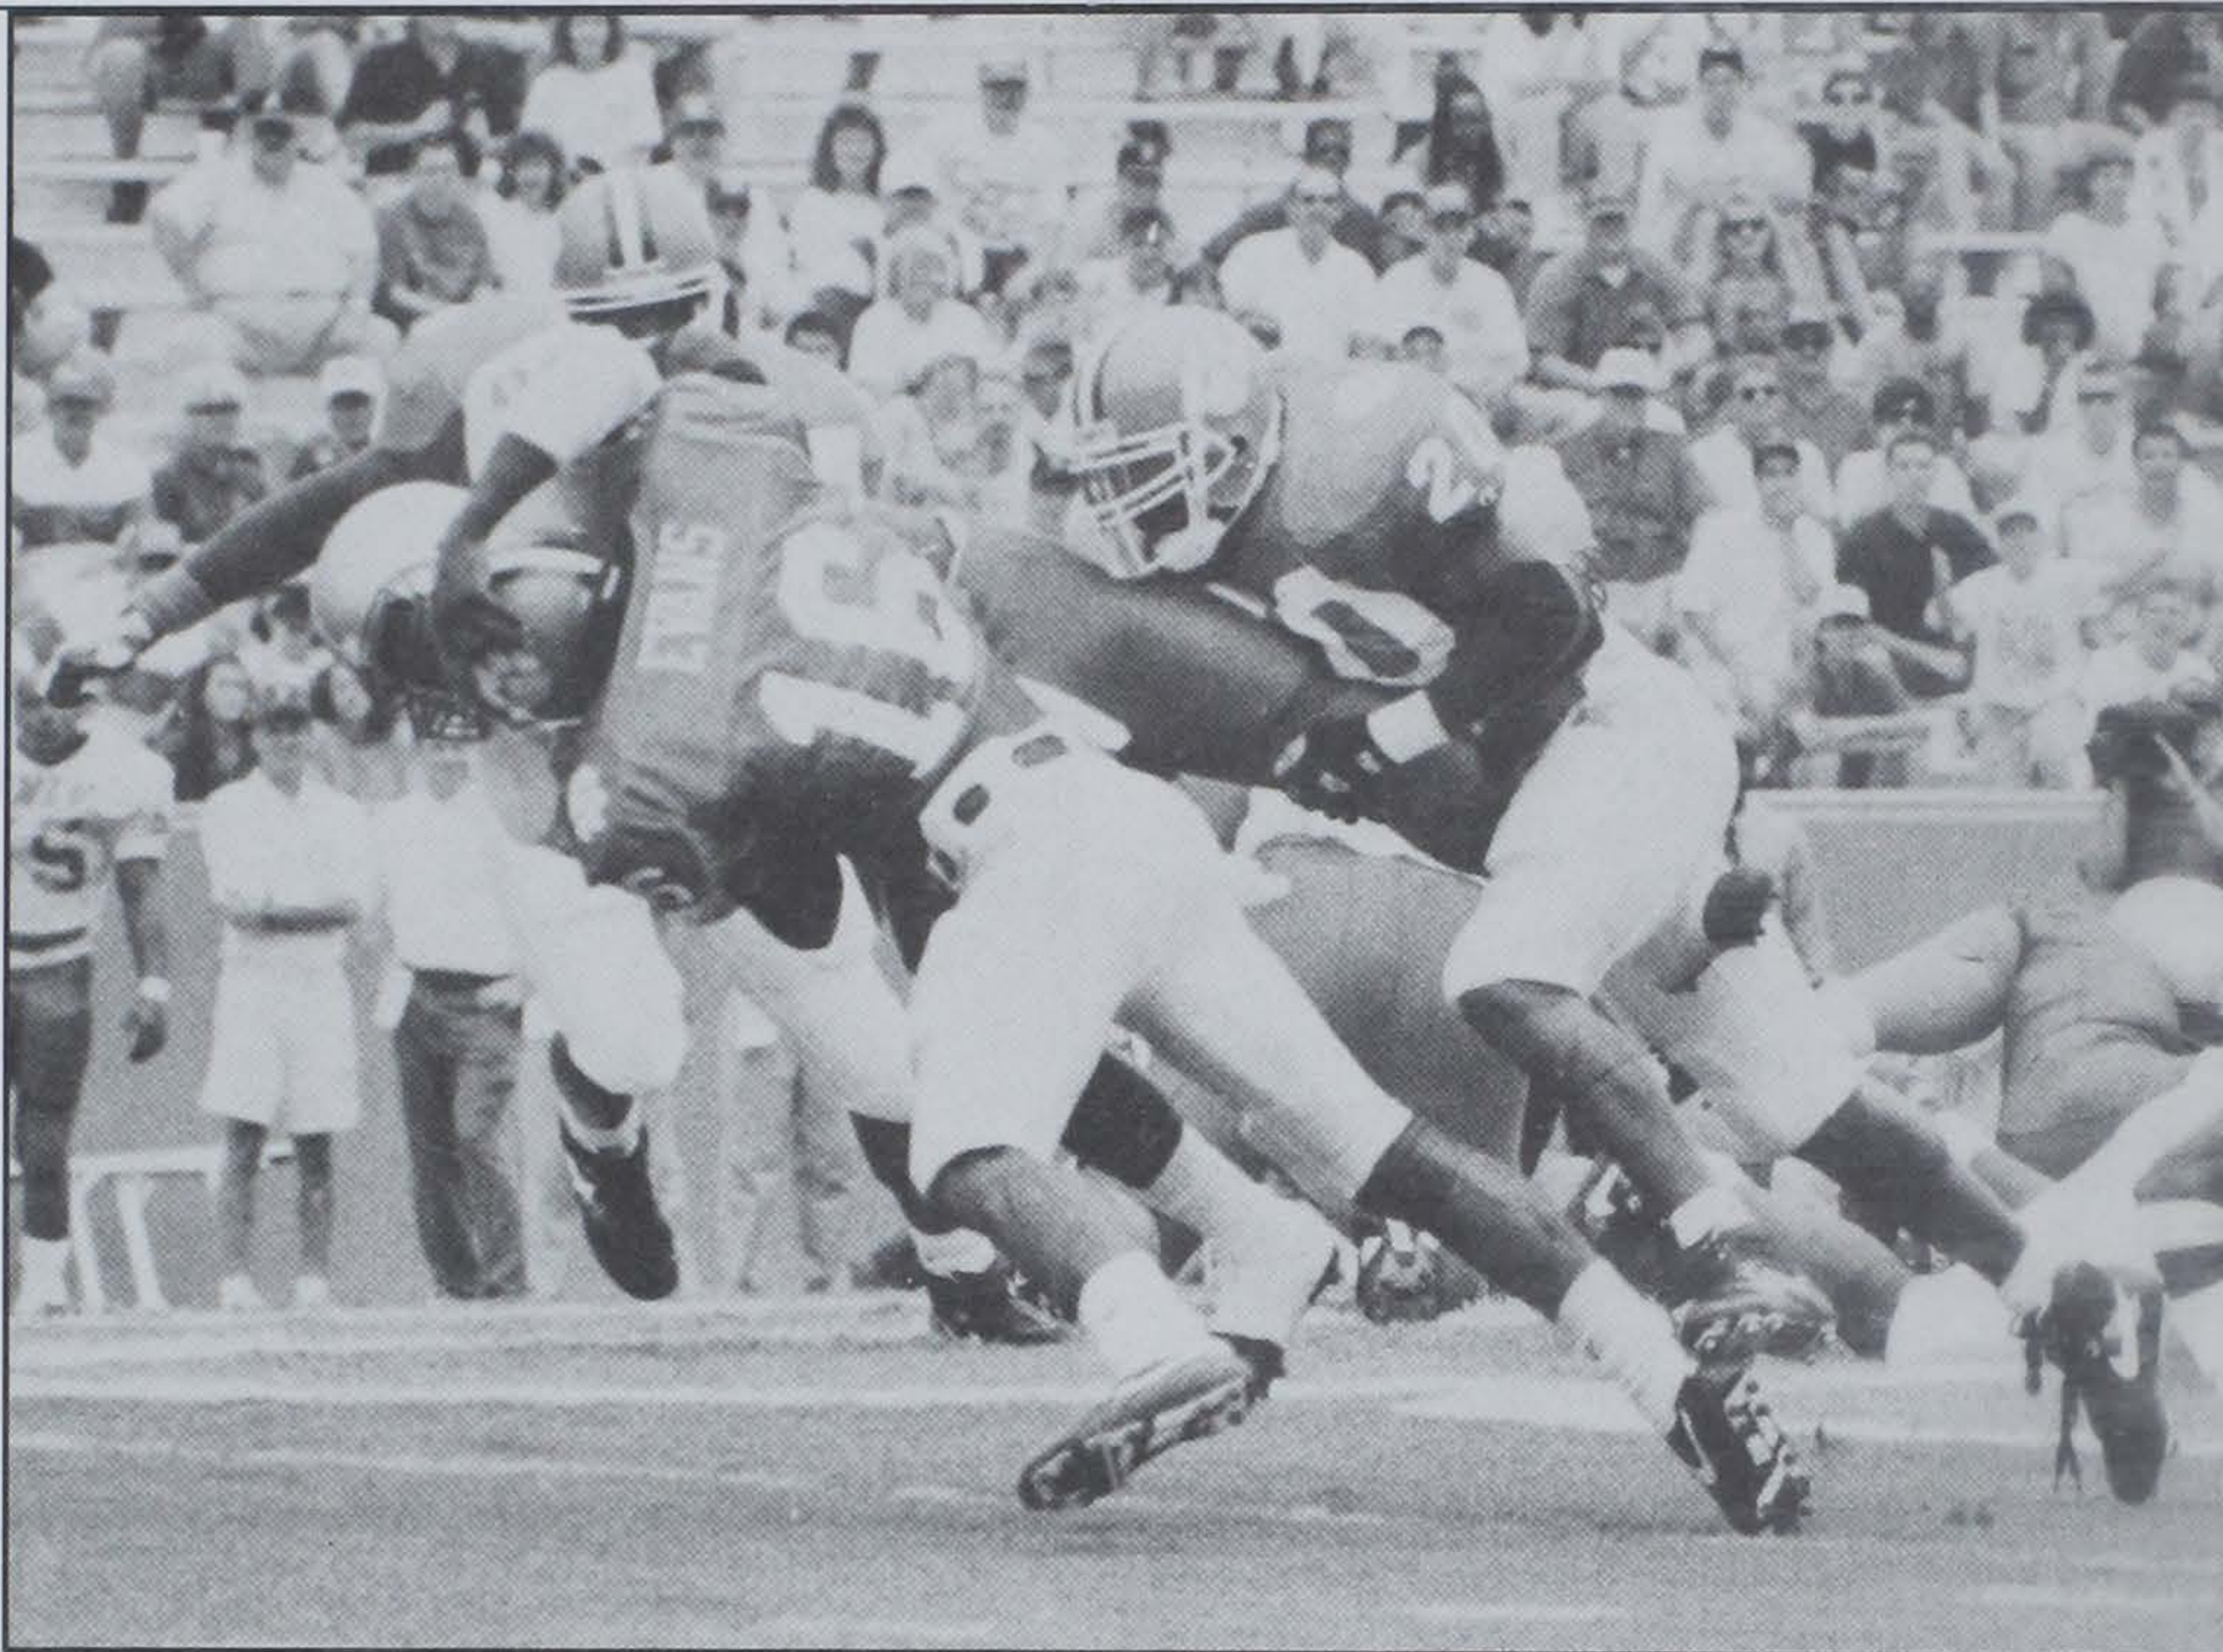

For the last three games of the season McCleon played quarterback. He had his finest game against Virginia when he rushed for 127 yards and passed for 102, just the second quarterback in the last 13 years to have over 100 yards rushing and 100 yards passing in a game. For the season, McCleon completed 12-26 passes for 211 yards. He had five interceptions and one touchdown pass. As far as rushing is concerned, he gained 156 yards in 29 attempts, a 5.4 average, best on the team.

McCleon was the ACC Rookie-of-the-Week for the Duke game when he had two interceptions, four tackles and four punt returns for 69 yards. He was also chosen ACC Rookie-of-the-Week for his quarterback performance against Virginia. He is the first player in league history to be chosen rookie of the week as an offensive player and a defensive player in the same season.

Welch Third in Scoring and Field Goals

Placekicker Nelson Welch is now third in Clemson history in total points scored with 239. He led the Tigers in scoring last season with 62 points on 15 field goals and 17 extra points. Welch ranked 14th in the nation in field goals per game, he has ranked in the top 15 in the country for each of his three years. Welch has now led Clemson in scoring for three straight years and has a chance to become the first player in Clemson history to lead the team in scoring four straight years.

The native of Greer, SC, is now 56-80 for his career in terms of field goals, including 3-3 in the win over Maryland and 3-4 in the regular season finale at South Carolina. Welch is now third in Clemson history in field goals with 56, trailing only Obed Ariri and Chris Gardocki, who both made 63 in their careers. Welch was chosen first-team All-ACC by Football News and was second-team by the ACC Sportswriters and Leomont Evans and Brian Dawkins were keys to Clemson's Top 15 scoring defense.

Associated Press. Welch has now been first or second-team All-ACC for three straight years.

Welch was a third-team AP All-American in 1992 when he made 22-28 field goals, including 9-11 from outside the 40, a Clemson record for percentage from that distance in a season.

Rouse Among Defensive Leaders

Wardell Rouse had a season high 11 tackles in the win over Virginia and 10 more in the Peach Bowl win over Kentucky. He had 78 tackles for the year, the most ever for a Clemson junior college transfer in his first year of eligibility. He was third on the team in total tackles and ranked second in tackles for loss with 10.

Rouse recorded three quarterback sacks and four total tackles behind the line of scrimmage in Clemson's shutout of Maryland. The Terps had the number-two passing team in the nation entering the game and Clemson kept Maryland out of the endzone. That offense had 20 points and 450 yards against Florida State the next week. Rouse had nine tackles overall and three sacks against Maryland.

Rouse tied the Clemson record for sacks in a game in the Maryland win. It was the seventh time a Clemson player had recorded three sacks in a game, but Rouse became the first linebacker to do it. The other Tigers who have had three sacks in a game are Michael Dean Perry (twice), Jim Stuckey, Steve Durham, Chester McGlockton and former teammate Brentson Buckner.

Rouse went from virtual obscurity coming into the season to third-team All-ACC. He will be one of Clemson's defensive leaders in 1994.

Humphrey a Top Return Man

Defensive Back Andre Humphrey earned second-team All-ACC honors as a defensive back last year. The sophomore ranked fourth on the team in tackles and was second in pass deflections with seven. But, what is most unusual about the native of Wilmington, NC is his ability to return punts and kickoffs.

Humphrey, who resembles the "Tazmanian Devil" cartoon character in his style of play, actually led the Clemson team in all-purpose running with 842 yards, 179 on punt returns and a Clemson single season record 663 on kickoff returns. Humphrey ranked 35th in the country in kickoff return average and would have been sixth in punt returns if he had one more return. He was one return short of the minimum required by NCAA stats.

He was the major reason Clemson ranked in the top 25 in the nation in both kickoff returns and punt returns as a team, the first Clemson team since 1959 to rank in the top 25 in the nation in both punt returns and kickoff returns. That 1959 team ranked seventh in punt returns and eighth in kickoff returns.

Humphrey had a 13.8 average on 13 punt returns and a 23-yard average in terms of kickoff returns. He is the first Tiger to average at least 10 yards on punt returns and 20 yards on kickoff returns since 1978 when Willie Jordan averaged 12.1 yards on punt returns and 21.1 per kickoff return.

Humphrey also led the team in interception return yards with 40 on two returns and is the first Tiger since 1938 (Shad Bryant) to lead the team in kickoff return yards, punt return yards and interception return yards in the same year.

Clemson's All-ACC Selections in 1993

Clemson had two first-team and five second-team All-ACC selections in 1993. Stacy Seegars and Brentson Buckner, the red-shirt senior leaders of the Clemson offensive and defensive lines, respectively, were the two first-team choices, while Nelson Welch, Tim Jones, Andre Humphrey, Brian Dawkins and Brent LeJeune were the second-team selections. It speaks well for Clemson's future as four of the seven players will return for next season.

It is the second season in a row that Seegars has been selected to the squad, while Buckner was a second-team choice in 1992 before moving up to the first-team in 1993. Welch was a second-team placekicker in 1992 and was on the same team again in 1993, while Jones (ILB), Humphrey (CB), Dawkins (SS) and LeJeune (OT) were chosen for the first time. Seegars, LeJeune and Buckner were all preseason first-team All-ACC selections.

Nelson Welch and Brent LeJeune both were chosen first-team All-ACC by Football News.

Clemson Secondary Key to Success

Coming into the 1993 season the secondary was suppose to be the biggest questionmark on the entire Clemson team. The Tigers lost three starters from 1992 and the fourth starter moved to outside linebacker. That left all sophomores and freshmen to hold down the top eight defensive back positions.

But, the youngsters answered the challenge. The Tigers had 17 interceptions in 1993, including seven in the last two games of the regular season, the highest season team total since 1989. Opposing teams had just a 111 passing efficiency figure and threw for just 12 TDs all season, including just four over the last eight games of the season. The Florida State Seminoles threw six of those TD passes in the second game to account for half of the TD passes allowed by the Clemson secondary in 1993.

The Clemson secondary has 10 lettermen returning for 1994 and none of them are seniors. Five players return who started in the secondary at one time or another last season.

Clemson in ACC Stats

Clemson led the ACC in punt returns last year with a team average of 12.9 yards per return. That figure ranked eighth in the nation. The Tigers had two players who averaged over 12 yards a return, Dexter McCleon and Andre Humphrey. McCleon ranked 11th in the nation with his 12.0 average, while Humphrey missed qualifying for the NCAA stats by one return. He had a 13.8 average and would have been in the top six in the nation with just one more return.

Clemson also had a fine season in terms of kickoff returns. The Tigers averaged 22.3 yards per return and ranked 23rd in the nation. Clemson was the only ACC team to rank in the top 25 in both kickoff returns and punt returns.

Clemson had a solid year defensively in terms of ACC stats. They were second in scoring defense (15th in the nation) allowing 16.3 points a game. The Tigers allowed just 12 points a game over the last nine contests of the season. Clemson was also third in rushing defense (24th in the nation), third in passing efficiency defense (28th nationally) and fourth in total defense.

Individually, Terry Smith and Nelson Welch were the only Tigers to lead the ACC in a statistical category. Smith paced the conference in yards per reception with a 21.1 average (given a min of 20 receptions). Smith had 34 catches for 720 yards for the season, the first Tiger in history to average over 20 yards a catch and make at least 30 receptions in a season. Welch had 15 field goals in 11 games, an average of 1.4 per game. He also ranked 14th in the nation in field goals per game.

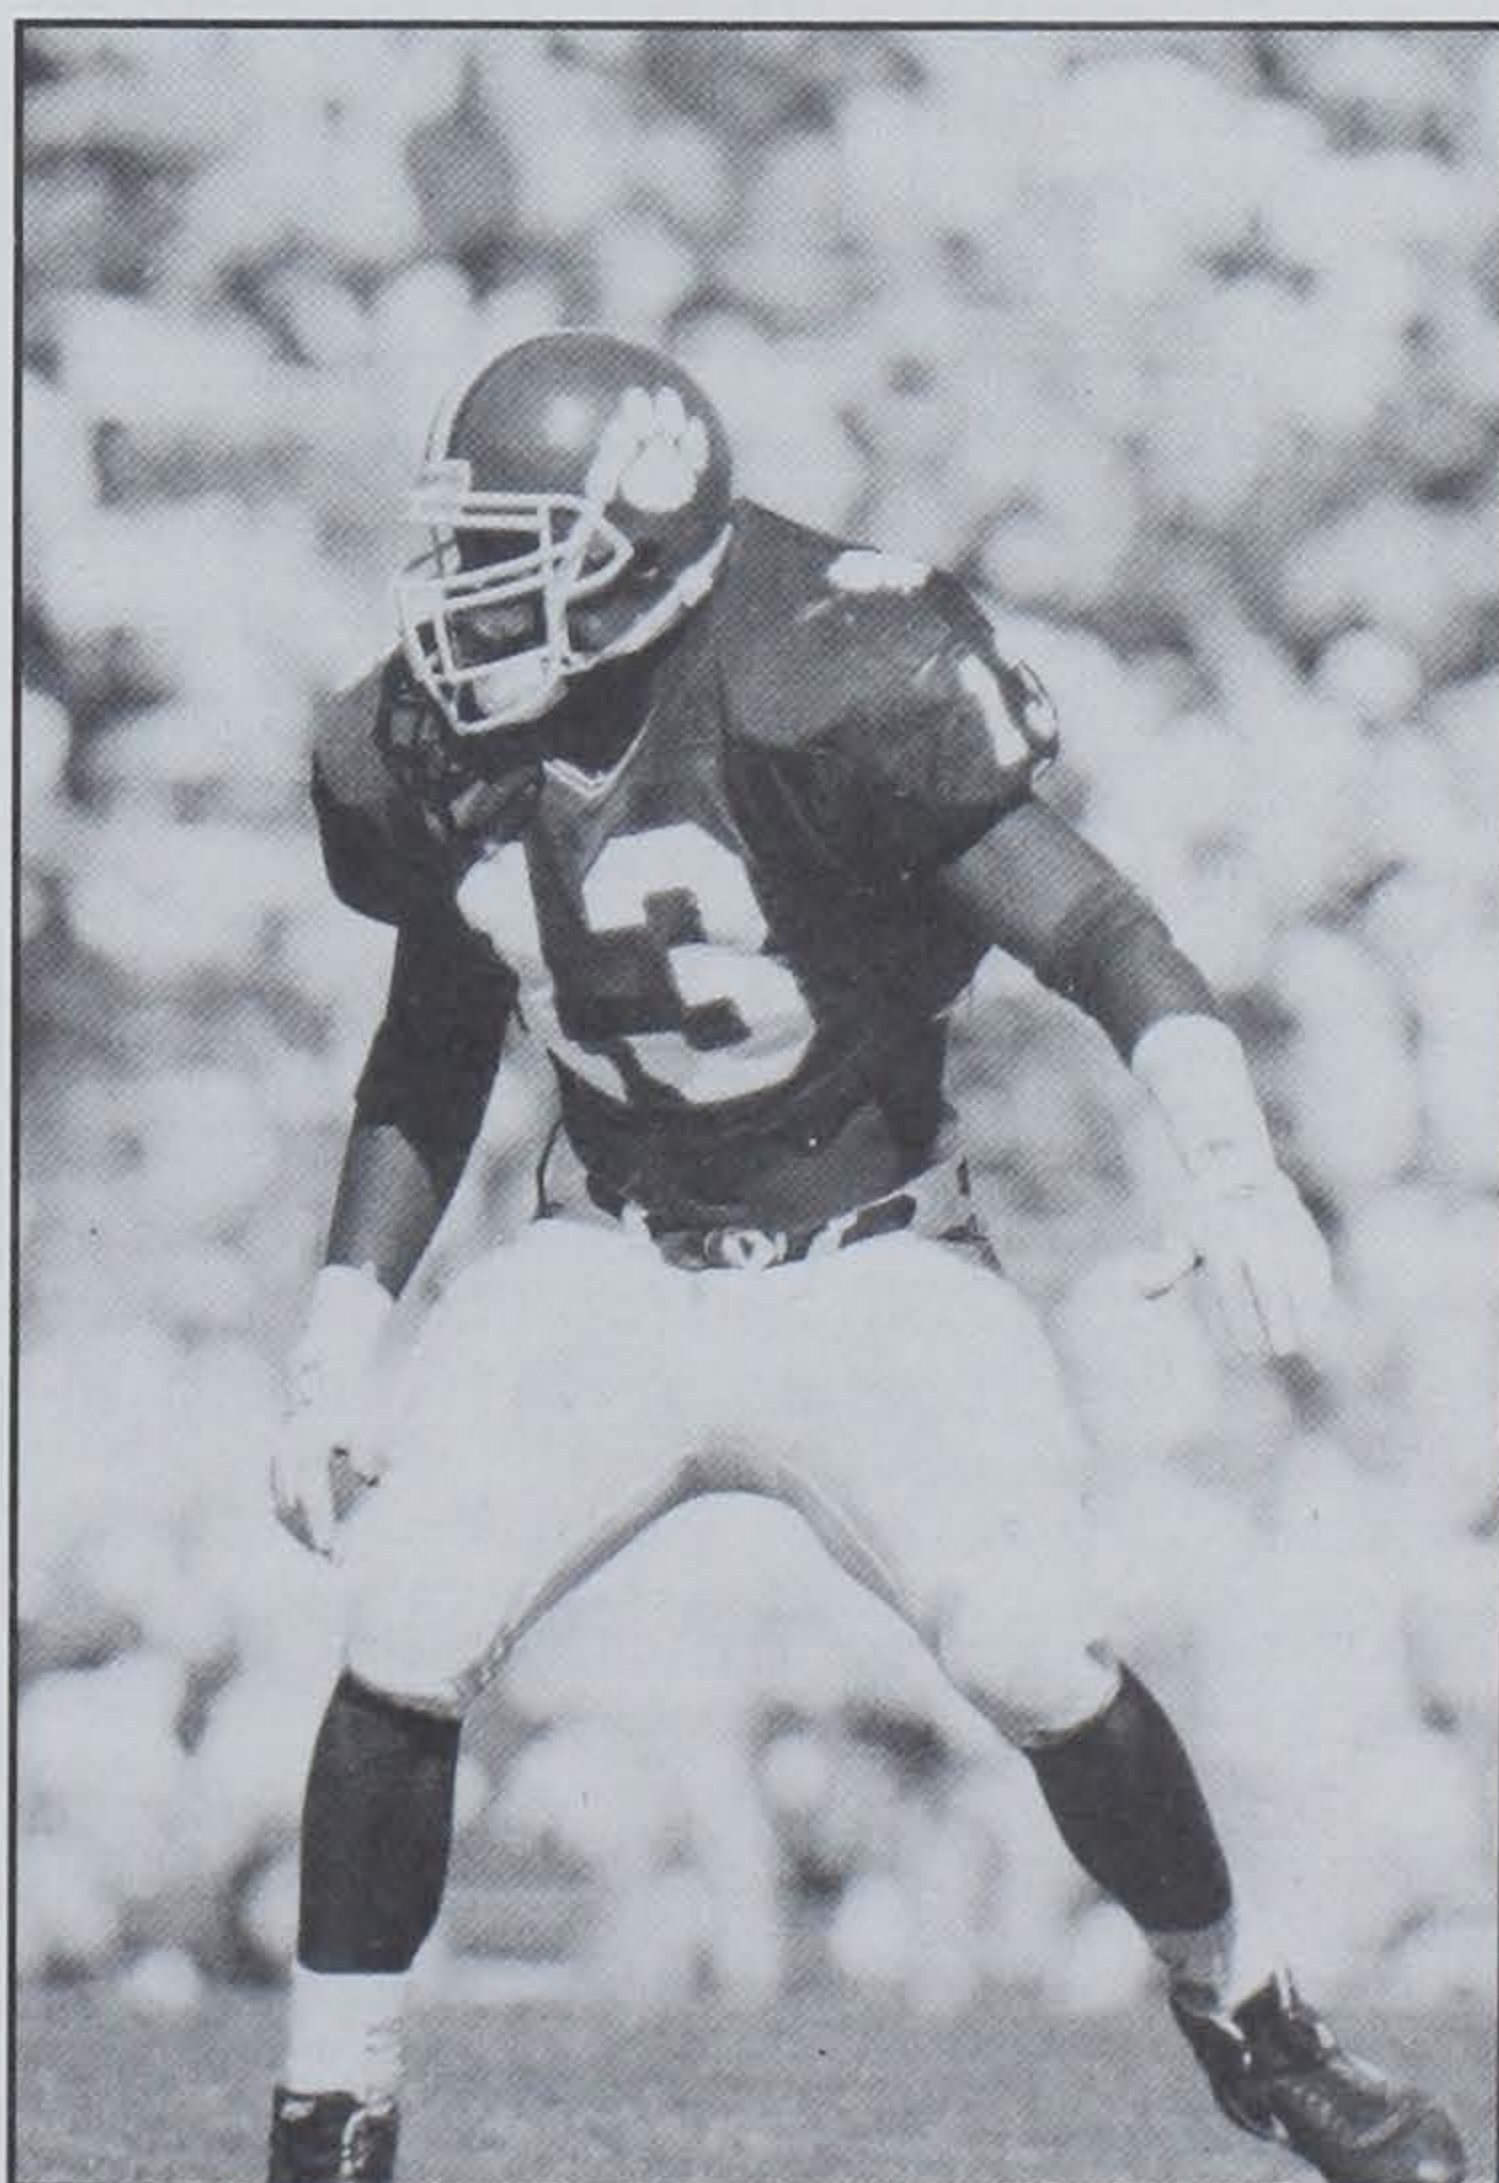

In other areas, Derrick Witherspoon was 11th in rushing, Terry Smith was fifth in reception yards per game, Patrick Sapp was 10th in total offense, Nelson Welch was 10th in scoring, Dexter McCleon was second in punt returns, Andre Humphrey was fourth in kickoff returns, Brian Dawkins was third in passes broken up with nine, Andre Humphrey was tied for fourth in passes broken up with seven, and Tim Jones was 10th in tackles.

Note that ACC stats do not include bowl games.

Fullback Production

Clemson had its most productive performance from the fullback position in 10 years in the win over 16th-ranked Virginia. The Tigers gained 175 yards rushing from the position as starter Emory Smith gained 113 yards in 18 attempts, and Chris Franklin had 8-62 and a touchdown. It was the most yards from the fullback position in a single game since November 12, 1983 when the Tigers gained 260 yards from that position. Kevin Mack had 186 yards in his final home game in the 52-27 win over Maryland. Reserve fullback Braxton Williams picked up an additional 74 yards rushing that day.

Clemson had just 278 yards rushing from the fullback position entering the Virginia game, then had 175 yards in the win over the Cavs. The 113 yards rushing by Smith were a season high and the most by a Clemson fullback since Rudy Harris (now with Tampa Bay Bucs) had 126 yards against Duke in 1991. Smith also had seven knockdown blocks in the contest. The brother of Dallas Cowboys All-Pro Emmitt Smith, Emory was Clemson's top rusher over the last two games of the season with 197 yards. He had 84 yards to lead the rushing attack against South Carolina and finished the season second on the team in rushing with 342 yards.

Smith then won the offensive MVP award at the Peach Bowl when he had 47 yards rushing and 57 receiving. He scored a TD and set up another with a 57-yard reception. Smith averaged six yards a rush over the last three games of the season.

Nine of Top 11 Tacklers to Return

Clemson had nine underclassmen starters on the 1993 team and 9 of the top 11 tacklers are players slated to return for 1994. In fact, six of the top 11 tacklers were sophomores. The only senior among the top 11 tacklers was defensive tackle Brentson Buckner. He had 84 stops to rank second on the team and first on the club in tackles for loss and sacks, so he is a big loss. However, there is someone returning for 1994 with considerable experience to take his place. Warren Forney, Clemson's number-three tackler in 1992 with 83 stops, missed 1993 with a knee injury and will receive a medical red-shirt. He will move back into the starting lineup next year and still have eligibility for 1995.

The only other senior starter on the Clemson defense in 1993 was outside linebacker Harom Pringle. He had 23 tackles in 12 games and started all 12 contests. However, Darnell Stephens played just as many snaps on defense and actually had twice as many tackles with 45. Stephens started as a freshman and sophomore and now has 14 starts under his belt. Sophomore Derek Burnette was dismissed from the team over the summer, but senior Michael Barber has started many games in his first three years. Thus, you can make a case that Clemson will have 11 starters returning on defense in 1994.

Tigers in NCAA Stats, 1993

- ✓ Terry Smith ranked 43rd in the nation in reception yards per game with 72.0
- ✓ Dexter McCleon ranked 11th in the nation in punt return average with 12.0
- ✓ Andre Humphrey ranked 35th in kickoff returns with a 23.26 average

Defense Forced Turnovers

Clemson ranked ninth in the nation and first in the ACC in turnover margin in 1993. Clemson was successful forcing turnovers over the last five games of the regular season as opponents committed 16 turnovers in those five games. The Tiger offense committed just seven, including five in one game against Virginia.

But, the Clemson defense forced five turnovers against Virginia, the highest total since the 1990 Appalachian State game. Included in the total against Virginia were four interceptions, the most by the Clemson defense since the 1992 Florida State game when the Tigers picked off four Charlie Ward passes.

Clemson had just two games all year in which it committed more turnovers than it forced. Florida State had just two turnovers on offense, while Clemson had three in the Seminoles victory over the Tigers. Kentucky forced three Clemson turnovers, while the Wildcats had just two on offense in the Peach Bowl.

The Tigers forced 30 turnovers and committed just 19 for the season for a +0.9 turnover margin. The Tigers offense actually committed just 16 turnovers all year. Twice Clemson defenders fumbled on interception returns and once a punt returner lost a fumble.

Clemson running backs were especially effective in terms of handling the ball last year. A Clemson running back did not lose a fumble after the Georgia Tech game on September 25th and running backs had just two lost fumbles in 441 rushing attempts all season.

Buckner Finishes Among Best Defensive Linemen

Brentson Buckner was a key to Clemson's defensive effort all season, but he played especially well late in the season. The 300-pound senior had at least seven tackles in his last six games and averaged nine tackles a game during this time. Buckner ended his career with a career high 12 tackles against Kentucky in the Peach Bowl, was named the Defensive MVP of the game and was chosen to the Football News All-Bowl team.

With a sack against Maryland he moved into the top five in Clemson history in tackles for loss and sacks. Buckner ended his career with 22 sacks, third in Clemson history. Only the Perry Brothers, Michael Dean (28) and William (25), have more career sacks than Buckner. Buckner became the fifth player in Clemson history to record at least 40 tackles for loss when he had two against Maryland. He had three in the Peach Bowl and ended his career with 46, fourth best in Clemson history.

It is interesting to note that the other eight players on the following list of Clemson sack leaders all played in the NFL. In fact six (Michael Dean Perry, William Perry, Chester McGlockton, Levon Kirkland, Wayne Simmons and Ashley Sheppard) are still in the NFL.

Smith Breaks Reception and Yardage Record

Terry Smith had eight receptions for 120 yards and broke the Clemson career record for receptions at North Carolina on November 6. He came back the next week and broke the reception yardage record against Virginia in his final home game. He had two receptions for 96 yards, including a 73-yard touchdown that proved to be the record setter in the win over Virginia. Smith ended his career with 162 catches, breaking the record of 150 by Perry Tuttle. He had 2681 yards, breaking Tuttle's mark of 2534.

Smith ended his career in dramatic fashion, as his 21-yard touchdown reception with just 20 seconds left gave Clemson a 14-13 victory in the Peach Bowl. He had four catches for 56 yards in the contest. Smith finished the season with 38 catches for 776 yards, a 20.4 average. He ranked 43rd in the nation in reception yards per game and became the only player in Clemson history to average over 20 yards a reception and make at least 30 catches in a season.

Peach Bowl Final Game for Tiger Seniors

The Peach Bowl was the final game for Clemson's 26 seniors. This group competed with distinction in Death Valley over the last four years compiling a 22-3-1 record at home, an .865 winning percentage. Only the senior group of 1990 had more wins in Death Valley, as that group had a 23-3 record in four years at home.

The 1993 seniors had three top 20 seasons, won two bowl games, competed in three bowl contests, won an ACC championship and gained seven wins over ranked teams, the sixth most ranked wins for a class in Clemson history. The group also won 32 games, an average of eight per season.

The class included the school's all-time leading pass receiver, Terry Smith, and number-three ranked quarterback sack man in school history in Brentson Buckner. First-team AP All-American Stacy Seegars ranks as one of Clemson's all-time linemen with 208 knockdown blocks. The group also has a 2,000-yard rusher in Rodney Blunt. This is the first Clemson class to have both a 2,000-yard rusher and 2,000-yard receiver.

Also members of the class are: Khang Martin, WR, Seneca, SC; Richard Moncrief, QB, Montgomery, AL; Bryce Nelson, C, Lennexa, KN; Mark Owens, DT, Fountain

Tigers in the NFL

There were 28 former Clemson players on NFL rosters last year. This includes Larry Ryans, who was on the "practice squad" with the Detroit Lions and Terry Allen who was on injured reserve with the Minnesota Vikings.

The Chicago Bears had the most former Tigers with four (Gardocki, Jennings, Woolford and Perry), while the Seattle Seahawks had three with Bryant, Johnson and Thomas. Jeff Bostic was the veteran of the group as he finished his 14th and final pro season, while Jeff Bryant concluded his 12th season with Seattle. The list included six rookies (Rudy Harris, James Trapp, Ashley Sheppard, Larry Ryans, Wayne Simmons and Robert O'Neal).

There were a record 26 former Tigers on active NFL rosters at some point in the season. Clemson has had between 18 and 26 players on NFL active rosters each of the last eight years.

It is also interesting to note that five linebackers off the 1990 team (Levon Kirkland, Wayne Simmons, Ashley Sheppard, Ed McDaniel and John Johnson) were in the NFL. Clemson's linebacker group that year was named the best in the nation by the Sporting News preseason issue. Clemson had the number-one defense in the nation in 1990 in terms of total defense and by looking at the NFL it is easy to see why. No less than 10 players off that defense were on NFL rosters last year.

Michael Dean Perry had another Pro Bowl season in 1993 and was one of 26 former Tigers on active rosters.

Clemson had 23 players on opening day rosters last year, the 11th highest total in the nation. The list of leaders was: UCLA 37, Southern Cal 36, Miami (FL) 36, Washington 32, Florida State 30, Notre Dame 30, Auburn 28, Penn State 28, Tennessee 28, Pittsburgh 26, Clemson 23, Texas A&M 22, Nebraska 22, Michigan 21 and North Carolina 21.

Clemson Glossary

The Ford twins, Peter and Andy, are the first twin brother combination in Clemson football history to earn a letter.

Address

If you are mailing something to the Clemson SID office, address it to Tim Bourret, Assistant Athletic Director for Media Relations, PO Box 632, Clemson, SC 29633. The Federal express address (they don't like PO Boxes) is 100 Perimeter Road, Clemson, SC 29633. The Address of Clemson Memorial Stadium is Williamson Road, Clemson, SC 29633.

Anniversary

This is the 125th year of college football. The first game was played in 1869 between Rutgers and Princeton. Clemson played its first game in 1896. It wasn't that Clemson was behind everyone else in establishing a football program. Afterall, Clemson was not founded until 1889.

This is also the 40th anniversary of the Clemson Tiger mascot. The Tiger first came on the scene at the beginning of the 1954 football season. Now there are two Tigers, as the Tiger Cub was introduced during the 1993 football season.

As far as other anniversaries are concerned: IPTAY began 60 years ago, Clemson's first bowl season was 55 years ago, and Frank Howard's final season as head coach was 25 years ago. It has been 15 years since Danny Ford coached his first regular season game against Furman, after taking over the coaching reigns for the bowl game at the end of the previous season. History does repeat itself.

Antonio, John

This man holds a special place in the hearts of Tiger fans and in the pocketbooks of sports marketing entrepreneurs. Antonio invented the Tiger paw, the distinctive logo of the Clemson athletic teams that has become synonymous with this University's athletic success. Antonio was an innovative account executive with Henderson Advertising in Greenville, and prior to the 1970 season, unveiled the Paw as Clemson's new logo. It has shown up all over the country on items owned by Clemson fans. Many institutions with a feline as mascot have used the logo, or an impression of it. The painting of the Tiger Paw on cheeks of Clemson fans has also become popular and imitated at schools all over the country.

Athletics and Academics

The Clemson athletic department provided more than $1 million in financial support to University programs and operations during the 1992-93 fiscal year. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Fund was the recipient of $177,676 during the year. The fund was created to help meet the need for more non-athletic academic scholarships to the university.

The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Fund, one of the largest academic endowments at Clemson, surpassed the $2 million mark during the 1993 Fall semester. More than 28 students who are not athletes, are benefitting from the fund. The money for the fund comes from several different sources, but it is all raised by activities of the athletic department, including player-of-the-game contributions, as well as matching gift contributions.

Over the last seven years, athletics has contributed more than $7 million in financial support to Clemson University.

Attendance

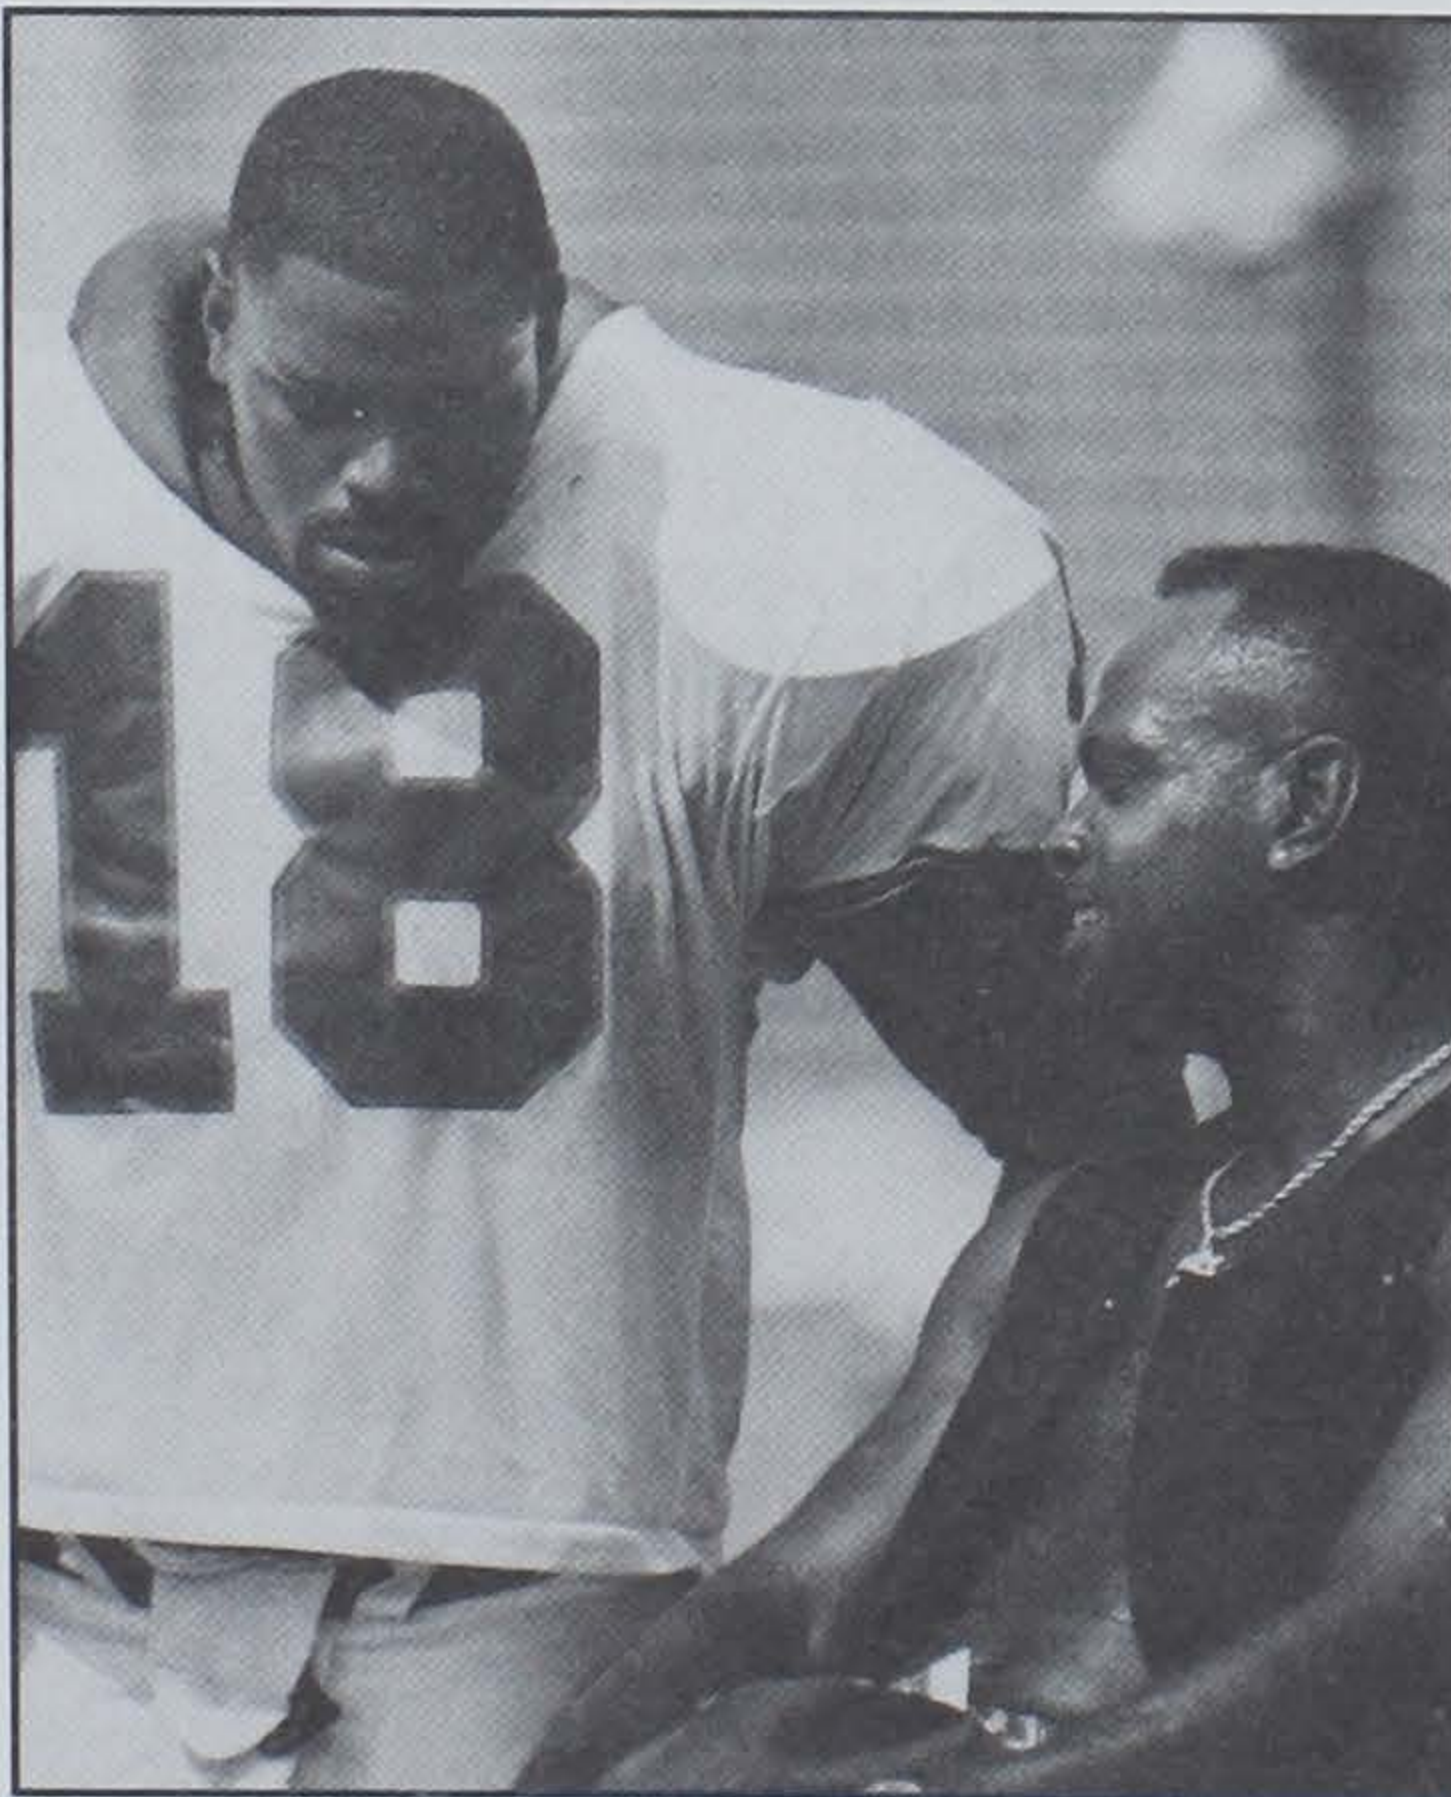

Clemson ranked 15th in the nation in average football attendance last year with an average of 66,845. It marked the 11th straight year that Clemson ranked in the top 15 nationally in attendance. Clemson had been ranked in the top 10 in the nation for 10 straight years prior to last season. Clemson has a seating capacity of 81,473, but with standing room we are capable of going over the 84,000 mark. The record crowd stands at 84,867 against South Carolina on Nov. 19, 1988.

Award Finalists

Clemson has two players capable of contending for prestigious national awards this year. Tim Jones is one of the top linebackers in the nation and is a candidate for the Butkus Award. Placekicker Nelson Welch, who needs just eight field goals to become Clemson's all-time leader and has ranked among the top 15 in the nation in field goals each of the last three years, is a candidate for the Lou Groza Award. Clemson has never had a player win a Heisman, Outland, Thorpe, Groza, Butkus, etc, but many Tigers have been in the hunt. Terry Kinard is the only winner of an individual national award as he was chosen National Defensive Player of the Year by CBS Sports in 1982.

Here is a list of Clemson players who have been finalists for national position awards:

Year	Award	Rank	Name, Pos
1982	CBS Def. Player-of-Yr	Winner	Terry Kinard, DB
1983	Outland	1 of 9	William Perry, MG
1984	Lombardi	1 of 4	William Perry, MG
1987	Outland	1 of 3	Michael Dean Perry, DT
1988	Thorpe	1 of 16	Donnell Woolford, CB
1990	Outland	1 of 3	Stacy Long, OT
	Butkus	1 of 5	Levon Kirkland, OLB
1991	Butkus	1 of 4	Ed McDaniel, ILB
	Lombardi	1 of 12	Levon Kirkland, OLB
	Thorpe	1 of 20	Robert O'Neal, FS

Emory and Emmitt Smith both earned MVP honors in the Georgia Dome during the 1993 season.

Here is a list of the members of the Clemson Board of Trustees:

Bill L. Amick, Chairman, Batesburg
J.J. Britton, Vice Chairman, Sumter
Louis P. Batson, Jr., Greenville
William Green Deschamps, Jr., Bishopville
Lawrence M. Gressette, Jr., Columbia
Harold D. (Doug) Kingsmore, Aiken
Louis Lynn, Columbia
Patricia H. McAbee, McCormick
Thomas B. McTeer, Jr., Columbia
Buck Mickel, Greenville
Joseph D. Swann, Greenville
Allen Wood, Florence

Brothers

While Emory and Emmitt Smith are both from Florida, they will always have a soft spot in their heart for the state of Georgia, in particular, Atlanta, Georgia. Within a months time both were named MVP in a nationally televised football game played at the Georgia Dome.

On December 31, 1993, Emory led Clemson to a 14-13 victory over Kentucky in the Peach Bowl by gaining 102 yards all-purpose rushing. He scored one touchdown and set up another with a 57-yard run with a screen pass. On January 30, 1994, Emory's older brother, Emmitt was the MVP of the Super Bowl in the Dallas Cowboys victory over the Buffalo Bills.

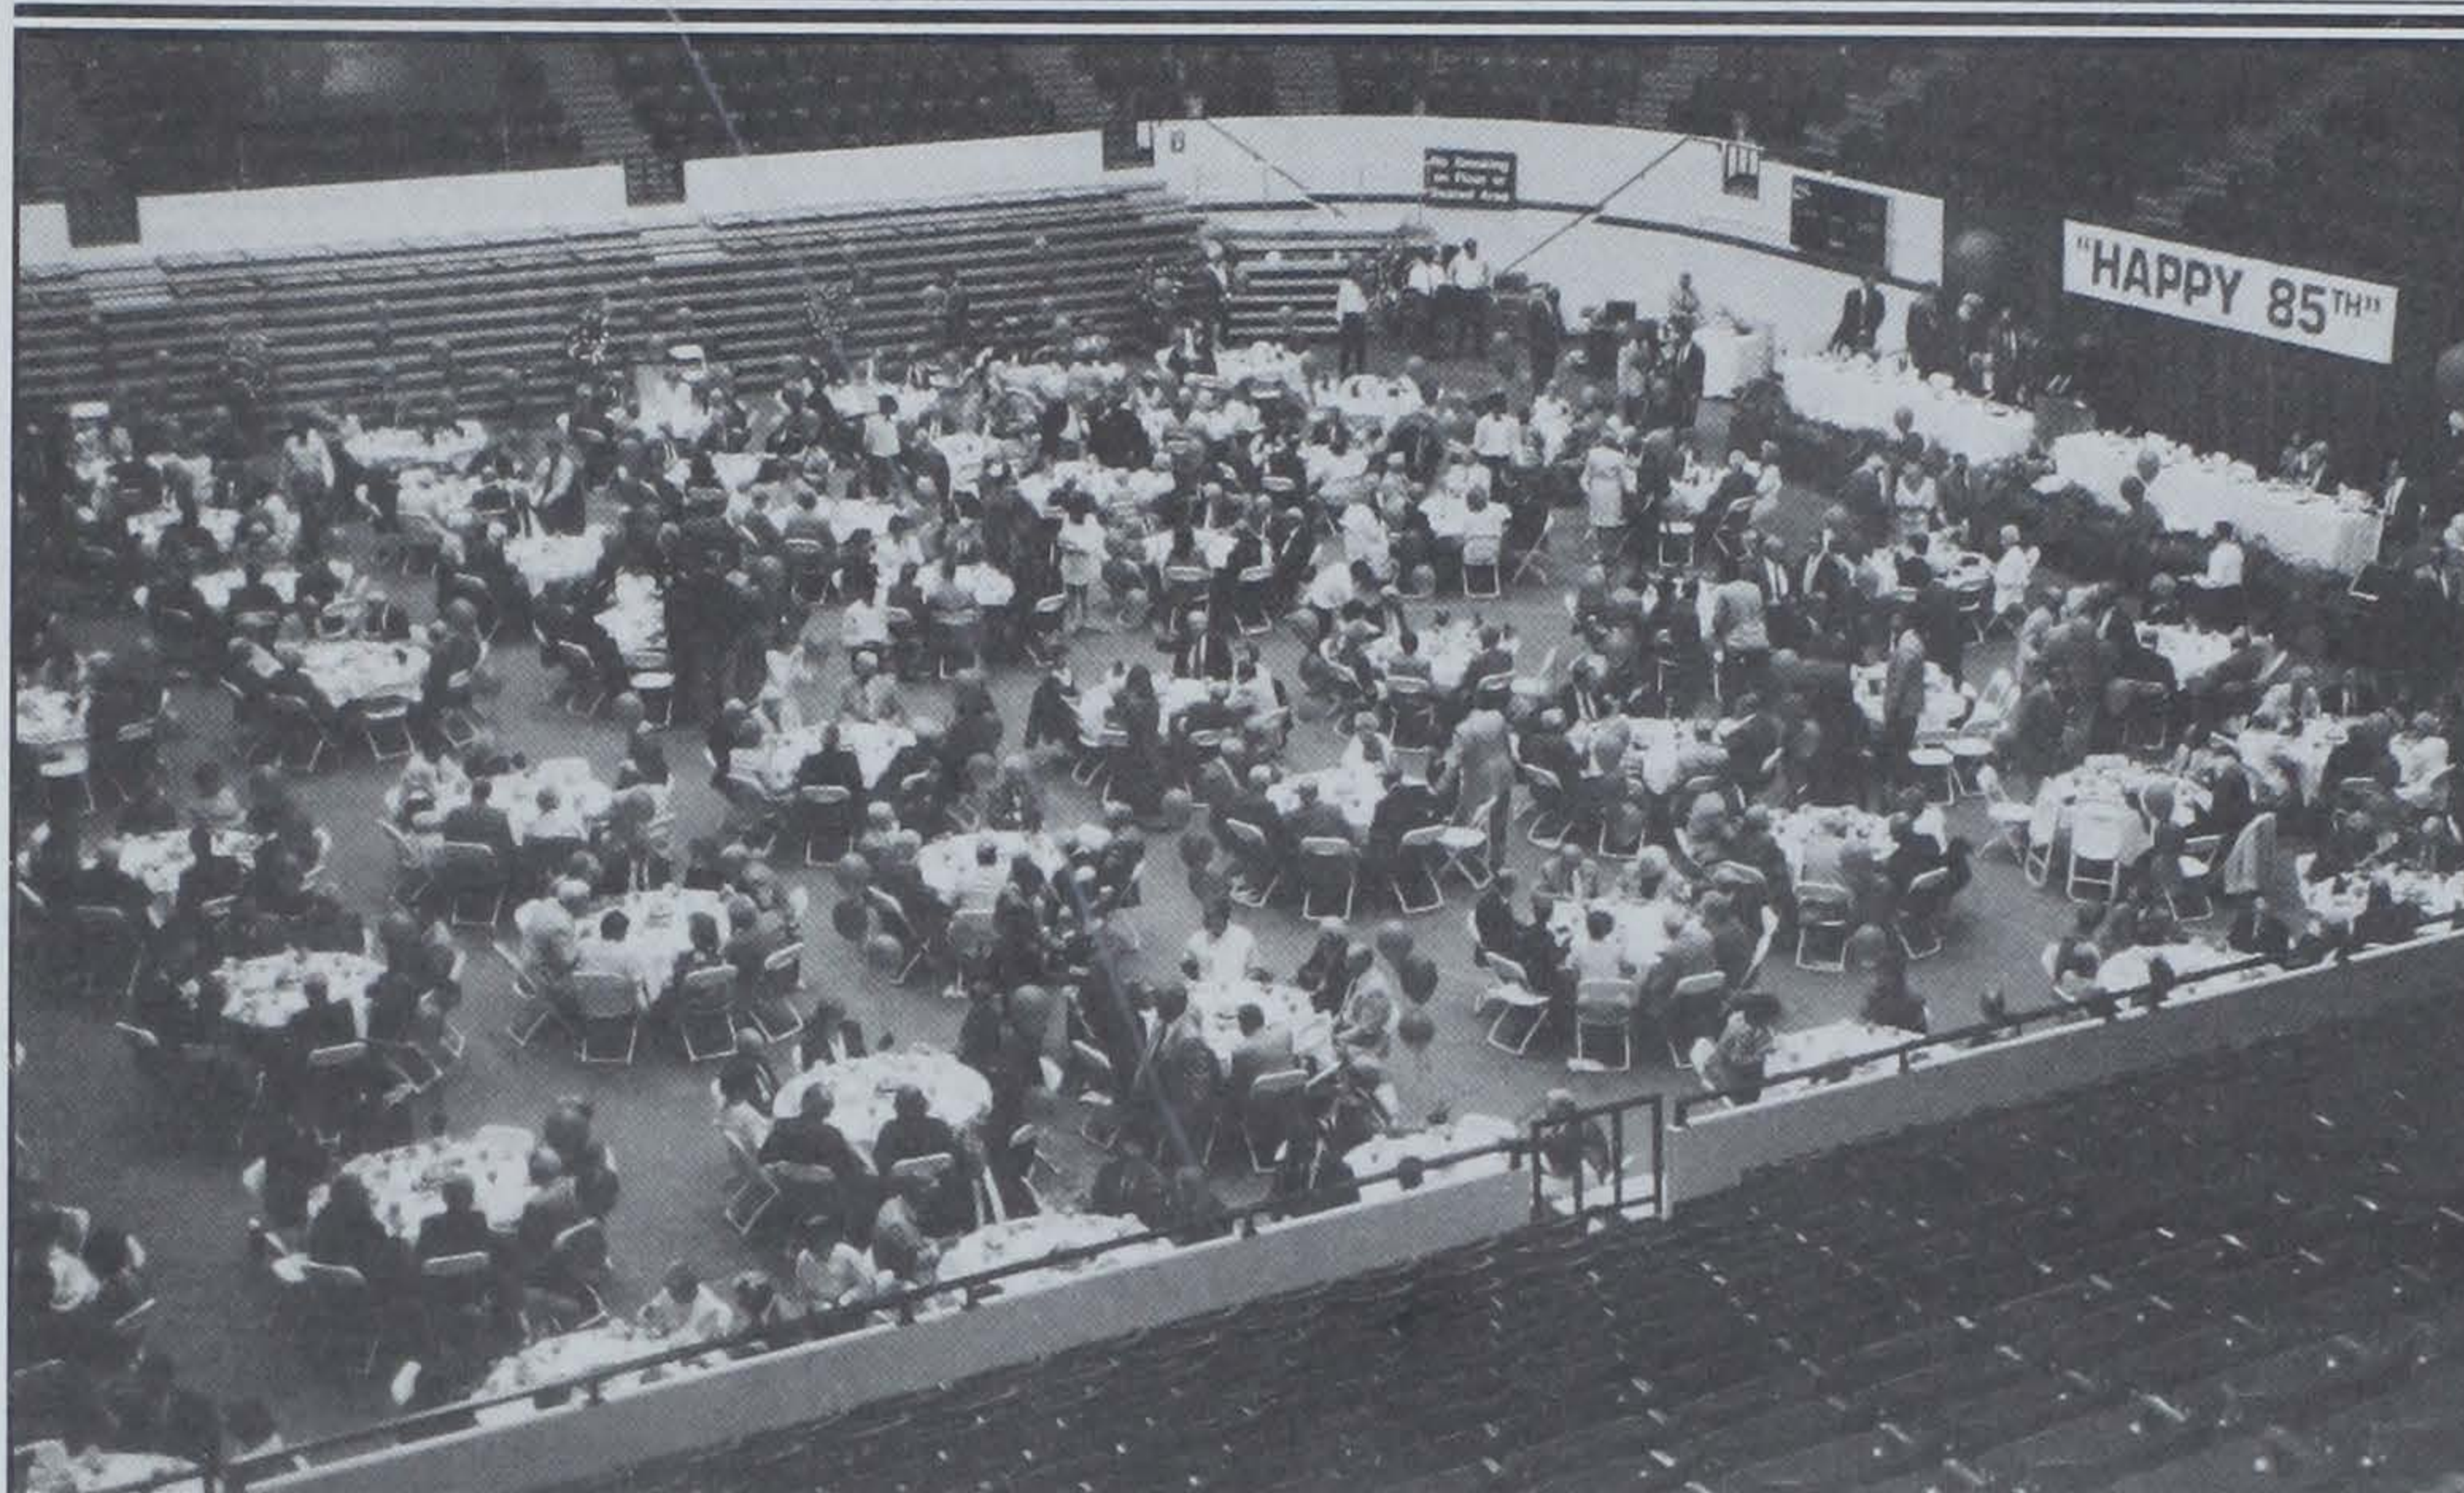

Emmitt, actually attended a couple of Clemson games last year when he was negotiating his celebrated contract with the Cowboys. He was on the sidelines during the Florida State game (see photo). When Smith attended the Georgia Tech game the next week it was not his first trip to Clemson. The Tigers were one of three finalists on Smith's list coming out of high school and he visited the Clemson campus during his senior year.

Brothers, Twins

The Clemson football team features twin brothers in addition to famous brothers. In 1993 Andy and Peter Ford became the first Clemson twin brother combination to letter in football. Both made significant contributions as first-year freshmen and for 15 plays last year they were on the field at the same time at cornerback. This caused a few wide receivers to do double takes when the receiver switched sides of the field during various patterns.

Otis Kempson of Asheville, NC reports that Charles and Billy Radcliff were twin brothers who played football in 1949, but Billy never lettered. Charles was the kicker on the Clemson team and in 1951 Billy dropped off the football team to run track.

The most famous twins in Clemson athletic history are of course the Grants, Horace and Harvey, who collectively will make more money this coming year than it took to build the South upper deck of Memorial Stadium. Horace and Harvey were teammates on Cliff Ellis's first Tiger basketball team (1984-85). Horace stayed all four years, while Harvey transferred to Oklahoma. Horace was a common denominator on the Chicago Bulls three-peat (1991-93).

The only other twin combinations in Clemson history involved the Coakley and Martin families. Francis and George Coakley were teammates on the Clemson baseball and basketball teams between 1938-41. Lynn and Glenn Martin were twin teammates on the Clemson baseball team in 1982 and 1983.

Calhoun, John

This Senator from the state of South Carolina proposed a bill in the house in 1955 making it a state law that Clemson and South Carolina had to meet in football once a year.

Clark, Dwight

One of the great pro football success stories belongs to Dwight Clark. A Clemson Tiger between 1975-78, the wide receiver was a starter in 1977 and 1978, but still caught only 33 passes for his entire career. He was a key contributor on the 1978 ACC Championship team that was 11-1 and ranked sixth in the final poll, but he was never even second-team All-ACC.

The San Francisco 49ers drafted him in the 10th round in 1979 and he was a surprise squad member in that season. Then Clark and Joe Montana started working together and before you knew it Clark was leading the league in receptions and was a pro bowl starter. He concluded his career as the 49ers all-time leader in receptions with 506, reception yards (6750) and touchdowns (48).

Today, Clark is the 49ers' coordinator of football operations/player personnel. Some of his touchdown receptions weren't as long as that title, but his job does allow him to travel to Clemson now and then to scout the talent level of his beloved Tigers.

Clemson, SC

The city of Clemson has a population of about 11,000 fulltime residents. But, on Saturday afternoons in the fall, when over 80,000 fans are in the stands, that population increases significantly. In fact, Clemson moves all the way to the second largest city in the state on home football Saturdays when over 80,500 fans are in the stands.

On those days, only Columbia is larger. Charleston's latest population reading was 80,414, so that is why we have to list the qualifier at 80,500. Perhaps that will change with all these base closings, but we will stay with 80,500 until the next census. So, depending on the size of the crowd, Clemson becomes either the second or third largest city in South Carolina on home football Saturdays.

Colors

Clemson's official colors are Northwestern purple (PMS 541) and burnt orange (PMS 165), but many of Clemson's athletic uniforms are predominantly orange and white. Clemson has worn all orange for special games and in 1991 wore purple jerseys with white pants and orange helmets for the N.C. State and California games.

According to legend Clemson used to have a pale purple and gold as the official colors. But, Jess Neely changed that because he wanted uniforms that were more colorfast. It seems that the weather and constant washings were causing the uniforms to fade. So Neely worked with the Clemson school of textiles and developed deeper colors for uniforms, colors that held up under the rays of the sun and the workings of the washing machines.

Conference

Clemson is a member of the Atlantic Coast Conference. The Tigers were charter members in 1953. Prior to that, Clemson was in the Southern Conference from 1921 to 1952. Clemson was in the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association before that, and has been a charter member of every conference with which it has been affiliated.

Conference Championships

Clemson has more ACC titles than any other school, as the Tigers won or shared the ACC title in 1956, 1958, 1959, 1965, 1966, 1967, 1978, 1981, 1982, 1986, 1987, 1988 and 1991. Clemson won the Southern Conference in 1940 and 1948. Clemson tied for the ACC title in 1965 so Clemson has 12 outright and one tied ACC titles.

Country Gentleman

Clemson is famous for its Tiger mascot and pushups after each score. But, the school used to have two mascots. In addition to the Tiger, the school used to have the Country Gentleman, a student dressed in purple tails and top hat, carrying a cane. The Country Gentleman concept came about as a result of references to Clemson made by Greenville News sportswriter Carter Scoop Latimer as the Country Gentlemen. Clemson had the two-mascot system between 1954 and 1972.

Cub, Tiger

The Tiger Cub Club was formed last year and it gives youngsters and young people an opportunity to be a part of the organization with just a $30 contribution. Cub Club members receive a membership card, certificate, membership packet and discounted tickets to selected Clemson sporting events, including football and basketball games. A donation of $500 will give the Tiger Cub a sustained membership. Members do receive cumulative credit towards an IPTAY membership.

Death Valley

Name synonymous with Clemson Memorial Stadium. The Stadium was dubbed this affectionate title by the late Lonnie McMillian, a former coach at Presbyterian. He used to take his teams to play at Clemson, and they rarely scored, never mind gained a victory. Once he told the writers he was going to play Clemson up at Death Valley because his teams always got killed. It stuck somewhat, but when Frank Howard started calling it that in the fifties, the term really caught on. It is now in its 53rd year.

Many people think the name is derived from the fact that a cemetery rests outside the fence on the pressbox side of the stadium. But, although it would make sense, the name was first coined by Lonnie McMillian.

Whether it be an exciting basketball victory, graduation exercise, or thrilling concert, there have been many significant events in Littlejohn Coliseum over the last 26 years. But, one of the most significant was held April 8, 1994 when Frank Howard celebrated his 85th birthday party with 600 of his closest friends.

The event was held on the floor of Littlejohn Coliseum and former players and coaches from around the country came for the celebration. Speakers included Charlie Waters, now with the Denver Broncos and a star on Howard's last team, and current Clemson acting President Phil Prince. They all took some good-natured shots at coach Howard, but also revered his contributions to Clemson and college football. And, of course, Coach Howard had the final word.

Emergency Phone

In case of emergency at Clemson Memorial Stadium, call (803) 656-2999. The Clemson University police number is (803) 656-2222. For health care at the stadium first aid is available at Gates 9, 13, 16 and 20 in the upperdecks.

Enrollment

Clemson had a student enrollment of 16,614 for the 1993-94 academic year. That includes all graduate students. A total of 9,254 of the students were men and 7,360 were female, so there is a 56/44 ratio between men and women at Clemson. There were 12,525 undergrads, or 75 percent of the total enrollment. Of the 16,614, 10,807 were residents of the state of South Carolina. A total of 1461 undergraduate degrees were awarded at the May, 1994 graduation. The average SAT score of the 1993 freshman class was 1,052. The national average is 902 and the South Carolina average (students who take the test) was 838.

Esso Club

When you want to cover a Clemson football weekend and capture the true flavor of the entire proceedings you have to make a pit stop at the Esso Club. If this sounds like a combination bar and gas station, well, you're right. Clemson fans for many years have frequented this famous weekend watering hole. It is a favorite establishment for Brent Musberger, regardless of the network he represents. Clemson fans come from all backgrounds and you will find a representative from the varied backgrounds on any football weekend.

Favorite Dates

This note will probably put an end to all Clemson games played on September 19th. You see, Clemson has a perfect 8-0 record in games played on September 19 over the years, the only date in the calendar in which Clemson has a perfect record (given at least four games played). That is in fact a special date in Clemson history as September 19, 1942 is the date of the first game ever played in Death Valley and also the first time Clemson ever ran down the hill. Clemson also owns a nationally televised victory over Georgia on this date (1987).

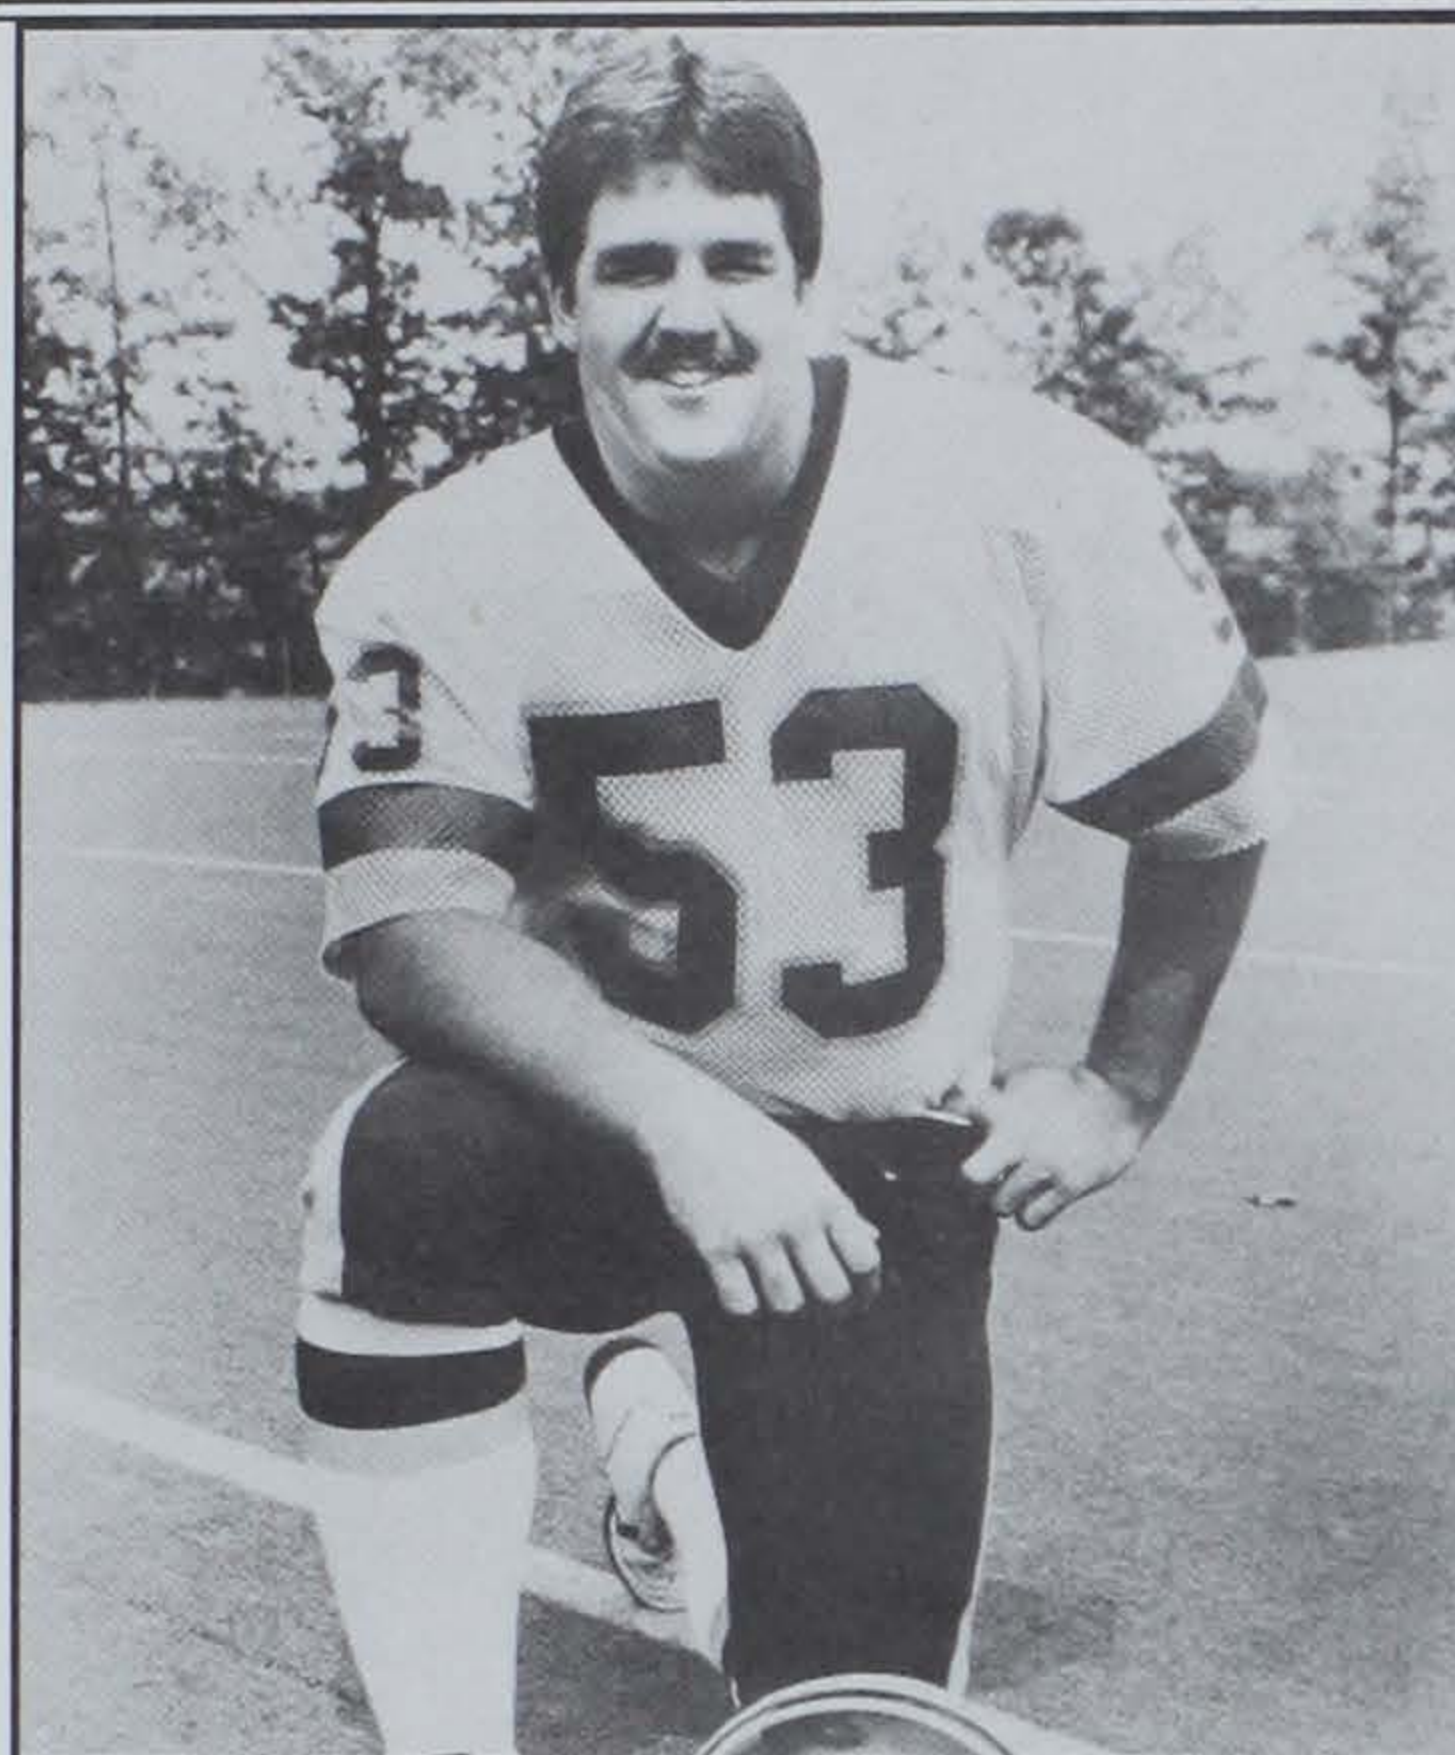

There are seven dates in which Clemson has won at least 80 percent of its games, although none of the dates appear on this year's schedule. Clemson has a combined record of 59-36-7 on the days that games will be played on the 1994 schedule. Clemson has an open date on September 24 this year, an unfortunate occurrence from a statistical standpoint because September 24 is the third winningest date in Clemson history. The Tigers are 9-1-1 on this date over the years.

Free Agents

Only two members of the 1993 Clemson football team were drafted (Brentson Buckner and Andre Hewitt), but five other Tigers signed free agent contracts. Terry Smith, Clemson's career reception leader, signed with the Indianapolis Colts, two-time All-American Stacy Seegars with the Seattle Seahawks, Pierre Wilson with the Washington Redskins, Franklin Thomas with the Philadelphia Eagles and Derrick Witherspoon with the New England Patriots.

How much of a chance do these players have in making the NFL? There have been 13 Tigers who have used the free agent route to the pros. The most famous free agent to make the league from Clemson is Jeff Bostic, who played 14 years with the Washington Redskins and won three Super Bowl rings. Bostic and David Treadwell both went on to play in the Pro Bowl after signing as free agents. It is interesting to note that four of the 13 Tigers who have gone from free agent to a job in the NFL have done so when signed by the Philadelphia Eagles.

Here is a list of Clemson players who have played in NFL games after signing free agent contracts:

Name, Pos	Year	Team
Bob Baldwin, DB	1966	Baltimore Colts
Jeff Bostic, C	1980	Wash. Redskins
Dan Benish, DT	1983	Atlanta Falcons
Ken Callicutt, RB	1978	Detroit Lions
James Coley, TE	1990	Chicago Bears
Billy Davis, DB	1984	St. Louis Cardinals
George Fritts, OT	1945	Phil. Eagles
Steve Kenney, OG	1979	Phil. Eagles
Al Latimer, DB	1979	Phil. Eagles
Terence Mack, OLB	1987	St. Louis Cardinals
Jim McCandless, OG	1960	Houston Oilers
Joe Pagliei, Back	1959	Phil. Eagles
David Treadwell, PK	1989	Denver Broncos

Goalposts

NCAA regulations stipulate the pipe must be 4" in diameter, must have posts that are 20' or more in height and 18-6 apart. This is the same width as the pros and closer than the 23-4 of previous college years. The crossbar is 10' high. The Clemson student body tore down the goalposts in the end zone with the grass bank after Clemson's emotional 52-27 win over Maryland in 1983, the only time the goalposts have come down at Clemson.

The shortening of the width of the goalposts has not effected Clemson field goal kicking in recent years. Nelson Welch has connected on 56-80 field goals over the last three years, a 70 percent mark. Clemson kickers have made 71 percent of their field goals over the last 15 years.

Hash Marks

Along the same lines as the goalposts entry, the NCAA has now changed the configuration of the field, which should have another effect on field goals. First the rule-makers would not allow a kicker to use a Tee. They then shortened the width of the goalpost. In 1993 they made a rule that should help the kicker by going to the professional hashmarks, thereby reducing the number of severe angle attempts. The old hashmarks were 53' 4" from each sideline. In 1993 they were moved to an even 60' from each sideline, meaning there is 6' 8" more area for the running backs to turn the corner and put that much more pressure on the outside linebackers to cover them.

In 1938, the hash marks were moved from 30 feet away from the sidelines to 45 feet. Then in 1947, they were moved to one-third of the field, or 53' 4". And, that was the distance until the 1993 season.

Heisman, John

Yes, the same guy they named the trophy after used to coach at Clemson. You have to go back to the 1900-03 era to find him, but he brought Clemson its first unbeaten season in 1900, a 6-0 ledger. Heisman coached at Clemson for four seasons making an astronomical $1800 a year, the same amount most PGA events pay for a last place finish in an average weekend event.

In 1904 Georgia Tech offered him $2250 plus a percentage of the gate, and he was gone to Atlanta. Clemson should have scraped up the extra money to keep him. With John Heisman as head coach, Clemson beat Georgia Tech 73-0 in 1903, but two years later, with Heisman at Georgia Tech, the Yellow Jackets downed the Tigers, 17-10. Coaching does make a difference.

Homecoming

Clemson will face Wake Forest on Homecoming on October 29th this year, the latest date for a Clemson homecoming game since 1971 when Clemson faced Wake Forest in an October 30 Homecoming date. The latest date ever for a Clemson Homecoming is December 1, 1945 when Clemson lost to Wake Forest, 13-6. That is the only Homecoming game in Clemson history played in December. The first homecoming game played at Clemson took place on September 30, 1922 when Centre defeated Clemson at Riggs Field, 21-0. Clemson has celebrated Homecoming every year since 1922 with the exception of the 1930 and 1938 seasons.

Clemson has a 50-17-3 record on Homecoming games over the years, a .736 winning percentage and has outscored the opposition 1457-903 in those previous 70 games. The average margin of victory is 20.8 to 12.9. Clemson has been especially successful on Homecoming in recent years. Clemson has lost on Homecoming just once since 1970, a 30-14 loss to Georgia Tech in 1989. Clemson is 20-1-2 in Homecoming games since 1971.

Hoover, Doc

Assistant Athletic Director and Head Trainer Fred Hoover has quite a streak going. He doesn't let us talk about it that much, but it is worth noting. The 1953 Florida State graduate has now worked 387 consecutive Clemson football games. Someone needs to monitor his eating habits because you would certainly think a trainer, who hangs around sick people all the time, would have gotten ill at least once over the last 36 years. Well, he has been sick at times, but never on Saturday afternoons in the fall. Hoover is number one in the Clemson athletic department in terms of longevity of service.

Hunter, Bill

Dr. Bill Hunter is the man to call if you are doing a story on "Running Down the Hill", the most celebrated entrance in all of sport. Dr. Hunter is still a Clemson resident and was a starter on Clemson's 1942 team, and he was one of the first Tiger players to run down the hill. He still follows the Tigers avidly and rarely misses a home sporting event.

Inflation I

A ticket to the Clemson-South Carolina game in 1896 cost 25 cents. Two thousand people attended the game. This year's ticket for the game in Clemson is $20.

Inflation II

When Clemson first built Memorial Stadium in 1942 the construction cost of the 20,000 seat stadium computed to $7.20 a seat. When Clemson added 15,000 seats with an upper deck over the north stands in 1983 the average cost was $866 a seat.

Interview Policy

Interviews during the week for Clemson players or coaches should be arranged through Assistant Athletic Director Tim Bourret. Call us with your request and we will get the player to call you collect. Sorry, no home numbers of player will be distributed because too many media have a tendency to call for midnight interviews.

IPTAY

IPTAY, Clemson's athletic scholarship fund-raising foundation is one of the cornerstones of the Clemson Athletic Department. The foundation provides the funds for all athletic scholarships and has also been responsible for the funding of many facilities, including Vickery Hall, Clemson's athletic academic advising building that is featured on the inside front cover of this book. That facility and thus IPTAY have a lot to do with the football team reaching a 10-year high 2.37 cumulative GPA for the second semester of 1993. The figures for the two semesters since then have been close to that figure.

IPTAY stands for "I Pay Ten a Year", the original name with a meaning derived from the minimum contribution of its donors when the organization began in 1934. It changed to "I Pay Twenty a Year" then "I Pay Thirty a Year." Three years ago the minimum donation was increased to $100 a year. There are currently nearly 18,000 members of IPTAY and the organization raised over $6.0 million last year, an all-time record.

IPTAY does a lot more for Clemson and its students than pay tuition for athletes. IPTAY also funds band travel, contributes to the improvement of athletic facilities, both varsity and non-varsity, and has established the IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment.

Legend I

Frank Howard (see 85) is known as Legend I around Clemson and he has the hat to prove it. He was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame during ceremonies at the Waldorf Astoria in New York City on December 5, 1989. Howard is still a person in demand when it comes to Clemson football history.

Howard won 165 games at Clemson, including 96 victories as an ACC coach 1953-69, the second highest total in league history. He led Clemson to six bowl games, won eight conference titles and had six final AP Top 20 rankings.

He still comes to work every day in the Clemson Athletic Department. His office number in the Jervy Athletic Center is (803) 656-2100. Give him a call for some great quotes, information on Clemson football history, or to take out an advertisement in Kick-off.

Legend II

SID at Clemson between 1955-89 football seasons, Bob Bradley has officially retired from his SID slot. He has seen 427 consecutive Clemson football games so he is considered the Lou Gerig (soon to be Cal Ripken) of football SIDs in America. He has been President of CoSIDA, has been in the Clemson and SID Hall of Fame forever, and is a former Recipient of the Arch Ward Award as CoSIDA Man-of-the-Year.

In November of 1988 the press box at Memorial Stadium was named The Bob Bradley Press Box. At his retirement banquet in the summer of 1989 he was presented with an automobile by the Athletic Department (complete with bow at midfield at Memorial Stadium) and the financing for a pontoon boat from his former student workers, the ACC Sportswriters Association, SIDs from around the country and the ACC office.

He still puts in quite a few hours for us (everyday) and actually has scored more baseball games in retirement than he did in his last year as SID. He has also completed two books on Clemson football. Give Bob a call at (803) 656-2114 to purchase an ideal Christmas present.

Medical Facilities

Available during football games under Section J on the South Side, under Section T on the North Side and Section E under South Top Deck of the stadium. There also is one under the North Top Deck.

Memorial Stadium

Here are some height measurements in Memorial Stadium that were determined by Mark Kistler in a survey he performed for a class in 1991:

Height above the middle of the 50-yard-line to:

Top of the South Upper Deck:	159 Feet
Camera Deck on South Side:	92 Feet
Top of the Hill:	27 Feet
Mounted Rock on the Hill:	26 Feet
Top of West End Zone:	47 Feet
Top of Upper Deck, North Side:	177 Feet

It is also interesting to note that the distance from the Rock to the bottom of the hill, or the path the team takes when it runs down the hill is exactly 100 feet. The middle of the field is a foot higher than the back of the end zone at the bottom of the hill. That explains why Death Valley drains well.

Nickname

Clemson's nickname derivation goes back to the turn of the century. In those days many of the players wore long hair due to lack of helmet strength for more head protection. These long manes might have gained Clemson the name lions had it not been for the orange and purple striped jerseys and stockings the players wore. The stripes resembled Tigers.

John Heisman's 1900 team was called the Tigers and Clemson used an insignia of a Tigers head with bared fangs with the motto 'Eat Em Up Clemson. Another theory on the nickname concerns Clemson's first coach. Walter Meritt Riggs came to Clemson to coach the football team in 1896. His previous school was Auburn, which is also known as the Tigers.

Night Games

Clemson has not had many home night games over the years. There have been just 15 overall dating back to a September 25, 1948 win over Presbyterian. The Tigers are 12-2-1 at night over the years, an outstanding record so you might expect administrators to schedule more games at night.

But, for most of the history of Clemson football the school's fan base has reached a circumference of over 300 miles. Realizing this fact, Clemson administrators have attempted to schedule the time of home games to allow fans to make it to the game and back home in the same day.

Clemson did not have a home night game between 1956 and 1991. In 1992 tradition was broken when the Florida State game was televised by ESPN. The novelty of the night game in Death Valley, against a Top 10 opponent, certainly did not hurt attendance. Sure, it forced fans from Myrtle Beach and Charleston to spend the night, but most people enjoyed it.

Still, the only way Clemson will have a home night game is when it is forced to by an ACC rule that orders league schools to move at least one game a year for television.

Publication founded by former Clemson Assistant SID Al Adams that is in its 17th season of issue. Al is no longer with the paper, but it is still going strong. To contact the publisher, Phil Batson, call (803) 654-6553. It is now the official publication of IPTAY and replaces the IPTAY report, which dated back to 1952.

Overflow Crowd

The all-time overflow crowd at a game involving Clemson took place at the South Carolina contest in Columbia in 1946. Counterfeiters had produced 5,000 game tickets for the state rivalry, thereby leading to a crowd of 30,000 people attempting to enter the 25,000-seat stadium. Fans crashed the gate and made their way to the sidelines.

The game went on, but it made for a crowded sideline. In fact, much of the game fans watched from the field when the ball was at the opposite end. Frank Howard recalls fans coming up to him on the sideline trying to send in plays.

Panthers, Carolina

Clemson Memorial Stadium's reputation as one of the finest facilities in the country was enhanced last fall when it was announced that the Carolina Panthers would play their home games during their first year in the NFL at Clemson's Death Valley. Clemson Memorial Stadium and its capacity of 81,473 will be the largest stadium in the NFL during that 1995 season. In fact, Clemson Memorial Stadium holds 9,171 more fans than the stadium planned for uptown Charlotte, which will be ready for the 1996 season.

Former Clemson outside linebacker Mark Richardson is Director of Business Operations and the son of Panther Owner Jerry Richardson. Two preseason games and eight regular season games will be played at Clemson on weekends when the Tigers are on the road or idle in 1995. The agreement calls for Clemson to receive $1 per ticket (to go toward repayment of the stadium bond) seven percent of all ticket sales, a guaranteed $100,000 academic scholarship, and 10 percent of executive suite sales. Clemson is expected to net about $3 million from the arrangement, which the athletic department and university will share.

Additionally, the presence of an NFL team at Clemson in 1995 should pump an estimated $50 million into the upstate South Carolina area.

Penn's Thin Natural Leaf

Type of chewing tobacco Frank Howard chewed in the forties. When they were pouring the concrete for the stadium in 1942 Howard put a plug in each corner of the stadium, giving it his form of an artistic signature.

Phillips, Jim

"Voice of the Tigers" in his 27th year providing commentary on Clemson football. Phillips won the Brian Piccolo Award of broadcasting in 1982 when he gave the play-by-play account of the Western Carolina game only five days after back surgery. He recreated most of that game while standing up with a walker. He is also the voice of Clemson basketball and baseball. His voice is in the minds of nearly all contemporary Clemson fans when they recall a memorable Clemson moment. During his Silver Anniversary season (1992-93) Phillips was inducted into the Clemson Hall of Fame.

Rain Delay

Clemson Memorial Stadium has been in existence for 53 years, but only twice has it experienced a weather delay during a home game. On October 12, 1963 the weather dropped 30 degrees during halftime of a contest with Georgia and the field was engulfed by hail stones. The beginning of the second half was delayed for 30 minutes while the field was cleared. The game ended in a 7-7 tie.

The second wild weather incident in Death Valley history took place last year during the fourth period of the UNLV game. The contest was delayed 17 minutes by a violent lightning storm that chased both teams into the locker room and fans under the stands. Some fans took advantage of the sliding conditions at the hill end of the stadium, making for an unusual carnival atmosphere for the game's final minutes. Clemson won that game 24-14. So Clemson is 1-0-1 in weather delayed games in Memorial Stadium.

Riggs Field

Currently the home of Clemson's national championship soccer program (1984 and 1987), but it was the home of Clemson football prior to Memorial Stadium. The field is named after Walter Merritt Riggs, Clemson's first football coach. He coached Clemson in 1896 and 1899. He had an 8-5 record for those two seasons, but ironically, he never coached a game at Clemson. All of his 13 contests as head coach were played on the road. Clemson had a record of 57-16-6 at Riggs Field. The 76% winning percentage is better than the 73% in Death Valley.

Rings

A total of 14 former Clemson players have picked up 21 Super Bowl rings over the years. Jeff Bostic leads the way with three Super Bowl Championship rings. He was the most recent winner, after the 1991 season. Terrence Flagler, Dwight Clark, Bennie Cunningham, Jim Stuckey, and Charlie Waters are the former Tigers with two Super Bowl championship rings. Seven of the last 10 years Clemson has had at least one representative on the Super Bowl Championship team.

Ring of Honor

Clemson will unveil its Ring of Honor at this year's season opener against Furman. Clemson has two permanently retired football numbers and they will be charter members of the Stadium's Ring of Honor. The jersey numbers include Steve Fuller's #4 and Banks McFadden's #66. Fuller was a first-team Academic All-American and a third-team on-the-field All-American in 1978. He was also a two-time ACC Player-of-the-Year. McFadden was a Clemson All-American in 1939 when he led the Tigers to their first bowl game and first top 20 season. He is the only former Clemson player in the College Football Hall of Fame. Also, former Head Coach Frank Howard will be included as a charter member of the Ring of Honor.

"With the introduction of the Memorial Stadium Ring of Honor, these numbers are never to be worn again on the football field," said Clemson Athletic Director Bobby Robinson. "However, in the future, former Tiger student-athletes will have their jerseys retired not their numbers."

The names Fuller, McFadden and Howard will be placed on the facade of Clemson Memorial Stadium located between the upper and lower decks. Fuller and McFadden will have their numbers on display while a replica of Howard's favorite hat will also be depicted.

A special committee has been established to review nominations for the Ring of Honor. The selections are based on accomplishments on and off the playing field, and the player must hold a bachelor's degree.

Rock, Howard's

When the Clemson team gathers to Run Down the Hill (see Running Down the Hill) the players rub Howard's Rock because of the mystical powers it is supposed to give Clemson players. The rock is mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill and was given to Coach Frank Howard by a friend (S.C. Jones' 19) who picked it up in Death Valley, CA. The Rock was first placed on the pedestal at the top of the hill on September 24, 1966, a game Clemson won 40-35 over Virginia. The team started rubbing the rock for the first game of 1967, a 23-6 win over Wake Forest on September 23, 1967.

Running Down the Hill

One of the most exciting 25 seconds (about 35 seconds when Clemson dresses 120 players for homecoming) in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint. After Clemson's last warmup the team retreats to the home dressing room located under the West Stands. At about 12:50 (for normal 1:00 P.M. game), the team boards two buses and drives around the periphery of the stadium to the east side of the field. After everyone is properly collected, the cannon sounds, Tiger Rag is played and Clemson charges down the hill (exactly 100 feet top to bottom) and onto the field. It is one of the most celebrated entrances in sport. The Tigers have done it for every game since 1942, except for 1970, 1971 and four games of the 1972 season. In all, the Tigers have run down the hill 237 times heading into 1994.

How in the world did the tradition of running down the hill start? There is no long involved explanation, it used to be the quickest way to get to the field. When the stadium was built in 1942 the football lockerrooms were up the street in Fike Fieldhouse.

When the players were finished getting dressed they used to walk out the front door and walk down the street to "The Hill". Coach Howard continued the tradition when lockerrooms were finally built inside the stadium because Clemson fans used to get so fired up when they gathered at the top of the hill. That's when the buses came into use to spend the trip from the lockerroom to the other side of the stadium. Clemson now has a record of 174-56-7, a .749 winning percentage, when they run down the hill. Clemson is 6-9 (40 percent) when it doesn't use the hill as its entrance. Coach Tommy West will not want to change the tradition with stats like that.

Scheduling

We normally provide future schedules listing opponents in the Clemson football guide. But, in an effort to schedule more competitive games late in the season and to enhance the ACC's television package to potential clients, the conference schedule will not be released until after the preceeding season. In other words, the 1995 schedule will not be announced until December of 1994.

We realize people want to plan weddings, reunions and other special events. But, the only dates we know for sure are the non-conference games. The listing of non-conference games is found in the notes section of this press guide.

This is the green grass section of the hill, which is located in the East Stands. (See Running Down the Hill.)

Speros, Jim

Mark Richardson (see Panthers, Carolina) is not the only former Clemson football player who is running day-to-day operations of a professional football team. Former Clemson linebacker Jim Speros (1980 letterman and a strength coach on Clemson's National Championship team of 1981) is the owner of the Baltimore CFL Colts of the Canadian Football League.

Speros was introduced as the owner of the franchise on his 35th birthday. They will play their games at Baltimore's Memorial Stadium starting this year. Speros spent four years as a strength coach with the Washington Redskins and the Buffalo Bills.

From there, he detoured into commercial real estate, where he was named broker of the year for the Washington area and vice president of his company in just two years.

"If you look at Jim's record, what he's accomplished in a short time, at how successful he's been in so many areas, its really something," said Pete Carroll, Head Coach of the New York Jets and a longtime friend of Speros. "He gets stuff done, nothing is too big."

Skyboxes

The prime location to watch a Clemson football game. Memorial Stadium is one of just a handful of on-campus college stadiums to have private executive suites. Clemson has more executive suites than any other on-campus stadium in America (108 total, with 74 available for sale to individuals and corporations) and the average cost, including an average of 22 tickets, is $18,000 a year.

The suite is completely furnished with 22 theater seats, has a stereo system, kitchenette, closed circuit TV, maid service, meals, program and is completely temperature controlled. Fans have their choice of piping in crowd noise, the PA system or the Clemson radio network.

Sports

Clemson increases its varsity sports program to 19 this year when the Lady Tiger soccer team takes to the field for the first time. There are 11 men and eight women's teams, in the 1994-95 academic year. It is the first sport added to the Clemson program since women's track was added in 1982.

Clemson had another outstanding all-around sports year last year with eight teams ranked in the final top 25 in the nation. Clemson was ranked in the top 25 in football, baseball, golf, wrestling, men's track, women's tennis, women's basketball and soccer.

As far as football and basketball are concerned Clemson was one of just 13 schools to win at least nine football games and at least 18 basketball games during the 1993-94 academic year.

Sullivan Award

Clemson defensive tackle Warren Forney was the recipient of the Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award at the annual President's Luncheon on April 9, 1994. The Sullivan Award is given by the faculty membership of the scholarships and awards committee. Any Clemson student is eligible to win this award. "Those so honored with the Sullivan Award shall be admired for their influence for good, excellence in maintaining high ideals of living, and genuine and disinterested service to others."

The industrial education major is also an active member of the Clemson Speaker's Bureau, is a Clemson University resource educator and a member of the Student-Athlete Advisory Board. He also was the 1993 recipient of the Toyota Leadership Award as presented by the CFA.

Talent

How can you rank the most talented team in Clemson history? Again, a look to players who were good enough to make it in the NFL could be a tangible means of reaching some determination. When looking at the history of Clemson football it makes sense that the most talented teams in terms of NFL products were the 1981 and 1982 Clemson teams. The Tigers were a combined 21-1-1 in those two years, won two ACC titles and the school's only National Championship in 1981.

Both the 1982 and 1981 Clemson rosters had 18 players who went on to play in the NFL. The 1978 club that went 11-1 and finished the season ranked sixth in the nation had 16 players, while the 1980 team that had just a 6-5 record, had 15 players on its roster who made it to the NFL. As far as recent teams are concerned, the 1988 Tigers won the ACC title with a 10-2 mark and have had 14 players who are still playing or who made it to an NFL team. Also fourteen members of the 1989 team have also made it to the NFL.

Every Clemson team between 1977 and 1989 had at least 11 future NFL players on its roster and the 1990 and 1991 teams should join the double figure totals in the next couple of years when current Tigers move on to the pros.

Television

While all Clemson fans, especially, those from far reaches of the United States, love to watch those Tigers on TV, the networks do throw a wrench into making weekend plans. But, the ACC schools in general and Clemson in particular certainly gain significant benefits from a financial standpoint and a recruiting and exposure standpoint.

As a result, the ACC has established a policy that commands each institution to move at least one gametime for television reasons per year if asked. That means Clemson really has no choice but to move a game from a 1:00 PM start to 2:30 PM, 3:30 PM, 4:00 PM, 7:00 PM, 7:36 PM, or whatever ESPN or ABC wish. The networks normally have to give you 10 days notice, but it could be as few as five days. We realize this is an inconvenience to our fans, but if we wish to remain a conference member....

The current television contract with the CFA determines future ACC appearances based on the number of appearances each league has had in recent years. Each conference has a minimum number of appearances a year, but if a team declines to move a game, it counts toward the appearances, even if the game is not televised. Plus, there is a loss of revenue. So, the penalty on the ACC, not just Clemson, has become too great if the ACC strives to continue to improve its football reputation.

The ACC, like all ESPN and ABC, has announced its schedule for the first six weeks of the season. The games after October 8 will be announced 12 days prior to the game.

Ticket Prices, 1994

Ticket prices for all Clemson home games are $20. There are no special ticket prices based on seating position in Death Valley. The general public can purchase a season ticket for $125 and the price is $115 for IPTAY members and $75 for faculty and staff members.

As far as away games are concerned, the road games at Duke, Georgia and North Carolina are priced at $20, the same as at Clemson. Tickets for the Clemson-Florida State game in Tallahassee are $21 and the highest priced ticket on the schedule is the Clemson at Virginia game, which is priced at $22.

Forty years ago a season ticket for Clemson's four home games was $15. The Presbyterian ticket cost $2.50 and the Virginia, Furman and Citadel games cost $3.50 apiece. A ticket to the Clemson-South Carolina game in Columbia cost $4.80 and that was the most expensive ticket. You could attend all 10 Clemson games 40 years ago for $36.80.

To call for tickets in 1994, call Van Hilderbrand's office at 1-800-CLEMSON or (803) 656-2118.

Tigerama

World's largest pep rally, this is one of the best examples of Clemson spirit. The Friday night before Homecoming about 40,000 people come to Memorial Stadium for a combination pep rally, beauty pageant, fireworks display and skit presentation. This is not to be confused with Barnyard Burn, which is something special for South Carolina home games. It involves a bon-fire that torches a chicken coop. It is held the Friday night prior to the South Carolina game and takes place in the parking lot outside the stadium.

Head Coach Tommy West

Three players who were coached by West during his first stint at Clemson were NFL starters last season.

Tommy West, a mainstay of a Clemson coaching staff that led the Tigers to a 69-20-4 record and six Associated Press Top 20 finishes between 1982-89, was named Clemson's Head Football Coach on November 29, 1993. Within a month he had led the Tigers to one of their most exciting bowl victories in history, a 14-13 win over Kentucky in the Peach Bowl.

During West's first tour of duty with the Tigers as an outside linebacker coach, Clemson played in five bowl games (winning four) and claimed four ACC Championships, including three in a row from 1986-88.

Clemson had a 44-10-1 record against ACC competition during his era on the Tiger staff, an 81 percent winning mark. Additionally, five of those Clemson teams ranked in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense and scoring defense, and three ranked in the top 12 in the nation in total defense.

Clemson's 1989 defense ranked fifth in the nation in total defense, rushing defense and scoring defense and West's outside linebackers had a lot to do with that success. His top four outside linebackers that year are all currently in the NFL.

Levon Kirkland (Pittsburgh Steelers), Wayne Simmons (Green Bay Packers) and John Johnson (San Francisco 49ers) are all currently starters in the NFL, and Ashley Sheppard (Minnesota Vikings) is a top reserve. Simmons was a first-round draft pick, Kirkland and Johnson second-round selections and Sheppard was a fourth-round choice. In addition to the four players listed above, Andy Headen (New York Giants) and Terence Mack (St. Louis Cardinals) are former Tigers West helped guide to an NFL career.

West began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at Tennessee (his alma mater) in 1977. He coached one year of high school football at White County High in Sparta, TN in 1978, then became an assistant at Mississippi in 1979. For the 1980 and 1981 seasons he served as an assistant coach at Appalachian State.

After his career at Clemson (1982-89), West became the running backs coach at Tennessee. During that 1990 season Tennessee won the Southeastern Conference and captured the Sugar Bowl with a win over Virginia. The Volunteers scored a school record 442 points that year and averaged over 411 yards a game in total offense, 205.7 rushing and 205.4 passing. He served as Co-Defensive Coordinator at South Carolina in 1991 and 1992.

In 1993 West took over a UT-Chattanooga team that had won just two games in 1992. He doubled that total in 1993 and guided the Mocs to one of the landmark wins in school history, a 33-31 win over #1 ranked Marshall. He concluded the regular season with a 45-42 victory over Furman. Ironically, his first regular season game as Clemson coach will also be against Furman, as the Tigers open the 1994 season on September 3 against the Paladins.

With his victory in the Peach Bowl, West became the fifth coach in NCAA history to make his debut with a program in a bowl game. However, he was just the second coach in history to make his debut in a bowl game without previously coaching his new team as an assistant coach earlier in the season.

West earned three letters in his four-year career at Tennessee (1972-75). The Vols played in three bowl games and were ranked in a final Top 20 in three seasons. He was the co-captain of Tennessee's 1975 football team and played in the Blue-Gray All-Star game that same year.

He began his college career as a running back, but saw most of his playing time as a tight end. He caught 37 passes for 575 yards in his career with the Vols, including 16 passes for 233 yards as a senior. As a junior he caught an 81-yard pass from Condredge Holloway, still the longest non-scoring play in Tennessee history. He earned a bachelor's degree from Tennessee in 1976 and was drafted by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers that same year.

West played two years (1974-75) of baseball at Tennessee and had a career batting average of .305. He hit .367 in 1975 and was named All-SEC Eastern Division. Rick Honeycutt, a major league veteran pitcher, was West's teammate on that 1975 Tennessee team that finished 32-16.

West was a multi-sport standout in high school. He was an outfielder in baseball, a guard in basketball and a running back in football. In 1972 he was named a High School All-American in football and was a fifth-round draft choice in baseball by the Chicago Cubs. Willie Randolph, who went on to an All-Star career with the New York Yankees, was one of 77 future Major League players drafted after West in the West got his Clemson career off to a great start with a 14-13 win over Kentucky in the 1993 Peach Bowl.

QUOTES ON TOMMY WEST

Brentson Buckner, 1993 Clemson All-ACC Senior Defensive Tackle

"Coach West's concern is his players, the team, the fans and Clemson University. If he can go out and recruit his players and run the program the way he wants it run, he's capable of giving the fans and the administration what they want. A lot of the players are excited about him taking over. He's going to hurt when you hurt, cry when you cry and be happy when you're happy."

Bobby Gruhn, West's high school coach at Gainesville (Ga.) High School

"He played football and basketball and baseball here and probably could have played golf and everything else. He was an all-around good kid. He got along with everybody. Tommy is the kind of guy who can associate with the very rich and the very poor and anything in between. I don't know of anybody I've ever talked to who didn't like Tommy West. He always worked hard and knew what he wanted to do. I think he always wanted to go back to Clemson."

Tim West, Tommy West's brother

"When we were growing up, shooting hoops, playing ping-pong, anything, he was a very, very fierce competitor. If he sets his mind to something, he gets it done. He said it was his goal to be a head coach by the time he was 45. He said, 'If I work hard enough, I can get anything I want. I guess he beat his goal by six years.'"

John Johnson, former Clemson Tiger and current linebacker for the Cincinnati Bengals

"I just fell in love with his personality from the first day I met him. He is the ultimate players coach. Some coaches draw the line in their relation to their players, and keep things strictly on a coach-player relationship. That's not Tommy. He was as much like a father or a brother as a coach. You never felt like he was keeping you at a distance. He was the coach and we all knew it, but he was also a person you could relate to.

"Tommy will relate well to the fans, just like he related to his players. He'll get the job done. People shouldn't expect miracles, because that's not how it happens. But he's competitive, he's an excellent recruiter, and he enjoys winning."

Levon Kirkland, former Clemson Tiger and current linebacker for the Pittsburgh Steelers

"Tommy West is a very hard-nosed coach. He is a perfectionist, and will bring a lot of pride and intensity to Clemson. He's hard, but he's fair and that's all you can ask for as a player."

Rick Witt, former Clemson coach and an assistant coach at UT-Chattanooga under West

"He was the same person (after becoming a head coach), except that he had so many other things to be responsible for and in charge of. But as far as his approach to the job and his attitude and the way he was around the assistants, it's the same. He's always done the little things that it takes to win. He delegates, but he's kind of a hands-on coach, too. He tries to stay involved in all phases of the game.

"He's been around and coached on both sides of the ball. He has a lot of football knowledge and has a lot to add to everything. He's a good player kind of coach. He's demanding, but demanding in the right way as far as doing the right things. He's got real good values about right and wrong, about work habits, work ethic and all that. And he's a competitor. All those things filter down to the players."

Tim Jones, Clemson Linebacker

"I feel he's going to do a great job, and I'm going to do everything I can to help him out. He's somebody who knows what people expect around him, what people expect from the football program, what people expect outside of football and what we as players expect."

Danny Ford, Head Coach at Arkansas

"They did a nice job in picking Tommy. He'll do a good job - if they give him enough time. He's a hard worker and a likeable person. He sacrificed when he first came to me, and he did a good job recruiting. He got better every day. A lot of people have ways with young people. They go about it different ways. He's got a good way with them. They understand that he cares about them. They'll like Tommy. The only ones that won't like him are the ones that don't want to play. He'll know how to work them."

West was an assistant coach on four Clemson ACC Championship teams in the 1980s.

Coach West Comments

Like many Division I coaches, Tommy West feels having 18 winners at the end of a season isn't all bad.

What are the selling points of the Clemson program?

"The Clemson people are the number-one selling point of our program. That includes everyone from the school president to athletic director Bobby Robinson through our supporters and the student body.

"Bobby Robinson certainly gives us the opportunity to be a first-class organization. Financially, we have the money to do what is necessary for our student-athlete to be successful in every phase athletically and academically.

"We have a great winning tradition and we have great traditions at Clemson. We have won a national championship, have more league championships and top 25 seasons than any program in our league. We also have the great traditions of running down the hill, Howard's Rock, Tigerama etc. Gameday at Clemson typifies the color and pageantry of college football."

What are the long term goals of this program?

"We would like to be a program that plays on New Year's Day consistently. We don't want to be a real good team one out of five years, we want to be considered a team that will be playing on New Year's Day every year. The key to doing that is playing consistently throughout the season."

How Important is discipline?

"Discipline is by far the most important aspect of any program. Discipline is not punishment. Discipline means you care, it teaches you to be successful. Discipline is going to class, time management, reliability. If you are disciplined off the field it will carry over on to the field. We want a first class program."

Would you be in favor of a college football playoff?

"I'm not totally against a football playoff. I love the bowl games and the bowl system. There are some problems with the bowl structure right now. I don't think we should have 15 games in three days or six games going on at the same time.

"The big question is what is best for college football. Is a playoff best for college football, or is it best for the top four or five programs? I am not for an eight-team playoff at the end of the year and everyone else stay home.

"I like the bowl structure, even though there are some controversies at the end of the year. Basketball is different because they can play four times in 11 days. But, at the end of the year there is just one winner.

"Look at our baseball team. Last year Clemson won 57 games, more than any team in the country, won the ACC and had 19 wins over ranked teams. But, they lost their last game, like 46 other teams did in the tournament.

"We had a lot of excitement around Clemson after our bowl victory. Until somebody can come up with a formula and show everybody that their system is better than the bowl games, then I'm in favor of our bowl structure. It's not all bad having 18 winners at the end of the season."

What is the difference between coaching in the 80s and the 90s?

"I don't think the Xs and Os have changed that much. There are fads from time to time, but I am a fundamentalist. There are aspects of football that are keys to being successful every year.

"The biggest change around college football is outside of the game. The media is different, everything is on the highlight shows and in the newspaper. This leads to a coach's accountability in all phases of his program. Coaches are accountable 24 hours a day, seven days a week, even when the student-athlete is home on vacation.

"The recruiting game has changed. It is a spectator sport in terms of the media, and the rules have changed quite a bit. You can't contact a recruit nearly as often, or can't send him as much material. We used to do that better than any school, but that comparative advantage has been taken away."

Who are some athletes you admire?

"The guy I have a lot of respect for is Nolan Ryan. He stood the test of time. I admire people who can be successful for more than one or two years. Jack Nicklaus was 46 when he won the Masters, Arnold Palmer was competitive for 30 years and Mohammed Ali was a great champion for many years.

"The thing about Nolan Ryan was his work ethic. He thought about baseball 365 days a year, he had to pitch that long at that level."

How important is it to have fun playing football?

"We want to have a good time playing this game. We are going to play as hard as we can, but we are going to enjoy it. I want players who enjoy practicing and playing the game. Sometimes people think when you say we're going to have a good time we aren't serious. We are intense about winning and losing, all those things are important, but I want my players to leave Clemson with a fulfilled feeling about their experience at Clemson."

Did it take you a long time to decide to come back to Clemson?

"Not at all! Clemson is certainly a special place to me. Lindsay and I started our married life here, our first eight years together were spent in Clemson. There couldn't be a better place for me. There was no decision involved. There is just something special about Clemson."

What is it like to run down the hill?

"I am really looking forward to it this fall. I've only done it just one time (worked from the press box most of the time), the Georgia game of 1985. I got to the top of the hill and I got excited, too excited. Coach (Danny) Ford grabbed me by the arm to settle me down. I'll have to settle myself down before that Furman game, or I might be the first coach to fall down the hill. I'm excited, I can't wait to get to the top of the hill on September 3."

What would be your SportsCenter highlight?

"My SportsCenter highlight goes like this.

I'm trailing Greg Norman by one shot as I go to the 18th tee at Augusta National. I rip my drive, but it goes into the bunker on the left side of the fairway. Then, I hit a one-iron out of the bunker and into the hole for an eagle and win the Master's by a shot."

How does your wife and son help you through the season?

"Lindsay is great, she is so understanding of what is involved in this profession. I can't remember one time that she has said, 'do you have to go'. She knows what is involved in being a successful football coach. When you are in this business you realize you are not going to have quantity time with your family so you better have quality. We certainly try to do that.

"Turner helps put things in perspective. Whether you come back after a win or a loss, he doesn't care, he just wants you to look at his baseball cards. This job can consume you. My family helps me stop and smell the roses when something good happens. You need to do that. You prepare 12 months of the year for 12 football games and if you don't stop once in a while, the enjoyable part will pass right by you."

Who is the most impressive person who know?

"I would have to say my dad. My dad has tremendous poise in every respect. He never shows when he is mad. I've always respected him. He's a great people person."

West ran down the hill just once as an assistant coach, but he will be at the top to lead the Tigers prior to the Furman game on September 3rd.

Bobby Robinson
Athletic Director

The Clemson athletic program's commitment to excellence begins with Athletic Director Bobby Robinson. The program has been on the rise in just about all forms of athletics in recent years.

Robinson's commitment to success in competition, academics and facilities has been the key to the level of distinction that the program has maintained during his years at the helm of the program.

In 1993-94, nine of Clemson's 18 athletic programs finished the year ranked in the top 25 of their respective sport. Additionally, nine different sports recorded victories over top 25 ranked opponents. Twenty-one athletes earned All-America honors, and the program ranked 16th in the final Sears poll.

Clemson's baseball team posted the highest ranking (fourth), while the soccer team was fifth, the wrestling team was seventh and the golf team ninth. Clemson and Florida were the only schools in the country to record at least nine football victories, 18 basketball victories and 36 baseball victories.

Clemson athletes had a great year in the classroom as well. A total of 95 student-athletes earned at least a 3.0 in the classroom for the year. In the second semester 43 student-athletes were on the dean's list, an-time high, and 12 earned a perfect 4.0 and were chosen to the President's List.

Under the direction of Robinson, the athletic department continues to support the university. Over $2.0 million has been contributed to the athletic academic scholarship fund; and band travel equipment and uniforms are funded by athletic dollars.

Robinson graduated from Furman with a B.S. degree in business and political science in 1968. He was the president of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity chapter at Furman. Robinson came to Clemson in 1970 and after three years, he moved across campus to serve as an administrative assistant in the athletic department.

After serving the athletic department in various capacities, he became business manager in 1975. Two years later he was named assistant athletic director, and in 1980 he became associate AD. He held that title for six years, and his area of responsibility moved to primarily football and basketball. The native of Columbia became Athletic Director in March of 1985.

While serving his administrative duties, Robinson found time to coach the Clemson golf team between 1975 and 1983. During his time as the head coach, Clemson won its first ACC title in golf and three times the Tigers participated in the NCAA Tournament. In 1983, his final season as the head coach, he guided Clemson to a number-five finish.

Robinson has served on the NCAA golf committee, the CFA Board of Directors, the Division I-A Certification Committee, ACC Television Committee, ACC Long Range Planning Committee, ACC Booking Office Committee, ACC Committee on Infractions and Penalties, ACC Gender Equity Committee, ACC Golf Committee, and ACC Committee to Study Football in the 1990's.

Assistant AD and Head Trainer Fred Hoover has worked 387 consecutive Clemson football games.

Dwight Rainey
Senior Associate
Athletic Director

When there is success in college athletics, experience in almost always a key factor. Senior Associate Athletic Director Dwight Rainey is an example of success gained from a wide variety of experience.

Rainey is in his 19th academic year with the Clemson University Athletic Department. For the past 10 years, he has overseen scheduling and administered other duties involving the football and men's basketball programs. He is also in charge of the Clemson weight and equipment rooms.

While football and basketball may be the two highest profile sports at Clemson, the 17 non-revenue sports have also enjoyed enormous success. Rainey is the point man for those sports and oversees their day-to-day operation. The 1993-94 sports year was quite a success for those in the non-revenue sports. There were nine top-25 finishes, an individual National Champion and 49 All-ACC performers. Fifteen of the 18 teams advanced to postseason play. Five different teams posted winning percentages of 70 % or better.

The success of the 1993-94 academic year should come as no surprise. In his 10 years overseeing the Clemson non-revenue sports program, Clemson has been in the top-25 in the nation in the All-Sports Poll seven times.

Prior to moving into administration at Clemson, Rainey served as Bill Foster's top assistant in the men's basketball program for 13 years, five at UNC Charlotte and eight at Clemson. One of Rainey's coaching highlights was the 1979-80 Clemson team that finished with a 23-9 mark. That squad advanced to the Final 8 of the NCAA Tournament, the furthest a Clemson men's basketball team has ever advanced in the NCAA tournament.

Rainey has also had experience outside of college athletics. Between 1967 and August of 1970, he worked with a division of the Chrysler Corporation in Atlanta, GA.

The 47-year-old Rainey earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in business administration from Shorter College in 1967 and a Master's degree from UNC Charlotte in 1972.

Rainey is married to the former Cheryl Dye, a native of Paris, MO. Cheryl has a daughter, Jenna (9).

Van Hilderbrand
Associate AD
Ticket Manager

Any Tiger fan who has ever needed tickets or parking for a Clemson athletic event will recognize the name of Van Hilderbrand. He has served the Clemson athletic department for 18 years and is in his ninth year as an associate/assistant athletic director. He is in charge of the ticket office and supervises all parking administration and also works with game day operations and security.

Hilderbrand is certainly familiar with the athletic department. He started his association there as a student employee in the office during his college career, 1970-74. In 1976 he filled the newly created position of assistant ticket manager, and in 1980 he was named Athletic Department Ticket Manager. In 1985 he was made an assistant athletic director.

Demand for tickets to Clemson athletic events is at an all-time high and it is Hilderbrand's responsibility to distribute the tickets to the thousands who attend the games. Hilderbrand and his staff sell more football season tickets than any other school in the ACC. In 1992, Clemson ranked seventh in the nation in attendance and has been in the top 15 in the nation every year since 1983.

In the 12 years since Hilderbrand took the job as ticket manager, he has distributed more season tickets than ever before for football and basketball. He has met the challenge by keeping up with the technology of the profession. Clemson has used a computerized ticket system since 1986.

Hilderbrand worked as athletic supervisor for the Greenwood Recreation Department for two years after graduation, and in 1976, he returned to Clemson.

Hilderbrand graduated from Clover (SC) High School in 1970, and earned his degree in parks and recreation administration from Clemson in 1974. The 41-year old is married to the former Diane Harris of Clover and they have two children, Van Jr., who was born December 31, 1979, the day Clemson met Baylor in the Peach Bowl, and Lee Elizabeth, who was born October, 1985.

In his spare time, Hilderbrand enjoys golf and working with the Boy Scouts.

Robert Ricketts Associate AD/ Chief Financial Officer

Keeping the expense accounts of such a vast operation as the Clemson athletic department in order is no easy task, but Associate Athletic Director Robert Ricketts is well qualified for the job.

Ricketts is in his ninth year in the department and his 18th year with the university.

As associate athletic director in charge of business operations, Ricketts handles all purchasing and expense accounts. This job is old hat to Ricketts as he spent nine years working for Clemson in auditing and accounting departments. During these nine years, one of his main duties was the audit for the athletic department. He worked in the University's financial management division in accounting control and payroll benefits between 1976 and 1977, then worked in the internal auditing division and as an auditor between 1977 and 1980. In 1980, he was named an audit supervisor, a position he held until February of 1985. Thus, he has seen all sides of his job.

Ricketts earned an associate arts degree from Anderson College in 1969, and a business administration degree from Erskine College in 1971. He is also a 1967 graduate of T. L. Hanna High School in Anderson. After his graduation from Erskine, he entered merchandise management with the J.C. Penney Company of Greenville and Anderson. He worked for that company between 1972 and 1976, until he began his career with the University on May 28, 1976.

The native of Anderson has also completed the College Business Management Institute at the University of Kentucky. He is a member of the College Athletic Business Managers' Association and the Institute of Internal Auditors. Ricketts has previously served as secretary of the Clemson Recreation Advisory Committee for six years.

Ricketts and his wife, Kathey, have two children, Chesley (16) and Lindsey (12). His wife is employed in the Payroll/Benefits Office at Clemson University.

Linda White Associate AD/Senior Women's Administrator

On July 9, 1992, the Clemson Athletic Department lost a fine coach, but gained an administrator when Linda White, the winningest volleyball coach in Clemson history with a 138-81 career mark, assumed the position of Assistant Director of Compliance/Senior Woman's Administrator. In 1993, White was promoted to associate AD and retained her title as senior woman's administrator.

White represents Clemson at all university, conference and NCAA functions in the role of senior women's administrator. She also represents the athletic department at NCAA events, submits bids to host NCAA events and coordinates the events if Clemson is awarded the bid. Clemson played host to the NCAA Tournament in three different sports in 1993-94. White also serves as event manager for many home sporting events, coordinates facility improvements, coordinates summer camps, and has many budgetary responsibilities.

White came to Clemson in 1986 as the head volleyball coach. She led the Clemson squad to six consecutive 20-win seasons. White coached at least one All-ACC player five of her six years at the helm of the Clemson program, while two of her former players were named Academic All-Americans.

Prior to her stint as volleyball coach at Clemson, White was a successful basketball and volleyball coach at Wando High School in Mount Pleasant, SC for 14 years. In 1982, she was named National Volleyball Coach-of-the-Year by the National High School Coaches Association.

White earned her undergraduate degree from Winthrop College. She earned a M Ed in Administration and Supervision from Clemson in August of 1988. She is married to Roger White and they have one daughter, Lucia (14).

Tim Bourret Asst. AD/Sports Information & Public Relations

Tim Bourret is in his sixth year supervising the SID office, his second as an Assistant Athletic Director, and his 17th with the Clemson University Athletic Department. He first came to Clemson as assistant SID under Bob Bradley in September of 1978 and was elevated to an associate SID position in July of 1980.

The 38-year old Bourret has edited 75 award-winning brochures in his career, including 24 that have dealt with Clemson football. Clemson received eight national awards for its programs and press guides for the 1990-91 academic year, the third highest total in the nation. Only Tennessee and Notre Dame produced more national award winning guides.

In 1992, the Clemson football guide and football program were both ranked in the top-five in the nation, making Clemson the only school in the nation that could make that claim. The press guide was ranked first, while the program series was fifth.

Bourret also has considerable radio experience, play-by-play and color. He has been the color voice of Clemson basketball since the 1980-81 season and served in the same capacity for Clemson football between 1982 and 1988. He gave up his football radio work to supervise the Clemson pressbox when Bob Bradley retired in 1989. He was also the play-by-play voice of Clemson postseason baseball between 1980-89.

Bourret is a native of West Hartford, CT and 1973 graduate of Northwest Catholic High School. He was an all-conference baseball player in high school and played in the 1973 American Legion World Series.

Following in his father's footsteps, Bourret earned his undergraduate degree from the University of Notre Dame in business administration in 1977. He also earned his master's degree in communication arts from Notre Dame in August of 1978.

Bourret worked as an undergraduate and graduate assistant under Roger Valdiserri in Notre Dame's office for three years, where he was assistant editor of Notre Dame's 1977 football programs. The program series won Best in the Nation that year. He also served as commissioner of the school's famed "Bookstore Basketball Tournament" for three years, including the year it was featured in Sports Illustrated.

Fred Hoover Assistant Athletic Director/ Head Trainer

Much of the credit for getting the Tigers on the field should go to Fred Hoover, who has completed 35 years as head trainer for the Tigers. The 63-year-old Hoover is responsible for the prevention, treatment and rehabilitation of injuries to Clemson's athletes. In addition, Hoover, who was named assistant athletic director in the summer of 1983, is a consultant for purchasing athletic equipment, supervising the medical staff, making travel arrangements, supervising the athletic training room and directing the training table.

A native of Jacksonville, FL, Hoover graduated with a BS degree in physical education from Florida State in 1953. He served as trainer at his alma mater for two stints, 1952-53 and 1957-58, before coming to Clemson in 1959.

Professionally, "Doc" Hoover has held just about every administrative post with the National Athletic Trainers Association, including national president, and he is an affiliate member of the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine.

In 1981, Hoover was enshrined in the Citizens Savings-Helms Athletic Foundation Hall of Fame for his work.

In the spring of 1982, he was named a consultant to the South Carolina Medical Association—Medical Aspects of Sports Committee. He is also past chairman of the NATA National Symposium Committee and is currently chairman of the South Carolina Board of Certification for Athletic Trainers. Hoover is also a member of the Clemson Hall of Fame and is past president of the South Carolina Trainers Association. In October of 1990, Hoover was named an Honorary Member of the Clemson Alumni Physicians society.

In 1983, Hoover was the recipient of the Distinguished Service to Sports Medicine Award given by the American Orthopedic Society for Sports Medicine. In 1987, he was awarded the South Carolina Hall of Fame Distinguished Service to Sports Award. He has never missed a football game in his 35 years at Clemson.

Hoover is married to the former Elva Cook of Mt. Vernon, IL, and the Hoovers have two children, Catherine, a 1980 Clemson graduate who is married, and Bryan who also graduated from Clemson. He has one grandchild, Andrew Cole.

Tim Match Assistant Athletic Director/ Marketing

Tim Match was named an Assistant Athletic Director for Marketing in 1993. Match, a native of Arlington, Ohio, is responsible for implementing the athletic department's sports marketing and licensing program.

The 1985 graduate of Bowling Green State University is also responsible for all post season football games and is the liaison for the athletic department with the Clemson Radio Network and the Clemson Coaches Television Show Network.

Prior to his return to Clemson, Match participated in an internship at the University of West Florida in the athletic department. He then moved on to Clemson where he worked in the sports information office.

After receiving his master's degree in PRTM with an emphasis in micro-computer management, he became the assistant sports information director at the University of Virginia. While at UVA, Match worked with the men's soccer, women's basketball, football and men's basketball programs. He returned to Clemson in 1989 as an associate sports information director, working directly with the men's basketball program, as well as editing the football and men's basketball programs for three seasons.

In 1988, the 30-year old Match married the former Sharon Yoder of State College, PA. She is a 1984 graduate of Penn State and received her master's from Clemson in 1987.

Bill D'Andrea Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment

Bill D'Andrea is in just his fourth year as the Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment, but has been a part of the Clemson family for much longer.

Prior to being named as the Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment D'Andrea, 43, served as the Tiger offensive tackles coach from 1986 to 1989. He also served as the Clemson football recruiting coordinator in the spring of 1991. D'Andrea's ties to Clemson go back even further as he served as a graduate assistant for the Tiger football program in 1982 and 1983. He continues to serve as Executive Secretary of the Tiger Letterman's Association.

As Director of Student-Athlete Enrichment, D'Andrea oversees the day to day operations of Vickery Hall, Clemson's academic learning center. This position covers three areas: academic progress of the student athlete, personal growth of the student athlete, and student-athlete career assistance. It would be hard to argue with the success of Vickery Hall under D'Andrea. In the spring semester of 1994, Clemson athletes enjoyed tremendous semester in the classroom with 131 athletes, managers and trainers earning a 3.0 or better, a school record for one semester.

D'Andrea, a Morgan, PA native, received his undergraduate degree in criminal justice from Indiana State in 1973, and earned a master's degree in education from East Carolina in 1975.

Doug Gordon

Head Equipment Supervisor

Many fans think their Tigers are one of the best dressed teams in the nation. If this is true, thanks should go to Equipment Manager Doug Gordon. He takes great pride in the appearance of the Tigers on game days, and also strives to insure the players' safety by keeping the equipment in good working order. Gordon is also responsible for the associated athletic equipment for all 19 sports at Clemson.

Gordon took his present position in March of 1991. He had served as assistant equipment manager at Clemson since 1984.

Gordon, born on April 25, 1958, is a 1976 graduate of Washington Irvin High School. He lettered in football, track, golf and diving while at Washington Irvin High School. Gordon received his undergraduate degree in physical and health education from West Virginia University. Gordon lettered for the Mountaineers' in diving and golf.

The native of Clarksburg, West Virginia married the former Debra McCauley in July of 1983. They have two sons, D.J. (8), and Daniel (3).

John Seketa

Promotions Director

Now in his ninth year, Seketa is responsible for game promotions at all regular and post-season athletic events at Clemson. This entails the arrangement of pregame and halftime performances; public address and message board announcements; coordination of appearances by The Tiger, Tiger Cub, cheerleaders and Rally Cats; newspaper and radio advertising; and giveaways like the 10,000 Barnyard Burn IV t-shirts that will be given to the Clemson students prior to the South Carolina football game.

Seketa is responsible for updating the trophy cases and signage at all the athletic venues which this year will include the new "Ring of Honor" that will be installed in Memorial Stadium. Another form of signage that Seketa oversees are the C-L-E-M-S-O-N flags that were used to introduce the Tigers at last year's Peach Bowl and the eight scoreboard and message boards on campus.

Entertainment is Seketa's business and if you are interested in having a Birthday Party at a Clemson event or having The Tiger or Tiger Cub make an appearance at a non-profit event, just give him a call and he will arrange all the details.

Prior to arriving in Clemson, Seketa was the promotions director at Eastern Illinois University where he promoted all sports. In 1985, he staged a Make-Believe TV Football Game between Eastern Illinois and Western Illinois with ESPN which was cited in the New York Times. After one year at Eastern Illinois, Seketa headed to the sunny south and Clemson for the 1986-87 academic year.

Seketa is a March 1981 graduate of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. After receiving his Bachelor's degree in business administration, Seketa worked as a computer operator for three years for the Shell Oil Company in Wood River, Illinois. His work in athletics began at Western Illinois where where he attended graduate school followed by an internship at the University of Illinois.

Gary Wade

Head Strength and Conditioning Coach

Gary Wade, the Tiger strength and conditioning coach, brings a wide range of experience into the Clemson weight room. This experience comes in handy as Wade, who is in his 10th full season with the Clemson program, is in charge of all 19 sports at Clemson.

Wade served as an assistant strength coach at Nebraska for three years as an undergraduate and graduate student. He earned his undergraduate degree in education in 1978 and worked on his master's in exercise physiology.

In 1980, he became the Detroit Lions' first strength and conditioning coach. The 38-year old received much credit for the Lions' immediate improvement as Head Coach Monte Clark took pride in Wade's work and the results on the field.

During his five years with the Lions, the club finished second three times in the Central Division and won the NFC Central Championship in 1983. The Lions made the playoffs twice during this period.

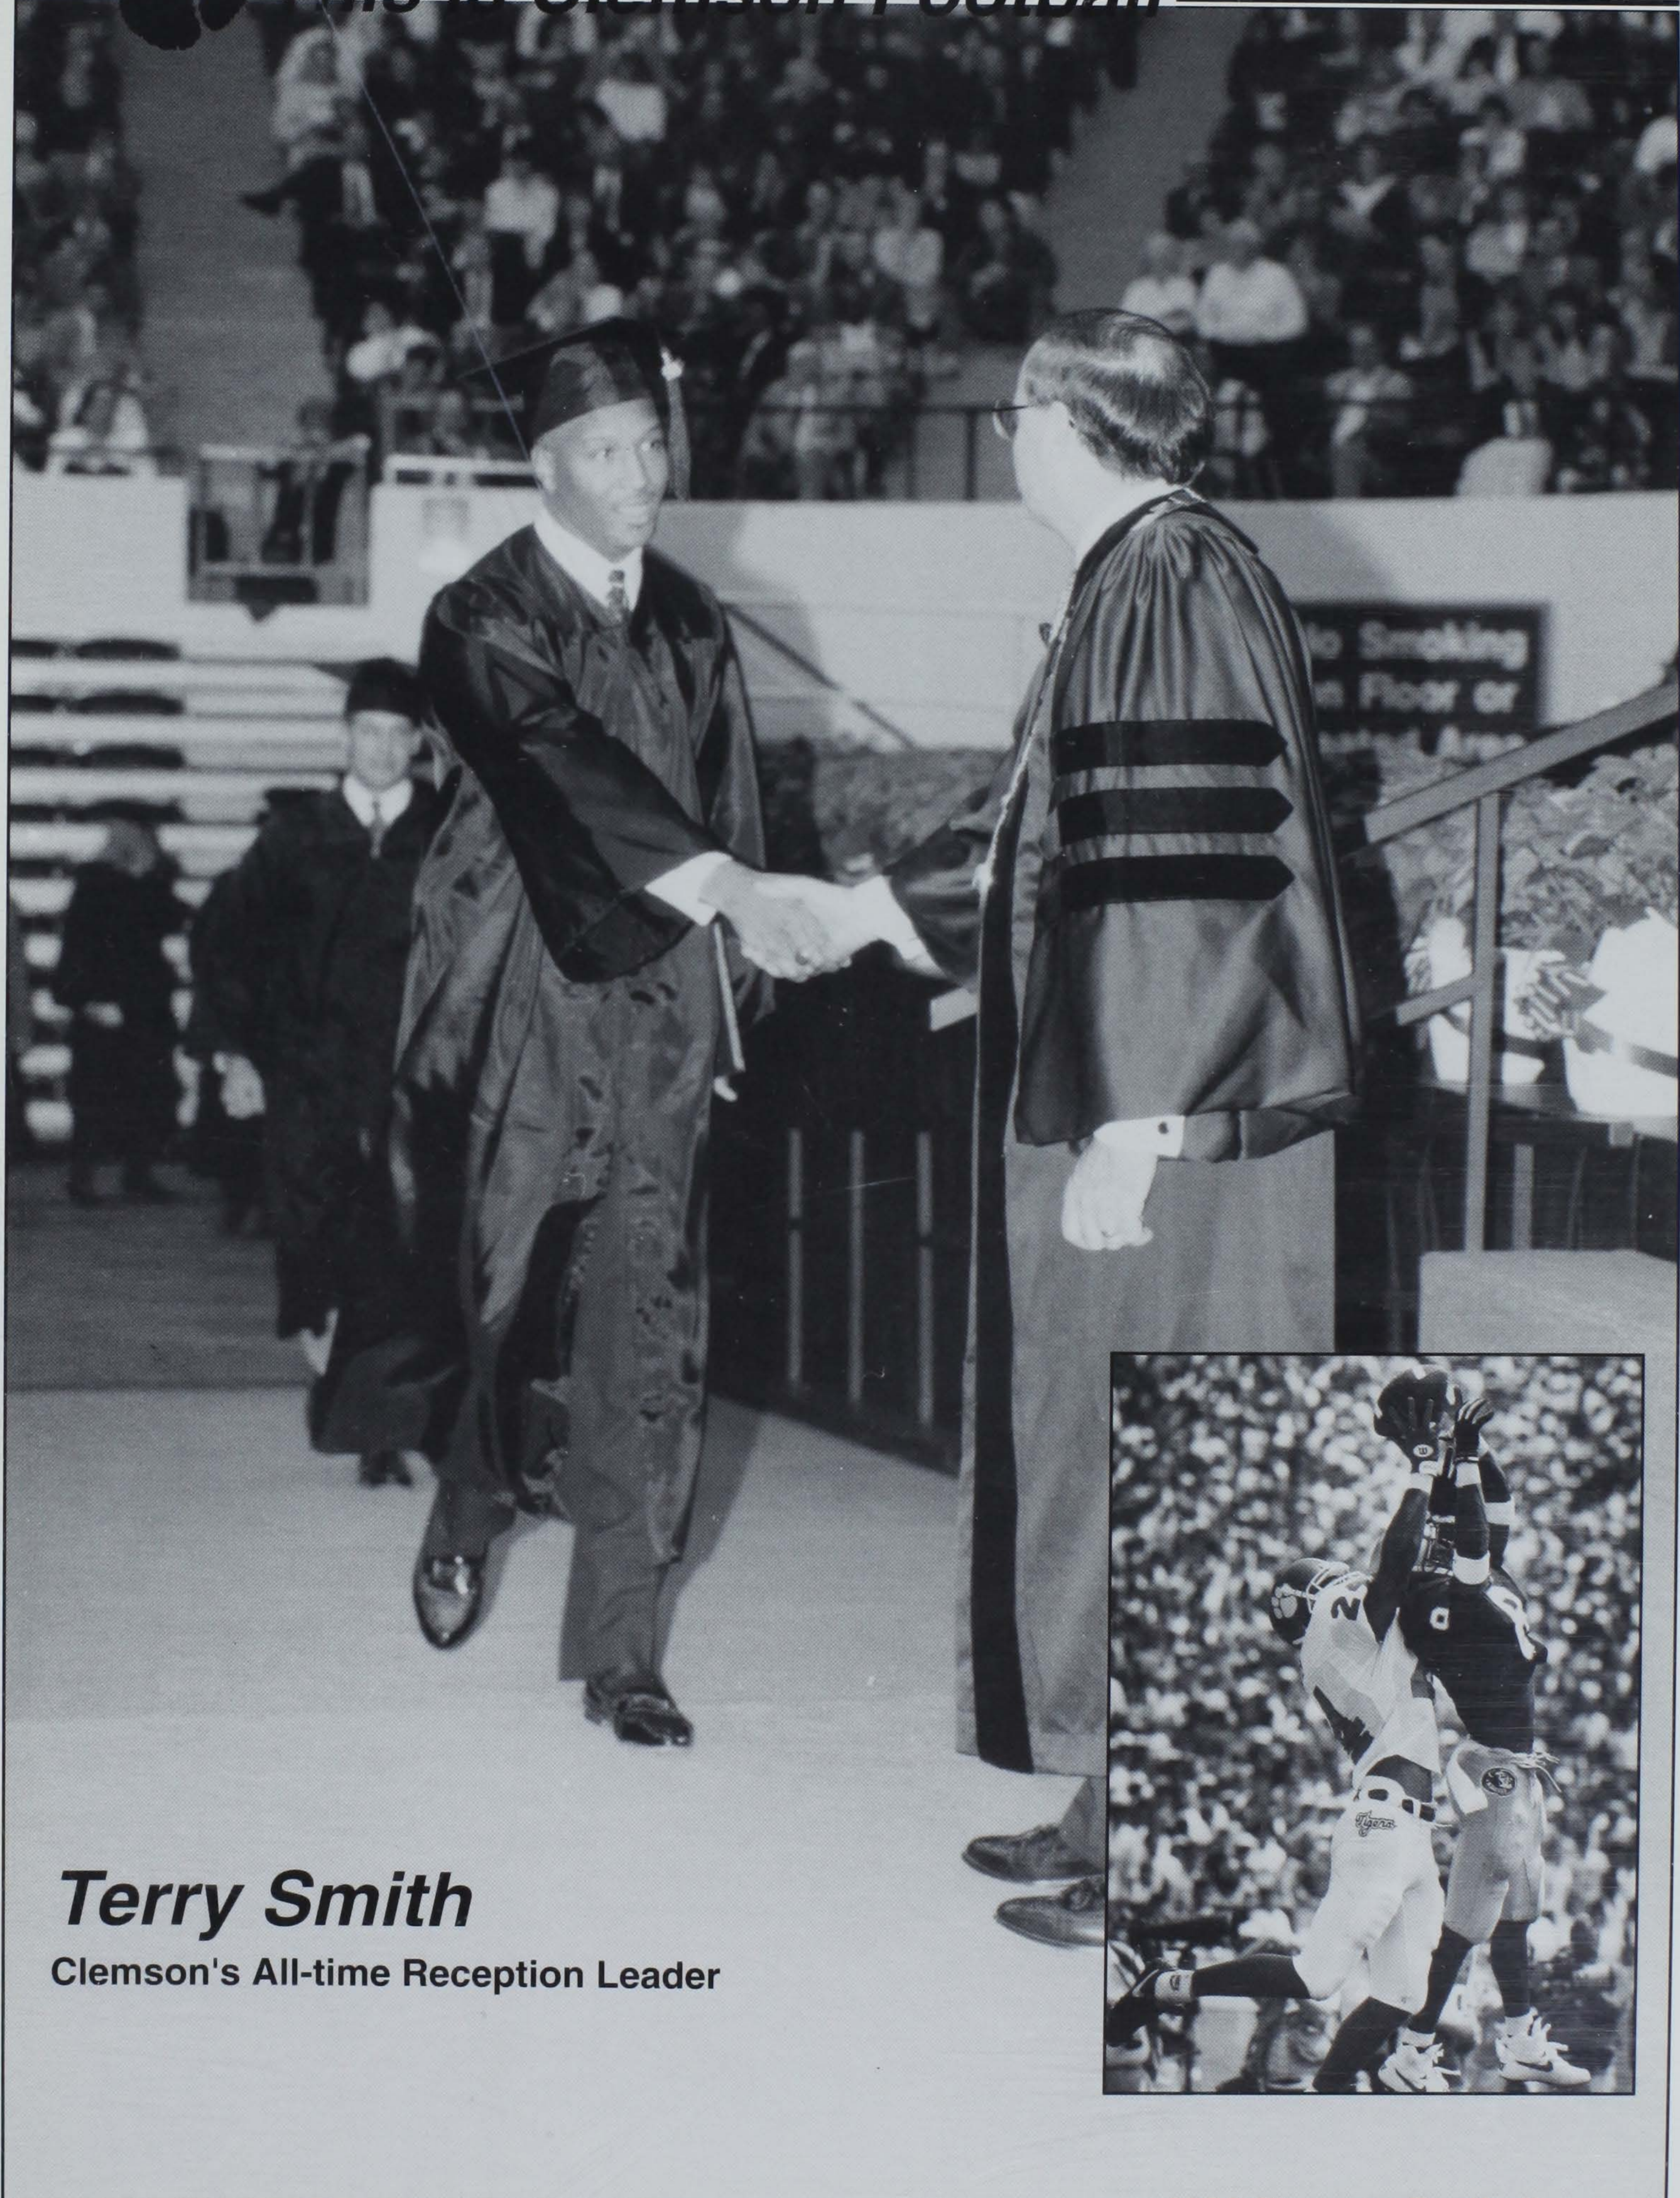

In his nine seasons at Clemson, six of Wade's assistants have become head strength and conditioning coaches at the collegiate level.

Wade, who was born in Nebraska City, NE, earned 10 varsity letters at Weeping Water High School. He was All-Conference in football for three seasons and was second-team All-State his senior year.

Wade is married to the former Andree Langlais.

Tillman Hall

Vickery Hall

Clemson has constructed the first building established solely for academic support for student-athletes

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength training facility, young men and women from all 19 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and is the first facility in the nation originally constructed for the purposes of meeting the comprehensive needs of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000-square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes, and consolidates a variety of academic services for their use.

The philosophy behind Vickery Hall is to provide the Clemson student-athlete with a program that will meet his or her needs academically, in personal growth and development, and with career assistance. Vickery Hall is tangible evidence that, at Clemson, the athletic department has made a commitment to make the student-athlete's total experience a rewarding one, even after he or she enters the professional world.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build. It makes a philosophical statement about the institutional commitment - giving our student-athletes the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We're very serious about that," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Given the time pressures of athletic participation and practice, student athletes face a difficult balancing act in trying to perform well both on the playing field and in the classroom. With respect to this, Clemson's Student-Athletic Enrichment Services (SAES), has provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation over the last several years. The completion of Vickery Hall gives SAES an even greater opportunity to help student-athletes reach the short-term goal of graduation and the long-term goal of success in the world. The facility is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of the student-athlete.

Vickery Hall is located in the mainstream of east campus, behind Jordan Hall at the top of Bryan Mall. The main entrance to the building is a 1,570-square foot reception/office area, comprised of five advisers' offices, two graduate student offices, and a conference room. Also located on the bottom floor is the office of Bill D'Andrea, the director of Clemson's student-athlete enrichment program.

Vickery Hall operates under the guidelines and policies of the university and the center's staff adheres strictly to the rules and ethical conduct standards of the university. In addition to the director, the staff also consists of six full-time advisers, two graduate assistants, and 50 tutors.

The building also boasts a 175-seat auditorium to be used for classes, team meetings, review sessions, and seminars. The various speakers and lecturers who come to work with Clemson student-athletes as part of the student-enrichment program also use this facility. The auditorium is equipped with a projection booth and state-of-the-art audio and video equipment and will be available to other campus groups when not in use by Student-Athletic Enrichment.

Another area of the main floor, the computer resources area, consists of a general computer tutoring room and a computer science tutoring room. The computer room contains 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses.

Vickery Hall was dedicated in the fall of 1991.

The 13,000-square-foot study and tutoring area on the second floor comprises the majority of the center. This area contains 11 classrooms and 28 tutorial rooms, including a large 65-seat study room and nine 20-seat study rooms, which are designed as classrooms with freestanding desks.

Computing Facilities

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to providing the student-athletes at Clemson with such equipment.

Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open six days a week, for 16 hours a day on Monday through Thursday.

The lab staff consists of mostly graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course as well as the many management, engineering and business courses that deal with personal computers. Student-athletes may also arrange tutoring sessions outside normal lab hours any time during the school year.

Computers in the lab can reach many of the other machines on campus, including the NAS mainframe, and are in turn, connected to a world-wide internetwork, allowing lab machines to access computing resources throughout the world. This also allows access to lab resources from computers throughout the world.

The following is a list of some of the equipment available:

- * 18 Macintosh personal computers
- * 15 IBM personal computers
- * 5 Laser Printers

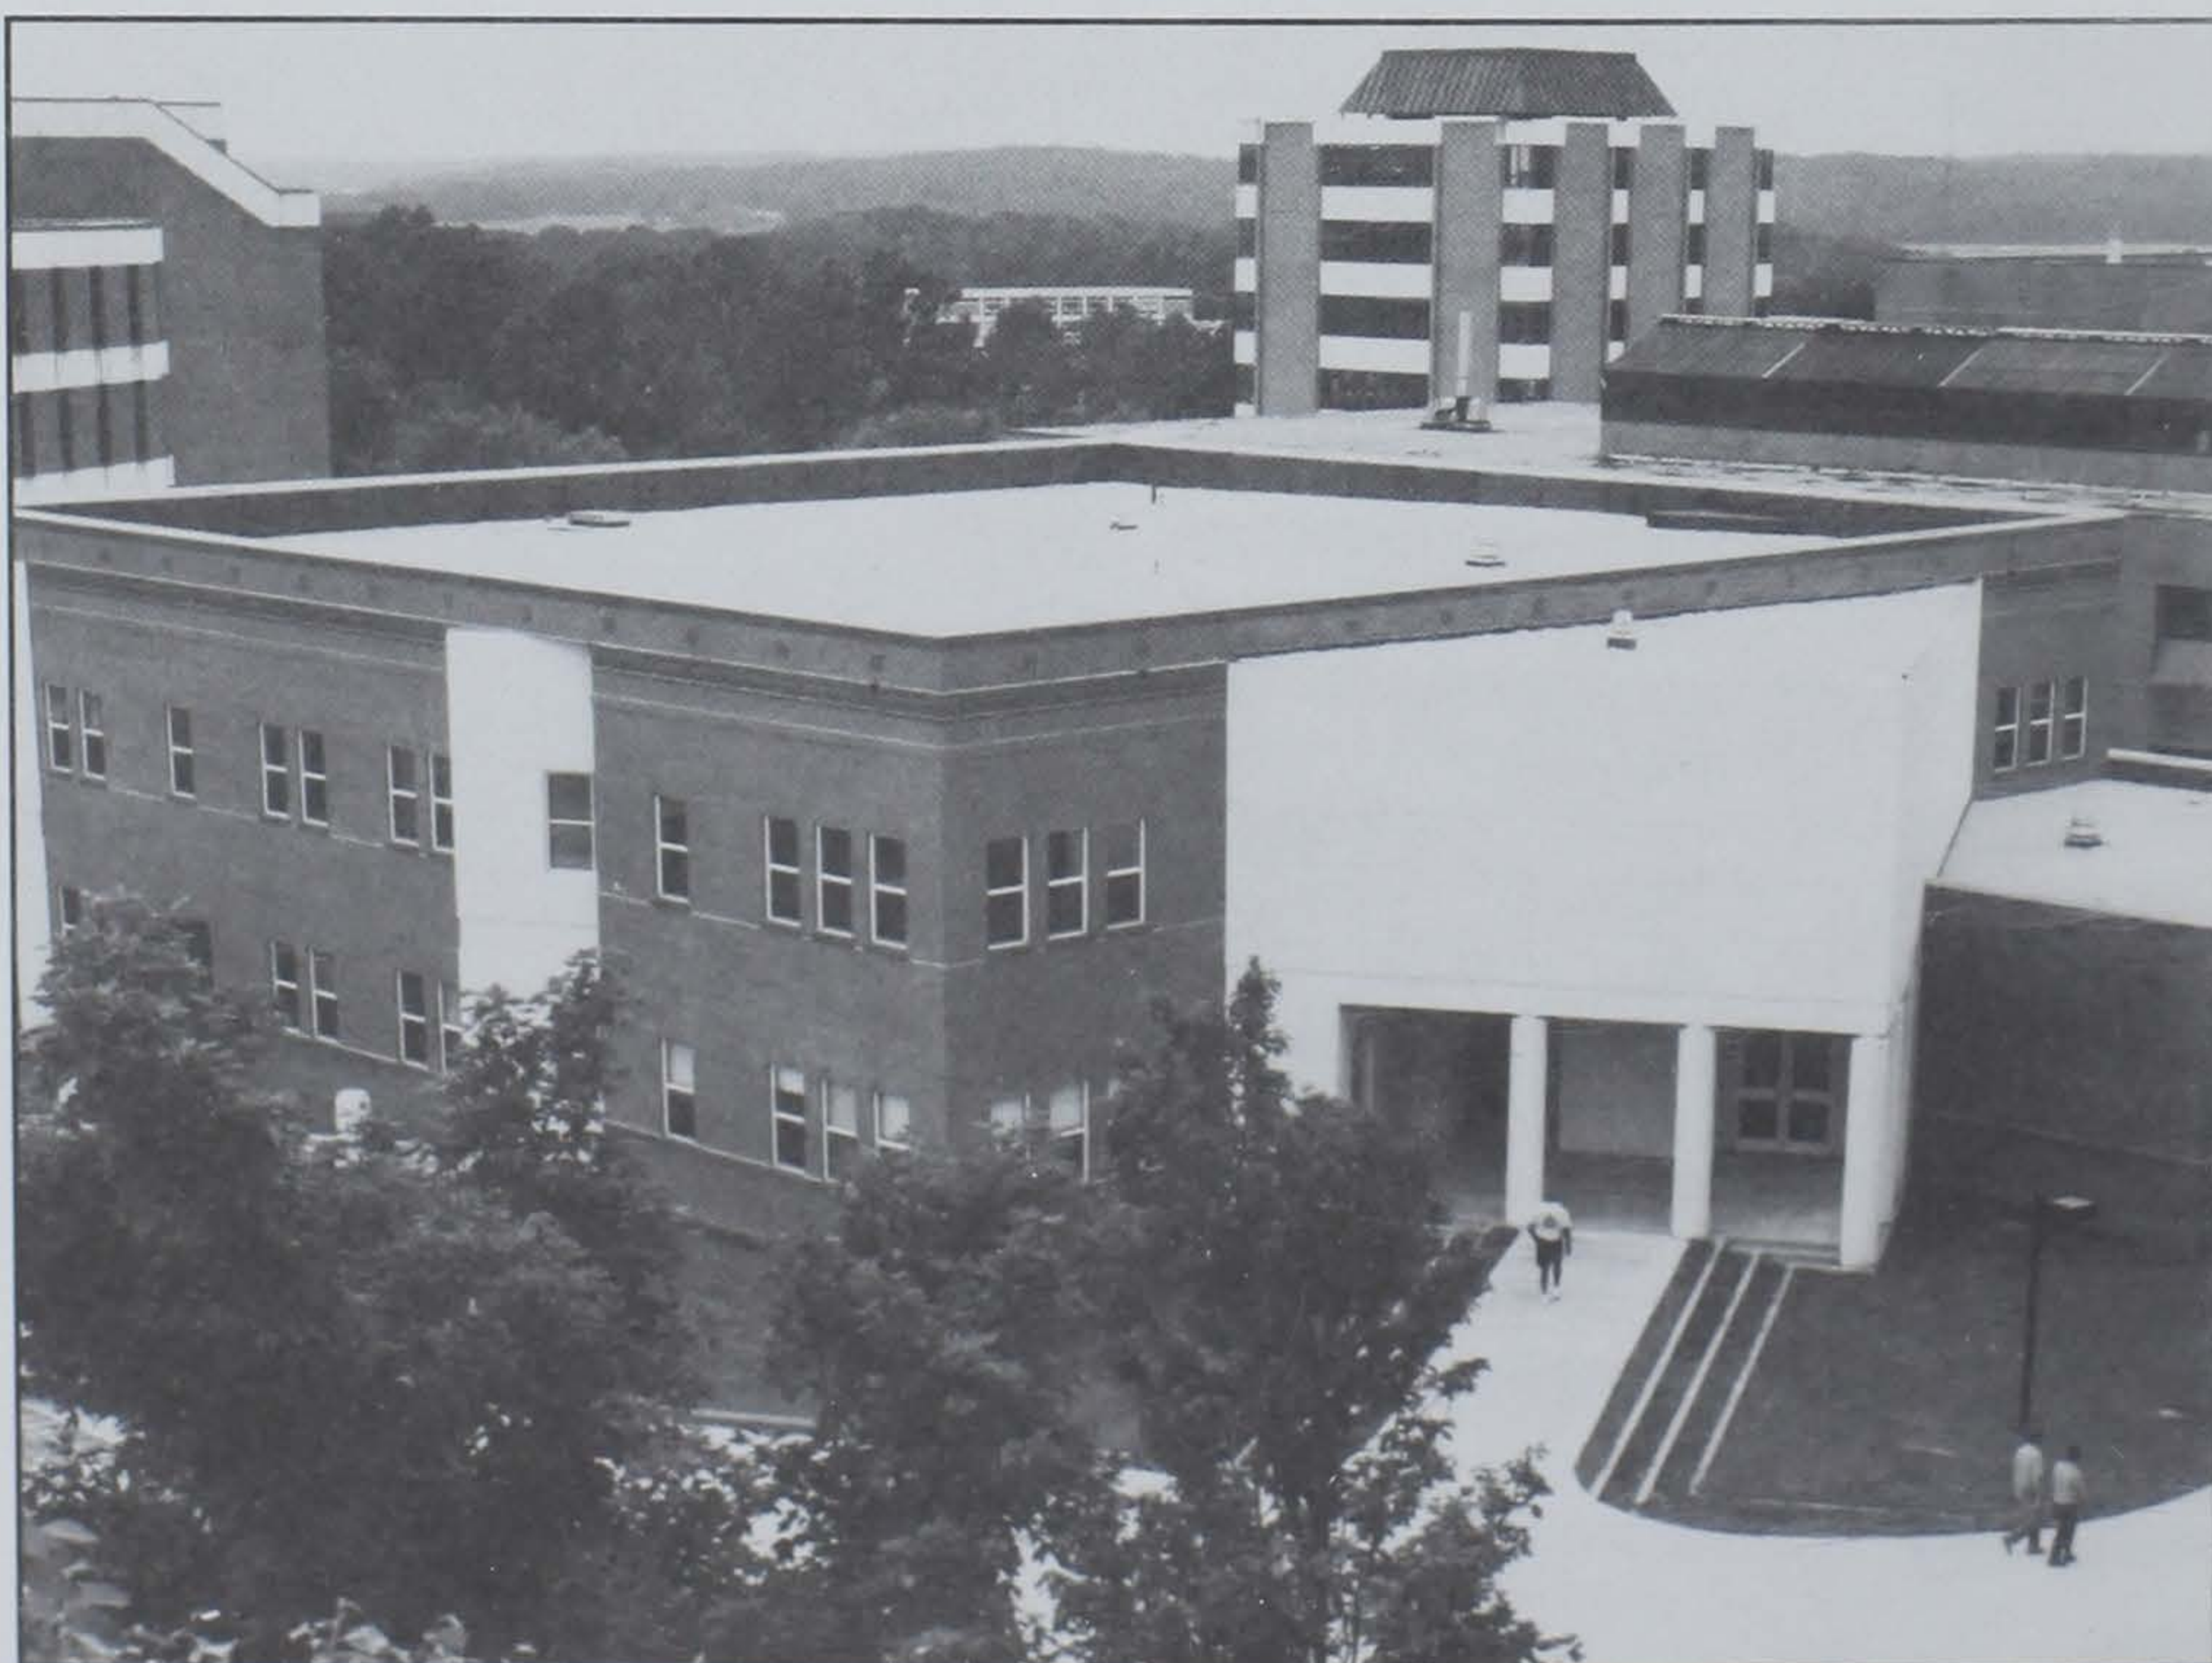

* 2 Novell Netware Servers
(allows users to access and share files from different computers around campus.)

Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program

The Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program is one of the most important programs provided by the staff of Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide help in securing summer employment and to aid in meeting long-term career goals.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center and the Athletic Department, Bill D'Andrea is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with The Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athlete with a job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Long Term Career Assistance Program will be coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and will focus on resume writing and interview techniques so that each student-athlete will be competitive and aggressive when dealing with companies who visit the Clemson campus.

Personal Growth Program

Another aspect of Clemson University's commitment to help student-athletes reach their potential in all areas of their life - academically, athletically, and socially, is the recently implemented personal growth program. This program is one of the many purposes of the Vickery Hall. This particular area of student development is designed to enhance and support the lives of student-athletes during their enrollment in college as well as in their life experiences after graduation.

Bobby Douglas, the Development Coordinator, and Vickery Hall staff realize that student-athletes have more obligations than a regular college student. The personal growth program seeks to eliminate some of the stresses of adjustment to the higher level of academics and athletics. It is the group's special task to assist the student-athlete by creating a finely tuned balance of all areas to insure success in obtaining a Clemson University degree, by supporting successful athletic practice and competition, enhancing personal growth, and helping with the transition to life after college.

A series of personal growth programs will be offered to student-athletes throughout each semester. Some programs may accomplish their objectives in one session, while others may be ongoing throughout the academic year. Some of the personal growth programs are as follows:

Freshman Success:

This program will seek to make the freshman's adjustment to college life easier by covering many areas of adjustment to university life.

Alcohol and Drug Issues:

The intent of this program is to provide the student-athlete with an overview of the disease of addictions and chemical dependence. Emphasis will be placed on providing basic awareness of how substance abuse effects individuals, families and athletic teams.

Current Topics of Concern:

The idea behind this segment of the Personal Growth Plan is to address issues that effect students such as human sexuality, birth control, date rape, etc.

Career Preparation:

The Career Preparation Plan is to encourage all student-athletes to think about life after sports and after graduation. Many sources of information will be available, from career testing to self-paced computer programs, and even with resume preparation and interview skills.

Nutrition and Eating Disorders:

Eating habits and proper diet are very important in maintaining a sound body and mind. The focus of this program revolves around presenting information so that student-athletes can analyze their own eating habits and carefully choose a balanced diet with enough calories to maintain good health.

Choosing a Major:

This is an important aspect of educational life. This program is designed to help student-athletes make the right choice of major in respect to their career goals.

Personal Finance:

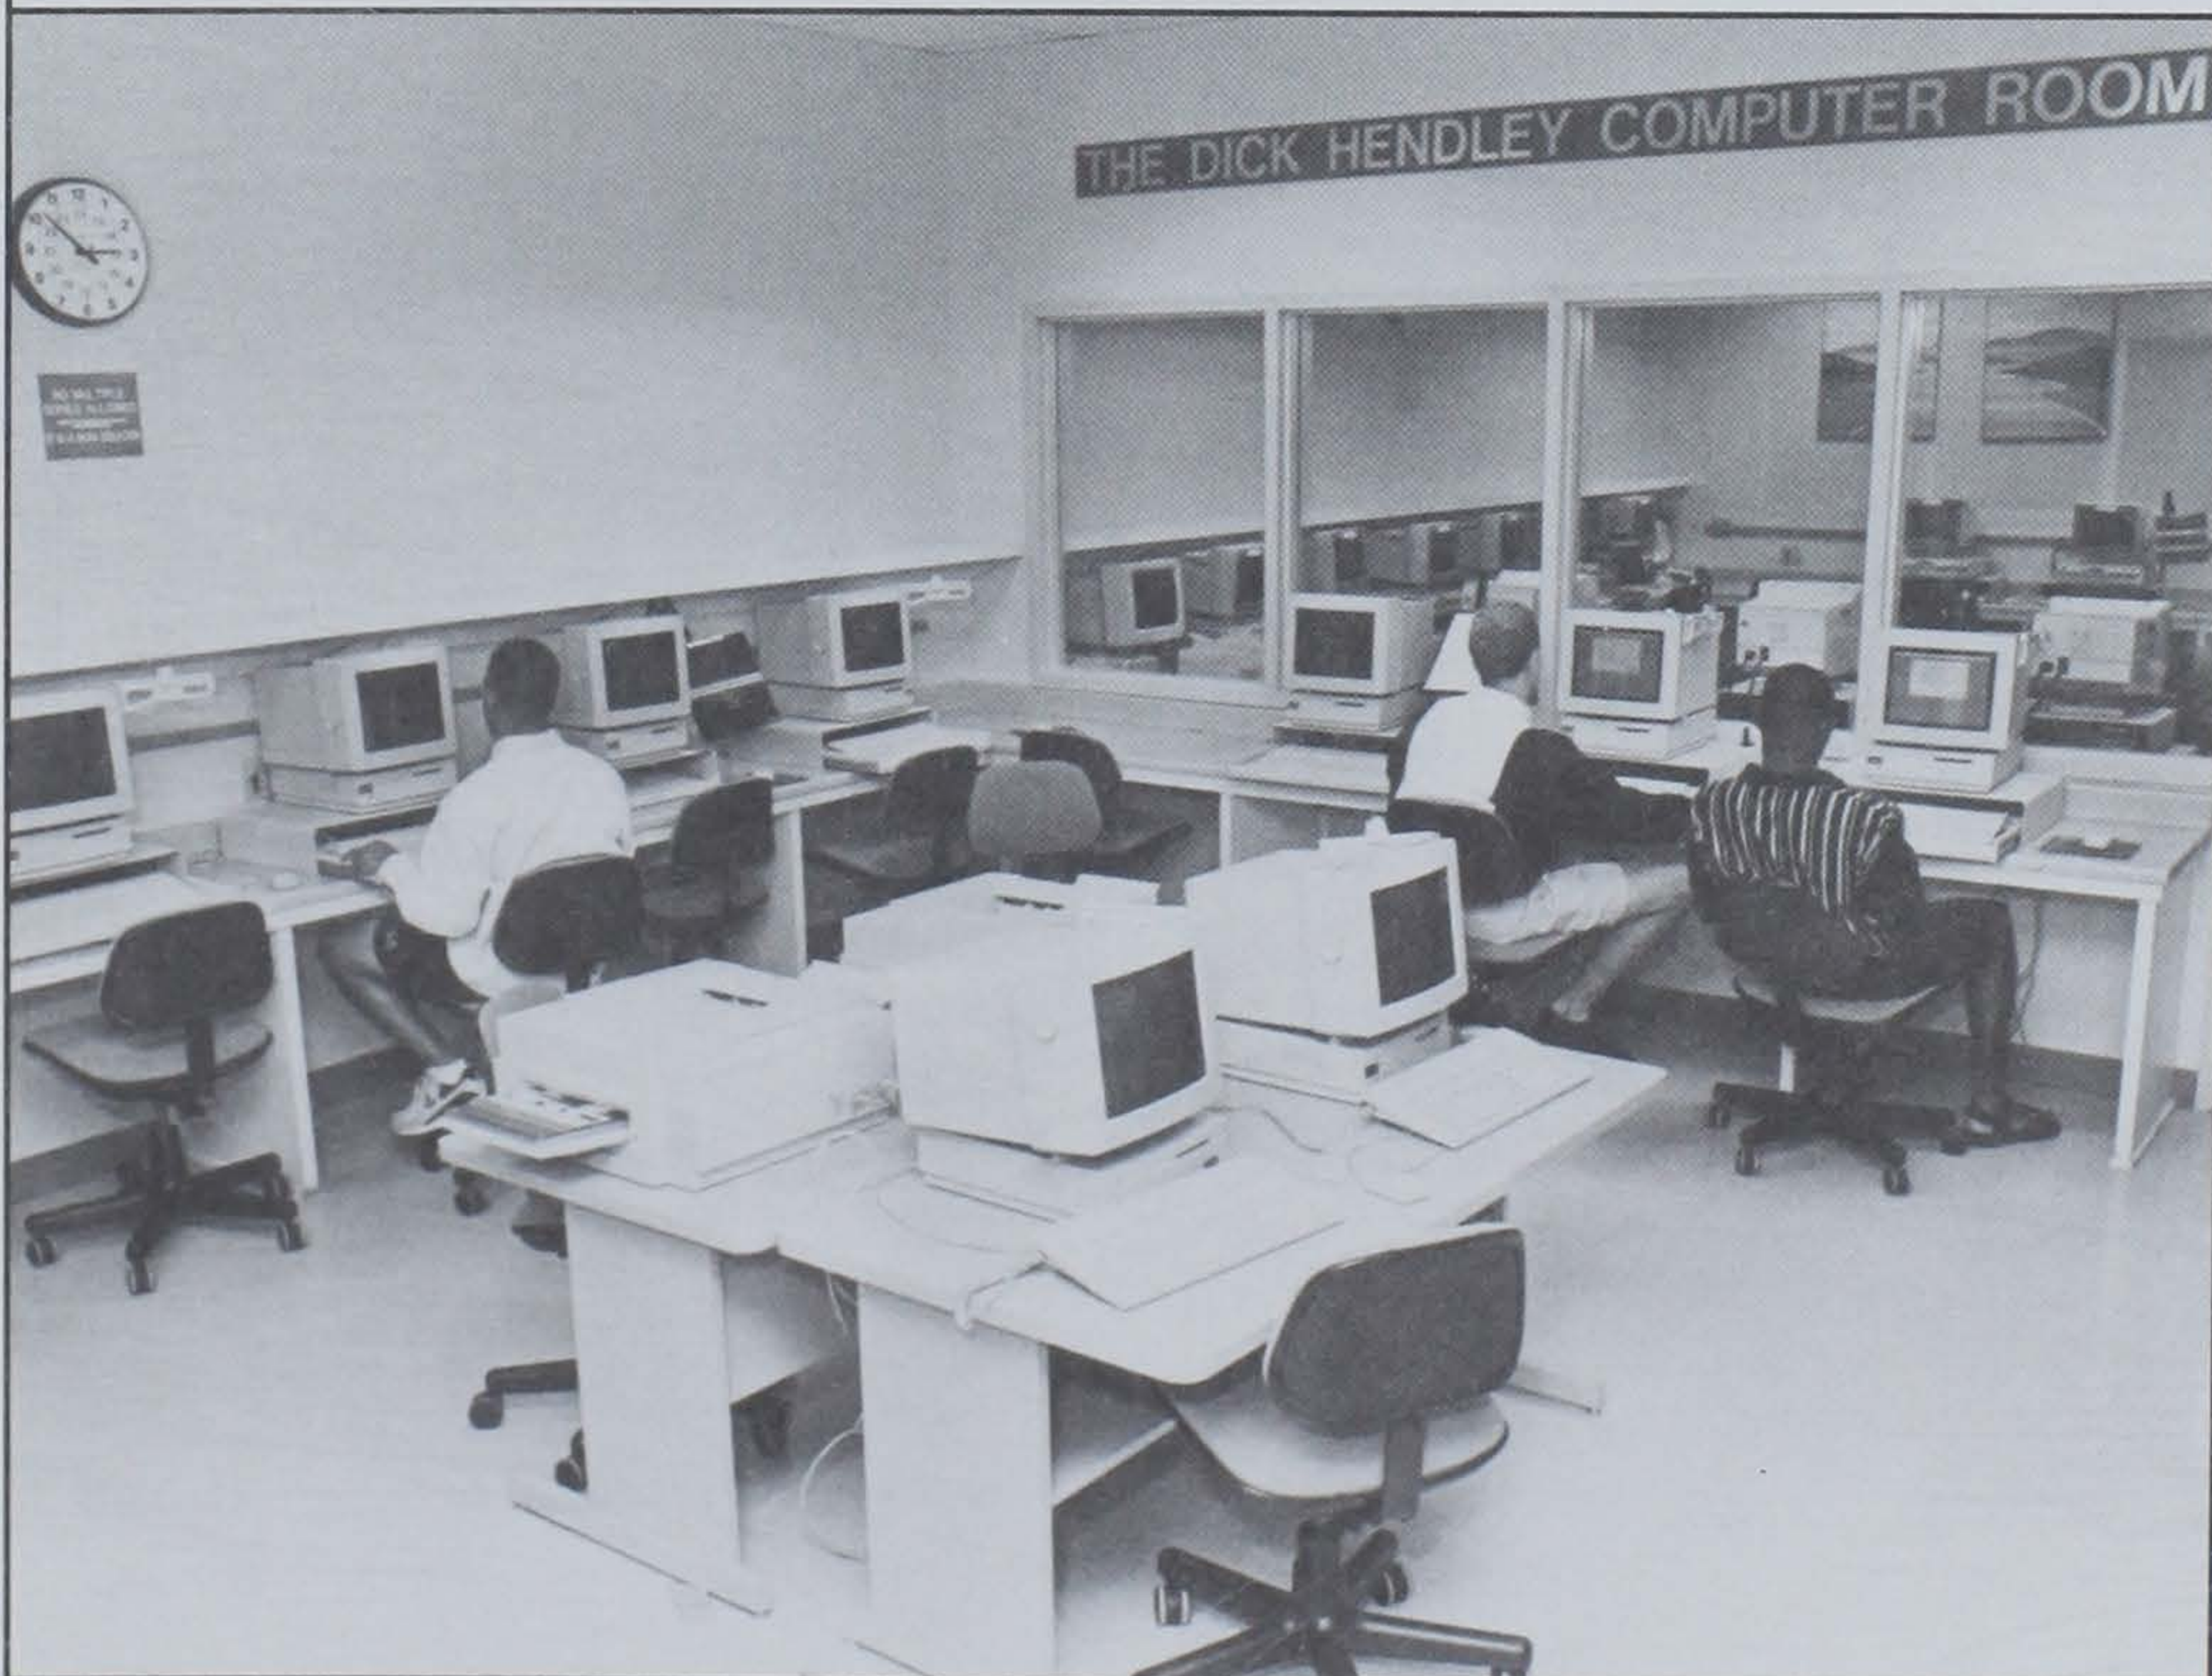

Student-athletes on athletic scholarships are not allowed to have jobs during the academic year. Therefore, it is important to budget personal finances so they do not run out before the semester. This program not only discusses budgeting but also the responsible use of credit.

Stress Management:

All student-athletes face additional concerns during their college days than normal students. Many times these add stress to the everyday lives of student-athletes. The object of this program is to teach the student-athlete ways of identifying and handling personal stress so it does not interfere with the maintenance of good mental and physical health.

Interpersonal Communication:

Communication is necessary in all areas of life to improve happiness, instill contentment and enhance success. Programs dealing with interpersonal communication will involve improvement of listening skills, verbal skills and learning respect for the feelings and emotions of others.

Les Hall

Clemson University

Thirty-seven percent of Clemson's 1993 Freshman ranked in the top 10 % of their High School Class.

In the late 1860's the South lay impoverished and in economic ruin during the days of Reconstruction following the Civil War. Thomas Green Clemson believed that South Carolina needed an institution of higher education dedicated to science and agriculture. With his belief came the foundation that was laid for Clemson Agricultural College. On April 6, 1888, Thomas Clemson died, leaving most of his estate to the state of South Carolina with the purpose of establishing a college that would teach scientific agriculture and the mechanical arts to the young people of South Carolina.

The college formally opened its doors in 1893 with an enrollment of 446 students. As an all-male military school, the college quickly became recognized across the nation as an important part of the national system of state universities and land-grant colleges. In 1955 Clemson lost its military school heritage and became a civilian co-educational college. As the school expanded its academic offerings and research pursuits, the state Legislature renamed the college Clemson University in 1964.

Today, Clemson is much more than

Thomas Clemson could have ever envisioned. The campus is located on 1400 acres of beautiful rolling hills on what once was the plantation of former U. S. Vice-President John C. Calhoun. With its academic and administrative buildings, student housing, athletic and service facilities, and equipment the University represents an insured value of approximately $514 million. Landmarks such as Fort Hill, the former home of the Clemsons and the Calhouns, Tillman with its clocktower, the statue of Thomas Green Clemson and the outdoor amphitheater all help retain the air of tradition.

The campus is surrounded by 17,000 acres of University farms and woodlands devoted to research in forestry, agriculture, and agricultural engineering. In addition, 12,390 acres throughout the state are devoted to Agricultural Experiment Station research and 4-H Club work, for a total of 30,790 real estate acres. Clemson University also owns overseas acreage for the purpose of teaching and research—a total of 203 acres located in Genoa, Italy, at the Charles Daniel Center for Building Research and Urban Studies, and on the

The Clemson Student

In 1993, 37 percent of Clemson's 1993 freshmen ranked in the top tenth of their high school class, while sixty-four percent were in the top fifth. The average Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) of entering freshmen in 1993 was 1052. This means that a Clemson student's classmates provide challenge and excitement.

The tradition of high quality education at Clemson has long been known by employers and professional schools, and they actively recruit graduates. The liberal arts education Clemson offers is widely recognized for its emphasis on preparing students to succeed in a world where rapid change transforms every challenge into an opportunity.

Preparing students for life after graduation does not take place only in the classroom. Leadership programs, exposure to a rich cultural environment, contact with people from backgrounds and geographic regions different from the student's own life experience, opportunities to exchange ideas and to learn from these will give added value to the education that a Clemson student receives.

Clemson's student body is comprised of students from 49 different states and 74 foreign countries. Many different cultures and ethnic backgrounds are represented in the student population. This diversity adds to the many educational opportunities of the campus and the Clemson community. Clemson has over 16,000 students. South Carolina residents make up 72 percent of the student body. Undergraduates make up 75 percent of the Clemson student body. The overall ratio of men-to-women is about three-to-two.

The Clemson Education

Clemson's different colleges include Agriculture Sciences, Architecture, Commerce and Industry, Education, Engineering, Forest and Recreation Resources, Liberal Arts, Nursing, and Sciences. In these nine colleges, 72 undergraduate programs and 70 graduate programs are offered. With the goal of maintaining the vision of Thomas Clemson, the school continues to place importance on the studies of agriculture, scientific, technological, and business courses. These courses and others help the Clemson student prepare for life in our fast-paced and changing society.

Calhoun College, the Clemson Honors Program, strives to enrich the educational experience of highly motivated, academically talented students by providing opportunities for scholarship and research not ordinarily available to undergraduates. Established in 1962, Calhoun College is the oldest and largest honors program in South Carolina.

Clemson classes are demanding and many of the academic programs have received national recognition. Clemson also has expanded educational programs in different communities around the state. The University has telecampus offerings and new joint programs with technical colleges, such as the new program in horticulture offered at Horry-Georgetown Technical College, a new degree program with The Citadel and academic programs at Lander and Furman.

Clemson University is a land-grant, state-assisted university accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools to award the bachelor's, master's, specialist and doctoral degrees.

The Clemson Faculty

Clemson faculty members represent a wide array of academic interests and diverse backgrounds. As a group, the faculty share a common interest in providing a positive learning experience for students. Also the faculty has a genuine interest in seeing their students realize success in their academic pursuits. Clemson's student-to-faculty ratio of 16-to-1 gives the faculty the opportunity to interact with many of their students on a one-to-one basis. Critical thinking, problem solving, creative learning, and self-development are just a few of the things emphasized in the Clemson classroom.

Faculty members at Clemson come from a wide range of backgrounds. Five hundred institutions of higher learning that promote excellence in teaching, research, and scholarship are represented among the Clemson faculty. Eighty-two percent hold earned doctoral degrees, and many have achieved special academic recognition. Many have also been honored by colleagues and students as master teachers for their excellence in the classroom and by the Outstanding Educators of America.

When a student enrolls at Clemson, the interaction between student and faculty solidifies as each student is assigned a faculty adviser in his or her chosen field of study. The faculty adviser will assist the student with class scheduling and academic counseling throughout his or her stay at Clemson as well.

Clemson faculty members participate in many activities outside the classroom. Faculty members actively contribute to professional journals, as well as chairing international conferences. The faculty also contributes to government on the local, state, and national level as well by serving as advisers to the United Nations.

Clemson University employs a total of 8,758 people. Of these 4,190 are full-time, with 1,226 holding academic rank. In addition, the University has 4,568 part-time employees, including 4,112 students, 122 classified employees and 150 who hold faculty rank.

The efforts of the Clemson faculty in research and the pursuit of providing a quality source of higher education have not gone unnoticed. Knowledge of these efforts are apparent as for the 18th consecutive year, total gifts received from private individuals topped the previous year's figures. Gifts from individual contributors jumped 43 percent. In 1992-93 donors contributed $19 million for academic programs and pledged an additional $3.9 million. This support is an indication that the private sector has confidence in Clemson's ability to provide a quality education.

The Clemson Facilities

Take a walk around the Clemson campus and you will see plenty of construction activity, whether it is finishing touches on the new performing arts center or construction on the new engineering building, Clemson is definitely preparing to be a leader in the 21st century.

The main University library, Robert Muldrow Cooper Library, is situated in the heart of campus. The library has become one of the national leaders in automated information retrieval. Its bibliographic records are accessible from anywhere in the world electronically, easing the task of finding information in its collections, which total more than 1.7 million items. Numerous periodical indexes are housed on-line and available for automated searching. The collections are particularly strong in agriculture, natural and physical sciences, economics and technology. Of special interest are the James F. Brynes and Edgar A. Brown Rooms which have the collections of papers of these statesman.

A cornerstone of the University is its computer facilities. Clemson's computer center, which supports student course work and research in all disciplines, is also used by government and industry. The center provides general computing services on a network. Remote sites housing more than 1,600 terminals and 600 micro-computers are conveniently located in many different areas of campus. International and national telephone modem access is also available.

All students are assigned a user identification code when they enroll, which allows them to use the various mainframe applications such as electronic mail, job placement service, library card catalog and information databases, and housing and course registration.

Final touches are being put on the already open $12.5 million Robert Howell Brooks Center for the Performing Arts. The facility brings an exciting array of fine arts productions to the University, while working to make the arts accessible to a new and larger audience. The facility also houses the rehearsal and performance space for Tiger Band.

Recently finished was the newest student residence facility, McCabe Hall. McCabe replaces a portion of Johnstone Hall and serves students with new updated comfortable dormitory living in an attractive building inside and out.

Currently under construction is the Flour Daniel Engineering Innovation Center. When completed it will be the first new engineering building built on the Clemson campus in 24 years.

The Office of Career Services and Placement can help with planning and finding summer and full-time employment. The office assists in career counseling and planning, searching for a job, preparing resumes and developing job interview strategies. Resources include staff expertise, books, videotapes and literature provided by companies and agencies. Clemson has developed one of the best automated placement systems in the country, allowing students to research employers and sign up for interviews from any mainframe computer terminals on campus.

The Office of Career Services doesn't just serve the needs of seniors; it serves all students and alumni. Interest tests and interactive computer programs help students explore their career interests. Also, if incoming freshmen are unsure about which major to choose, the Career Center can offer information on career choices, testing and interpretation for career direction. Career Counselors will even help students with study techniques and self-development.

The Clemson Experience

Whether its walking to the Agriculture Sales Center to have a milkshake or taking a stroll through the Botanical Gardens or even taking part in a pick-up basketball game at Fike Recreation Center, there are plenty of activities for Clemson students when they are not in the classroom.

Clemson has more than 260 student organizations that are active on campus, including 19 social fraternities and 12 social sororities. There are organizations related to every course of study - groups such as the Accounting Club, the Society of Women Engineers, and the American Institute of Architects. For students who enjoy writing or photography, the Tiger, the campus newspaper, TAPS, the university yearbook; or the Chronicle, the student variety magazine, are available. For those who are interested in broadcasting there is a student-operated radio station, WSBF-FM, broadcasting news, information, and music 24 hours a day.

Located in the University Union are the offices of the student government. Student government gives students the opportunity to influence campus policy. Also in the University Union is the campus entertainment center. There are lounges, bowling alleys, video games, billiard tables, and Edgar's all located at the campus entertainment center.

Fike Recreation Center has a host of opportunities for students to let off steam through physical activity. Inside Fike is an eight-lane swimming pool, a diving tank, two gyms used for basketball and other activities, various weight lifting facilities, and room for aerobics. Outside Fike are several spacious fields used for the extensive intramural program and for student enjoyment. There are indoor and lighted outdoor tennis courts across the street from Fike at the Hoke A. Sloan Tennis Center.

Clemson In Touch With South Carolina

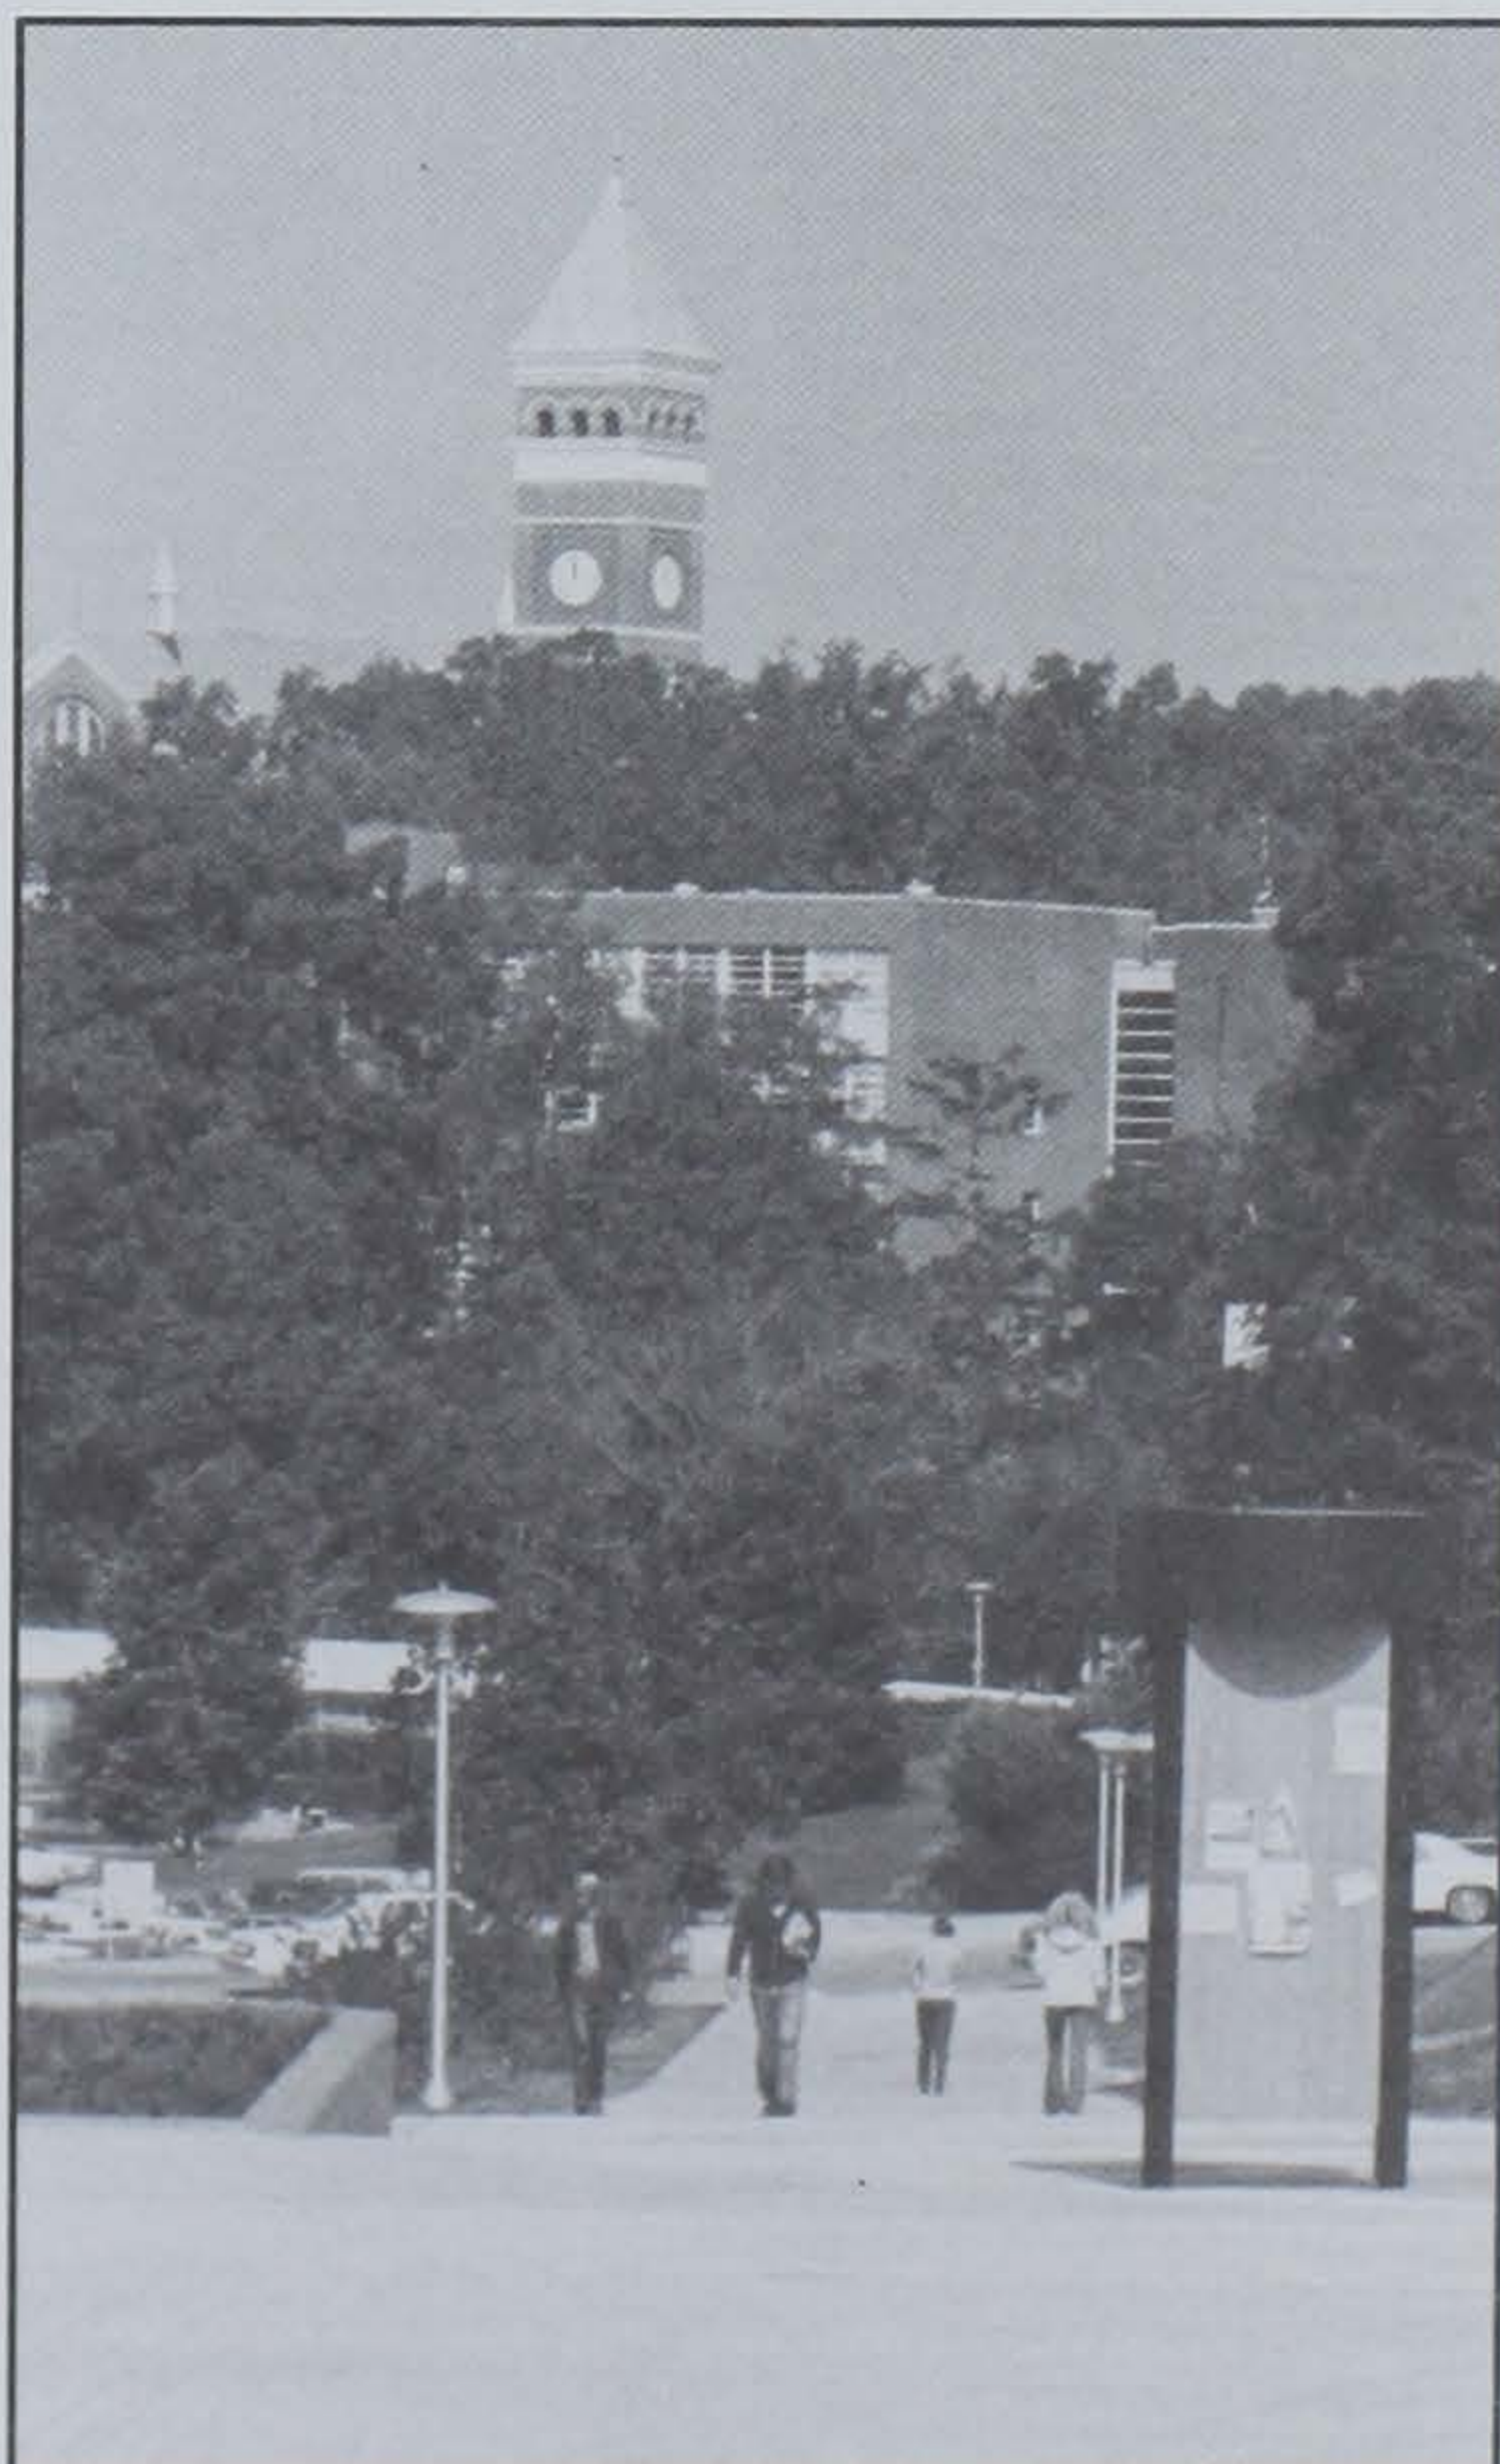

- * The University-sponsored Agriculture Outlook Conference in January of 1993 in Columbia examined issues such as the impact of the new administration on agriculture policy and the outlook for the coming year for major farm commodities produced in the state.
- * Clemson's Master of Architecture program received a commendation for excellence from the S.C. Commission on Higher Education. Commendations are given only to those programs judged by CHE to be especially meritorious.
- * Horticulturist Bob Default at the Clemson Coastal Research and Education Center is leading a project to cultivate sweetgrass, which is endangered because of coastal development. The sweetgrass is used by basketmakers in Charleston and the craft is a part of the historical Charleston experience.

Clemson In Touch With the Nation

- * A national consortium based at Clemson received an $8.5-million grant from the U.S. Department of Energy. The campus-based South Carolina Energy Research Development Center will oversee the consortium, which will develop new, ultra-efficient gas-turbine technology for electric power generation.
- * Assistant Professor of Computer Science Mary Jean Harrold received a National Science Foundation Young Investigator Award, which will provide $100,000 annually for five years to fund research and scholarship.
- * In April 1993 two faculty members in the College of Education, Margaree Crosby and Frankie Felder, were chosen from more than 100 African-American professionals in the Southeast for recognition as positive role models and achievers.

Clemson In Touch With the World

- * Clemson researchers are joining scientists in Europe in trying to save the Leaning Tower of Pisa from toppling. Our new wind tunnel, one of only two of its kind in the United States, is being used to test damaging effects of winds on the tower and surrounding structures.
- * Feeding the planet continues to be a focus of Clemson, and inroads were made in food safety innovations and in development of pest management systems for soybeans and vegetables.

Clemson will be the home of the NFL's Carolina Panthers in 1995.

The signs on the side of the highway as you enter the Clemson city limits say "Clemson: In Season Every Season." From the point of view of most Clemson graduates, the seasons this slogan speaks of are football, basketball, baseball, etc. But a drive through town in the middle of spring, when the azaleas and dogwoods are in full bloom, or a walk through campus in October, when the trees are blazing in the brilliant colors of autumn, will leave little doubt that Clemson is indeed in season, every season.

Nestled in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains and caressed by the shores of the beautiful Lake Hartwell, Clemson is located in the northwestern corner of South Carolina, two hours north of Atlanta, GA, and two hours southwest of Charlotte, NC. The town may not be one of the state's largest most days of the week, but on many autumn Saturdays, it becomes the state's second-largest city, as 81,000 fans come from all directions to watch the Tigers play football. But the friendly residents of Clemson and the surrounding towns welcome the visitors home each year with a true dose of southern hospitality.

Clemson is steeped in history. The university campus is located on what was Fort Hill Plantation, home of John C. Calhoun, one of the great statesmen of the 19th century, and of his son-in-law, Thomas Green Clemson. The house, which was built in 1806, stands in the center of campus and is open to the public. Also on the Clemson campus is a 1716 lowcountry French Huguenot home, Hanover House, which was transported to Clemson in 1941. Just a mile or so down the road, is the Pendleton Historic District, where several other antebellum homes are open to the public. The entire village of Pendleton is on the National Register of Historic Places.

The area boasts a great variety of restaurants, ranging from the downtown barbeque and hamburger spots, to the historic Liberty Hall Inns and Calhoun Corners. Any palate or budget can find something to his or her liking, as over 50 eating establishments are located in the Clemson/Pendleton/Central area.

The mild climate of the foothills lends itself to many outdoor activities throughout the year. Clemson has excellent and ample facilities for tennis and golf, fishing, swimming or hiking, horseback riding, white water rafting, and various other pursuits.

And, when one wants to leave Clemson, they don't have far to go to find whatever they are looking for. Professional sports are only a couple of hours away in Atlanta and Charlotte. Clemson will be the home of the NFL's Carolina Panthers for eight regular season and two exhibition games in 1995.

For sun and fun, it's an easy interstate drive to the coast of South Carolina, to Hilton Head Island, Myrtle Beach, or even historic Charleston. All kinds of water sports are right at the campus' back door, as a 926-mile shoreline borders the edge of campus. And for those who enjoy cooler climates, the mountains of North Carolina are only an hour's drive away. Countless resorts and some of the finest ski slopes in the east are close enough to make a day's outing.

Strength Training Room

Clemson fans look forward to seeing tough, hard-nosed football when they come to Death Valley or travel to other schools to watch their Tigers in action. But some of the Tigers' most intense competition and action doesn't take place on autumn Saturday's and it doesn't take place on a field. Take a peek into the Clemson Strength Training Room at almost any time of day, almost any day of the week, at any time of the year, and you will see the Tigers building the foundation for their pursuit of a championship.

With years of experience on the professional and college level, Head Strength Coach Gary Wade knows what it takes to get a team in the physical shape needed to play. Wade has developed a facility that provides Clemson athletes with the very best in equipment, supervision and atmosphere, as he knows that success in the area of strength training will mean success on the football field.

Wade and his staff work constantly to insure that their facility and their program is one of the nation's best. Several renovations made over the last several years have insured that it is among the best, on the collegiate and professional levels. It is no accident that the Tigers have posted a 77-27-3 record, won four ACC Championships, had 17 first or second-team All-Americans, and 51 first-team all-conference selections since Wade joined the Clemson staff in 1985.

Perhaps the most impressive characteristic of the facility is its size. Several years ago, the facility was enlarged to an astounding 11,000 square feet, making it one of the largest in the nation. Next year, it will be expanded to 15,000 square feet. The facility boasts two full lines of Nautilus machines and over 12 tons of weights. The large number of machines and free weights allows the weight room to be used by athletes from several different sports at the same time, without anyone having to wait in line at a particular station.

The plush atmosphere provides an interesting contrast to the physical exertion that takes place in the facility. When an athlete enters the etched glass doors, he is greeted by plush, wall-to-wall carpeting, walls lined with mirrors, ceiling fans, and music from a 26-speaker sound system - a worthy backdrop for well over $500,000 worth of state-of-the-art equipment.

Four color television monitors are also positioned throughout the facility. These monitors are used for training and instruction, as Tiger strength coaches film the athletes and work with them on form correction. When not in use for this purpose, the televisions, which are hooked into the sound system provide atmosphere, as most Tiger student-athletes enjoy working out to the tune of the latest music videos.

Wade and his assistants, J.T. Allaire, Scott Dennis, Todd Wright, Ryan Cole, and Kevin Handzel personally supervise the individual weight programs of hundreds of athletes. The strength training staff spends long hours working around the various schedules of each sport and even takes the facility on the road when the Tiger football team plays in a bowl game.

Recently, the operation of the strength

Head Strength Coach Gary Wade has helped field championship teams on both the college and professional levels for more than 15 years.

A strength training "Hall of Fame" highlights the entrance to Clemson's impressive facility.

training facility was enhanced by the addition of a new computerized program. Tiger strength coaches are now able to enter all the current strength data on an athlete, and the computer will generate a 10-week conditioning program that will help the athlete reach optimum results. Wade also prints a yearly update on the improvement's made by each member of the team, as well as updated records in all the strength training categories.

Clemson Strength Staff: Dennis Scott, J.T. Allaire, John Marcotte, Todd Wright and Tom Renda surround Head Strength Coach Gary Wade, who is in his 10th year at Clemson.

The McFadden Building

Acting on the recommendation of the IPTAY Board of Directors with concurrence by the University Commission on Names, the Clemson Board of Trustees unanimously approved at their April 8, 1994 meeting the naming of the annex to the Jervy Athletic Center as the Banks McFadden Building. The facility, which will house football offices and meeting rooms, is currently under construction and is scheduled to be completed in February 1995.

The 50,000 square foot building, which will be connected to the Jervy Athletic Center, will contain new offices and meeting rooms for the Clemson football staff. The project also includes a new football locker room and player lounge area. There will also be new training and equipment facilities and the strength training area will be expanded.

The project also includes a renovation to the Jervy Athletic Center that will improve office areas and meeting facilities. An expanded video area, complete with studio is also an aspect of the project.

"This building will benefit Clemson student-athletes in many ways," said Clemson Athletic Director Bobby Robinson. "The annex will give the Jervy complex a state-of-the-art building."

"It is fitting that this facility bear the name of Banks McFadden, the only Clemson athlete honored as the Nation's Most Versatile Athlete. Banks McFadden has served this University in so many ways for so long."

"This is a tribute to a man who has given a lifetime of service to Clemson University," said Nick Lomax, Clemson vice president for administration. "I can't think of anyone more deserving of this honor."

McFadden was an All-American in football and basketball during the 1939 calendar year. He led the Tiger basketball team to the 1939 Southern Conference Championship, then guided the Clemson football team to a Cotton Bowl victory over Boston College and a number-11 national ranking the following fall. He was also the top track performer in the state and led Clemson to the state championship.

"I am deeply humbled and gratified by this tremendous honor and would like to thank all who made it possible," said McFadden.

Training Room

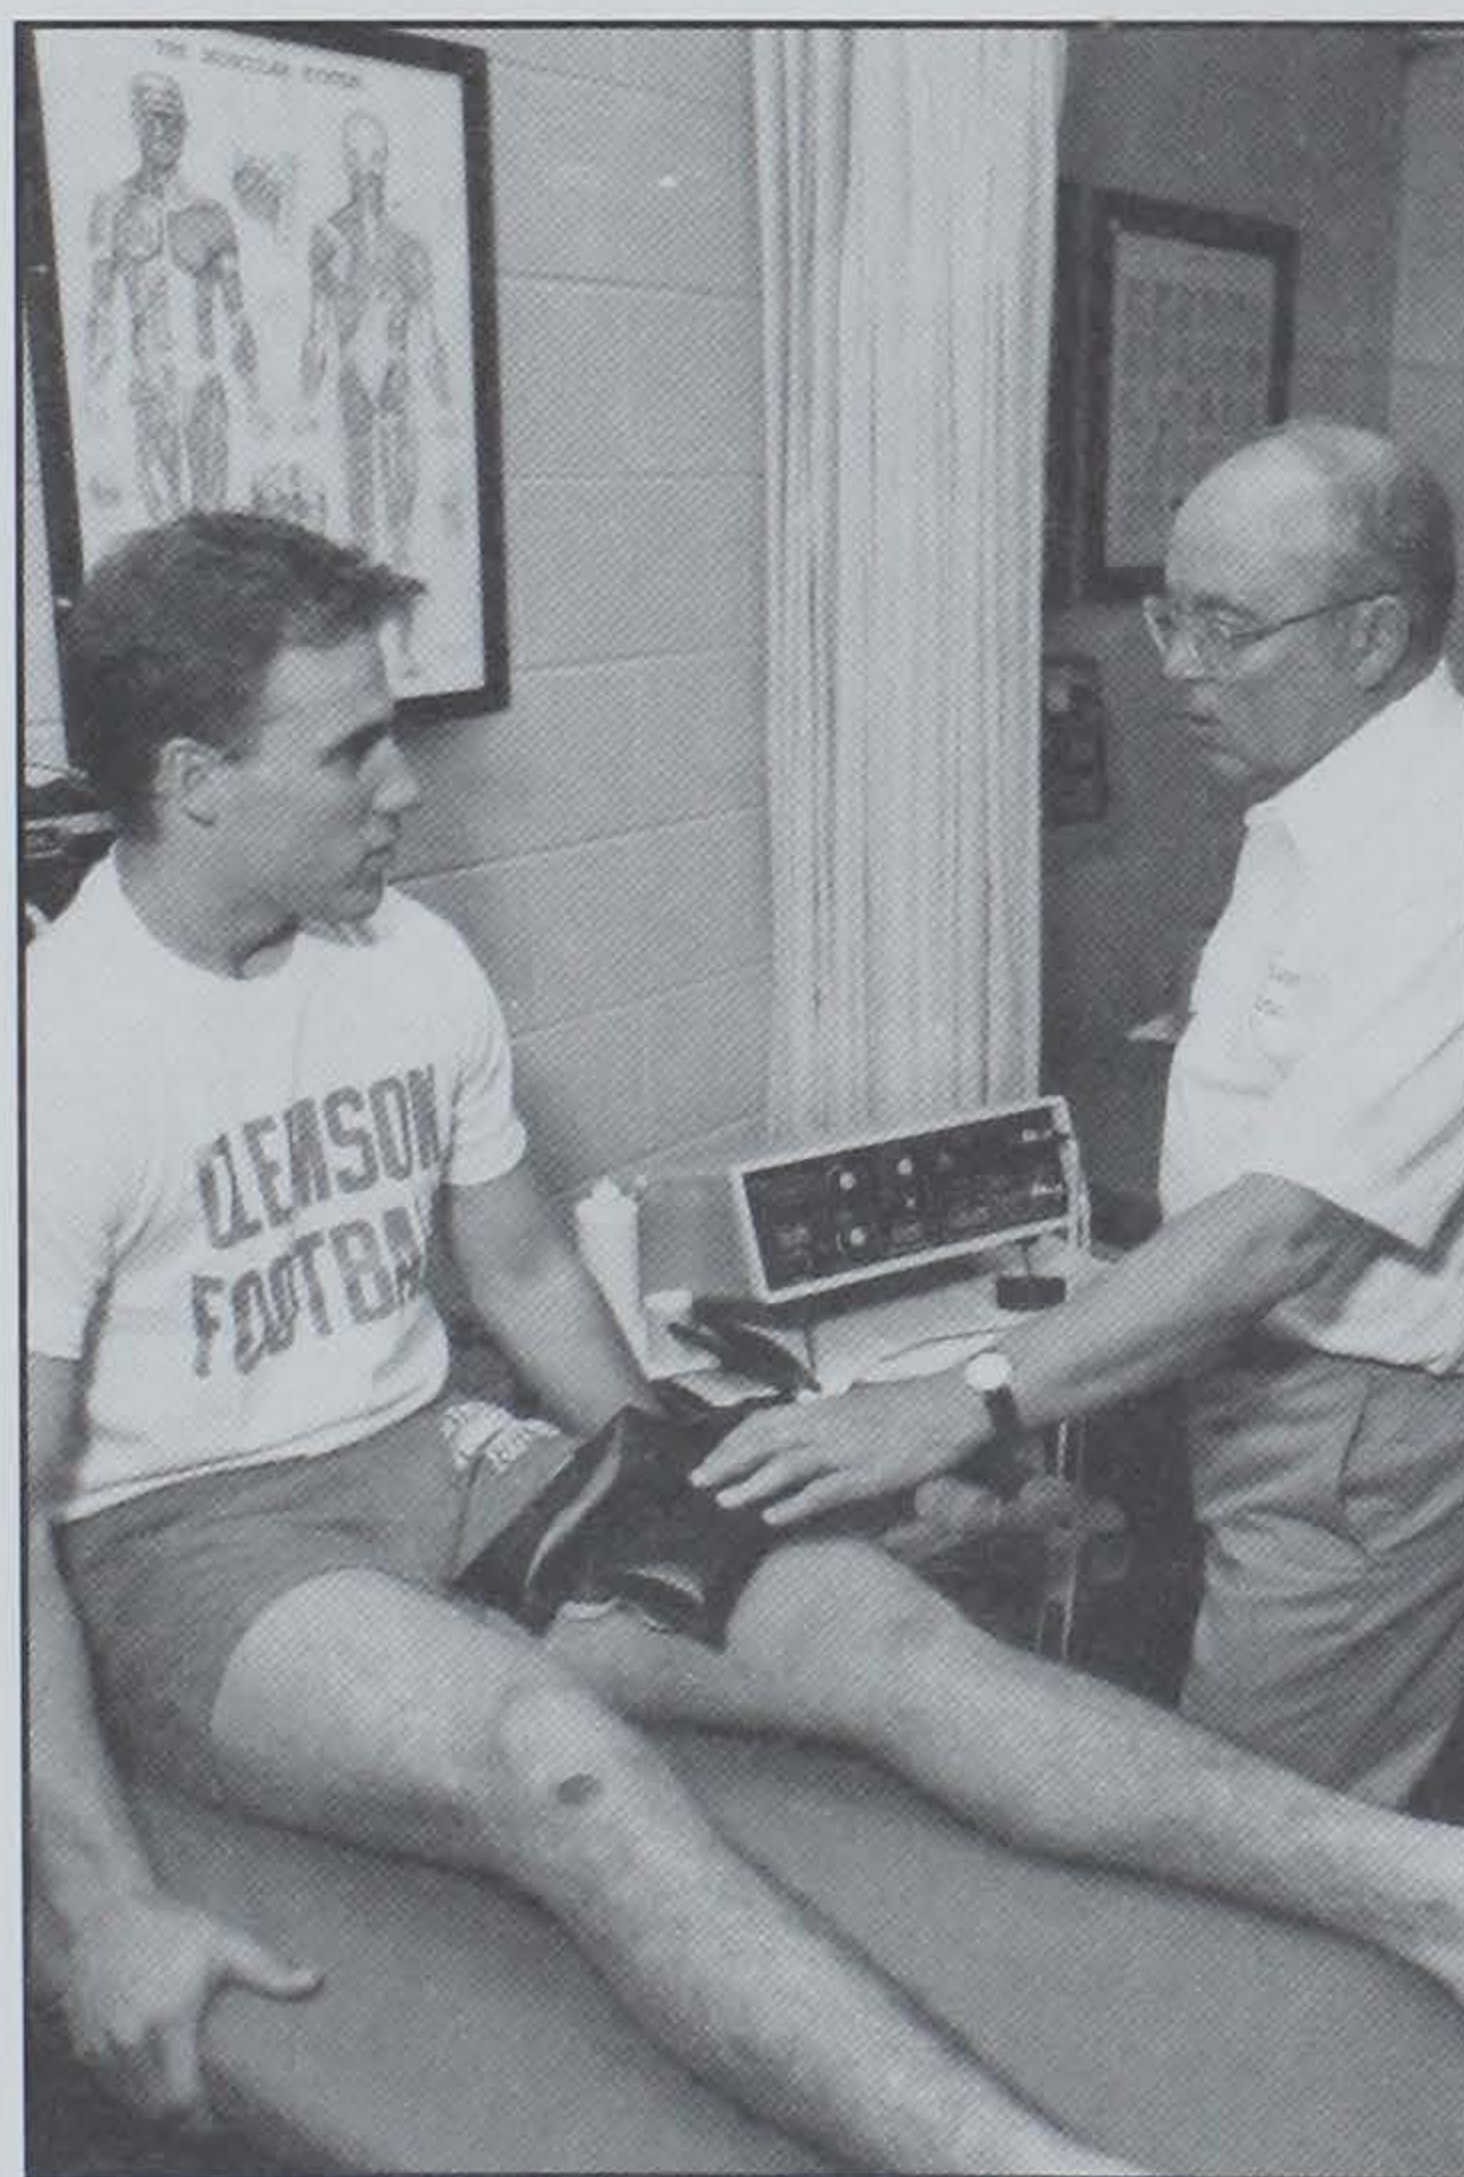

Athletes at Clemson have the opportunity to be the best they can be because few universities have better facilities. The dedicated athlete can excel at Clemson because the facilities make him a better player.

The Jervy Athletic Center is the focal point of Clemson athletics as it houses the strength training room, the varsity locker rooms and all administrative offices. Everything is within walking distance and easily accessible from all other facilities.

The training room is one of the fine facilities in the Jervy Athletic Center. It is run by Fred Hoover, a national Hall of Fame trainer, and it houses all of the latest training equipment. Hoover heads up a staff of four full-time individuals with over 50 years of experience. This professional staff and 17 student and graduate student trainers give an athlete the best possible care.

The training room has six whirlpools, a cybex machine, numerous stationary bikes, an upper-body exerciser, a Stairmaster, and all the latest devices for all kinds of treatment. The large sauna and steam bath are also welcome sites after a tough practice. A doctor has an office in the training room itself. He is in the training room from 2:00 p.m. until closing and is of course available at all hours for special situations.

The training staff is also responsible for the dietary plans of the Clemson athlete. Clemson's training table serves the Clemson football and basketball team in all-you-can-eat fashion every day during the academic year and it provides the athlete with a well balanced meal planned by dietary experts. These are special dining facilities designed to accommodate the unusual hours of the athlete when he is in season.

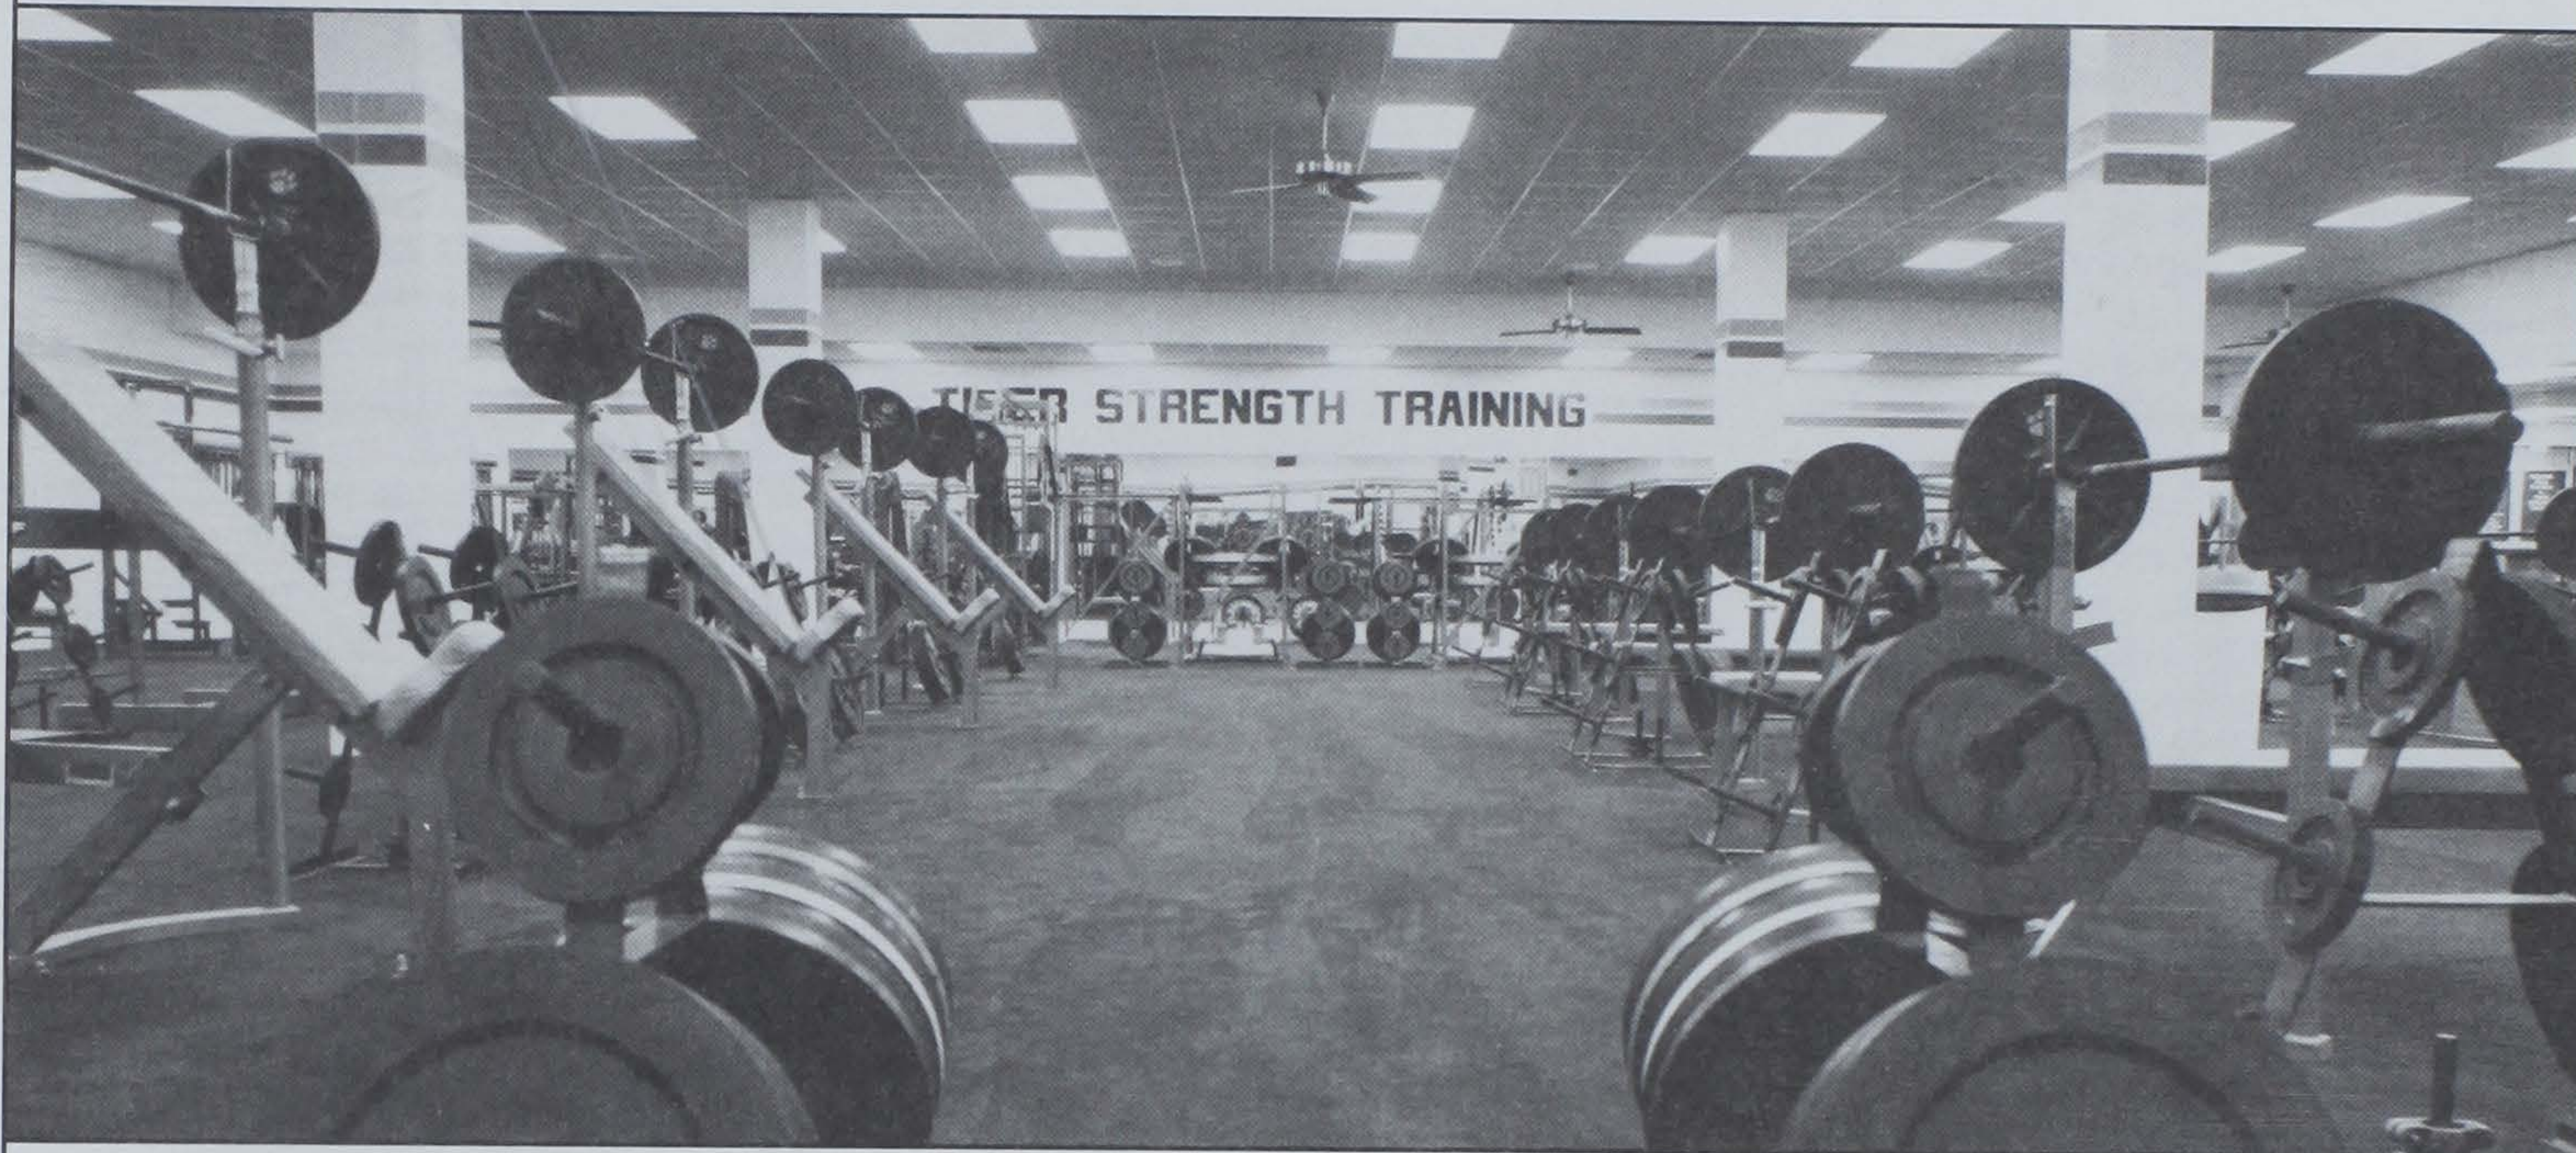

Fred Hoover has been directing the training aspect of Clemson football players' lives since 1958.

The meals are truly luscious, especially after a Clemson victory. A win means "Super Meal" night, as chefs prepare carved roast beef, steak, lobster, shrimp and many other delicacies.

Athletic Facilities

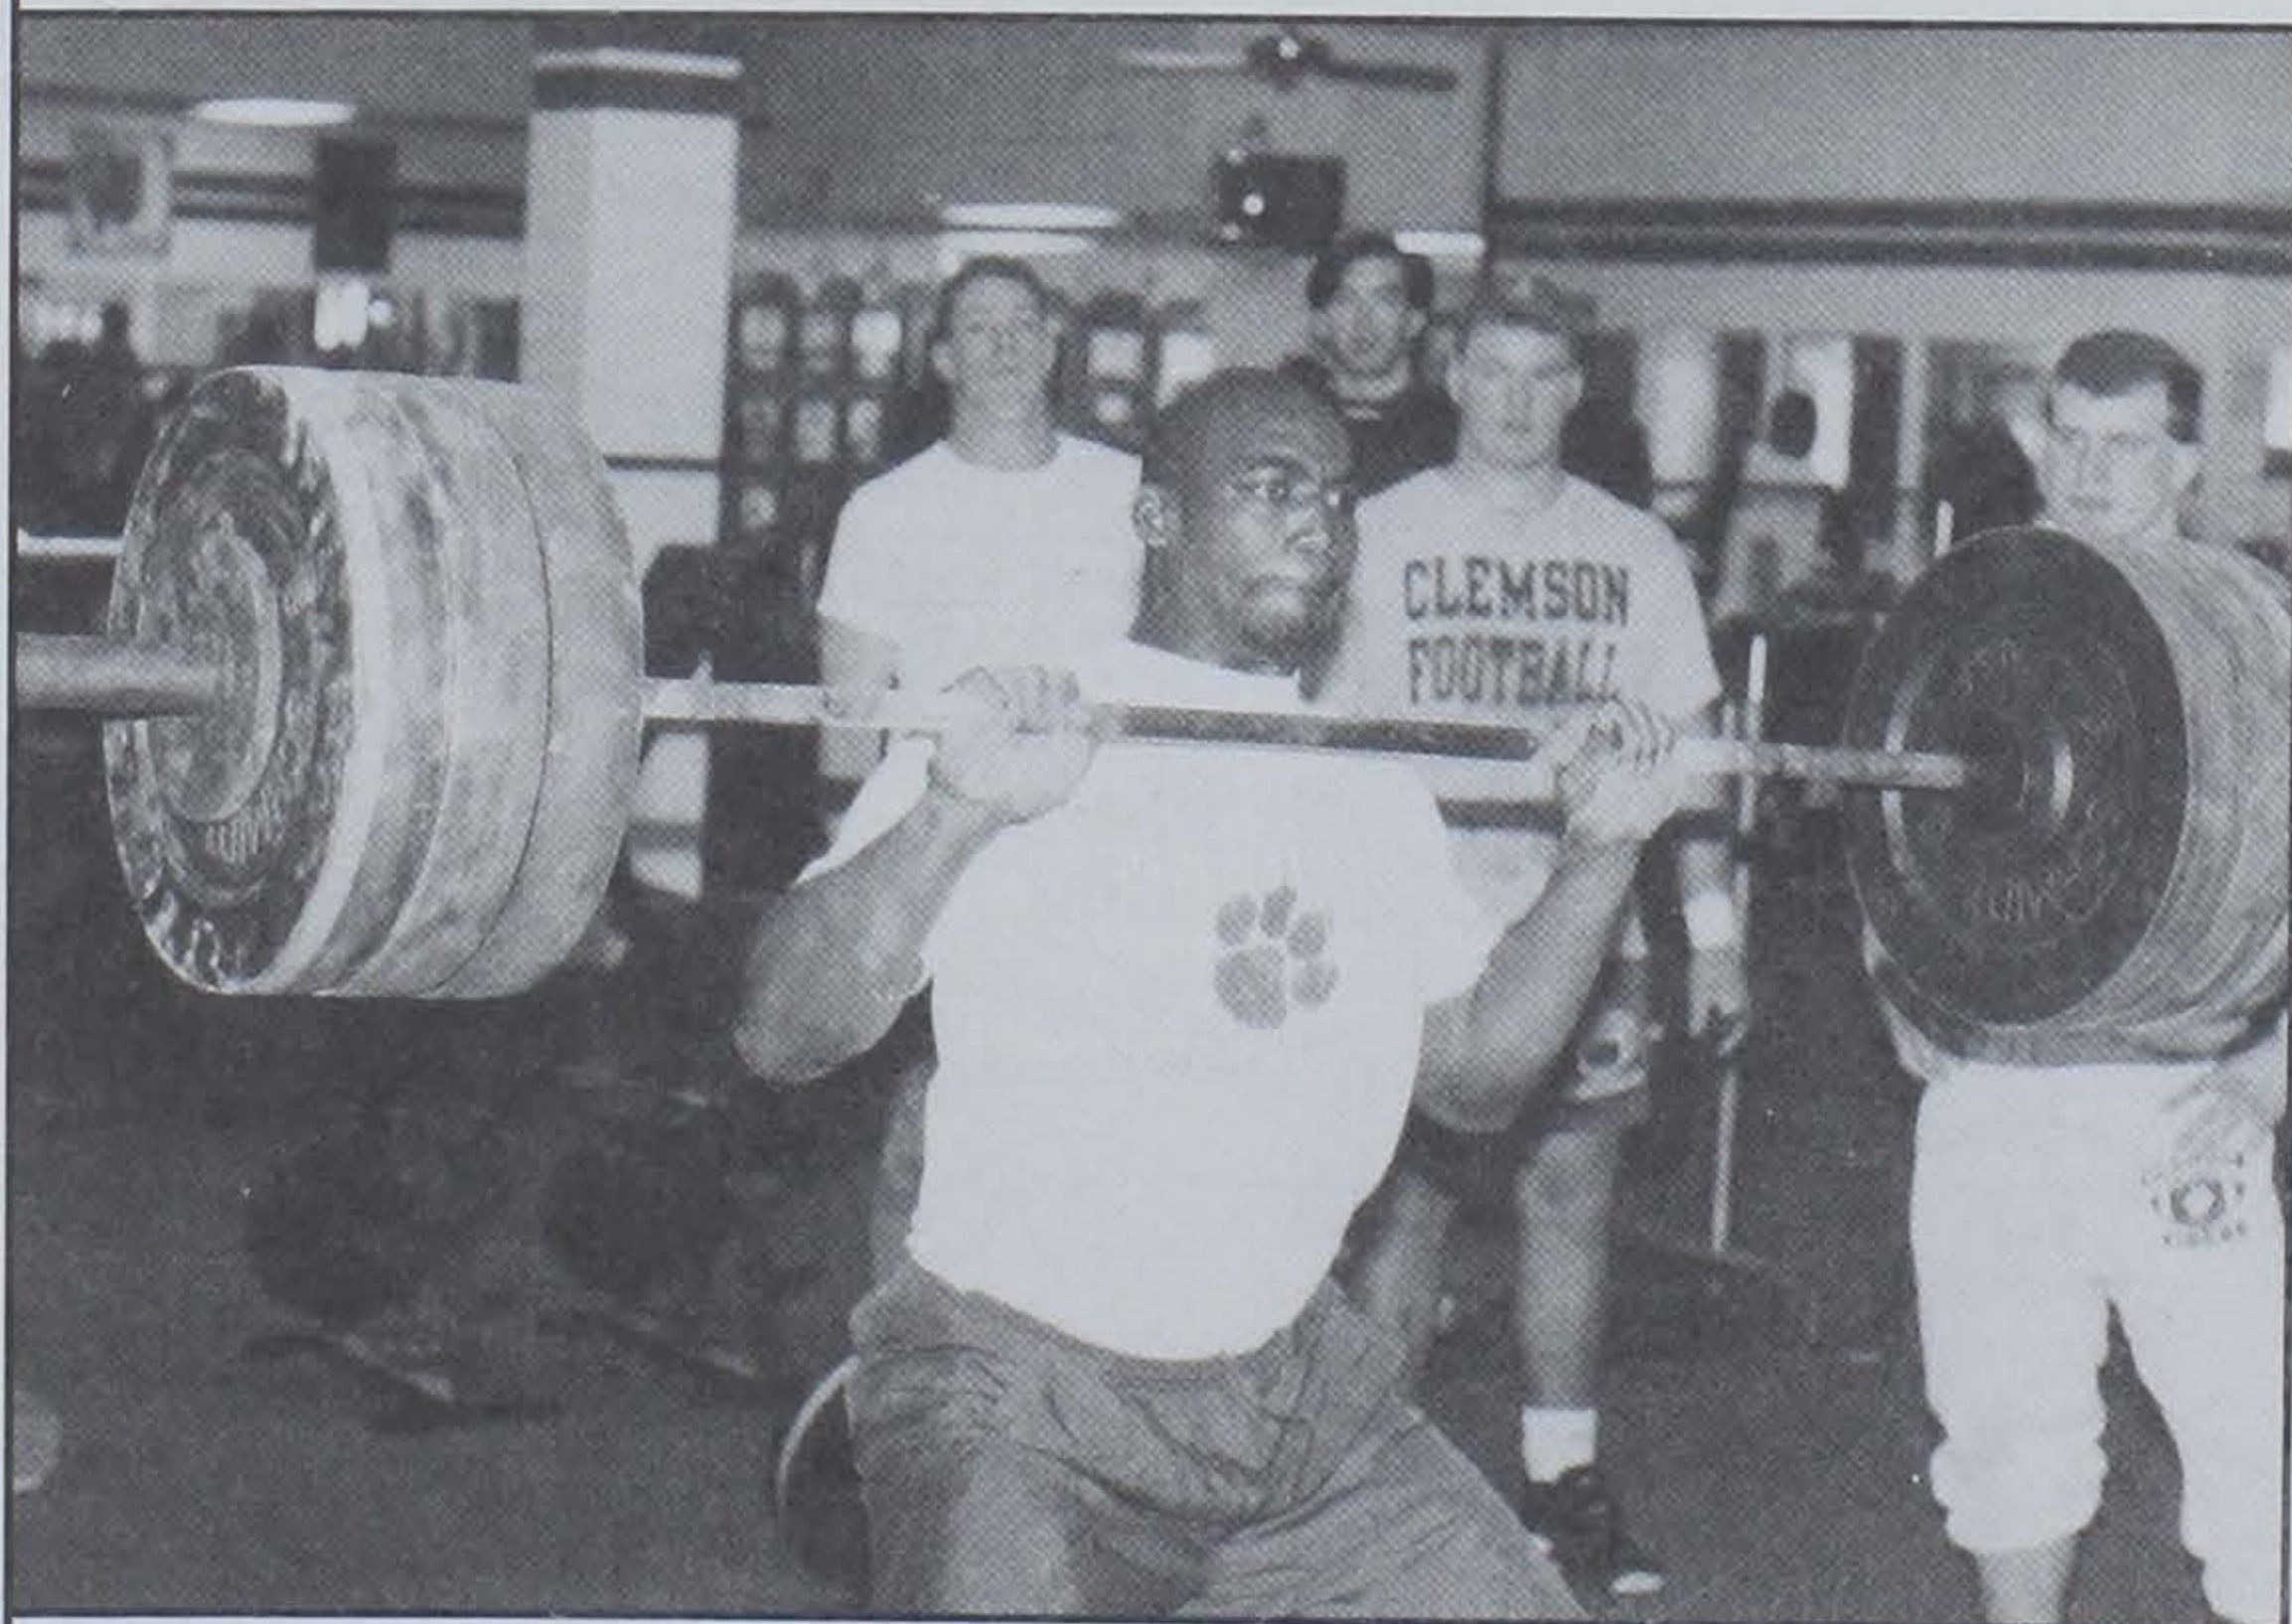

Clemson's strength training facility will be expanded to 14,000 square feet by 1995.

Running Down the Hill

Clemson has been running down the Hill since 1942, the first game in the history of Death Valley.

What has been described as, "the most exciting 25 seconds in college football from a color and pageantry standpoint," actually started out as a matter-of-fact entrance, mainly because of necessity.

The first 20,000 seats in Clemson Memorial Stadium were built and ready for use before the 1942 season. Less than a year before Pearl Harbor was bombed and the United States was at war.

The shortest entry into the stadium was a walk down Williamson Road from Fike Field House's dressing rooms to a gate at the top of the hill behind the east end zone. There were no dressing facilities in the west end zone—only a big clock where the hands turned, and a scoreboard which was operated by hand.

The team would dress at Fike, walk down Williamson Road, come in the gate underneath where the big scoreboard now stands and jog down the hill for its warmup exercises. There was no fanfare, no cannon shot fired, no tiger paw flag, no Tiger Rag played...just the team making its entrance and lining up to do the side straddle hop.

That's pretty much the way things went for the next 25 years.

Either in 1964 or 1965, S.C. Jones, a member of the Clemson class of 1919, made a trip to California. He stopped at a spot in Death Valley, CA, and picked up this white flint rock. He presented it to Coach Frank Howard as being from Death Valley, CA, to Death Valley South Carolina."

The rock laid on the floor in Howard's office in Fike for a year or more. One day Howard was cleaning up his office and he told Gene Willimon, who was the executive secretary of IPTAY, to, "take this rock and throw it over the fence, or out in the ditch...do something with it, but get it out of my office."

Willimon didn't think that was the way a rock should be treated. After all, it had been brought 3000 miles by a very sincere Tiger fan.

By the mid-sixties, Memorial Stadium was pretty well living up to its moniker, Death Valley, because of the number of victories that had been recorded there. Actually, the name was first used by the late Lonnie McMillian, head coach at Presbyterian College in Clinton in the 1940s.

McMillian and the other Blue Hose coaches before him used to open the season each year by coming to Clemson. Seldom scoring (24 shut outs in 39 games) and with only three wins and four ties to show for it, his teams were getting killed by the Tigers regularly. In 1948 McMillian made the comment to the press that he was taking his team to play Clemson in Death Valley.

An occasional reference to Memorial stadium by that name could be heard for the next three or four years, but when Howard started calling it 'Death Valley' in the 1950's, the name took off like wildfire. The Tigers celebrated the 50th season in the 'valley' in 1991.

But getting back to Howard's rock.

The rock was mounted on a pedestal at the top of the hill. It was unveiled September 24, 1966, on a day when Clemson played Virginia. The Tigers were down 18 points with 17 minutes to play and came back to win (40-35) on a 65-yard pass play from Jimmy Addison to Jackey Jackson in the fourth period. That was quite a spectacular debut for that rock.

The team members started rubbing the rock prior to running down the hill September 23, 1967, a day when Clemson defeated Wake Forest, 23-6. Prior to running down the hill that day, Howard told his players: "If you're going to give me 110 percent, you can rub that rock. If you're not, keep your filthy hands off it." Howard told of the incident the next day on his Sunday television show and the story became legend.

When Hootie Ingram succeeded Howard as head coach prior to the 1970 season,

Ingram decided that the team would make its final entrance on the field out of the dressing room in the west end zone. In all home games in 1970 and 1971 and the first four of 1972 when the Tigers did not run down the hill, their record was 6-9. The team decided it wanted to come down the hill once prior to the South Carolina game in 1972. The result, in a cold, freezing rain, was a 7-6 victory when Jimmy Williamson knocked down a two-point conversion attempt which preserved the win.

The Tigers have made the entrance for every home game since 1942, except for the seasons mentioned above—237 times heading into the 1994 season.

After Clemson's final warm-up, the team goes back into its dressing room under the west stands for final game instructions. About 10 minutes before kickoff the team boards two buses, rides around behind the north stands to the east end zone and debarks to the top of the hill behind Howard's Rock.

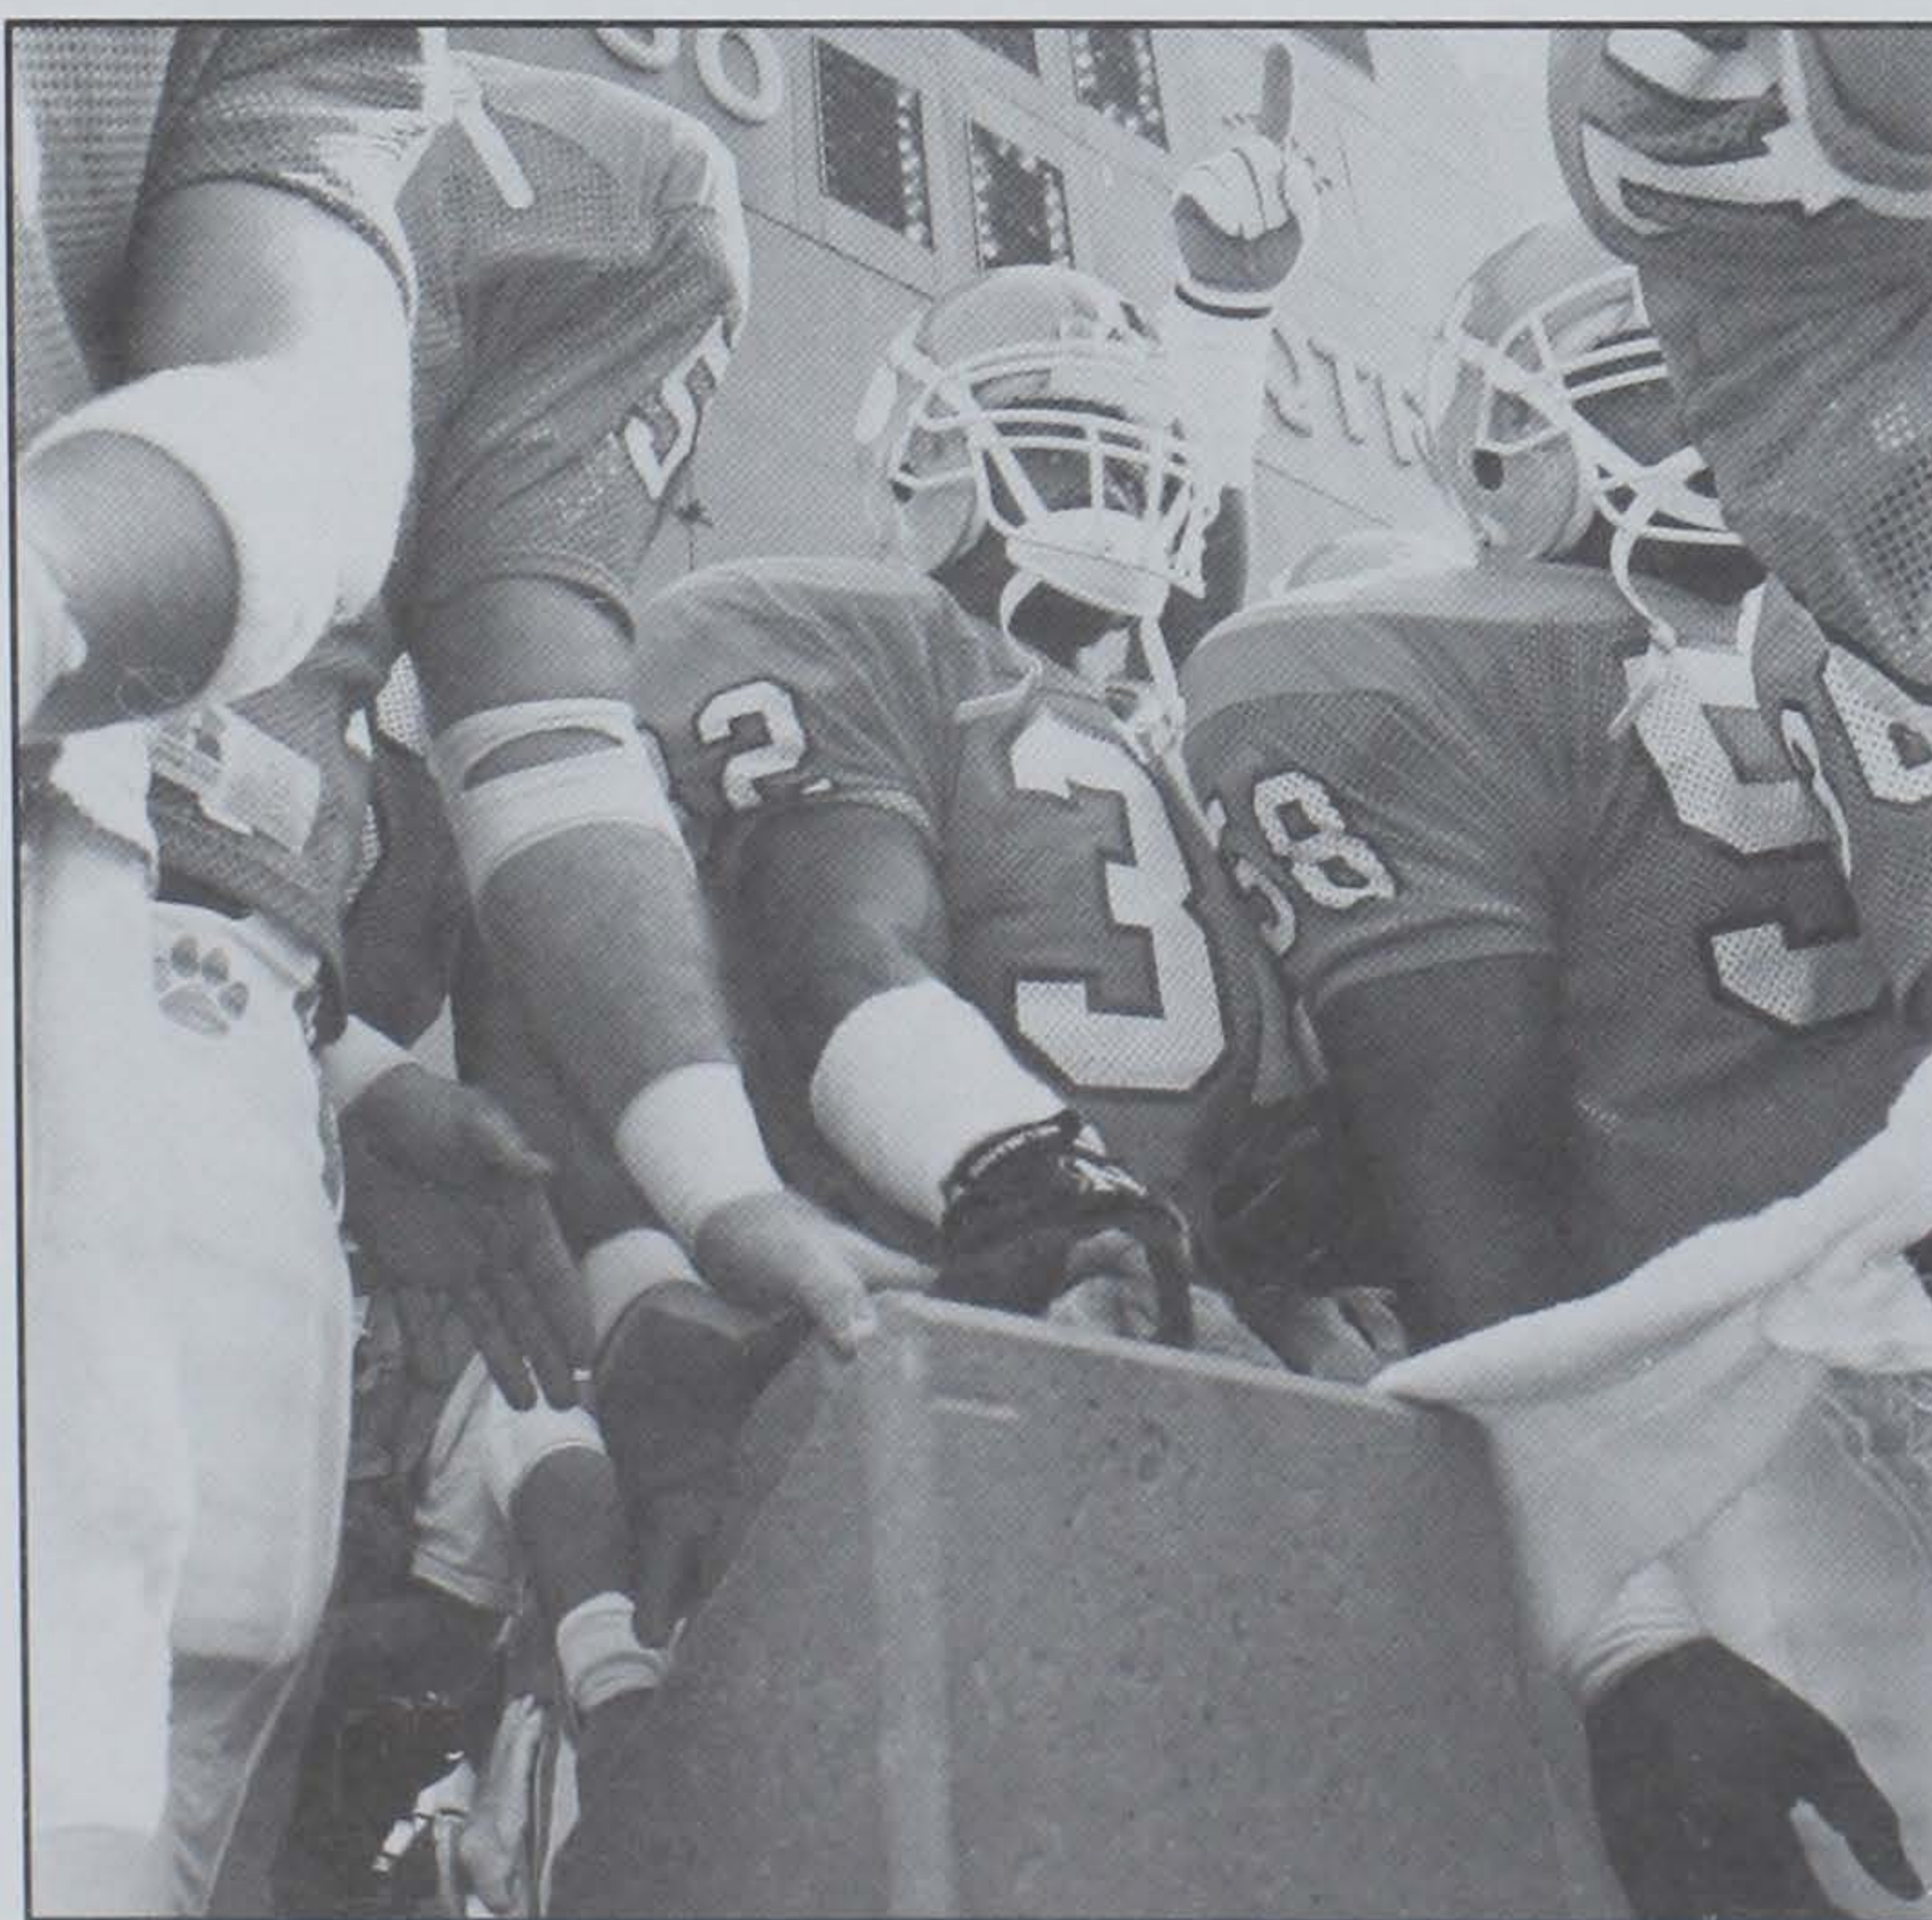

At the appointed time, the cannon booms and led by a high-flying tiger paw flag, the band forms two lines for the team to run between and strikes up 'Tiger Rag' and the frenzy starts in all sincerity...and usually lasts two and a half to three hours.

It is a tradition that has inspired Clemson players for many years.

"When you get to the bottom, its like you're in a hole and all around you are nothing but Clemson fans. It's like the crowd is one big voice. You feel like little kings," said Tiger tailback Rodney Blunt.

David Treadwell, a 1987 All-American placekicker for Clemson said, "Clemson's record at home is not a coincidence. Running down the hill is a part of that record. You get so inspired, and so much of college football is about emotion. You get out of that bus and you hear the roar of the crowd and it gives you chills up and down your spine."

"Running down the hill is still talked about everywhere I go," said Jerry Butler, an All-American on the 1978 team who went on to a lengthy pro career with the Buffalo Bills. "Players who played against Clemson when I was in college always remember us rubbing that rock and thinking we would gain some type of spirit coming down that hill. The adrenalin rush was unbelievable for a Clemson player and it was quite a shock for the opponent."

Clemson's entrance to Death Valley is one of the most celebrated traditions in college football.

Memorial Stadium

In 1991, two very special anniversaries in the Clemson football tradition were observed. Not only did the 1991 season mark the 10th anniversary of Clemson's National Championship season, but it also marked the 50th birthday of the place where the Tigers won six games that season: Memorial Stadium.

In the first 52 years of Memorial Stadium, Clemson has a record of 180-65-7, including a 22-3-1 ledger over the last four seasons. Clemson had a 16-game unbeaten streak at home between 1990-92 and has a career winning ratio of 72.8 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need".

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, however, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger Football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13. Those 20,000 seats installed for Opening Day would soon grow; and grow and grow. This year Clemson celebrates its 53rd year in this outstanding facility.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become civil engineer in Louisiana.

The building of the stadium did not proceed without a few problems. One day during the clearing of the land, one young football player proudly announced that he was not allergic to poison oak. He then commenced to attack the poison oak with a swing blade, throwing the plants to and fro. The next day, however, the boy was swollen twice his size and had to be put in the hospital.

There are many other stories about the stadium including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through.

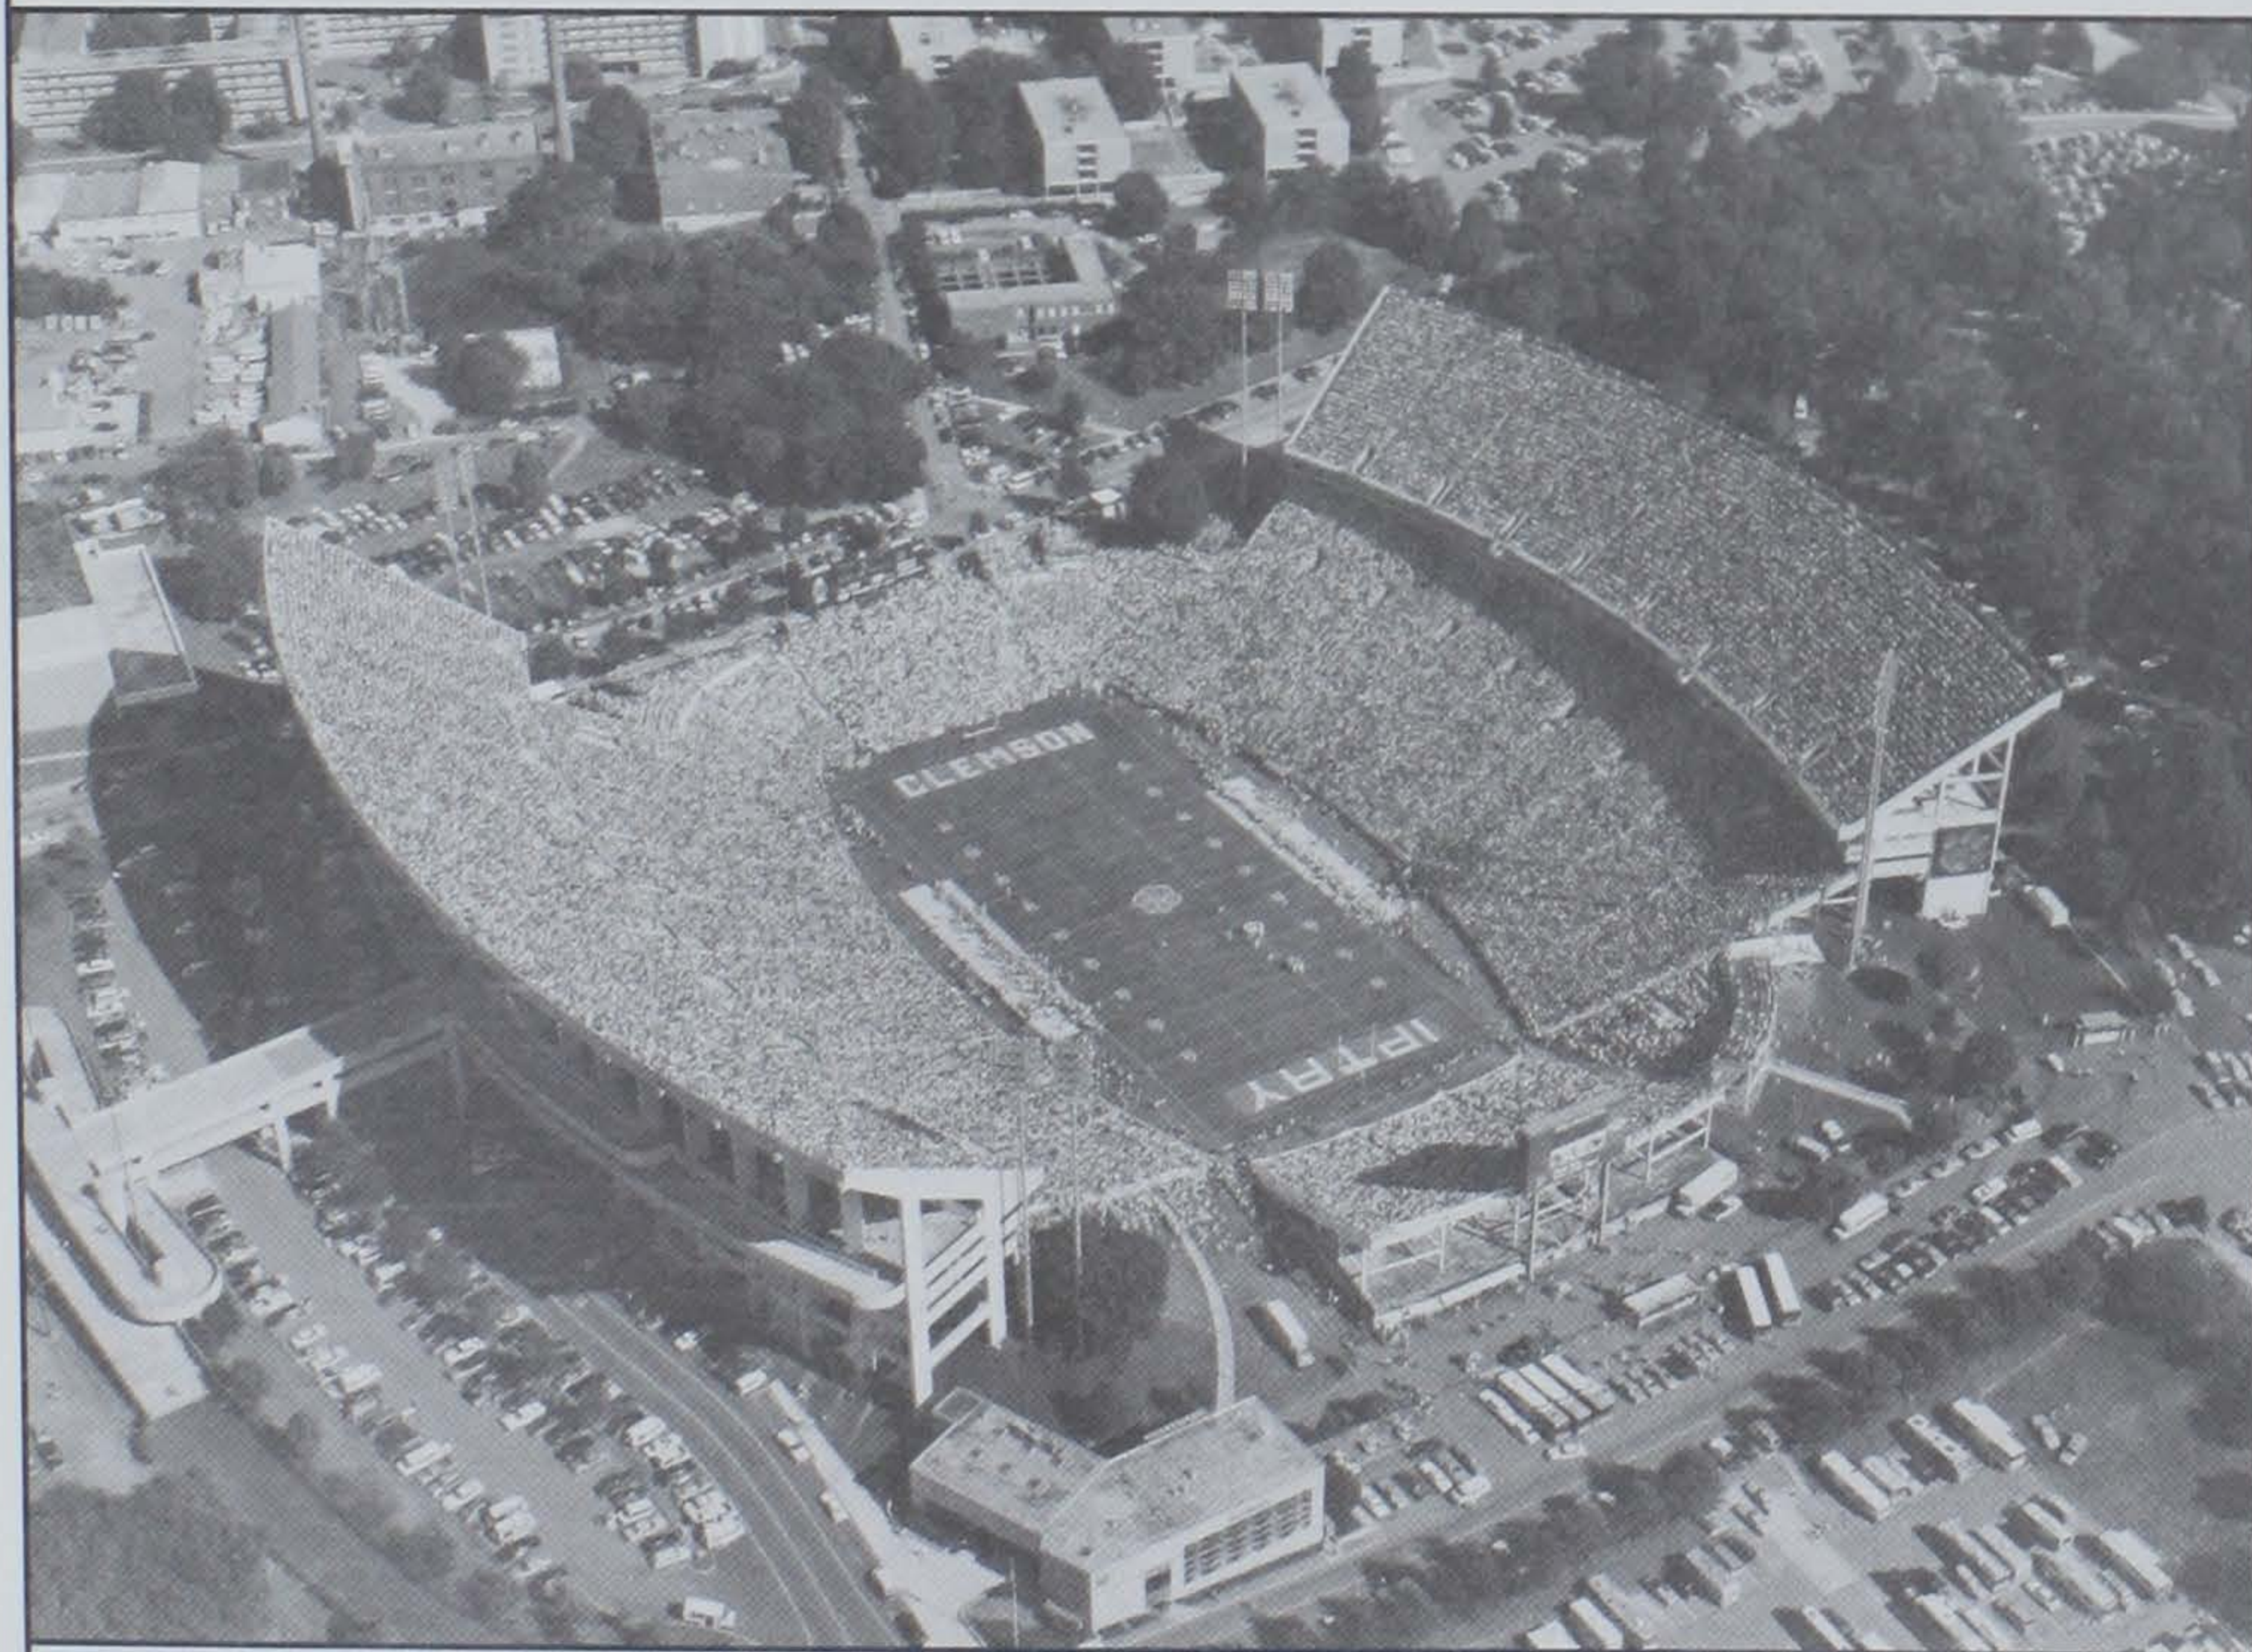

"I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the first day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 West end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled—the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

The effect spiraling inflation has had in this century can be dramatically seen in the differences in stadium construction. The original part of the stadium

What the Opponents Say:

"The biggest thing is dealing with the noise once the game starts. Clemson fans are among the most enthusiastic in all of football."

Bobby Ross, Head Coach
San Diego Chargers, 1991

"When they (Clemson) ran down the hill, I got so excited I could hardly breathe."

Marco Coleman
Georgia Tech, 1991

"Games at Clemson are unreal. You can stand next to each other and talk and can't hear what the other guy is saying. The offense and defense of the opposing team better get used to using hand signals to set formations and get plays off."

Bobby Houston
N.C. State linebacker, 1989

"I came in here knowing it would be loud and that Clemson would hit me hard, but to me the noise was the biggest factor. I know I didn't concentrate as well because of it."

Herschel Walker
Georgia tailback, 1981

The world's largest Tiger Paw is a distinctive feature of Death Valley.

was built at a cost of $125,000 or at $6.25 a seat. The newest upper deck was finished in 1983 at a cost of $13.5 million, or $866 a seat.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. Teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Athletic Director Bobby Robinson says that Memorial Stadium has many features which makes it a top facility. "One thing that makes it so good is the number of sideline seats," he says. "We don't think there is a bad seat in the house."

"We also have outstanding dressing rooms, press facilities, and ample parking nearby. Another unique feature of the stadium is the number of private boxes."

If Memorial Stadium is expanded again and the capacity is pushed closer to 100,000, there will be room for construction over the west stands, enclosing that end like a horseshoe.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Clemson Linebackers

"Clemson has moved ahead of Penn State when it comes to producing outstanding linebackers, and it looks like the tradition is going to continue."

John Hadley

Lindy's 1993 preseason magazine

Many times during the 1993 season, ESPN's SportsCenter looked like a Clemson linebacker reunion.

In the very first week of the preseason, SportsCenter featured outside linebacker John Johnson intercepting a pass near the goalline for the San Francisco 49ers. In that same game, another former Tiger, Pittsburgh Steeler Levon Kirkland, was shown making a beeline for the 49er quarterback, pressuring him to throw an incomplete pass. The next highlight zeroed in on Ashley Sheppard crushing a Dallas Cowboy QB in the backfield for the Minnesota Vikings.

Later in the year, Wayne Simmons, a first-round draft pick in 1993, was featured on many highlights and was a starter for the Green Bay Packers last season. He was named to many NFL All-Rookie teams. Ed McDaniel started for the Minnesota Vikings in 1993 after seeing increasing action in 1992. Doug Brewster, another former Tiger linebacker, played on the Canadian Football League's Gray Cup Champion Saskatchewan Roughriders last season.

All of these former Tiger linebackers were members of the corps that was named the nation's best heading into the 1990 season by The Sporting News. And if that group's success rate at entering the pro ranks is any indication, the 1993 Tiger LBs have a bright future ahead of them.

Lindy's ACC Football 1993 preseason magazine deemed that Clemson's Linebacker Tradition is now "King of the Hill" in college football. The magazine stated, "the Tigers have assembled an awesome array of linebackers over the last decade and will continue the tradition in 1993."

The Tigers did just that, as the linebackers were key reasons Clemson was 9-3 and ranked 15th in the nation in scoring defense.

Clemson's tradition of quick, hard-hitting, ruthless linebackers has become more nationally known since the late eighties. Six of the nine players who have completed their eligibility and were listed as Clemson's starting inside or outside linebackers over the course of the last six seasons are now playing professional football. This does not count Tim Jones, who was a starter on last year's squad and, as a Butkus Award candidate, certainly has a chance to join these players.

Four of the top-10 career sack leaders in Clemson history have played linebacker for Clemson in the last five years and four of the top 11 career tackle for loss leaders have also been in a Tiger uniform during that time frame.

So just what is a Clemson linebacker? "A Clemson linebacker has to be a little crazy because he has to sacrifice his body on every play," says Tim Jones. "I compare us to a panther. We sneak up on our opponents and destroy them with quickness and strength. We also must have cat-eyes, so we can see everything on the field."

Former Tiger Ashley Sheppard also compared his linebacking to different felines during his Clemson days. "I'm just reckless. Sometimes when I hit somebody, I hurt myself. Sometimes I hit someone so hard I get dizzy or I see stars. But it's just reaction. I don't see the guy I'm going to tackle and say that I'm going to hit him hard.

It's like a cheetah on a gazelle. Once I focus and get going, my instinct is telling me to get him." Later in his career, Sheppard stated, "Traditionally, Clemson outside linebackers are like lions - vicious and intelligent." Ed McDaniel once stated that a Clemson linebacker celebrated a big hit by "hitting them even harder the next time."

Although Clemson may have a larger number of linebackers presently playing professional football than in previous years, the Clemson linebacking tradition goes back much farther than the late eighties. In fact, one of the hardest hitting players ever to wear a Tiger uniform played under Frank Howard in the late 40's. Dumb-Dumb Wyndham, "the linebacking legend from Moncks Corner," once hit a ball carrier from Boston College so hard that the player was knocked right out of his shoes. In the 1950 contest against Missouri, Wyndham not only made the tackle on three consecutive plays, but he knocked the ball player out cold on those three plays from scrimmage. The opposing coach reportedly told the referee to take that Clemson linebacker out of the game before he killed someone.

It was also a linebacker who led the Tigers to the National Championship during the Cinderella Season of 1981: Jeff Davis. The first-team All-American still holds the Clemson records for most tackles in a game (24) and in a season (175). His 469 career tackles ranks second in Clemson history and his 10 caused fumbles and 10 recovered fumbles are also Tiger career records. In 1981, he became just the third defensive player in Atlantic Coast Conference history to named the league MVP. Davis went on to lead the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in tackles for four seasons and served as a team captain.

With the senior leadership at linebacker on Clemson's current defense and the youth of former Tigers in the NFL, chances are Chris Berman and the guys at ESPN's Sportscenter will be talking about Clemson linebackers for many years to come.

The National Championship Season

Clemson was the only team in the nation to post a perfect 12-0 record in 1981.

Danny Ford got a victory ride from Jeff Stockstill and others after Clemson defeated Nebraska 22-15 to win the 1981 National Championship.

- ✓ tions, more than any other team.
- ✓ Clemson defeated Georgia 13-3 in the third week of the season. The Bulldogs were the defending national champions and ranked fourth in the nation entering the game.
- ✓ The Tigers defeated Wake Forest 82-24 on Halloween and broke 21 school, conference or stadium records in the process. Included in the records was a 756 figure for total offense, 536 in rushing yards.
- ✓ Clemson ranked second in the nation in scoring defense, seventh in total defense, eighth in rushing defense and sixth in turnover margin. Homer Jordan was 12th in passing efficiency, Dale Hatcher was 19th in punting, and Terry Kinard was 15th in interceptions.
- ✓ Clemson won the ACC Game-of-the-Century over North Carolina in Chapel Hill. The Tigers and Tar Heels met in the only meeting of Top 10 teams in ACC history, and Clemson came out on top 10-8. Clemson moved up to number-two in the nation with the victory.
- ✓ The Tigers won their first national title in any sport with the 22-15 victory over Nebraska in the 1982 Orange Bowl. Homer Jordan hit 11-22 passes and had 180 yards in total offense in leading Clemson to the victory. The Clemson defense allowed just one Nebraska completion in the second half. Clemson was named National Champion by every postseason poll.

- ✓ Clemson was the only team in the 1981 season to have a perfect 12-0 record and was the only team to defeat three other AP Top 10 teams.
- ✓ Clemson was the most improved team in the nation in 1981, going from a 6-5 ledger in 1980 to the 12-0 mark in 1981.
- ✓ Jeff Davis was named ACC Most Valuable Player, led the league in tackles with 175, and was a first-team All-American by Kodak, UPI, Football Writers, and Football News.
- ✓ Perry Tuttle was a first-team All-American by NEA and Sporting News and became Clemson's career leader in receptions and reception yardage, records he held until 1993.

- ✓ Jeff Bryant was named a second-team All-American by Football News and was the number-six selection of the NFL draft. He played in Seattle for 12 years.
- ✓ Terry Kinard was a first-team AP All-American as a junior in 1981 and was also chosen by the Football Writers Association and Newspaper Enterprise Association.
- ✓ Homer Jordan was named first-team All-ACC and was the offensive MVP of the Orange Bowl.
- ✓ Danny Ford was named National Coach-of-the-Year by Football Writers Association, UPI, Kodak, WTBS-TV, and Washington Touch-down Club. He became the youngest coach to win the national championship (33).
- ✓ Clemson had eight All-ACC selec-

Patrick Sapp threw for 205 yards in Clemson's 40-7 win over North Carolina in 1992, the largest margin over a ranked team in Clemson history.

Billy Lott's 26-yard TD run in the second half led to Clemson's win at Notre Dame in 1979. It was just the third time in 40 years that Notre Dame seniors lost their last home game.

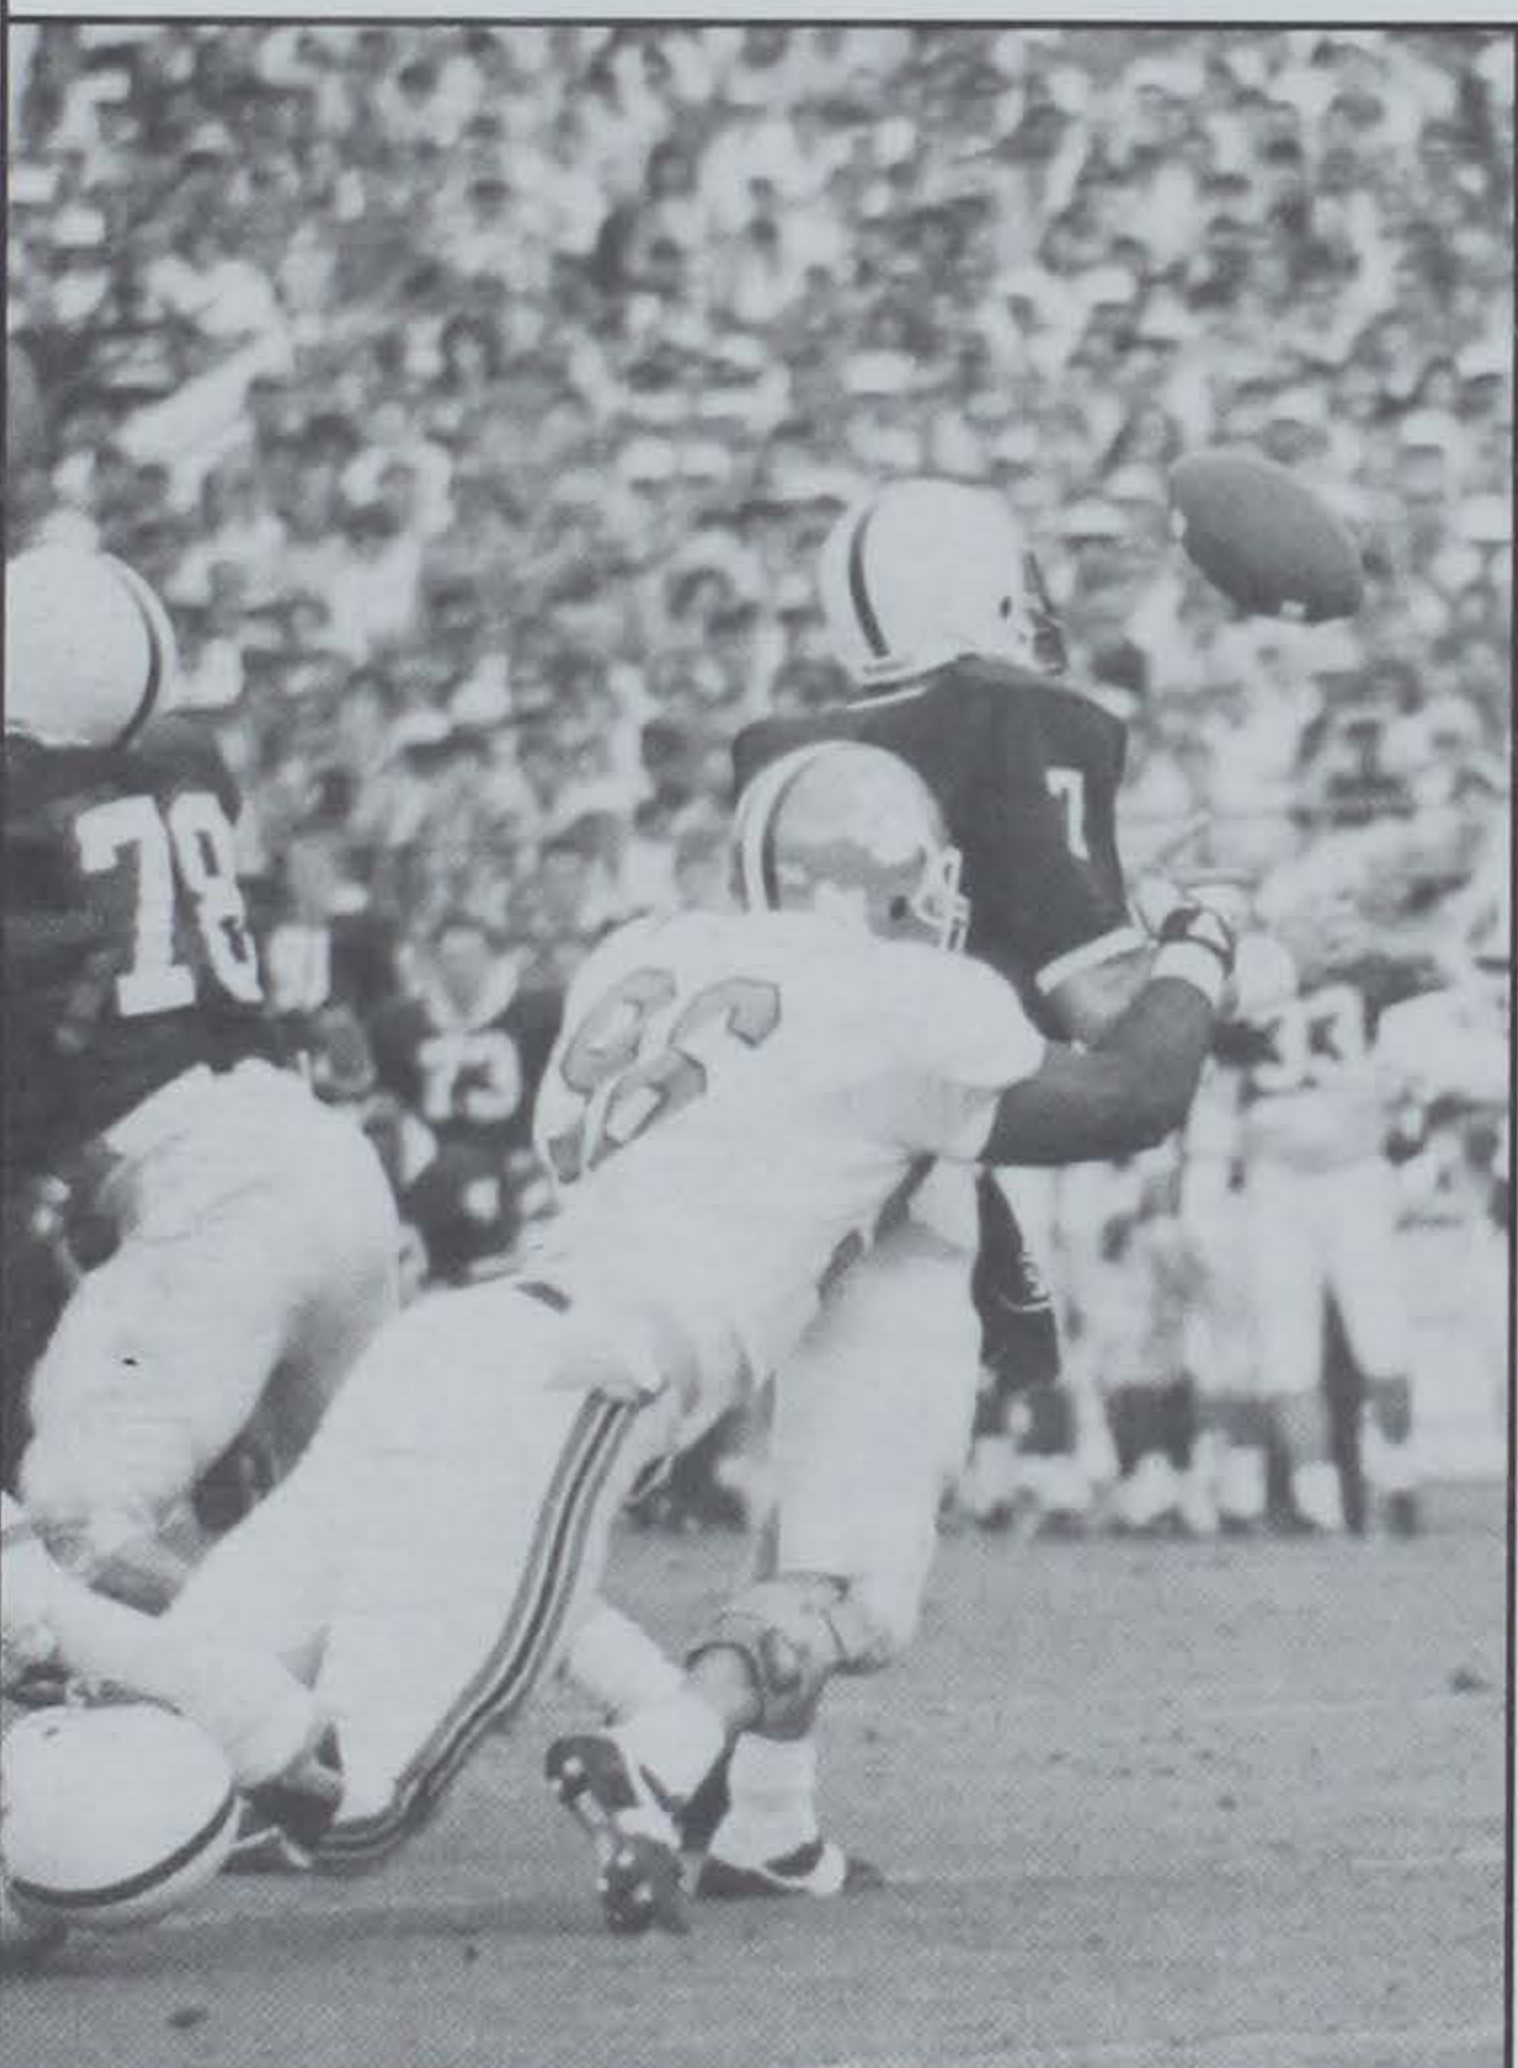

Clemson registered its greatest comeback win in history against Virginia in 1992. The Tigers trailed the 10th-ranked Cavs 28-0 before winning 29-28 on a last-minute field goal. Louis Solomon provided the spark with 204 yards in total offense over the game's last 32 minutes.

William Perry recovered this Herschel Walker fumble in Clemson's win over fourth-ranked Georgia in 1981.

Rodney Williams took Clemson to a victory over Stanford in the 1986 Gator Bowl.

Richard McCullough and the Clemson defense were outstanding in handing Penn State its worst bowl defeat ever.

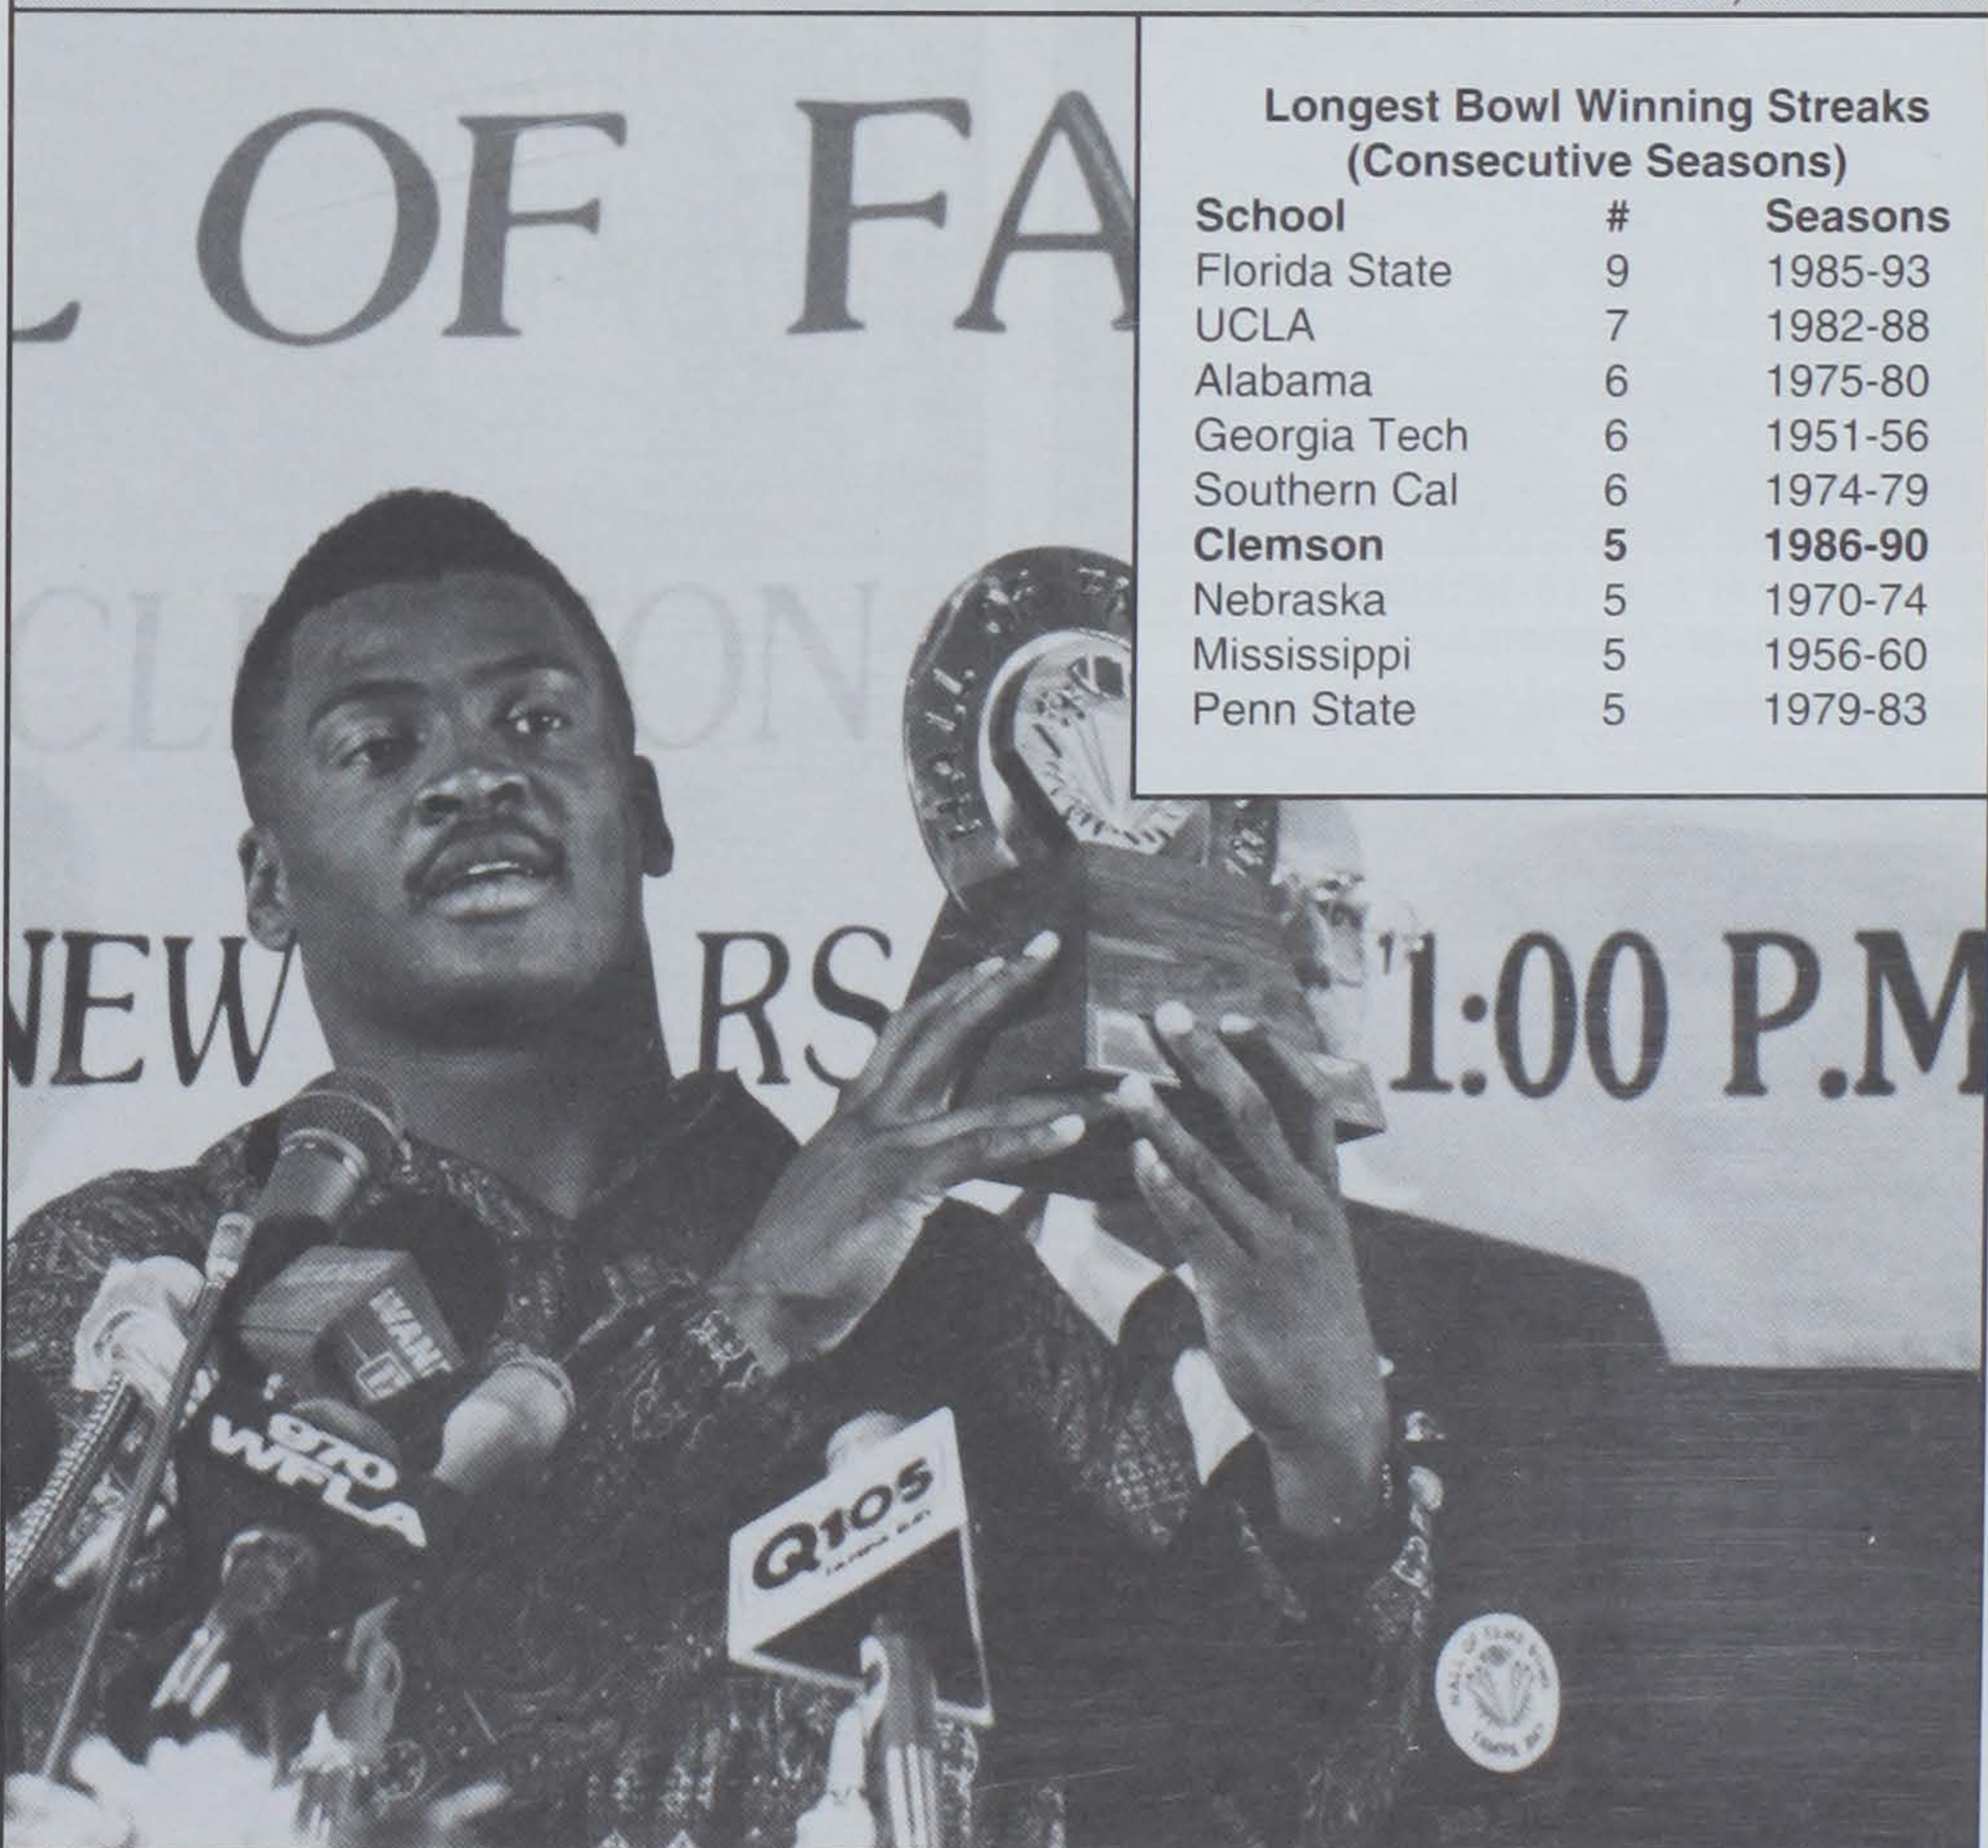

Dexter Davis batted away a final Oklahoma pass on the last play in Clemson's 13-6 win over the Sooners in the 1989 Citrus Bowl.

Joe Henderson, Clemson's top rusher in 1989, had a solid performance in Clemson's 27-7 victory over West Virginia in the 1989 Gator Bowl in Jacksonville, Florida.

The ACC has sent at least four teams to bowl games each of the last five years.

*Over the last 13 years the ACC has captured more college football national championships than any other conference. Clemson won the title in 1981, Georgia Tech in 1990 and Florida State in 1993. The Big Eight is second with two national championships over the last 13 years, while the Pac-10, the Western Athletic and Southeastern have one apiece. Maryland also won the national championship in 1953, the first year of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

*Over the last five years the ACC is the only conference in the nation to have each of its schools play in a bowl game.

*The nine ACC schools that will take to the field this fall have produced 296 first or second-team gridiron All-Americans and 47 first-team Academic All-Americans. ACC teams have had 1,253 players selected in the annual NFL draft, including 78 first-round selections.

*In 1993 the ACC boasted its first Heisman Trophy winner, Charlie Ward. He was one of eight different ACC players to be selected first or second-team All-American by at least one service. The list included Clemson guard Stacy Seegars.

*Clemson and Florida State are two of just four teams nationally who have won at least 75 percent of their games in seven of the last eight years. Clemson and Florida State are also the only two teams in the nation to win six bowl games since 1986.

*For the third consecutive year the ACC drew more than 2.3 million fans. Over 54 home dates, ACC schools attracted 2,416,728 fans. ACC teams played to 87 percent of their stadium capacities. Clemson ranked 15th in the nation in average attendance, its 12th straight year in the top 15 in the nation in attendance.

*If success in postseason play is a barometer of excellence, the ACC is among the best leagues in the nation. ACC teams have a combined 70-65-5 record in bowl games over the years, a .537 winning percentage. That is second only to the Pac-10's .551 success rate. Three ACC teams are among the top eight in NCAA history in terms of bowl winning percentage. Georgia Tech is second with a 68 percent mark, Florida State is fourth with a .636 mark and Clemson is eighth at .632.

Western Athletic	32-35-3	.479
Big East	41-46-1	.472
Southwest	58-70-6	.455

*Four ACC teams are guaranteed appearing in postseason bowls this year. Five ACC teams received bowl bids in 1993. Two ACC teams are committed to the 1994 Football Bowl Coalition. The league champion is guaranteed a spot in one of four Tier One Bowls, the Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta, and a second team will be available for the Tier Two Bowls, the Gator and the John Hancock. For the third year of a three-year contract, the ACC is committed to sending a third team to the Peach Bowl. The ACC is in the second year of a two-year contract to have a fourth league team compete against a Big Ten team, (also a number-four team) in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

*The ACC also stands at the forefront of intercollegiate athletics in terms of academic achievements of its student-athletes. That accomplishment is certainly shown in the list of schools who have won the CFA Academic Achievement Award, which is presented to the CFA member institution with the highest graduation rate of its football team. Eight times over the past 14 years an ACC member school has claimed the award. In 1994, the ACC had six of the 20 CFA members who reported a graduation rate of 70 percent or better.

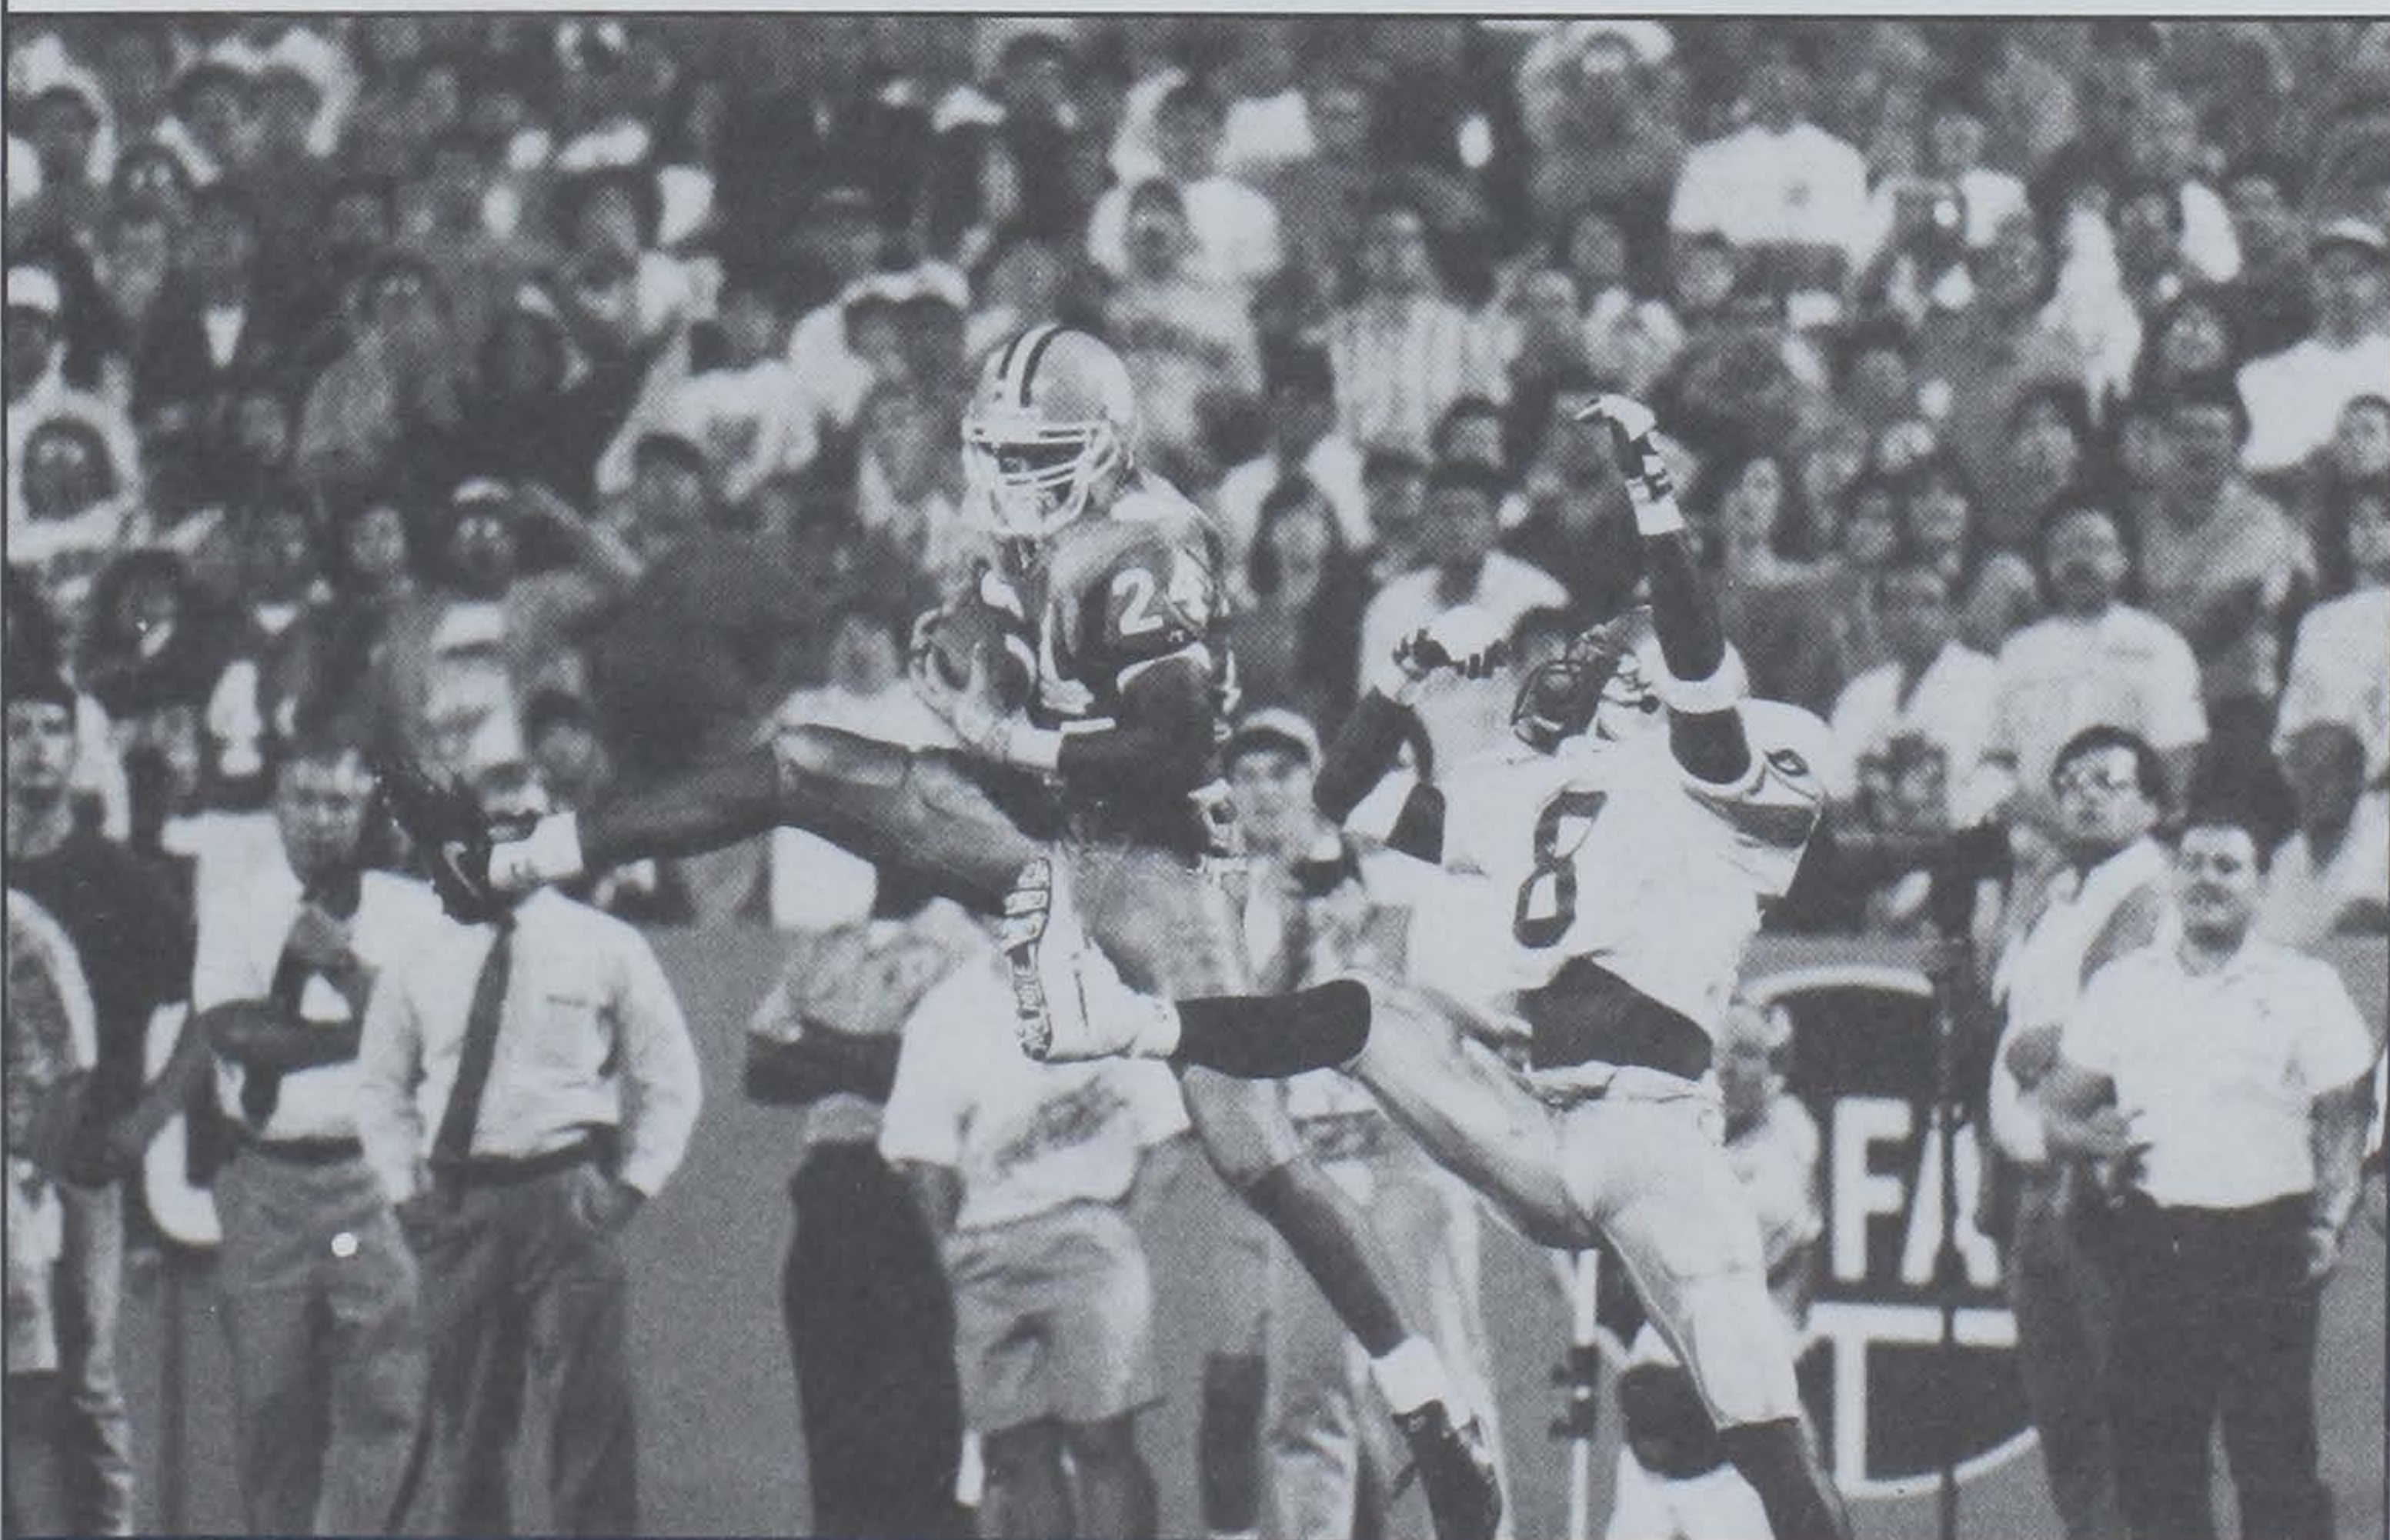

*The ACC excelled in more than just football in 1993-94. The conference captured five national titles and participated in the national title game in four other sports. The ACC has won 18 national team championships over the last four years. In 1993-94 the ACC claimed the national champion in football, women's basketball, women's soccer and field hockey. The ACC held the runnerup spot in men's basketball, baseball, men's lacrosse and women's lacrosse.

*The ACC placed at least one team in the top 10 nationally in 14 of the 23 sports sponsored by the league. In 1993-94 a league record 82 teams competed in NCAA championships, five teams were in football bowl games and 29 teams were ranked in the final top 10 of their respective sports.

*At one time or another, an all-time high 12 ACC teams in eight different sports, representing seven of the nine institutions, held a number-one ranking in 1993-94.

*The ACC Academic Honor Roll record was broken for the eighth straight year as 1,151 student-athletes were recognized for their work in the classroom.

*ACC teams made an all-time record 29 national television appearances last fall and an ACC team participated in the highest rated game in 10 years.

Clemson and Florida State are the only schools in the country with six bowl wins since 1986. The ACC is the only conference in the nation that has seen all of its members participate in a bowl over the last five years.

Sports Program

Nine of Clemson's 18 teams finished the 1993-94 Academic Year ranked in the Top 25 of their respective poll or NCAA Championship.

*Clemson had 9 teams rank among the final top 25 in either the final poll, or NCAA meet/tournament events. The highest ranked team was the baseball team, which finished fourth in the final Baseball America poll. The Clemson soccer team advanced to the NCAAs and was fifth in the final poll, the wrestling team was seventh, the golf team was ninth, the men's track team was 11th, the Lady Tiger tennis team was 18th in the final poll, the women's basketball team was 22nd (USA Today poll), the football team 22nd (USA Today poll), and the men's indoor track team was 24th.

*The final Sears All-Sports poll ranked the Clemson all-round sports program 16th in the nation. Clemson's fine spring of top 11 finishes in baseball, track and golf had a lot to do with that fine ranking.

*Clemson defeated the number-one team in two different sports in 1993-94. The Tiger soccer team defeated number-one Virginia in Charlottesville on a goal at the buzzer by All-American Jimmy Glenn. The Clemson baseball team defeated Georgia Tech (ranked number-one by Baseball America) twice in Atlanta in May. It was just the second time in Clemson history that the Tigers had beaten the number-one team in two different sports in the same year.

*Nine different sports that compete in dual meet or match competition had at least one win over a top 25 opponent during the 1993-94 academic year.

*It was a showcase year for Clemson's facilities. For the first time in history, Clemson played host to NCAA Championship events in three different sports. Clemson played host to the volleyball and soccer tournaments in the Fall and the baseball tournament in the Spring.

*Clemson had a solid year in football, basketball and baseball, the school's oldest and most traditional sports.

Clemson went to postseason play in all three sports and was one of just two schools in the nation to win at least nine football games, 18 basketball games and 36 baseball games. Florida was the only other school in the nation to do it. It was just the eighth time in Clemson history and the first time in five years that Clemson has been to postseason play in all three of its oldest sports in the same academic year.

*All but two of Clemson's teams had what would be termed a winning season and five of the teams that participate in head-to-head competition won at least 70 percent of their games.

*The Clemson football team posted a 9-3 record and was ranked 22nd in the final USA Today poll. It is the seventh time in the last eight years that Clemson has been ranked in the final top 25 poll. Clemson is one of just seven schools who have been ranked in the final poll seven of the last eight years. The other schools are Miami (FL), Nebraska, Michigan, Texas A&M, Florida State and Notre Dame.

*The Clemson baseball team reached the number-one ranking on May 2, 1994, the first time in Clemson history that the baseball team was ranked number-one by itself. (Clemson was tied for first in a poll during the 1977 season.) Clemson held the number-one ranking for four weeks in May and led the nation in total victories with 57. The 57 wins included 19 wins over top 25 teams, a Clemson record for one season regardless of sport. Jack Leggett's team won the regular season and ACC Tournament. Leggett was named ACC Coach of the Year.

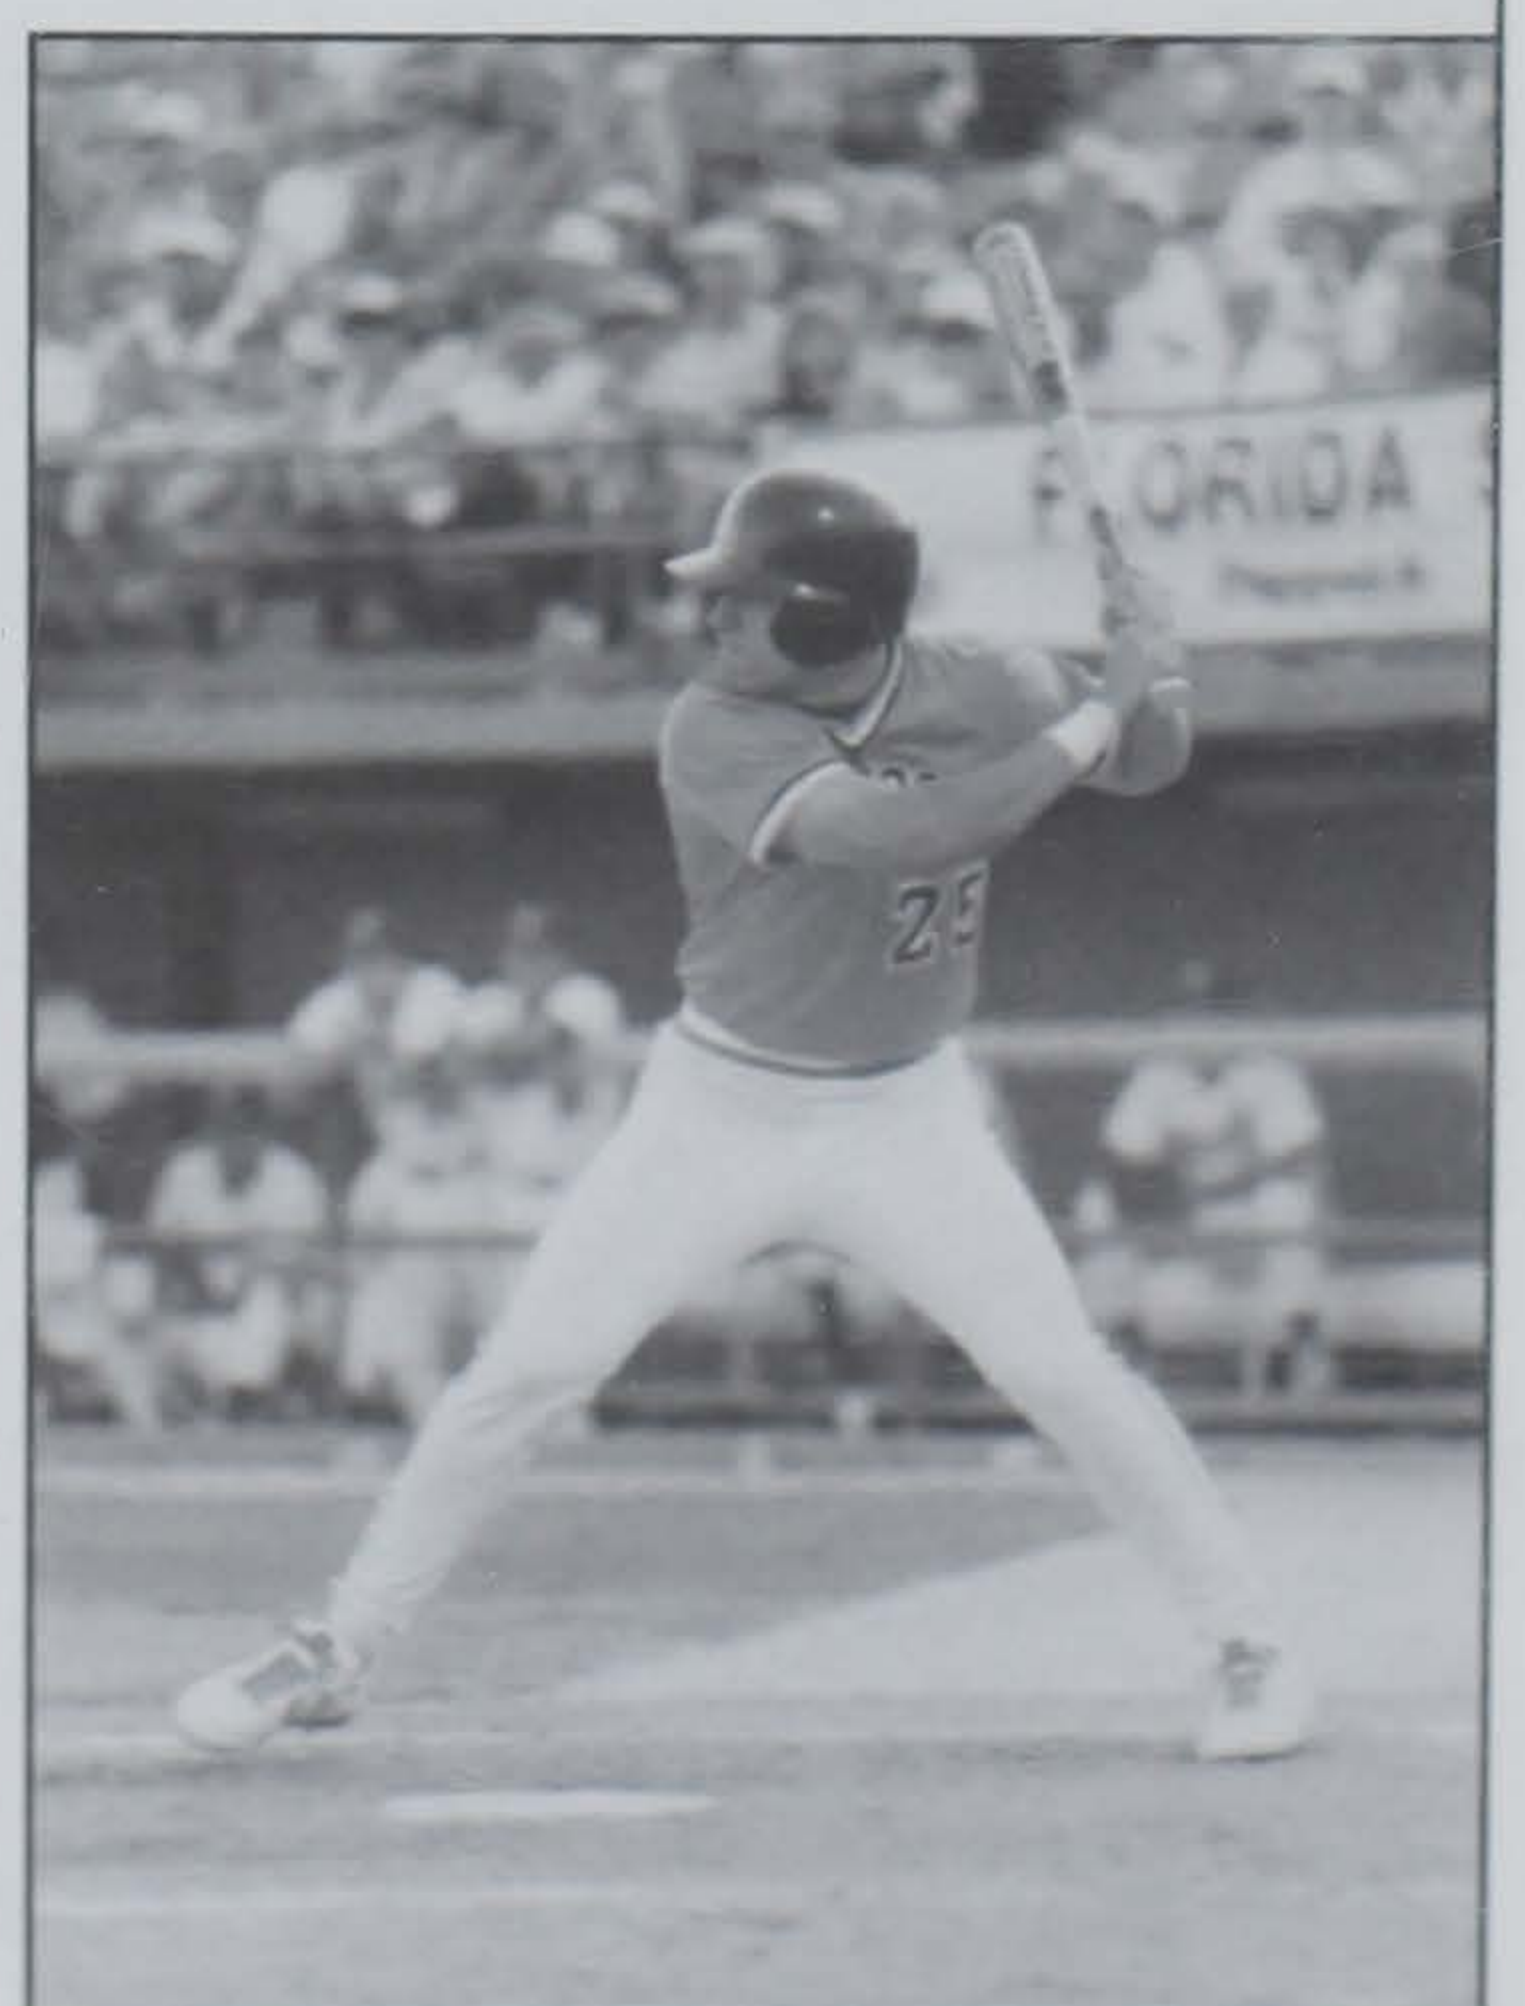

*The men's track team once again had the most All-America selections. Coach Bob Pollock's team had five

All-America selections in indoor track and five in outdoor track.

*Clemson's volleyball team had a landmark season as it was chosen for the NCAA Tournament for the first time. The team finished with a 27-8 record, which tied for the highest winning percentage of any Clemson team in 1993-94. Robbin Kibben was a first-team All-ACC performer.

*The Clemson golf team advanced to the NCAA national tournament for the 13th straight year, one of only four schools in the nation who can make that claim. Clemson is one of just three programs to rank in the top 15 at the NCAA Golf Championship for seven straight years.

*The Women's basketball team advanced to the NCAA tournament for the seventh straight season, the second longest string of NCAA appearances among Clemson sports and the longest active streak among women's sports at Clemson. Jim Davis was named ACC Coach of the Year.

*Sam Henson had the standout individual accomplishment among Clemson athletes in 1993-94 as he won his second straight NCAA wrestling championship. Henson completed his Clemson career at the 118-pound category with a perfect 71-0 record.

*Clemson soccer player Jimmy Glenn led the nation in goal scoring, just the second Clemson soccer player in history to lead the nation in scoring. Glenn was named All-American.

*Shane Monahan was a first-team All-American on the baseball diamond and he led the nation in total hits with 137. He was just five hits away from the all-time NCAA record. Monahan hit .415 for the season and was the MVP of the ACC Tournament, which Clemson won in Greenville, SC. Teammate Mike Hampton was also a first-team All-American.

*Mark Swygert finished in a tie for third at the NCAA golf tournament in June and earned All-America selection. It was the second straight year that Swygert finished in the top 10 at the national event, the first Clemson golfer in history to do that.

*Offensive guard Stacy Seegars was chosen a first-team AP All-American and appeared on the Bob Hope Christmas Special. It was the second straight year Seegars had been chosen to an All-America football team.

*Men's basketball player Sharone Wright was a second-team All-ACC selection and led Clemson to the quarterfinals of the NIT. Wright, who ranked in the top 20 nationally in rebounding and blocked shots, was a first-round choice in the NBA draft.

*Clemson hurdler Duane Ross was an All-American in indoor and outdoor track and had the fastest time in the world in the 110 high hurdles.

*Women's basketball player Jessica Barr brought much attention to the Clemson women's basketball program. She became Clemson's first Kodak All-American in 12 years and was named the MVP of the ACC. She was honored as the female athlete-of-the-year in the state of South Carolina.

*Boba Tzvetkova reached the final 16 of the NCAA women's singles tournament and earned All-America honors. She was ranked 17th in the final NCAA singles poll released on June 15. Shannon King and Janice Durden were named All-Americans in doubles.

*Clemson football player Warren Forney was the recipient of the Sullivan Award, one of the top honors bestowed upon a Clemson student. It is presented for service to others.

*Jaro Zawislán won the ACC's Jim Weaver Award as one of the top all-around student-athletes in the ACC.

Phil Prince, Acting President

A funny thing happened to Phil Prince last June 9th when he was coming to Clemson from his home in Mt. Pleasant for the 45th reunion of the Class of '49, of which he is the president.

He, traveling with his wife Celeste, had to stop in Columbia for a meeting of the Clemson Board of Trustees. Prince entered the room as a life member of the board and came out as acting president of Clemson University.

Prince will serve as university head until a permanent successor is appointed to succeed Dr. Max Lennon, who resigned in February, then accepted the position as president of Eastern Foods, Inc., of Atlanta the first week of June.

The 68-year-old Prince, who retired in 1983 as senior vice president of American Express, found out that news doesn't always spread like wild fire.

The day after his appointment as acting president, he stopped for some gas at a service station in Clemson. While he was inside paying for his purchase, a woman drove up to the tank behind Prince's car.

Noticing his auto tag which said "Clemson University Trustee" the lady asked Prince when he returned to his car:

"You guys appointed anybody yet?" Prince answered: "You're looking at him."

Born in Bostic, NC (August 4, 1926), Prince spent most of his young life in Erwin, TN, where his father was a railroad conductor. He first heard of Clemson from George Fritts, a member of the 1940 Cotton Bowl team, but at that time, a line coach at Clemson. Prince was also being recruited by Tennessee and N. C. State.

He first lettered in 1944, and the second game of the season was against Georgia Tech in Atlanta. For the trip, Prince came dressed in a pair of overalls and Coach Frank Howard asked about his attire. Prince replied that was saving his only pair of slacks to wear after arriving in Atlanta.

But things would get better, even before leaving Clemson.

Returning in 1946 after a stint in service, that season and the next one were on the losing side (4-5 each time). But the Tigers hit the jackpot in 1948 when Prince and Bob Martin were co-captains, undefeated in regular season (10-0), Southern Conference champions (5-0), ranked 11th in the nation and champions of the Gator Bowl with a 24-23 win over Missouri.

Prince made one of the biggest plays of his career against South Carolina that season. Trailing 7-6 with less than two minutes to play, the story goes that a man stood up in the stands and waved a $100 bill and said: "I bet Clemson scores on the next play," and Tigers didn't even have the ball.

On the next play Prince broke through and blocked a punt. Oscar "Rabbit" Thompson scooped up the ball and ran it in for a score and a 13-7 Clemson win. That success story was followed by many more by Prince.

He rose through the ranks of Milliken and Company over nearly a 30-year period to become vice president for personnel and management development before going with American Express in 1978.

In addition to his past service on the Board of Trustees since 1989, Prince has served Clemson as a member of the Alumni National Council and as a former president of the Clemson University Foundation Board of Directors. He chaired the Campaign for Clemson fund-raising drive and was a major donor to that effort. He and his wife established the Prince Presidential Scholars Endowment for academic recruiting scholarships. They have also contributed a life scholarship to Phil Prince has been a success in athletics and in the business and academic world for all his life.

Phil Prince was one of the stars of Clemson's undefeated 1948 football team. His blocked punt against South Carolina in 1948 proved to be the key play of the game in the Tigers win that kept an undefeated season alive.

Prince was a senior vice president for American Express, among other successful business ventures.

the Clemson Athletic Department.

Prince was a recipient of the Alumni Association's Distinguished Service Award and the first President's Award, which recognizes outstanding service to the university. He was also presented the Clemson Medallion, the university's highest honor, in 1989. During his tenure as acting president, Prince plans to return his earnings to the school as a personal contribution to the Clemson University Foundation.

Phillip Hunter Prince and Celeste Orr Prince are parents of two sons, Kevin and Jim. They also have two grandsons—the reason for moving from Pawleys Island to Mt. Pleasant. On the night he was named acting president, Prince called the four-year-old grandson, Phillip Hunter Prince, II, to say that he was going to move away (to Clemson) for awhile. "I don't want you to move, grandpa," Phillip said.

In the background, Prince heard his son, Jim, tell Phillip: "Tell grandpapa how proud you are of him." To which Phillip replied: "I'm not."

IPTAY Scholarship Foundation

Traditions are something that don't happen overnight, they evolve over a number of years. One tradition at Clemson that is going strong and heading into its 60th year is IPTAY. The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation, is known throughout the country for its faithful and generous contributions by its supporters. A recent USA Today article called IPTAY the best-known organization of its kind in the nation. The article noted that at a time when college athletic costs are rising IPTAY continues to lead the way in supporting athletic scholarships at Clemson. IPTAY plays a major role in insuring that all 19 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships allowed by the NCAA.

IPTAY completed another record breaking year in 1993-94 when it went over the $6 million mark for the first time. The total number of members reached 18,500. The Tiger Cub Club was also introduced for the first time, giving Clemson fans from birth to age 22 a chance to become involved in Tiger athletics.

Thanks to this support, Clemson enjoyed another banner year in 1993-94. The program ranked 16th in the nation according to the Sears NACDA rankings and had nine teams ranked among the top 25 in the respective final rankings. Clemson was especially successful in the spring when the baseball, golf and track teams were all ranked among the top 11 in the nation. Clemson's traditional sports of football, basketball and baseball were also successful. Clemson and Florida were the only teams in the nation to win at least nine football games, 18 basketball games and 36 baseball games.

It was also a banner year academically. Soccer goal keeper Jaro Zawislanski was the recipient of the ACC's Jim Weaver Award as one of the outstanding all-around student-athletes in the league. In the Spring semester of 1994, 43 student athletes were on the dean's list and 14 had a perfect 4.0. Tiger football player Warren Forney was the recipient of Clemson's Algernon Sydney Sullivan Award, which is given to a Clemson student for outstanding disinterested service to others.

IPTAY is recognized as one of the oldest, largest and most successful athletic fundraising organizations in America. IPTAY was the first athletic fundraising organization in the country to top the two, three, four, and five-million dollar marks in annual donations.

In 1934, Dr. Rupert Fike founded IPTAY with a very simple purpose in mind: IPTAY provides funds for athletic scholarships. Since 1934 IPTAY has certainly met Fike's goal, providing scholarships for over 5,000 student-athletes, trainers, and managers.

IPTAY currently provides the funds for tutorial programs staffed by trained academic advisors, assisted by graduate and undergraduate students. This support is intended to insure that all student-athletes are given the opportunity to earn their degree while participating in athletics.

IPTAY donors have also played an intricate role in the "Campaign for Clemson", a long range fund-raising project of the University. The University's original goal of 62 million dollars was surpassed with the next goal of 78 million also being surpassed in the campaign that ended on June 30, 1992. IPTAY provided three million dollars with ongoing opportunities for donors to be part of the Vickery Hall Academic Learning Center.

Vickery Hall, located on East Campus, is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. The building contains various-sized study and tutoring rooms used for individual study as well as small group instruction.

The generous support of loyal donors to IPTAY has allowed the organization to go beyond the funding of athletic scholarships by providing the financial basis for many of the unparalleled athletic facilities at Clemson.

Since 1978, IPTAY has provided the funding for $34 million of capital improvements in the area of athletics. These improvements include the expansion of the football stadium, the renovated baseball facility (Tiger Field), the outdoor track with new stadium facilities, the indoor tennis facility, the soccer stadium, the weight room, the new golf practice area, a new cross country course, and the IPTAY/Ticket office facility.

The facilities are among the best in the country, at least that must be the opinion of the NCAA. Over the last two years Clemson has played host to NCAA events in four different sports, including three in 1993-94.

IPTAY is also proud to provide the funding for Tiger Band. Each year IPTAY establishes financial support for travel, uniforms and equipment for this integral part of the Clemson athletic program.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for non-athletes who are highly qualified academically. This scholarship endowment is funded by certain company gifts that are made as a result of employee contributions to IPTAY. In addition, the athletic department has made generous contributions to the endowment from athletic revenues.

The IPTAY Academic Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson providing $1.9 million in funds, currently benefitting more than 50 students. IPTAY's support extends to all of the student body.

The tremendous support of IPTAY is due, in large part, to the organizational makeup that allows donors to be as close to IPTAY as they are to their local IPTAY leadership. Each of South Carolina's 46 counties has an IPTAY County chairman, and every county is allotted an IPTAY representative for every 35 donors.

One important way IPTAY keeps in touch with its membership is the annual Clemson Club meeting held in April and May of each year. These meetings, which feature different coaches and administrators are just one of the ways of making the local IPTAY members feel close to Clemson.

Clemson University will continue to be recognized and respected on the national level athletically and academically with the full support of IPTAY. IPTAY will continue to be successful because a loyal commitment to Clemson University is a way of life in the hearts of Clemson alumni and friends.

George Bennett returned home to Clemson on February 14, 1993 when he was named Executive Director of IPTAY. Bennett is not a native of Clemson, but he has spent a great deal of his life in Tigertown.

A 1955 Clemson graduate, Bennett was an assistant athletic director for business for eight years (1971-79), and in his final two years, he was the Executive Secretary of IPTAY. Under his leadership, annual contributions to IPTAY doubled to more than 2.3 million from one million dollars and memberships topped 15,000 from 8,800.

Bennett left Clemson in 1979 to become associate athletic director of financial development at Vanderbilt University. At Vanderbilt he helped the Commodore Club grow from 650 members to more than 6,000. At the same time funds generated by the Commodore Club increased tenfold, going from $275,000 in 1979 to over $2.2 million in 1986. In 1984 Bennett was named the National Athletic Fundraiser-of-the-Year at the National Conference for Athletic Fundraisers.

In April, 1986 Bennett was named the Athletic Director at Furman University in Greenville, SC. During his time in Greenville Bennett oversaw the 20-sport program while also being active in the community. Bennett left Furman in 1989, returning to Nashville, TN as he served as the Vice President for Development at the Baptist Hospital.

In 1987 Bennett was honored by winning the Clemson Distinguished Service Award. In 1989, he was inducted into the Clemson University Athletic Department Hall of Fame for his outstanding service and dedication to Clemson.

Bennett's ties to athletics at Clemson date to his undergraduate days, as he was a varsity cheerleader for three years, and served as head cheerleader during his senior year. During his college years Bennett was President of Blue Key, while also being a member of Tiger Brotherhood.

This past year he added to his list of outstanding accomplishments in athletics when he led IPTAY to its first $6 million year ever. The Tiger Cub Club was also born during the 1993-94 academic year.

Bennett, a Columbia, SC native, and his wife, Nancy, have been married for 33 years. They have two children, Jeff, and Bonnie Beth, and three grandchildren, Megan (6), Bennett (3), and Brooks (1).

Bert Henderson Assoc. Executive Director

Bert Henderson is in his eighth year with the IPTAY Scholarship Fund. His diverse background with Clemson University dates back to 1978 when he began work as a trainer with the Athletic Department.

He began full-time employment under Fred Hoover in 1980 and served as basketball trainer from 1982-84. He handled all travel and a majority of administrative tasks for the Clemson basketball program.

After leaving the athletic department for a year to work with the Clemson Alumni Association where he was instrumental in setting up Clemson Clubs and away game headquarters, he returned to Jervy Athletic Center as Clemson's first Associate Executive Secretary of IPTAY in April of 1985.

Henderson demands excellence and his record shows that he does not settle for less in fundraising. His pursuit of superiority has shown as he has rapidly established planned endowments for IPTAY. To date, over 165 Life Memberships have been part of the endowment as well as the future plans for real estate, securities.

Some of Henderson's central duties as the Associate Executive Director of IPTAY concern the preparation of the Orange and White, which is the official publication of IPTAY, evaluation of Life Endowments as well as Tiger Life donors for the future of IPTAY. He is also the advisor for the IPTAY Student Advisory Board, an on campus student group that serves as a liaison between students and the athletic department. Henderson is also involved with the organization of Clemson Club programs and other administrative duties of IPTAY.

Henderson is a 1978 graduate of Mars Hill College. He earned a master's degree from Clemson in administration and supervision. He is married to the former Lee Ann Hudson, and the couple has two children, Amy Lee (9-23-86) and Kimberly Ann (6-13-89).

Bob Mahony Assoc. Executive Director

Bob Mahony started with IPTAY as an associate executive director in February of 1989. He is a 1976 graduate of Clemson with a bachelor of science degree in building construction. He had been involved in commercial and residential construction in Columbia and the upstate since graduation.

In the summer of 1977, he began a career in construction with Bagnal Builders, a residential builder in Columbia. From 1981-1985 he was employed by McCrory Construction, also in Columbia, where he gained experience in commercial construction. Following a return to Bagnal Builders from 1985-87, he moved to the upstate where he worked with Trehel Corp. of Clemson and Hudson Construction of Seneca.

Mahony lettered in baseball at Clemson from 1974-76. He was a walk-on pitcher for coach Bill Wilhelm's baseball team in 1974. He later earned a full scholarship and was co-captain of the 1976 team that participated in the College World Series in Omaha, Nebraska. That team also won the ACC regular season and tournament. Following his career at Clemson, Mahony spent a short time with the Baltimore Orioles organization. For the past five seasons, he has provided the color commentary on the Clemson baseball radio network.

His duties with IPTAY include the coordination of the IPTAY County Chairmen and representative appointment and award program. He is also involved in coordination of IPTAY's involvement in the spring Clemson Club meetings.

Mahony is married to the former Robin Ann Lawrimore, a 1976 graduate of Clemson. The couple has two children, Robin Allison (9-1-80) and Marion Leigh (9-3-85). Bob has two brothers, Glenn and David, who are also graduates of Clemson and his mother was Clemson's Mother-of-the-Year in 1981.

Game Notes '94

Sept. 3 Furman at Clemson

Series: Clemson leads 36-10-4

Clemson opens the season with Furman, the team Tommy West faced in his last game as head coach at UT-Chattanooga...ironically, Danny Ford also faced Furman in a game played at Clemson in his first regular season game as head coach of the Tigers..Clemson has won 29 in a row over Southern Conference teams since a 6-0 loss to South Carolina in 1952...Clemson has won 38 games in a row over teams currently in the Southern Conference...the last eight Southern Conference teams to play the Tigers have failed to score a touchdown...Furman is coached by Bobby Johnson, a Clemson graduate who served as Clemson's Defensive Coordinator in 1993...Clemson has a 13-0 record against Furman in Death Valley and has outscored the Paladins in those games 400-70...Furman has not beaten Clemson since 1936 when the Paladins won at Clemson, 12-0....Clemson has won 24 straight games dating back to a 0-0 tie in 1937...Furman is Clemson's oldest rival, as the two teams met in Clemson's first intercollegiate football game on October 28, 1896...over the previous 98 seasons of Clemson football the Tigers are 73-17-8 in the opening game of the season...Clemson has won 10 of its last 11 openers with the only loss coming in 1986 to Virginia Tech, 20-14.

Sept. 10 N.C. State at Clemson

Series: Clemson 39-22-1

This will be the second straight game that Clemson will be facing a team coached by a Clemson graduate....Wolfpack head coach Mike O'Cain is a 1977 Clemson graduate and was a quarterback for the Tigers between 1973-76...he was 1976 team MVP and co-captain of the team...O'Cain is the first Clemson graduate to serve as a Division I head coach since 1904 when Shack Shealy, Clemson class of '00, became the head coach of the Tigers... O'Cain holds the Clemson record for yards rushing in a game by a quarterback and, ironically, he set the mark in a game against N.C. State in 1976 when he had 140 yards on 13 attempts...Clemson has won three of the last four meetings between the two schools...this is the third time in the last four years N.C. State has played at Clemson...N.C. State has not won at Clemson since 1987...this is the 14th annual Textile Bowl, Clemson has a 9-4 lead in the series since it was named the Textile Bowl in 1981...Tim Jones has had 11 tackles each of the last two years against the Wolfpack...Nelson Welch is 9-12 in his career in field goals against the Pack and he had a career long 70-yard punt against N.C. State in 1992...Will Young had a career high eight knockdown blocks against the Pack in the 1993 game...Clemson was 5-3 against N.C. State when Tommy West was an assistant coach with the Tigers (1982-89).

Spring Game Review

Orange Tops White, 24-23 in Clemson Spring Game

Antwuan Wyatt rushed for 107 yards and scored a pair of touchdowns April 9th to lead the Orange to a 24-23 win over the White team in Clemson's annual Spring Game in Death Valley. The contest concluded Tommy West's first spring practice as Tiger head coach.

West put his first unit, offensively and defensively, on the Orange team. In an effort to balance the game, he gave the White team 10 points at the beginning of each half. Thus, the White team really only scored three points against the Orange. The game was composed of four 12-minute quarters.

Wyatt, who was moved to running back from wide receiver on a trial basis on April 4, scored on runs of one yard and 13 yards in pacing the Orange offense. The native of Daytona Beach, Florida also caught three passes for 14 yards.

Orange quarterback Patrick Sapp hit 11 of 16 passes for 104 yards and a touchdown in guiding the Orange team to the victory. He hit just one of his first five passes and threw two first-quarter interceptions, but then connected on 10 of his last 11. He did not throw an interception over the last three quarters.

"Everyone was talking about number-19 (Wyatt) after today's game," said West. "I will be able to sleep at night this summer knowing we have a guy who can step in and play tailback. We moved him Monday because we were not happy with the consistency and health of our tailbacks. He has the lower body strength, he runs like a running back. He reminds me of Terry Allen."

"This is not a permanent move, we will have to see what happens with the incoming freshmen this fall. If we can get two of the freshmen ready to play, we could move Antwuan back to wide receiver."

West was also impressed with the play of Sapp. "What I liked about Patrick today was his ability to come back. He threw those two interceptions in the first quarter and did not get down. He threw a great pass to Henry Guess for a score.

"Patrick Sapp is our number-one guy. We don't have a quarterback controversy."

Dwayne Bryant led the receivers with three catches for 37 yards, including a 29 yarder. Clemson tight ends caught seven passes in the contest. Ed Glenn caught 3-12, Stephen Wynn was 2-9 and Lamont Hall was 2-10.

The Orange defense was outstanding, limiting the White team to just four first downs and only 101 yards in total offense. Marvin Cross and Carlos Curry were the top defenders for the Orange team. They combined for eight tackles for loss. Cross, who will be a junior in 1994, had eight tackles and three sacks, while Curry, also a junior in 1994, had eight tackles and five tackles for loss, including four in the first quarter. Curry also had two sacks.

Darnell Stephens contributed six tackles for the Orange team, including two tackles for loss, while James Hemphill had six stops and a sack.

The White defense was led by Lewis Usher and Raymond White, who had 11 tackles apiece. Usher also had two tackles for loss. Chris Franklin, who led Clemson in touchdowns last year as a fullback, had 10 stops and a sack from an outside linebacker position. Speedy Watson had nine tackles from the secondary.

Brad Pope, a walk-on from Alpharetta, GA was the star of the first quarter with two interceptions of Sapp, who enters 1994 as Clemson's career leader in interception avoidance. Pope had an interception on the Orange team's first two drives. He returned the second theft 30 yards and it set up the only score registered by the White offense, a 27-yard field goal by Joey Gasque.

Second-team quarterback Louis Solomon completed just 2-16 passes for 10 yards, but obviously had the disadvantage of facing the number-one defense all day. He had a brilliant 41-yard run that was the longest play of the day for either team.

The White team took a 13-0 lead in the first quarter, 10 points from the total given the team by West, and three from the Gasque field goal. The Orange made it 14-13 at halftime thanks to a pair of second period touchdowns. Wyatt scored on a one-yard run and Henry Guess grabbed a perfectly thrown 37-yard scoring pass from Patrick Sapp with just 3:48 to go in the second period.

After the White team was awarded 10 more points at the beginning of the third period, the Orange scored again, this time on a 13-yard run by Wyatt. Nelson Welch gave the Orange the 24-23 lead at 8:11 when he connected on a 24-yard field goal.

The White team threatened in the fourth period. Chris Robbins, a walk-on quarterback, led his team to the Orange 24, but Gasque's 41-yard field goal was off to the White. Benji Wood, a reserve fullback, keyed that drive with 57 yards rushing.

Wood was the top offensive player for the White team with seven carries for 60 yards, while Amel Jackson added 45 yards rushing in 13 attempts.

"The defense is a head of the offense and that is due to experience," said West in reflecting on his football team at the end of the spring drills. "We are very experienced at linebacker and in the line on defense and we should be even better when he get Warren Forney, Tim Jones, Andre Humphrey and Dexter McCleon back on the football field in August."

"We are way behind offensively. We spent the spring trying to develop starters in the offensive line. You should spend your spring developing depth. But, the offensive line made progress this spring. We still have miles to go, but we have made a lot of progress. We have 29 practices in the fall prior to our first game and we certainly will spend a lot of time in that area."

"The main thing I wanted to accomplish this spring was to become a tougher football team. When you look over the history of Clemson football, that stands out. I think we made great strides in becoming a tough football team."

In the Classroom: Not only did a fine job on the playing field during his first year at Clemson, he also posted some fine academic stats...earned a 3.15 grade point average in his management major for both semesters in 1993-94.

THE FORD TWINS ON THE FORD TWINS

"We always talked about making plays like that, him on one side and me on the other. It's like they can't escape us. I love playing with my brother out there. That just [makes] the game fun looking over and seeing Andy on the other side."

Peter Ford

"It's funny to see a wide receiver line up on my side and say 'Didn't I just see you over there on the other side?' I'd say, 'Yeah, I'm on you all night.'"

Andy Ford

"Sometimes people ask us how we tell each other apart. I never have to worry about that. I know who I am and I know who he is. But I always get a big kick out of that question."

Bamberg, SC...Bamberg Ehrhardt HS

Franklin Fact: Franklin's 77-yard touchdown reception vs. East Tennessee State last year was the longest reception by a Clemson running back in 39 years.

Fall 1994 Depth Chart Position: Second-team bandit end Bowl Experience: In for 15 snaps as a fullback in the '93 Peach Bowl, he was 5-8 rushing.

Years Lettered: 1993

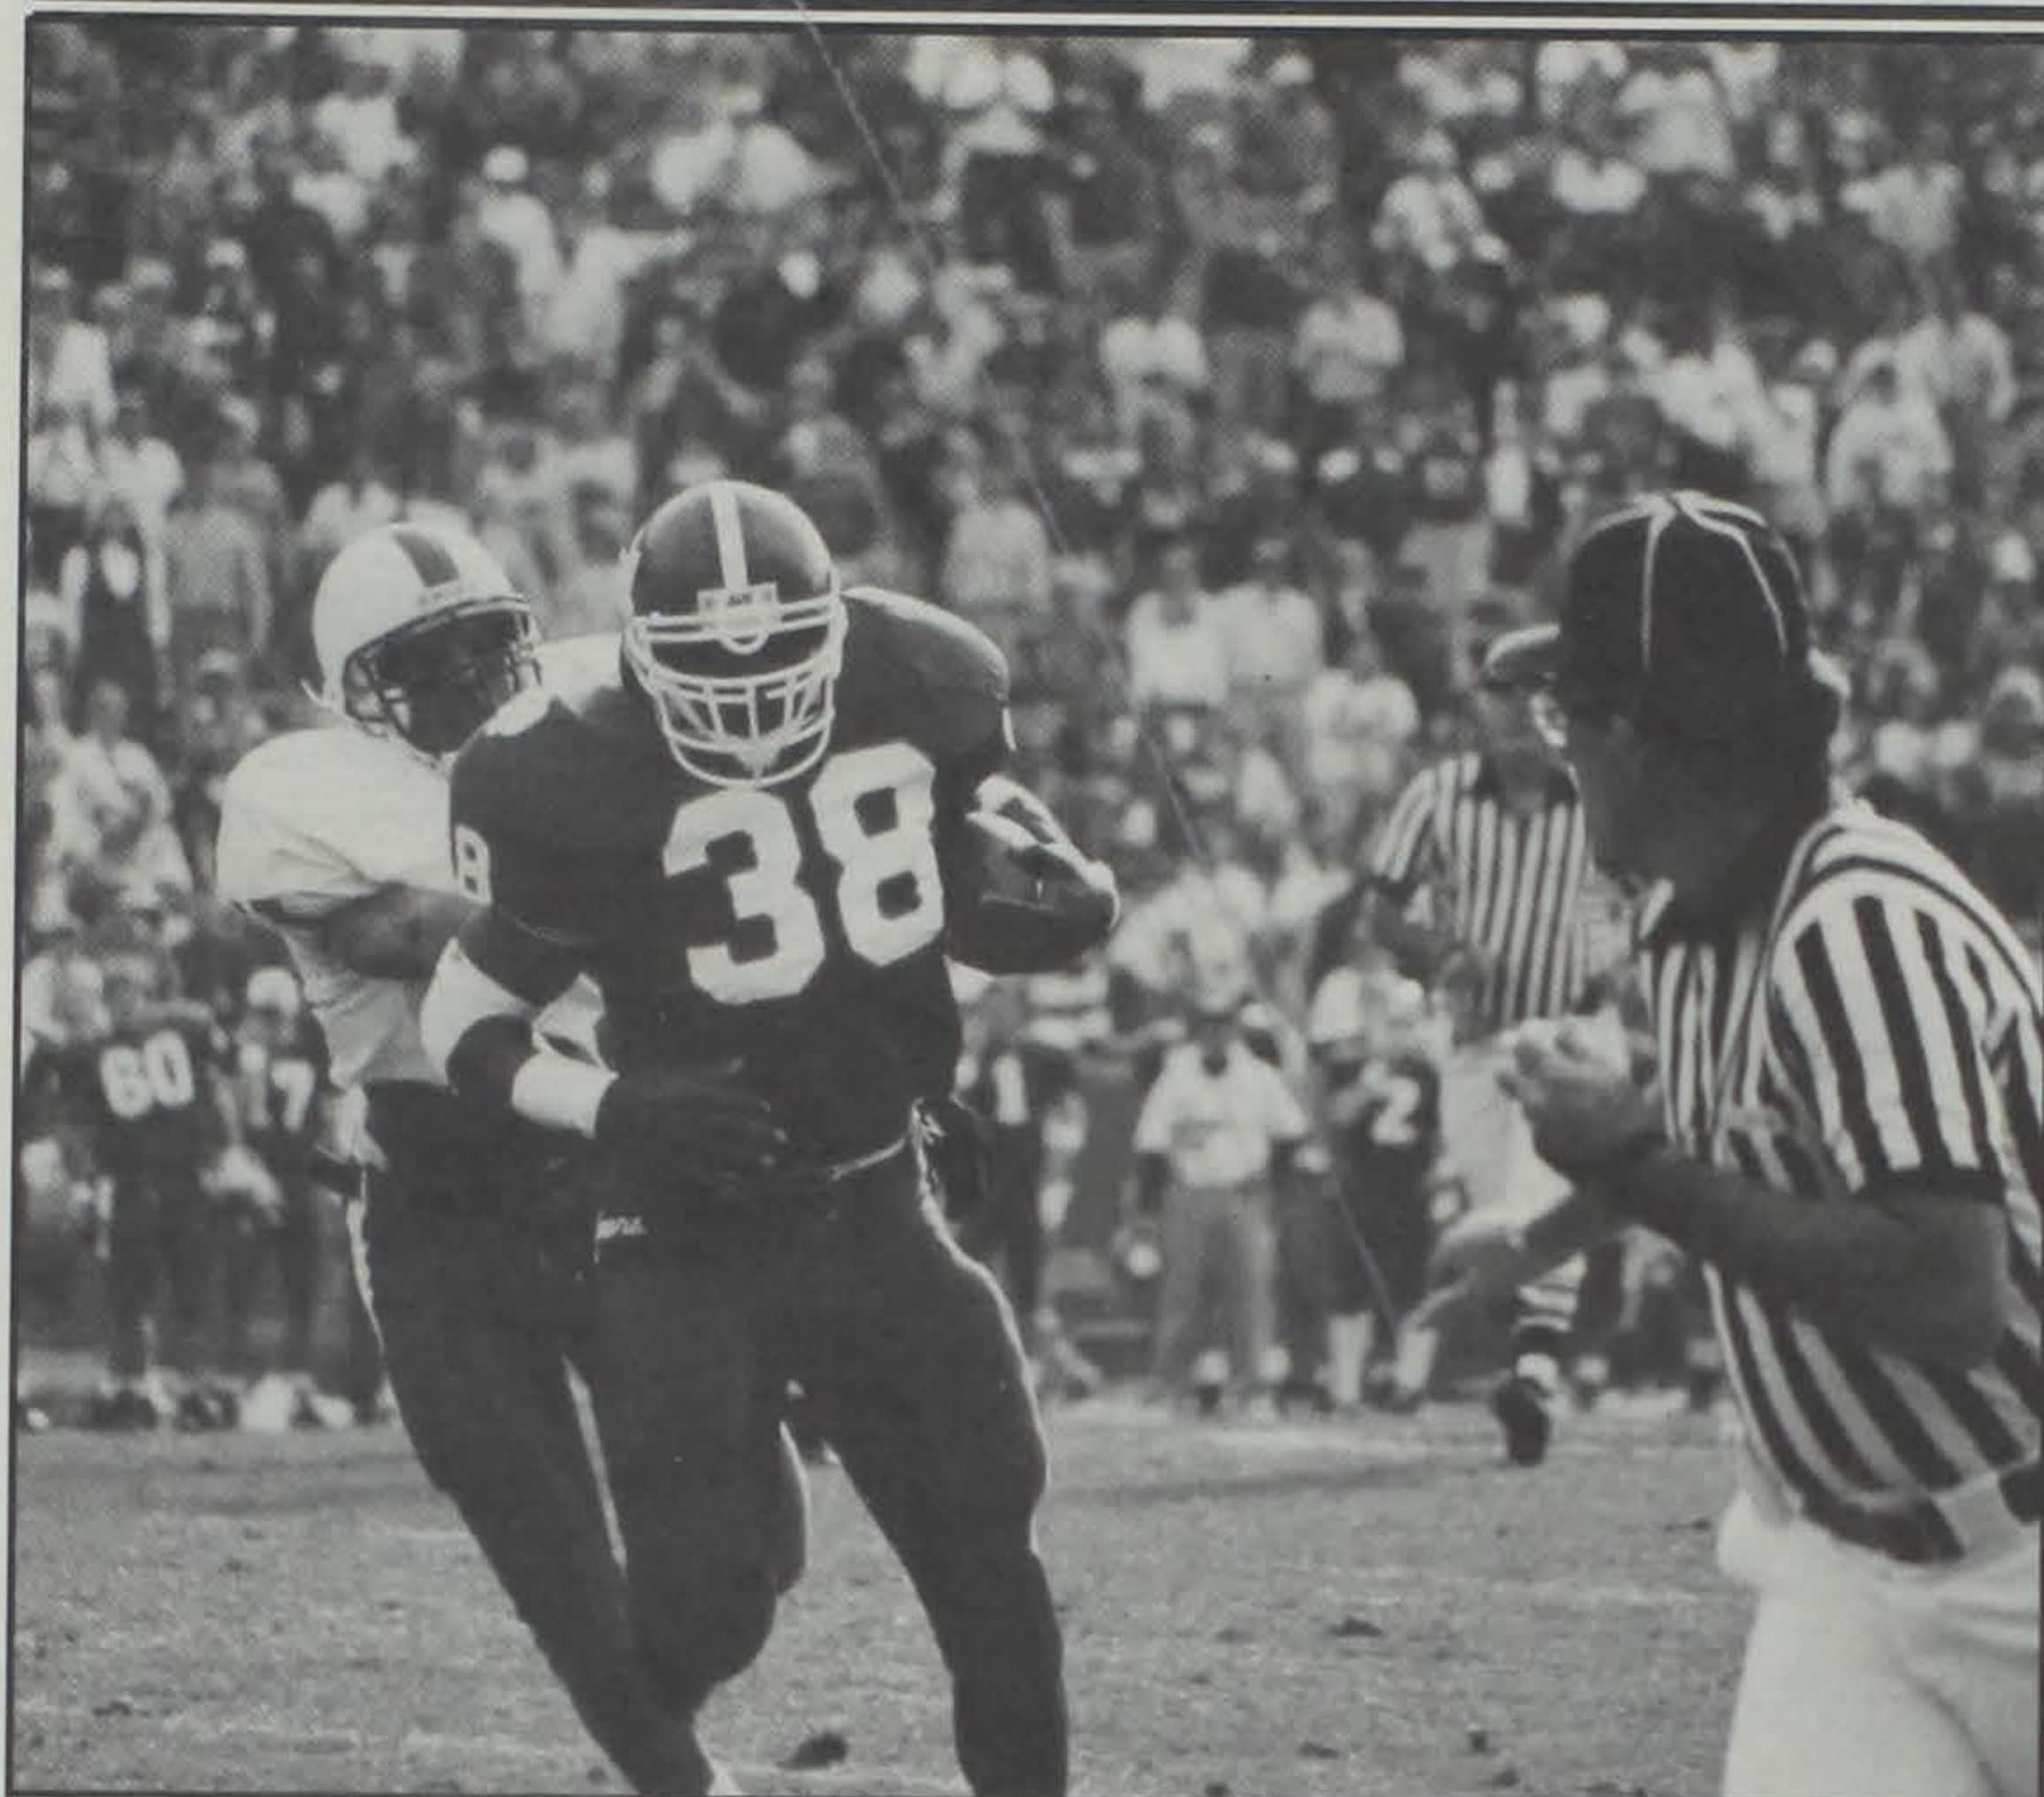

In 1993: Perhaps the biggest surprise on the 1993 Clemson squad, coaches planned to red-shirt the first-year freshman at linebacker and he did not play in the first two games...moved to fullback the week before the Georgia Tech game where he would start four games...moved back to defense last spring, he ended up spring workouts as the second-team bandit end...the second-leading scorer on the 1993 Tiger squad, he scored five touchdowns for the season, more than any other Tiger...the first Tiger to score a rushing and receiving touchdown in the same game since 1986, when Terrence Flagler accomplished that feat...Franklin scored both ways in the win over ETSU and won ACC Rookie-of-the-Week honors...gained 105 yards in all-purpose rushing in that contest, he took a swing pass from QB Richard Moncrief and raced 77 yards for the score...that was the second-longest pass reception for a Clemson running back in Tiger history, the longest since 1954...it was just the fourth TD pass reception by a Clemson fullback in the last 21 years...became the first Tiger fullback to gain over 100 yards in all-purpose running since the 1991 Duke game in Tokyo, when FB Rudy Harris, now with the Tampa Bay Bucs, gained 126 yards (all rushing)...had his highest rushing total of the season in the win over Virginia, even though he did not play in the first half and played just 11 snaps of that contest...gained 62 yards on eight carries for a 7.7 yard average.

In High School: Signed originally with the Tigers in 1992...rated as the number-four inside linebacker prospect in the nation by Max Emfinger... a SuperPrep, Max Emfinger and Tom Lemming All-American...all-state according to The Greenville News and The State...Orangeburg Times-Democrat Player-of-the-Year in 1991...had 97 tackles and nine sacks during his senior season...an offensive threat as well at Bamberg, he rushed for 1,722 yards and scored 19 touchdowns...ranked among the nation's top 50 prospects by the Atlanta Constitution...majoring in industrial education...born 3-23-74.

In the Strength Training Room: Ranks ninth on the '94 squad in the power clean with a 309 pound mark...tied for the best leg sled mark among '94 inside linebackers, he can push 760 pounds...second strongest outside linebacker on this year's squad in terms of total pounds lifted, his bench press + leg sled + power clean totals 1424 pounds...leads all players at his position in the standing broad jump with a 112" mark.

"I like to hit people. Whichever way I can do it, I'm happy. As long as I can get a big hit, I'm happy. I love the collision. There's something about the pads sounding out there."

Bowl Experience: Came in off the bench to play 26 plays in the '93 Peach Bowl, he threw the winning touchdown to WR Terry Smith with :20 left in the contest. Passed 5-9 for 109 yards and was 4-10 rushing.

Years as a Starter: 1993

In 1993: The Tigers' starting quarterback in seven contests last season, despite battling a painful shoulder injury...made considerable improvement in 1993, he increased his efficiency from 88 to 118 and his completion percentage from 41 to 49 percent...the best in Clemson history in avoiding interceptions, he has just seven in 277 attempts for his career, a 2.52 percent mark... led the team in passing with 1084 yards...has passed for more than 100 yards 10 times in his career, five times in 1993...opened the season with a 10-14 performance for a gain of 194 yards versus UNLV, that .714 completion percentage was the best of his career...had a passing efficiency mark of 235 for that contest, sixth best in Clemson history for a single game given a minimum of 10 attempts...had 188 yards passing in the first half against Florida State, he ended the day with a season high 223 yards passing against the nation's top team...saved the best for last as far as dramatic plays are concerned, he came in off the bench to lead the Tigers to victory in the Peach Bowl versus Kentucky...was five for nine in the passing department for a gain of 109 yards, including a 21-yard touchdown strike to Terry Smith to give Clemson a one-point victory with 20 seconds remaining in the game...the team leader in total offense with 1151 yards, a 114.67 yards per game average...ranked 10th in the Atlantic Coast Conference in that category last season...has 2050 yards in total offense for his career, just 89 yards away from ranking in the top 25 in Clemson history in that category.

In 1992: The biggest quarterback to start a game for Clemson at 6-4, 241 pounds that year, but he has slimmed down to 230...it showed with improved quickness in the spring...started the last four games of the season, he played every offensive snap in the Wake Forest, Maryland and South Carolina contests...led the team in total offense, he averaged 149.8 yard a game and 201.3 yards in the games in which he was the starting signal caller...had his best game in terms of total offense at Maryland, when he passed for 273 yards on a 25-55 performance and rushed for five more yards...his 64 plays of total offense in that contest were a Clemson record, the previous high was 57 plays set by Rodney Williams against N.C. State in 1987...his 55 pass attempts in that contest also broke a record Williams set in that game...tied a single game record for completions with 25, equalling the total set by Tommy Kendrick versus Florida State in 1970...his 273 yards passing ranks third in Clemson history for a single game and his 278 yards in total offense was just 10 yards shy of the Clemson freshman record set by Willie Jordan in 1975...had 750 yards passing for the season, the second-best mark ever for a Clemson freshman (Rodney Williams passed for 772 yards in 1985), while his 899 yards in total offense is tied for fourth on the freshman records list...named the ACC Rookie-of-the-Week for his performance in the Tigers' win over North Carolina, he passed for 205 yards and two TDs and his .565 completion percentage was his best of the season...also named the Exxon Tiger-of-the-Game and the state Freshman-of-the-Week for that contest.

All in the Family

In High School: A SuperPrep and Max Emfinger All-American at Raines High School, where he played for Coach Freddie Stephens...was ranked as the fifth-best running/passing QB in the nation by Emfinger...a member of the Florida Super 24...4A all-state selection...Jacksonville All-City choice and the MVP of his Raines High...named to the Florida Shrine Bowl team and played in the Florida-Georgia All-Star game...a wishbone quarterback who rushed for 602 yards and 12 TDs...also successful as a passer, he threw for 992 yards and 14 touchdown passes as a senior...the MVP of the 3A state basketball tournament in 1991, he averaged 16 points and 12 rebounds per game on the hardwood in 1992...high school teammate of Tiger DB Brian Dawkins...majoring in liberal arts...born 5-11-73.

In the Strength Training Room: Has the strength to go along with his size, he has set all-time best for a Tiger quarterback in three categories...has a 355-pound bench press mark and has also set Clemson QB records in the leg sled (840 lbs.) and power clean (309 lbs.)...that power clean mark ranks 11th on the '94 squad...has a 32-inch vertical jump....also one of the speedier members of the '94 squad with a 4.59 clocking in the 40-yard dash.

In 1993: Scampering quarterback who was one of four starting signal callers for the Tigers in 1993, he missed most of the season with a ligament injury in his foot...the second-team signal caller in the first three games of the season, he helped lead Clemson to the key win over Georgia Tech, when he came in off the bench and led the Tigers to both touchdowns in that 16-13 victory...connected with wide receiver Terry Smith for a 36-yard score, then drove the team to a rushing touchdown that put them ahead, he carried the two-point conversion in himself...overall, he was 3-4 for 53 yards and a TD, a passing efficiency rating of 268, best of his young career...missed the next week's game with N.C. State due to the foot injury and was in for only nine plays at Duke before earning the starting nod for the Wake Forest contest...missed five of the last six games of the season with the foot injury.

In 1992: Quick-footed quarterback who led the Tigers to three back-to-back wins at mid-season before his season ended with a knee injury...Clemson was 3-0 in games he played in 1992...did not play in the first three games of the season, but came in off the bench versus UTC and Virginia to lead the Tigers to victory...quarterbacked Clemson for 27 possessions in 1992, the Tigers scored on 13 of them, 11 TDs and two field goals...just the second QB in the last 11 years to pick up 100+ yards rushing in a game, he went over the century mark versus Virginia and Duke...only one other QB (DeChane Cameron) since the days of Homer Jordan had gone over the 100 yards in terms of rushing...in for 64 plays in the Virginia contest, he came on in the first half when Richard Moncrief left the game with an injury...led the Tigers back from a 28-0 deficit, Clemson's first score of the game came late in the second quarter when Solomon kept the ball on an option play and ran 64-yards for a touchdown...that was the second-longest TD run ever by a Tiger QB, only a 75-yard run by Steve Fuller in 1978 was longer...gained 204 yards in total offense in that contest with a season-high totals of 116 yards rushing and 88-yards passing...named the ACC Offensive Back-of-the-Week for his performance against the Cavaliers, he also was named the Exxon Tiger-of-the-Game...had his first career start versus Duke, he was in for 45 plays and led the Tigers in rushing with 104 yards...injured his knee in the fourth quarter of that contest and did not see action the rest of the season...his .750 completion mark for that Clemson win was the best for a Tiger all year...led the team in total offense on a per play basis, he averaged 6.9 yards...averaged 142.3 yards per game in total offense, that mark ranked second on the 1992 squad...the Tigers' fourth-leading rusher in 1992, even though he played in only three contests, he averaged 96 yards per game on the ground, the best per game average for a Tiger.

In 1991: Gained valuable experience as the scout team's quarterback, he also saw a lot of action in spring workouts of 1992...was 9-20 in the passing department that spring for a gain of 151 yards, he led all quarterbacks in rushing...scored the first touchdown of the day in the annual Orange & White game, he led the White team 80 yards down the field, rushing for 36 yards on the drive...had 68 yards rushing for the day, he was the top ground-gainer for the losing White team.

In High School: Became the first player to be named first-team all-state in New Jersey twice...chosen the state Player-of-the-Year in 1990...led his high school to the state championship in 1990...a SuperPrep All-American...that publication rated him as the nation's 14th-best quarterback and the 27th-best overall prospect in the Northeast...SuperPrep called him "perhaps the purest option quarterback to come out of New Jersey in 10 years"...Street & Smith's Honorable Mention All-American...as a senior, completed 167 of 314 passes (53.2 percent) for 1,997 yards and 15 TDs with only nine interceptions...he also rushed for 971 yards and 11 TDs as a senior...completed 144 of 278 passes for 2,900 yards and 29 touchdowns, and ran for 495 yards and 10 TDs as a junior...the 2,900 yards and 29 touchdowns set the New Jersey record...led his high school to the Central New Jersey Group Three state title that season...earned seven letters as a prepster, including three each in football and track and one in basketball...attended Franklin Township High School where he was coached by Joe Stinson...majoring in special education...born 7-22-72.

"It's just something he's got in him, that ability to come in and spark the offense and get us moving."

Clemson's All-Time Receiving Leader Terry Smith

1994 Clemson Football

In the Strength Training Room: At 5-10, 168, he is the smallest quarterback on the Clemson squad, but he boasts the highest power ratio (strength based on bodyweight) ever for a Tiger QB, his mark is 7.76...that mark has improved each year he has been at Clemson...posts an all-time best at his position in chin-ups, he can do 37 reps, his 97 sit-ups per minute mark also leads all Clemson QBs...the speediest among the '94 quarterbacks, he has clocked in at 4.56 in the 40-yard dash.

Player Interviews

Marvin Cross, DE

Was it difficult to switch from OLB to defensive end?

"When I came to Clemson on my official visit, Ashley Sheppard [now with Minnesota Vikings] was my host and he told me all about the outside linebackers at Clemson - how they rotated on their own and how successful they were. He told me that I would have a chance to play. And of course, I thought I was too small to play defensive line in college, because I was only 215 pounds at my visit.

"I've just been sitting back for the longest time waiting to play. I might have lost some playing time at defensive line because I spent a year at outside linebacker. But playing different positions has helped me learn the game of football better. The two positions depend on each other because each one has to know who has contain and who has which rush lanes; who will stay inside or outside; who is coming and who is dropping. I think it gives me an advantage and helps me with the team defense concept.

"I really didn't have the speed I needed to be an outside linebacker, because sometimes they have to drop back. But my speed is better than average for a defensive lineman, so instead of a negative, it's a positive. Coach (Les) Herrin told me that I had the potential to get big because I already had the height. Now I weigh more like 250 and I just feel more comfortable playing on the line. But I did learn a lot by playing outside linebacker with Sheppard and (Wayne) Simmons."

Where do you need to improve?

"Coach Herrin has told me that I am too nice, so I am trying to get tougher. I am a nice person to meet off the field and on the field, I think of it as just business. But I guess I haven't been mean enough on the field, so this season I am going to start really hitting some people hard. My high school was known for being physically tough, but we didn't put the points up. I've learned that you have to be tough, but you don't win ball games without knowing the game."

How is the team's attitude heading into this year?

"There is a whole new mentality on this team now. We are more physical, more hard-nosed, more rugged. Coach West has definitely brought in that element, and we got tougher in spring practice, which was one of our goals. But Coach West stresses the mental part too. They drill us in warmups on technique, we go over assignments constantly in meetings. You have to be able to put it all together. On defense, you can't just have the mental part, you MUST be aggressive. But, sometimes you can make up for a lack of physical ability in a certain area by your knowledge of the game. The two go hand in hand."

What are your plans for the future?

"My concentration area is corporate finance. I want to work in a large corporation, then one day own business. My uncle taught me how to paint. If I ever make it to the NFL, I want to enlarge his painting company. In general, I want to start out with a large corporation, then be an entrepreneur."

Brian Dawkins, SS

What do you think about the possibility of a college playoff?

"The ACC is already exciting as it is, but it would be more challenging to teams to add a playoff system. It would be nice to have a definitive number-one at the end of the season. It would also be nice to know that if you had one bad game towards the end of the season, you still had a chance in the playoffs like they do in basketball. I think it would make winning that much more exciting. There would be more enthusiasm because the team that won would definitely have the bragging rights. You wouldn't have a couple of teams claiming they were number-one."

What do you think about paying athletes?

"So many players come from disadvantaged homes, so it would be nice to base it on need. But, that would create jealousy, where do you draw the line. Some people would still want to break the rules. Some people would try to give more money to some players. I think that if they are going to do it, they would have a set amount for each player."

How will the Defensive backs be improved over 1993?

"Last year's experience of growing up together will bring us closer together this year. Last year we were aggressive but we should be a tougher secondary because we know each other's abilities. We were not keying on technique as much last year because we were so young. We should have a greater impact on the defense.

"We also have depth and that is good because we all know we have to battle to keep our positions. There are no starters in the secondary right now and I think that competition is good."

Who has been the most inspirational person in your life.

"My parents and my fiancée have always been supportive. My brother Ralph (running back at Louisville) really looks out for me. If it was not for him I would not be playing football. He has helped me in many ways. When I was in high school he would call me from college and he would tell me all about it. So I felt somewhat prepared for life as a college football player. After games he tells me what I should have done and what I did well. I can take that kind of criticism.

"Ralph blazed a path for me. Coming up in high school and college, I was known as 'little Ralph'. He took the pressure off me. We are very competitive, even when we go for off-season runs or play one-on-one basketball. He really brought out the competitor in me. He is there (a success) and that is where I am trying to get."

What are your personal goals for this year?

"I don't set anything specific, I just want to go out and do everything better than I did last year. Last year I was second-team All-ACC, this year I want to be first-team All-ACC. I also want to increase my passes broken up and interceptions and have fewer missed tackles. I also want to improve my flexibility, that is my weakest area as far as strength and conditioning are concerned."

Warren Forney, DT

How hard was last year?

"I was injured the first game and they had to perform surgery. It was real hard on me. The year before I had a good year and I wanted to come back and improve on that. The last year has been tough, I had to suck it up and try to push myself in rehab. My injury was a major set back in my career, but I can not feel sorry for myself. I just have to keep pushing myself. I've gotten back now to where I can run and do things that I haven't been able to do for the last five months and I feel that I have been blessed. I feel things are coming along well, but I still have much work."

What is your pregame preparation?

"I just sit back and listen to some music, usually R&B. I just try to relax. I might joke around with some of my fellow defensive linemen. Then I say a prayer and get ready to run down the hill."

What are your personal goals?

"I have NFL aspirations but, those have been put into context since my injury. I also look forward to other things. I do have some career goals, I have thought about going into grad school. Coming from a small town I had a goal of playing at a major college and I did that. Now I am preparing for the next chapter, and graduate school is an option if football does not work. I would like to work with people in some field."

Were you surprised to win the Sullivan Award?

"The Sullivan Award is a Presidential award for service to your community. I was shocked. I just treat people the way that I like to be treated. I have always had a lot of high expectations for myself, and through God I have been allowed to be as successful as I have been."

"You receive that award for being a good citizen, working with kids is what helped me get the award. If I make a difference in one kid, all the time is worth it. I just want to get the kids away from a bad situation, that gives me satisfaction."

What are your goals this year?

"My goals are to keep God first in my life. I would then like to be an important part of the team, be a leader on and off the field. I want to keep things going, create a winning atmosphere. I don't want to be the weak link on the field."

What has been your involvement with the Clemson Speaker's Bureau?

"We have a program that was started last year by David Tripp (former Tiger baseball player). The bureau is mainly about working with kids. Since I've been here I have always spoken to kids. Sometimes classmates would ask me to speak to somebody or someone might stop me after a game."

"That's been a wonderful experience for me because when I was a kid people would stop and give me advice. I never expect anything in return for what I do except that kids will take it to heart and try to be successful. My biggest goal is to try to create an attitude within the kids that will promote a goal to be the best they can be. I try to teach them not to be afraid of failing."

Dexter McCleon, DB

What do you think of a playoff system in college football?

"I am not in favor of a playoff system. It would eliminate postseason play for many teams, because I think the number of bowls would decrease. The season is also so long now, by the time the playoffs would be over a team would really be beaten up. It would not be that difficult academically because you don't miss any days of school with the extra games, but your body takes a beating. If they could work out a system to have the bowl games along with the playoffs that would be good."

What has been the most exciting moment in your Clemson career?

"Starting and winning the game against South Carolina was my biggest moment at Clemson. It was just like another game for me the week leading up to it. For me playing quarterback did not add more pressure because I played there a lot the week before, but when the game was going I just can't put into words the feelings. It was a very big win for us, beating them at their place. Even though I am from Mississippi, you get caught up in the rivalry."

What does it mean to be a multi-sport player?

"It is an honor to be able to help a school in more than one sport. When given the opportunity to help out like that I just do the best I can. Playing two sports does put pressure on me academically and physically. You don't have much time to rest, but you just have to make the adjustments and be prepared."

"I think my baseball is hurt more, because I play football first, then go to baseball. I often sit and wish that I could play baseball in the summer and the fall because it takes more time to get the feel back in baseball. It is easier to jump back into football."

What is it like playing defensive back and quarterback?

"I always played quarterback in high school so I am more comfortable there. But, I am happy to play wherever the coaches want me to play, wherever it helps the team the most. I never played defensive back in high school besides a little in 10th grade so I had to really study the position last year. God just gave me the strength and ability to play more than one sport and several positions. It comes naturally, but I still have to work very hard to improve."

Who is your favorite player in professional football?

"Deion Sanders is my favorite because he plays two sports and I like the way he plays. I enjoy watching him. Some see him as cocky, but each player has his own style, they do what they need to get themselves going. Whatever style it is does not matter if you get the job done. I wonder how he can do it because I know how hard it is for me at this level."

Are your parents a big factor in your success?

"My parents have always given me the opportunity to be the best I can. They have been very supportive and have pushed me to succeed. They come to as many games as possible and call when they can and that has been important throughout my athletic career."

Wardell Rouse, OLB

How tough of an adjustment was it to go from junior college to Division I?

"For me, moving from junior college to Division I wasn't much of an adjustment. As long as a player can comprehend what he learns in practice and use it in the games, it is easy to make tackles. I still just went on the field every Saturday and did my best, and what transpired, transpired.

"I knew that I was ready to play Division I football when I left high school. I originally signed with Alabama State, but I felt I was selling myself short. I thought that going to junior college would give me a second chance to get to my goal: to play Division I football. There are a lot of guys playing in junior college who could play Division I and go pro. If you have the talent and ability to play the game, no matter where you are, they will find you.

"I think I improved a lot in junior college. When I went there, I wasn't playing linebacker, I was a safety. They had one guy who was the number-one linebacker in the nation that year, but I was determined to play linebacker because that was what I was born and raised to be. One day in practice, I asked the coach to give me a shot at inside linebacker. From then on, I was starting."

What is your defensive philosophy?

"My philosophy is that whenever that ball is snapped, I don't care who has it, I'm going after them. I hate to dive at someone, I want to go right through the numbers, to the chest. If I have to grab or dive, I will, but I prefer to go for the chest, and hit them straight on."

What is more important for a linebacker, size or heart?

"I came in to Clemson at 205 and now I weigh 230. My body has adapted to it. I have always tried to gain weight because I always thought I was too small. I wanted to be big. They say the size of your body doesn't make up for the size of your heart. I always had the desire and heart to play linebacker and the size finally came along. Now I think I have the total package. Now I feel complete."

What are your feelings about being ranked as the eighth best outside linebacker in the nation by Sporting News?

"I don't get into that stuff. Some athletes get all tied up in how they are ranked and how people look at them and they forget to play the game. I'm thankful that people think that highly of me, but since I'm not ranked the best, I've got to keep improving. When I finally get there, I'll still have to keep improving so no one can pass me."

Emory Smith, FB

What is it like being the brother of the Super Bowl MVP?

"I love it actually. I like to hear about my brother. We are real close, every chance he gets he calls me. When I go home, we sit down and talk and play video games. Emmitt and I will play against my brother Eric and my brother-in-law. We kick their butts. I never play against him. It's like a team thing. We never thought of playing against each other."

"When I was coming up in high school, I got tired of people calling me Emmitt Smith's brother. One reason I came to Clemson was to establish my own name. It makes me work harder. Hopefully one day somebody will know him as Emory Smith's brother.

"I'm not jealous because when he gets attention, he normally brings me up too. He brings up the whole family.

How about the rest of your family?

"We are an athletic family. My brother Eric went to Troy State, but his first year he broke his shoulder and wasn't able to get back right. He came back home and went to Pensacola Junior College and he is now trying to go to Florida State.

"I take constructive criticism from Emmitt and if he gives me advice about anything, I'll take it. He's proven himself and I'm still out to prove myself.

"I don't have the moves Emmitt has. He got all the moves in the family. I have power. He has power too, though. I guess he has it all. I just have a little bit of power and try to run over folks.

Wardell Rouse

Eric is a flanker. He's smaller than Emmitt and me, about 5-9, 185."

Was your freshman year trying at times?

"I am trying to get in best shape I can get in. Emmitt told me one time last year that my gut's gotta go. I got complacent in the middle of the season last year and then they moved Chris Franklin over. I learned my lesson to always work hard. I was happy with the way the season ended, especially in the Virginia game (over 100 yards rushing) and the Peach Bowl (MVP)."

Going to the Super Bowl?

"After going to the last two Super Bowls, I have decided that my goal is to play in a big game like that. I was on the sidelines in the Cowboys' first game in Pasadena and in the lockerroom after the game. I didn't play in that game, but it was such a great feeling. I can't describe it. All that hard work in the preseason, the summer, the spring, in college, and in high school, all paid off for Emmitt. I want to play in that type of game. We are going to do that before I leave Clemson."

What are your impressions of the coaching staff?

"I am really excited about playing under Coach West. He's a great motivator. If he sees me slacking off, he'll get on me and that is what I need to keep me striving to be the best. The whole coaching staff is like that. The quarterback coach doesn't just look at the quarterbacks, all the coaches are watching the whole team. If one coach sees you slacking down, it doesn't matter if it's a defensive or offensive coach, he'll get on you. That is the way it should be."

Louis Solomon, QB

What do you think of a playoff system in college football?

"I think it is a good idea because it would give more teams a chance to win the national championship and eliminate any questions of who is number-one. They could pick the top eight teams and let them play each other to decide who is number-one. It would be a lot more challenging for the players and add a lot of pressure.

"The added games would also wear players down. You would have to work hard on conditioning because with a longer season your body would really feel the effects. The playoffs also would add a little more hope for teams. If they lost one or two games early they still would have a chance to compete for the national championship."

What do you think of the ACC going to a mega-conference?

"Going to a big conference could be great, but it depends on what kind of schools you bring in. If they are good schools the better competition only helps. The better the teams are that you play the better you become. But in the ACC we already have a very difficult conference and it would be difficult to win the conference if they added more quality opponents."

What was your biggest thrill at Clemson?

"The Virginia game in 1992 is my highlight. I remember the excitement the players had when we started coming back. That game solidified my confidence to be able to play at this level. It is one thing that I will always remember during my time at Clemson, because that game will go down in history as the greatest comeback."

Who is your favorite player?

"Joe Montana is my favorite player. He has such great poise in the pocket and makes very good decisions. I see him being a lot like me. He is a smaller player like I am. He also has athletic ability, but not the strongest arm."

How hard is to be on call as a quarterback?

"I know that I have to always be ready. Someone may get hurt or they may ask me to run a special play so I have to be ready. It wears you down mentally because you do not know what to expect and you can not always prepare for a game because you are not sure what you are going to be called on to do."

What changes have taken place in your personality since you came to Clemson?

"My self-confidence has really improved. I have a lot of confidence in my ability on the field. I feel that I can go out there and make things happen. I feel that now I can go out and get the job done and lead the team. The support of my teammates is the main reason I am more confident. I have seen they have confidence in me and that has helped me. If they can trust my ability then I should too."

Darnell Stephens, OLB

What do you think of a football playoff system for college?

"I think it would be a good idea because it would give a team that may have not done that well during the regular season a chance to prove themselves. They might have a good enough record to compete in the playoffs and have a chance to win the national championship even though they did not win all of their regular season games. There would also be no debate over the national champion."

"For the players there is a lot of pressure on us now, so I think adding a playoff system would make it more fun for us because you could afford to lose one game. Playing more games would just add some excitement for me."

How do you feel about the ACC becoming a mega conference?

"I think that would be a good idea because it would bring more people in to watch ACC Sports and would also bring in more competition. Having two brackets and a playoff game would make it more challenging for us. I think that added excitement would be good for players and fans."

What is your biggest thrill at Clemson?

"My punt return against Maryland in 1991 is still my biggest thrill. I was a wide-eyed freshman. I did not really know what I was doing. I just caught the ball and ran 89 yards. That will always stick in my head. It was unbelievable, I still don't believe that I did it. I ran back a few in high school, but those were because of blocking. I had some excellent blocks in that return against Maryland, but I also did a little wobbling through people. I kind of enjoyed it."

Who is your favorite player?

"Bruce Smith goes all-out, playing hard every play. It does not matter what the stakes are, who they are playing, he gives 100 percent. I also respect him for being vocal off the field, talking about things that he thinks are wrong. Just watching him play makes me want to play like that. The way he has handled losing the Super Bowls shows his character, he could have given up. But he never gives up."

How tough was it to change from strong safety to OLB last year?

"It was a transition year for me. I did not play the way I should have. I did not feel comfortable out there at all. I just put in my time. But now I feel very comfortable and I am excited to play."

"It is a complement to me that the coaches have enough faith in me to put a strong safety at outside linebacker, someone my size in at outside linebacker's position. I feel that I have the ability to play anywhere, I am adaptable. Last year I did not have the time to adjust, but I feel very comfortable there now and I think I will have a good year. I did progress during last year and towards the end I was doing a lot better so I think that will carry over to this year."

What are your impressions of this coaching staff?

"I think that coach West has put together an excellent coaching staff that enjoys the game of football and enjoys coaching the game of football. They like to see there players excel."

"Coach Ellis Johnson (OLBs) exemplifies that. He fought his cancer and still comes out and coaches with that fire and enthusiasm, and teaches us so we are the best we can be. I admired that in him. He told us that there may be times when he would be weak, but you could never tell because he always gives his all. Being that kind of person really makes me want to go to bat for him, perform for him giving all I've got."

"The type of coaches we have here makes the players want to go out and play for them. With the knowledge and enthusiasm that they have we can really have a good year. They put the excitement into the game for me. It is not a job, it is fun."

Nelson Welch, PK

How is married life?

"I have more to look forward to in the years to come. The times that I get to see my wife are no longer just on weekends, but every day. Coming home every day to a person that I enjoy being with is great. She is always asking how my day was, how did workouts go, did you kick well. I think that will help me."

"She has been helping me with my kicking over the summer shagging down balls. Her being involved in what I do takes pressure off of me. I don't think that my life has change dramatically, I am just more comfortable with her there all of the time."

"She is in a situation right now where she is working an 8-5 job. She has to go from here to Greenville and back every day. When she gets home she does not feel like cooking, so I am doing the cooking until she gets settled in. I know what she is going through because that is what I feel like after practice. We just work with each other as far as domestic things. It works both ways."

What was it like having a TV mom?

"I did not realize the impact of her status (Nancy Welch show on Ch. 7 in Spartanburg) until fifth or sixth grade. At that time the other kids realized who she was. They gave me a hard time.

"When we were at a mall people would come up to her and ask for an autograph and she would stop and talk with them. When I was in high school I realized what she was going through when people would ask me for autographs. It has helped me in college football. I learned that you have to keep your nose clean or else you will be in the paper, and you have to be nice to people. Mom always told me that someone is always watching you and they know what you do."

What do you think of a playoff system in college?

"If there was any way to have a short playoff, I think it would be good. The big schools that have very tough schedules take a great amount of pounding and could be worn out by the start of the playoffs. Four games would be ideal, like the high school playoffs setup in South Carolina.

"With a playoff system you have to look at cost, revenues, class work etc. Basketball and baseball have it tough playing a lot of games over a long time during the semester. That requires a lot of focus on your studies while also focusing on your sport. If they extended the football season I think it would be tough to stay focused, but at least most of the games would be in between semesters.

"I think that it will be difficult to change the system because players and coaches have really enjoyed the bowl games. People have looked forward to playing a bowl and it is entertaining. I think that a playoff system may leave too many teams out. In a way it is nice to have 18 or 19 winners at the end of the season."

What is the pressure like for you?

"As a kicker it is hard to say what you go through. You're all up tight knowing that you should have made the ones you missed. But I have taken a lot of pressure off myself. I realized last year that there will be times when you go into a slump but you have to work through it.

"I want to be in the position to win it. I would rather have me miss a kick to lose the game than have one of our wideouts drop a pass. I would rather have all the pressure on me, I guess that is the way senior leadership should be.

Is it hard for a kicker to be a team leader?

"At most schools it is hard for a kicker to be a leader because you are set aside and are not really part of the team. I feel that I am not just a kicker, that I am a pretty good athlete and I understand what all the players are going through. I did everything but play quarterback on the field in high school and at Clemson I have run the ball, gone out for a pass, made tackles and even recovered a fumble, so I can relate better than most kickers. I know what is going on, what they are going through. I can also help off the field make sure that people get along with each other, that we are a team."

Will Young, OG

Is your hearing disorder a serious problem to overcome on the field?

"It does not effect me on the field at all. I hear well enough. I don't have a problem on the field because everyone is yelling so it is easy to hear. I have never had a problem with it in football. The only time it becomes a problem is in class. In French class sometimes I don't understand what is going on.

"On the field I know the terminology so it is not a problem. It is like wearing glasses, if you don't wear your glasses you get a headache because you have to strain your eyes. If I don't wear my hearing aid I get a headache."

Nelson Welch shares a laugh with Clemson legend Frank Howard. Howard's television show used to be taped at WSPA TV in Spartanburg, the same station where Welch's mother worked for many years.

What are your goals for this year?

"I want to better myself 10-fold. Last year we won nine games, but I found it to be disappointing in some areas as far as my play goes. I probably played a year earlier than I should have, I will be more mature this year. I plan on coming back as more of a leader and as a better player. As far as the team goes we are playing for a national championship."

What is it like to run down the hill?

"Running down the hill is unbelievable. It is a lot better then you think it could be as a fan in the stands. It is the biggest rush that you can get. You see all of those people screaming, it gives you goose bumps. The first time I ran down the hill it was incredible, I never anticipated it to be that exciting.

"When you sit in the stands (which he has done because Will is from Clemson) it looks good, but you don't think that it could pump you up as much as it does."

Who do you look-up-to?

"Stacy Seegars is a guy I have looked up to. Ever since I have been here he has been the man. He was perfect in practice and that carried over to the game. He could do everything, pass block, run block, you name it he was great.

"As far as a team is concerned, it would be the Chicago Bears. I like their style of play. They ground it out, run it in tight. They like to run block and I like to hit someone. That's why I came to Clemson because we do the same things here."

What is it like being from this area and playing at Clemson?

"It has not sunk in yet that I play for Clemson. My room at school has some things up that I had up when I was a kid. During the game I just play but after the game I just think, wow, I just played for Clemson. I remember when I was a kid how I would run onto the field to get autographs from the Perry brothers. Now kids are coming up to me for an autograph. I try to stay out on the field and sign as much as I can. I was them 10 years ago.

"Another thing about being from here is that everyone knows me and what I do. When I had a holding penalty in the Peach Bowl everyone knew, even my preacher talked about it. It is a little pressure but nothing I regret or let bother me."

Radio Network

The Clemson radio network is regarded as one of the most innovative networks in the country and keeps Clemson fans informed from 10:00 AM to 6:00 PM on gamedays with a tailgate show, pregame show and scoreboard show. The day's programming features the voice of the Tigers, Hall of Famer Jim Phillips, who celebrated his silver anniversary with the Tigers in 1992.

The man synonymous with Clemson athletics since the late 1960s, Phillips is one of the reasons for the network's popularity. Phillips is one of the most respected play-by-play men in the nation. The native of Youngstown, OH has described 301 Clemson football games and 753 Clemson basketball games in his career. He is now the dean of all broadcasters in the ACC. The sports director for WFBC radio in Greenville, SC provides commentary on Clemson football, basketball and baseball.

Phillips has received numerous awards during his career. Five times he has been chosen South Carolina Sportscaster-of-the-Year. In 1992 he was honored with The Master's Award, the highest honor awarded by the South Carolina Broadcaster's Association. The Master's Award is a lifetime achievement award and had been presented just twice previously in its six-year history. In addition to his radio career, Phillips also served as sports director for WFBC-TV between 1968 and 1980.

The former voice of the Greenville Braves (AA, Southern League) was inducted into the Clemson Athletic Hall of Fame in 1992, his 25th year as voice of the Tigers. In addition to his accuracy and flair in broadcasting, Phillips's induction was also a result of his dedication, reliability and consistency. In many ways, he is the iron man of broadcasting.

In 1982 Phillips saw his streak of consecutive basketball broadcasts snapped at an incredible 386. The streak was not snapped because of injury, however, it was stopped because he could not be in two places at the same time. The Clemson basketball team was in Alaska at the Great Alaskan Shootout and the Clemson football team was in Japan participating in the Mirage Bowl against Wake Forest trying to clinch an ACC championship. Phillips opted for the trip to the Orient and his basketball streak went by the boards. He has never missed the broadcast of a regular season football game (1968-present).

Mike Eppley is another Clemson Hall of Famer on the broadcast team for Tiger football. Eppley joined the radio network six years ago as the color analyst. The native of Charlotte, NC is Clemson's number-three ranked passer in terms of efficiency rating and he guided Clemson to 21 victories as the starting quarterback between 1982 and 1984. He is also the career record holder for TD passes with 28.

Eppley, who earned his MBA from the Clemson/Furman program, deals with strategic aspects of the game. Also a color analyst for many high school all-star games in North and South Carolina, Eppley is a heating and air conditioning vice president in Charlotte, NC.

One of the most popular aspects of the Clemson network is the Tiger Tailgate show, a program that gets Clemson fans ready for the action beginning three hours prior to kickoff. The show, features interviews with players and coaches, a look at college football and the University in general, other sports at Clemson and highlights special activities taking place the day of the game. The program is heard home and away on many of the Clemson network stations.

Dr. Harold Vigodsky will serve as statistician for the sixth straight year, while Sack

Hall of Famer, Banks McFadden

Banks McFadden was an All-American in football and basketball in 1939.

Usually when one gets out of the spotlight, his accomplishments soon fade and gather dust in some far off corner in the basement or attic.

But not Banks McFadden.

Now 76 and living in retirement in Clemson, Banks looks back with many fond memories and Clemson fans remember him as probably the greatest natural athlete ever to play for the Tigers.

Although he brought great pride to Clemson with his athletic ability, and later with his coaching, McFadden says, "working with the athletes and working for the people whom we had here at Clemson...it's been a tremendous life. It's something I'll never regret and I couldn't have asked for things to be better."

For some of you in the 'Pepsi Generation' who might not have read your Clemson athletic history too well, let us do a little refreshing on the one called "Bonnie Banks."

- * Was named All-American in both basketball (1938-39) and football (1939) the same calendar year.
- * Was voted the nation's most versatile athlete (1938-39)
- * Led Clemson to its first conference basketball championship (1939)
- * Led Clemson to its first bowl game and victory (1940 Cotton)
- * Won three events in State Track Meet in one afternoon, setting records in all three of them. Earlier in the same year placed first in five events in a dual meet, scoring 25 points while the opposing team's total score was 28 points.
- * Was Clemson's first No. one round draft choice (1939 Brooklyn Dodgers)
- * Has the second longest punt in Clemson history (75 yards vs. Army, 1937)
- * Tied for the longest rushing play in Clemson history (90 yards vs. Presbyterian, 1939)
- * Has the most punts for over 50 yards in a game (six vs. Tulane, 1939) and in a season (22 on 65 punts in 1939)

That's 15 of his more noteworthy accomplishments, and it wouldn't take too long to dig out twice that many more. But those listed should be enough for the average sports buff to be impressed.

Banks played one year (1940) of pro football with the old Brooklyn Dodgers and led the NFL in yards per carry, but he didn't care at all for the big city life. Grass felt better under his feet than pavement so he returned 'home' and joined the coaching staff of Coach Frank Howard.

Banks coached the defensive backs for one year (1941) before joining the Army Air Corps and spending four years in North Africa and Italy. He was discharged as a colonel. He recalls that "after the war, everything began to blossom out", as far as college football was concerned.

One thing that 'blossomed out' was his marriage to "Aggie" Rigsby of Manning. As it appears sometimes with former athletes, former backs produce girls and he and "Aggie" had four of them—Patsy, Lil, Marcia and Jan. And the grand kids—there are nine of them—five boys and four girls. The McFaddens celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary this past June 13th.

McFadden came back to Clemson after his service and was again the secondary coach, this time for four years (1946-49), and then took over as head freshman football coach for five years before returning to coach defensive backs in 1955, a spot he held until Howard retired following the '69 season.

Besides his football coaching years, McFadden also put in a stint as varsity track coach, freshman basketball coach and was for 10 years the varsity basketball coach. Then after Howard resigned as football coach in 1969, McFadden took over the university's intramural department, which he directed for 15 years.

Asked if he had any favorites, McFadden said: "Fred Cone was a very steady player. But I'm not so sure that Joel Wells wasn't the best all around football player that I had the opportunity to work with as a varsity coach. He was one of the best defensive players we had and a mighty fine offensive player. For somebody who could go both ways, Wells stood out.

"When I was in high school, colleges could do almost anything they wanted to as far as recruiting went," McFadden remembers. "Schools didn't have much (scholarship) money to give away, but they did go out and look at people and try to talk them into coming (to Clemson), paying their own way (or what is called a walk-on today.) But there wasn't very much recruiting until '35 or '36. But I believe there were 25 or 30 on my freshman team (1936) who were getting aid." (Note: The Clemson IPTAY Club was founded in 1934).

The Great Falls native came to Clemson in a 6-3 frame and a skinny 165 pounds. Howard, an assistant coach at the time, said that if McFadden had drank a can of tomato juice, they could have used him as a thermometer.

"I can remember the first time I saw him on the practice field," Howard recalls. "He looked like one of those whooping cranes. I thought sure as the devil that Coach (Jess) Neely had made a mistake giving this boy a scholarship. But he proved me wrong."

Clemson had required military when McFadden was playing, but he believes that was a plus. "We were so much a team then, and that's still there. But now the rules allow two different teams (offense and defense) and it causes so much more work. Our people were so close, as are the alumni of Clemson. Our team was just like the student body was then—a very close-knit bunch of people.

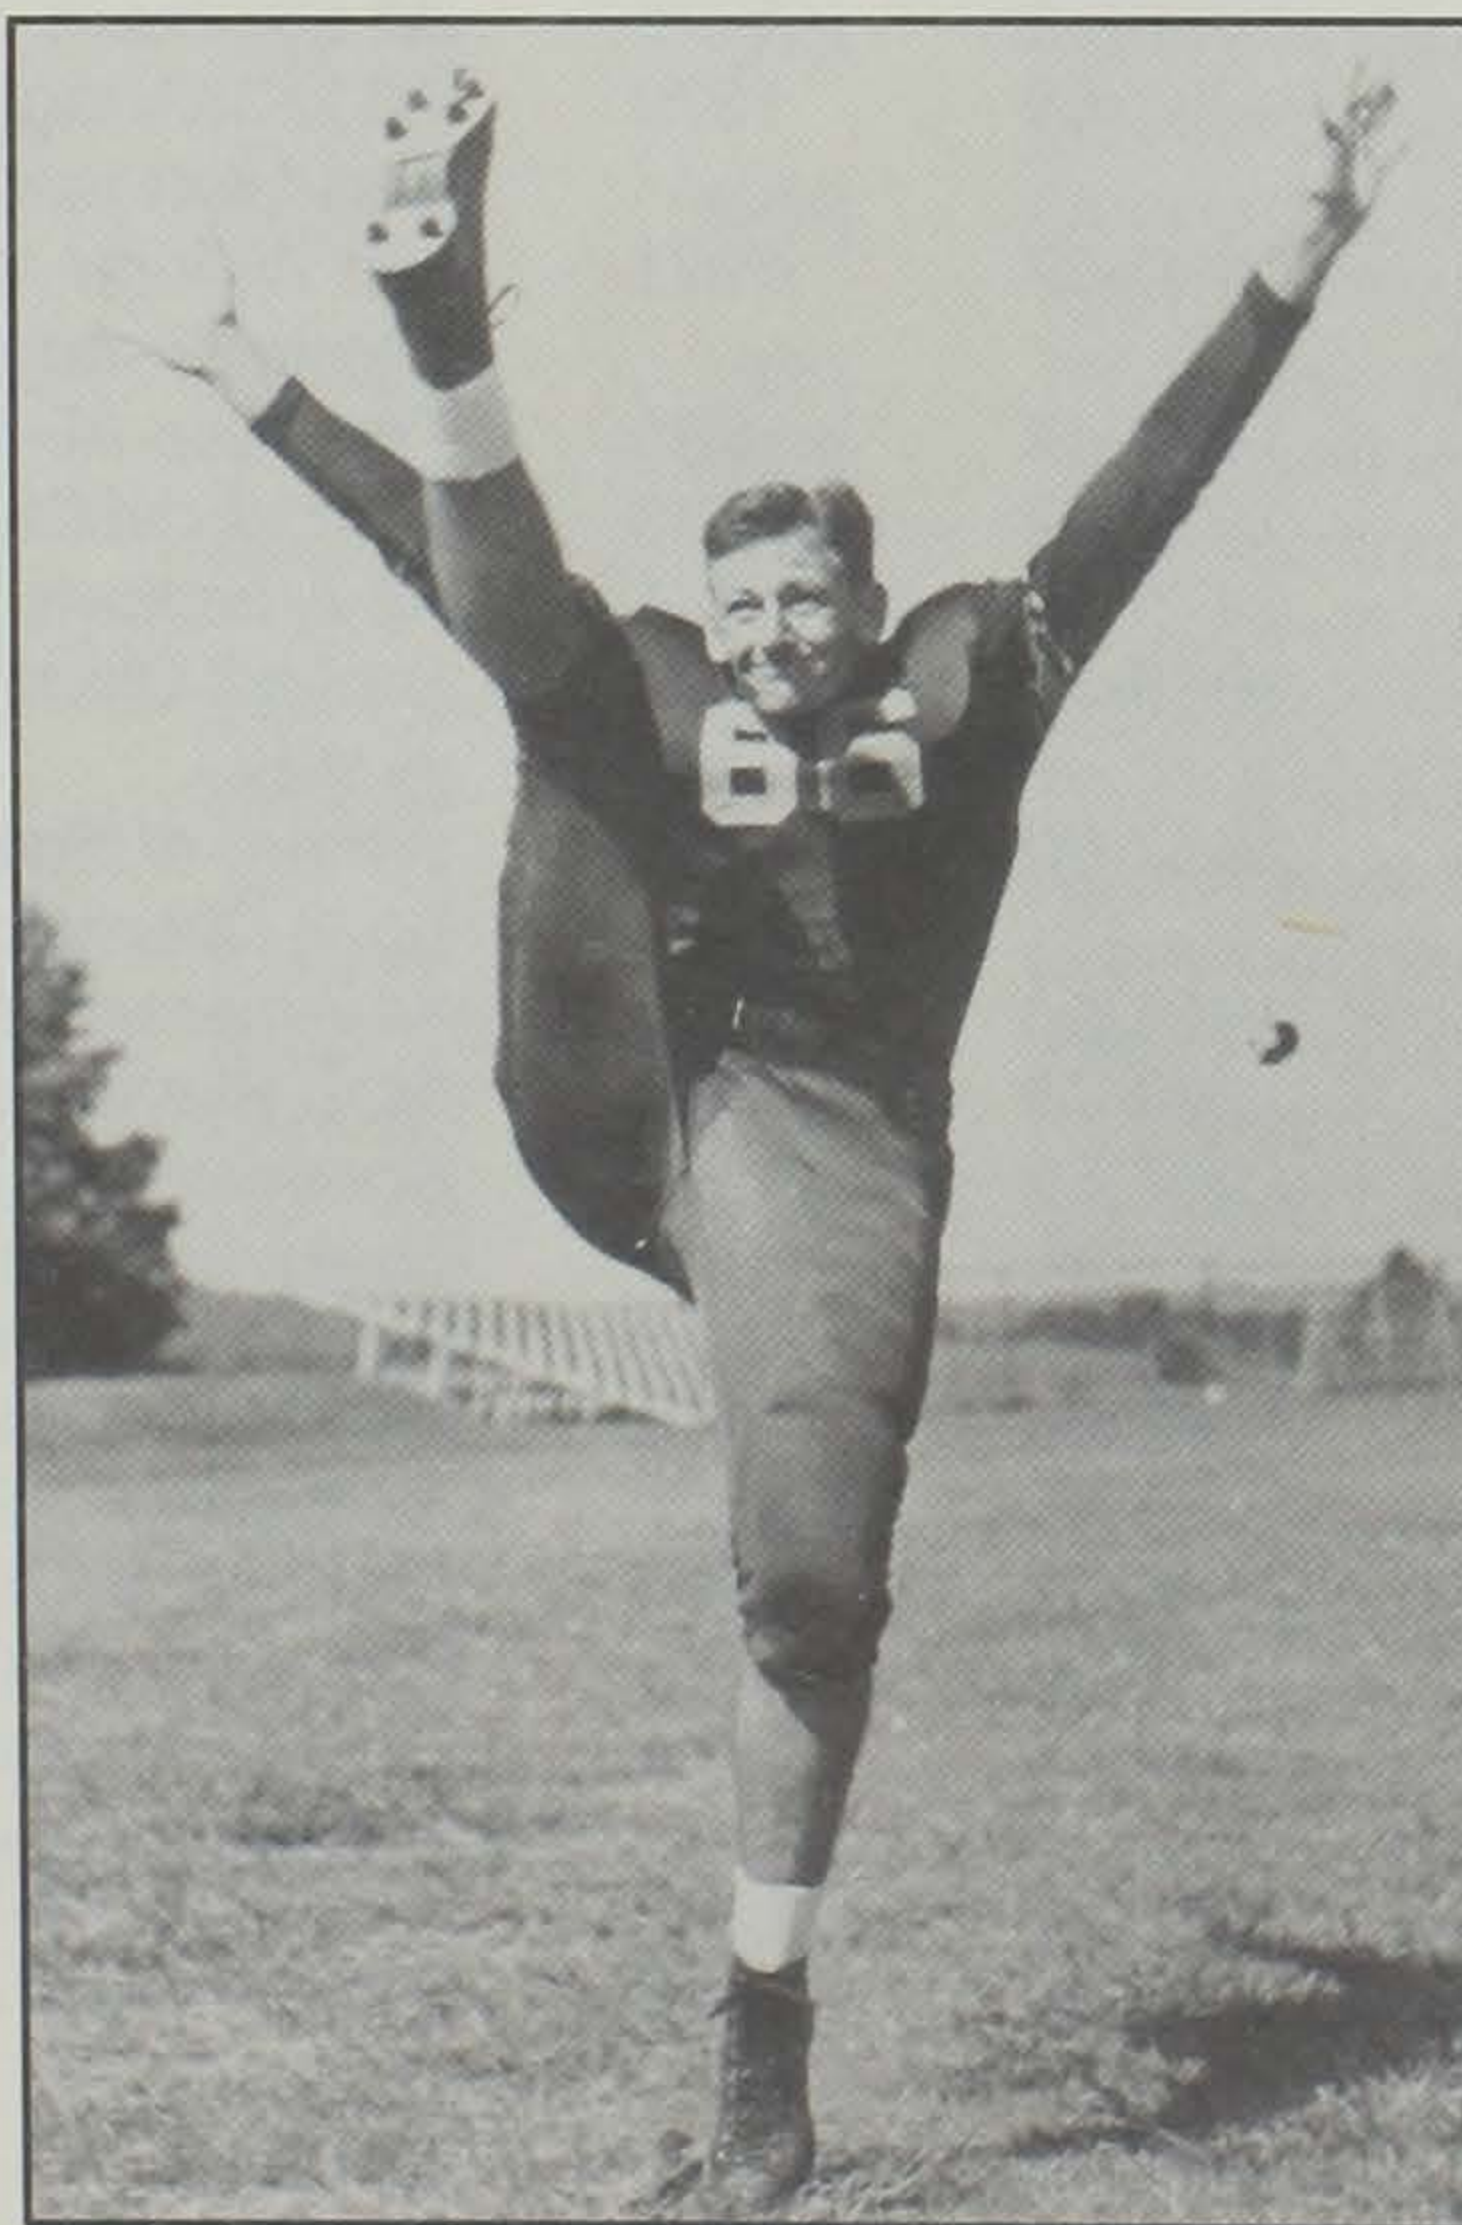

McFadden believes he, "came to Clemson at the right time. I was blessed to have some athletic ability," he recalled. "We had great coaches, had great individuals playing (with me), but we were all playing as a team."

Of all of the honors he received as an athlete, being voted the most valuable player of the 1939 football team was his highest. "To me, when your teammates vote you something," he beams, "then you feel pretty good. That award meant more than anything else (to me)."

This is one athlete where a one-page story in a football guide does not do that person justice...just about enough room for the tip of the iceberg. But if one could use just one word to describe 'Great' (as Howard called him), it would have to be 'competitor,' for he was just that.

And one more thing that the 'Pepsi Generation' can soak in—McFadden is the only Clemson athlete to have both his football jersey and basketball jersey numbers retired.

There hasn't been another like him down the pike.

McFadden led Clemson to its first bowl game and first top 20 season.

Hall of Famer, Jess Neely

Jess Neely coached Clemson to its first bowl game and first Top 20 season.

Perhaps one of Clemson's most beloved coaches was Jess Neely.

Neely influence and inspiration is still present today as the IPTAY Scholarship Club was founded during his coaching tenure. IPTAY is the lifeblood of the Clemson Athletic Department. It provides funds for athletic scholarships and capital improvements.

Thousands of athletes have benefitted through the IPTAY Scholarship fund since its inception in 1934. That first year of IPTAY, Neely and his staff convinced 160 people to pay $10.00 a year to Clemson, for a grand total of $1,600 the first year, (not bad during the middle of the great depression.)

Neely was head coach at Clemson from 1931 through 1939 and spent the next 26 years at Rice University in Houston.

Neely coached Clemson to its first bowl game, the 1940 Cotton Bowl, where the Tigers capped a 9-1-0 season by beating Boston College 6-3. Clemson ended the season ranked 12th in the final Associated Press poll, its first top 20 season in history. Boston College was ranked 11th going into the game and it was Clemson's first win over a top 20 team in its history. The team featured the play of Banks McFadden Clemson's first Associated Press All-American. Clemson had a 43-35-7 record during Neely's tenure.

Neely coached Rice to four Southwest Conference Championships and six bowl appearances, the last being a trip to the Bluebonnet Bowl in 1961.

During 40 years of college coaching he compiled a record of 207-99-14. Neely is eighth in college football history in victories by a Division I-A coach heading into the 1994 season. For his accomplishments, he was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1971.

Neely graduated from Vanderbilt in 1924, after lettering three years in football and serving as captain of the 1922 team. He coached a year of high school football before returning to his alma mater to obtain a law degree. But he never practiced.

He coached four years at Southwestern College in Clarksville, Tenn. and then went to the University of Alabama in 1928. It was there that he met Frank Howard. Neely brought Howard to Clemson as line coach in 1931. Howard replaced him in 1940 and remained as head coach for 30 years. In 1967, Neely returned to his alma mater as athletic director. He officially retired in 1971, but continued to coach golf until 1981, when he moved back to Texas.

Neely is eighth in college football history in total victories.

"If I didn't look in the mirror every day, I wouldn't know how old I am," Neely once said. "Working with the boys makes you feel young, I feel that in athletics the boys learn a sense of loyalty and sacrifice and values they don't learn anywhere else.

"They learn to compete" he said "and that is what life is all about—it's competition.

"If they make good in football, chances are they'll be successful elsewhere. I like to see that those boys make something of themselves. That is my reward.

"The boys go to college to study and get that degree. Playing football is a side activity. When fellows go to a school first to play football they get an entirely wrong sense of values.

"And when you start them off with the wrong sense, it isn't difficult for them to go astray."

"He was a cool, southern gentlemen, but he worked us like dogs. The workouts were always twice as hard as the games," said Dick Maegle. "There were no superstars, no victory that was better than all the other victories. To him football was a team game and we were all team players." Maegle was the player tackled in a famous episode in the 1954 Cotton Bowl, when frustrated Tommy Lewis came off the bench to stop a certain touchdown. Rice won that game, 28-6.

Neely died at the age of 85 in 1983, but his landmark accomplishments in the 1930s at Clemson contributed significantly to Clemson's outstanding football tradition.

Hall of Famer, Frank Howard

Frank Howard coached Clemson to 165 victories in his 30 years as Head Coach.

An era at Clemson University ended June 30, 1974, when Frank Howard officially retired from the payroll. But instead of crawling back in his shell as some do at this stage, Howard sluffed off the retirement bit and still comes to his office regularly in the Jevey Athletic Center answering a pretty good stack of mail which arrives daily, or accepting another speaking engagement, or lining up some advertisers for the Kickoff Publishing Company.

Howard retired from coaching December 10, 1969, after 39 years on the Clemson coaching staff, 30 of which were as head coach. He was also athletic director during this time and he kept this position until February 4, 1971, when he was named assistant to the vice president at the university, the post he held when the mandatory retirement age of 65 rolled around.

Shortly after his retirement the Clemson Board of Trustees named the playing surface of Memorial Stadium as "Frank Howard Field" in honor of his long service to the university. It was only the third time that a building or installation had been named by the trustees for a living person. Over the years, Howard has been inducted into the South Carolina Athletic Hall of Fame and the Clemson Hall of Fame (charter member in both), as well as the Helms Athletic Hall of Fame and the State of Alabama Hall of Fame. On December 5, 1989 he joined an elite group in the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame. The ceremonies took place in the Waldorf-Astoria in New York City. He joined former Clemson mentors John Heisman and Jess Neely in the membership.

Howard was also honored in December, 1981, when he was inducted into the Orange Bowl Hall of Honor, along with former Alabama coach, Paul "Bear" Bryant, and Tommy McDonald, a former Oklahoma star. In the summer of 1990 he was inducted into the Gator Bowl Hall of Fame.

Howard stepped onto the rolling hills of Clemson in 1931 fresh from the varsity football ranks at the University of Alabama where he was a first stringer on Wallace Wade's 1930 team that drubbed Washington State, 24-0, in the 1931 Rose Bowl. Howard was known as the "Little Giant" of the Tide's "Herd of Red Elephants."

The bald veteran came to his first coaching post under Jess Neely as a line tutor. "At least that was my title," Howard recalls. "Actually, I also coached track, was ticket manager, recruited players and had charge of football equipment. In my spare time I cut grass, lined tennis courts and operated the canteen while the regular man was out to lunch." Howard was not only track coach from 1931-39, but served as baseball coach in 1943 and his 12-3 record that year is still among the best percentages for a season in Clemson history.

Howard held the line coaching post until Neely went to Rice University as head coach in 1940. When the Clemson Athletic Council met to name a successor to Neely, Prof. Sam Rhodes, a council member, nominated Howard to be the new head coach. Howard, standing in the back of the room listening to the discussion, said: "I second the nomination." He got the job and never left. Altogether, he served Clemson 43 years.

When he retired as head coach following the 1969 season, he was the nation's dean of coaches, having been a head football coach at a major institution longer than anyone else in the United States. When he retired, he was one of five active coaches with 150 or more victories.

While line coach in 1939, the Tigers' record (8-1) was good enough to merit a trip to Dallas where Clemson met undefeated Boston College under the late Frank Leahy in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. The 1948 mark of 10-0 carried Clemson to the 1949 Gator Bowl and two years later, a 9-0-1 record sent the Tigers to Miami's Orange Bowl (1950). The Country Gentlemen were champions on their first three bowl ventures. Boston College fell, 6-3, Missouri was nipped in the Gator, 24-23 (Howard says this is the best football game he ever witnessed), and Miami felt the Tiger claws, 15-14. The total point spread in these three bowl wins was five points.

The Gator Bowl beckoned the Tigers again in January, 1952, and by being conference champions in 1956, Clemson played in the '57 Orange Bowl classic again. Miami downed Clemson, 14-0 in the second Gator Bowl trip and Colorado led Clemson, 20-0, then trailed 21-20, before finally defeating the Tigers, 27-21, in the second Orange Bowl. The Tigers then played in the 1959 Sugar Bowl and held No. 1-ranked Louisiana State to a standstill before losing, 7-0.

The invitation to play in the first Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston in December, 1959, was the eighth bowl that Howard had been a part of either as a player, assistant coach or head coach. It was the seventh bowl trip for a Clemson team and the sixth in 12 years. Howard says that Clemson's 23-7 triumph over Texas Christian in the Bluebonnet Bowl was the best performance he had ever witnessed by a Clemson team.

The Tigers' victory over TCU was their fourth success in seven post-season appearances. In all seven Clemson was the

Howard served on the coaching staff of the Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, Ala., in 1941, 1952, 1959, and 1966; was on the East staff of the annual East-West Game in San Francisco, CA, in December, 1960, and again in December, 1962; and was named coach of the South squad in Miami's 1961 and 1969 North-South game. He coached in the 1970 Hula Bowl, which was his ninth postseason all-star game. While still in active coaching Howard served as one of the rules committee members for a period of three years.

A single wing expert for 22 seasons (including nine as a line coach), Howard changed to the T-formation and its many variations in 1953. Still another major change in the offense was installed in 1965 with the "I" and pro-type set. In his 13 seasons as head coach using the single wing, Clemson won 69, lost 47 and tied 7. In 12 years of "T" teams, the Tigers won 71, lost 47 and tied 4. While using the "I" in his last five years of coaching, Clemson recorded a 25-24-1 record.

In his 30 years of coaching Howard won 165, lost 118 and tied 12. That victory total is still among the top 40 coaches in the history of the game.

In addition to heading up the Clemson football program, Howard also had the job of directing Clemson's entire athletic program, and at the same time, raising all the required scholarship funds. The athletic department was always on a sound financial footing under the guidance of Howard.

The year 1958 was a red letter one for Howard. During halftime of the Spring Game, Howard, his staff and secretaries were given an appreciation day. Howard received a 1958 car while other staff members were presented gifts. That summer Howard and three members of his staff were given a trip to Europe by the Department of Defense to conduct clinics for the Armed Forces in Germany.

Then came the football season and the Tigers presented Howard an 8-2 season, which led to the Sugar Bowl invitation. One of these 1958 wins was the 100th of Howard's coaching career. That came against the late Jim Tatum of North Carolina, a coach Howard had never beaten. And, the Tigers had to come from behind three times to win, 26-21.

Howard was named Southern Conference Coach-of-the-Year in 1948. In 1959 he was named Atlantic Coast Conference Coach-of-the-Year and was accorded the honor again in 1966. His teams won ACC championships six times (1956-58-59-65-66-67) in the first 15 years of the conference. The Tigers were co-champions in 1965. He guided Clemson to the Southern Conference crown in 1940 and 1948.

Howard was born at Barlow Bend, Ala. (three wagon greasin's from Mobile), March 25, 1909. He spent his early days on the farm playing mostly cow pasture baseball because there were not enough boys around the community for a football team. Howard says he left Barlow Bend walking barefoot on a barbed wire fence with a wildcat under each arm.

He graduated from Murphy High School in Mobile where he played football, baseball and basketball and served as president of both the junior and senior classes.

After finishing at Murphy, Howard entered the University of Alabama on an academic scholarship provided by the Birmingham News in the fall of 1927, and the 185 pounder played reserve guard his sophomore year. During his junior year he started every game but two, as an ankle injury sidelined him for the two games he missed. Again his senior year he was a regular.

Howard was president of the freshman class at Alabama, was member of Blue Key and president of the "A" Club.

After coming to Clemson, he married the former Anna Tribble of Anderson, S.C., August 23, 1933. They are the parents of a daughter Alice (Mrs. Bobby McClure of St. Paul's, N.C.) and a son, Jimmy. The Howards also have three grandchildren.

Jimmy followed in his dad's footsteps as a football player, only at a different position. The son was regular fullback on the local high school (Daniel) team for three years and was a halfback-fullback for three years on the Clemson varsity. Jimmy gained over 1,400 yards his senior year in high school and scored over 100 points. He graduated from Clemson in June, 1964 with honors, and earned his masters degree in horticulture from Clemson in 1967. Today he is district entomologist with the Plant Pest Regulatory Service at Clemson.

For over three decades Howard has been in great demand both as a banquet speaker and a clinic lecturer. Few states have escaped his homespun oratory, which has brought the house down on many occasions.

Since his retirement, Howard has become active in other endeavors. He has served as state chairman of the South Carolina Heart Fund drive, has been roasted several times on behalf of the Multiple Sclerosis Society, and is active in selling the Kickoff Publication out of Knoxville, TN.

Howard still has his hands in football as he serves as the chief recruiter for the Gray squad in the annual Blue-Gray game in Montgomery, AL. The Blue squad recruiter is Don Faurot, who opposed Howard in the 1949 Gator Bowl.

Howard has also been inducted into the Helms Foundation Hall of Fame in San Francisco, CA., is an honorary member of the National Athletic Trainers Association, and is a member of the Hall of Fame of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics. Clemson University has also honored Howard once more with the presentation of the Clemson Medallion, which is the highest public honor bestowed by the university to a living person who exemplifies the dedication and foresight of its founders.

Hall of Famer John Heisman

A name synonymous with not only the early years of Clemson football but the collegiate game is John Heisman.

A stern disciplinarian, he expected his players to be of high character and performance both on the football field and in the classroom.

Heisman coached the Tigers in 1900-1903 and was responsible for putting the Clemson name among the annals of the great early collegiate teams.

Heisman was brought to Clemson by a professor and later University President, Walter Riggs. In the spring of 1894, Riggs was a graduate manager for the Auburn football team, and he was responsible for finding a coach for the 1895 season. Riggs wrote to Carl Williams of Pennsylvania, captain of the 1894 team, asking him to suggest a suitable coach. He replied recommending J.W. Heisman, an ex-Penn player, and his coach at Oberlin a few years earlier.

After several weeks, Riggs finally found Heisman in Texas, where he was engaged in raising tomatoes. Having sunk about all of his capital into the tomato venture, he was glad to go back to his old love of football and he readily went to coach at Auburn for $500.00 a year. Riggs later was hired as a professor at Clemson and he hired Heisman at Clemson in 1900. (Riggs started the Clemson football program in 1896 and was head coach in 1896 and 1899).

Heisman began his coaching career at Oberlin in 1892 and lasted 36 years in the profession. His career included positions at Akron, Auburn, Clemson, Georgia Tech, Penn, Washington and Jefferson, and Rice University. He had an overall career record of 185 wins, 70 losses, and 17 ties.

He invented the hidden ball trick, the handoff, the double lateral, and the "Flea flicker." He pioneered the forward pass, and originated the center snap and the word "hike" (previously the center used to roll the ball on the ground to the quarterback).

Heisman took Clemson to a 19-3-2 record in his four seasons. His .833 winning pct. is still the best in Clemson history. He was also the Clemson baseball coach between 1901-1904.

Clemson was a powerhouse during his tenure and was a most feared opponent. His secret was that he depended on smart, quick players rather than large size and brawn.

William Heisman, a nephew of John Heisman often told a story on how his famous uncle stressed academics.

"I remember a story Coach Heisman used to tell me about this famous football player he confronted in the locker room before a big game. My uncle came busting through the door and went over to this guy and said, You can't play today because you haven't got your grades up to par. The player looked up at my uncle and said, 'Coach, don't you know that the sportswriters call this toe on my right foot the million-dollar toe?' My uncle snapped back right quick and said, "What good is it if you only have a fifteen-cent head?"

Another favorite Heisman story was the speech he used to make before a season began. Heisman would face his recruits holding a football. "What is it?" he would sharply ask. Then he would tell his players "a football was a prolate spheroid, an elongated sphere—in which the outer leather casing is drawn up tightly over a somewhat smaller rubber tubing." Then after a long pause he would say, "better to have died as a small boy than to fumble this football."

Heisman broke down football into these percentages: talent 25%; mentality 20%; aggressiveness 20%; speed 20%; and weight 15%. He considered coaching as being a master-commanding, even dictatorial. He has no time to say 'please' or 'mister', and he must be occasionally severe, arbitrary, and something of a czar."

On November 29, 1900, Clemson defeated Alabama 35-0, which allowed Heisman's team to finish the season undefeated with a 6-0 record. This was Clemson's first undefeated team and was the only team to win all of its games in a season until the 1948 squad went 11-0. The Tigers only allowed two touchdowns the entire 1900 season.

Clemson opened the 1901 season with a 122-0 win over Guilford. The Tigers averaged 30 yards per play and a touchdown every minute and 26 seconds. The first half lasted 20 minutes while the second half lasted only 10 minutes. Legend has it that every man on the Clemson team scored a touchdown in this game.

In his third season, on November 27, 1902, Clemson played in the snow for the first time in a game against Tennessee. The Tigers won the game, 11-0, and claimed the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association crown. (An early conference that had several southern colleges and universities as members).

In his final season in 1903, Clemson defeated Georgia Tech 73-0 on October 17, 1903. Clemson rushed the ball 55 times for 660 yards, while Tech ran the ball 35 times and collected 28 yards. The second half was shortened to 15 minutes.

On November 24, 1903 Clemson's participated in its "First Bowl Game," as Clemson and Cumberland met on this date for the Championship of the South. The contract for the game was drawn up just two weeks before the game was to be played. Cumberland who had earlier defeated Auburn, Alabama, and Vanderbilt was considered to be champion of the southern states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, and Kentucky. While Clemson was considered to be the best team in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. The game was played on a neutral site, Montgomery, AL. Cumberland and Clemson fought to a 11-11 tie. In this game, John Maxwell scored as a result of a 100 yard kickoff return. After the news came back to Clemson that the game ended in a tie, the students and the local townspeople built a bonfire and paraded around the campus.

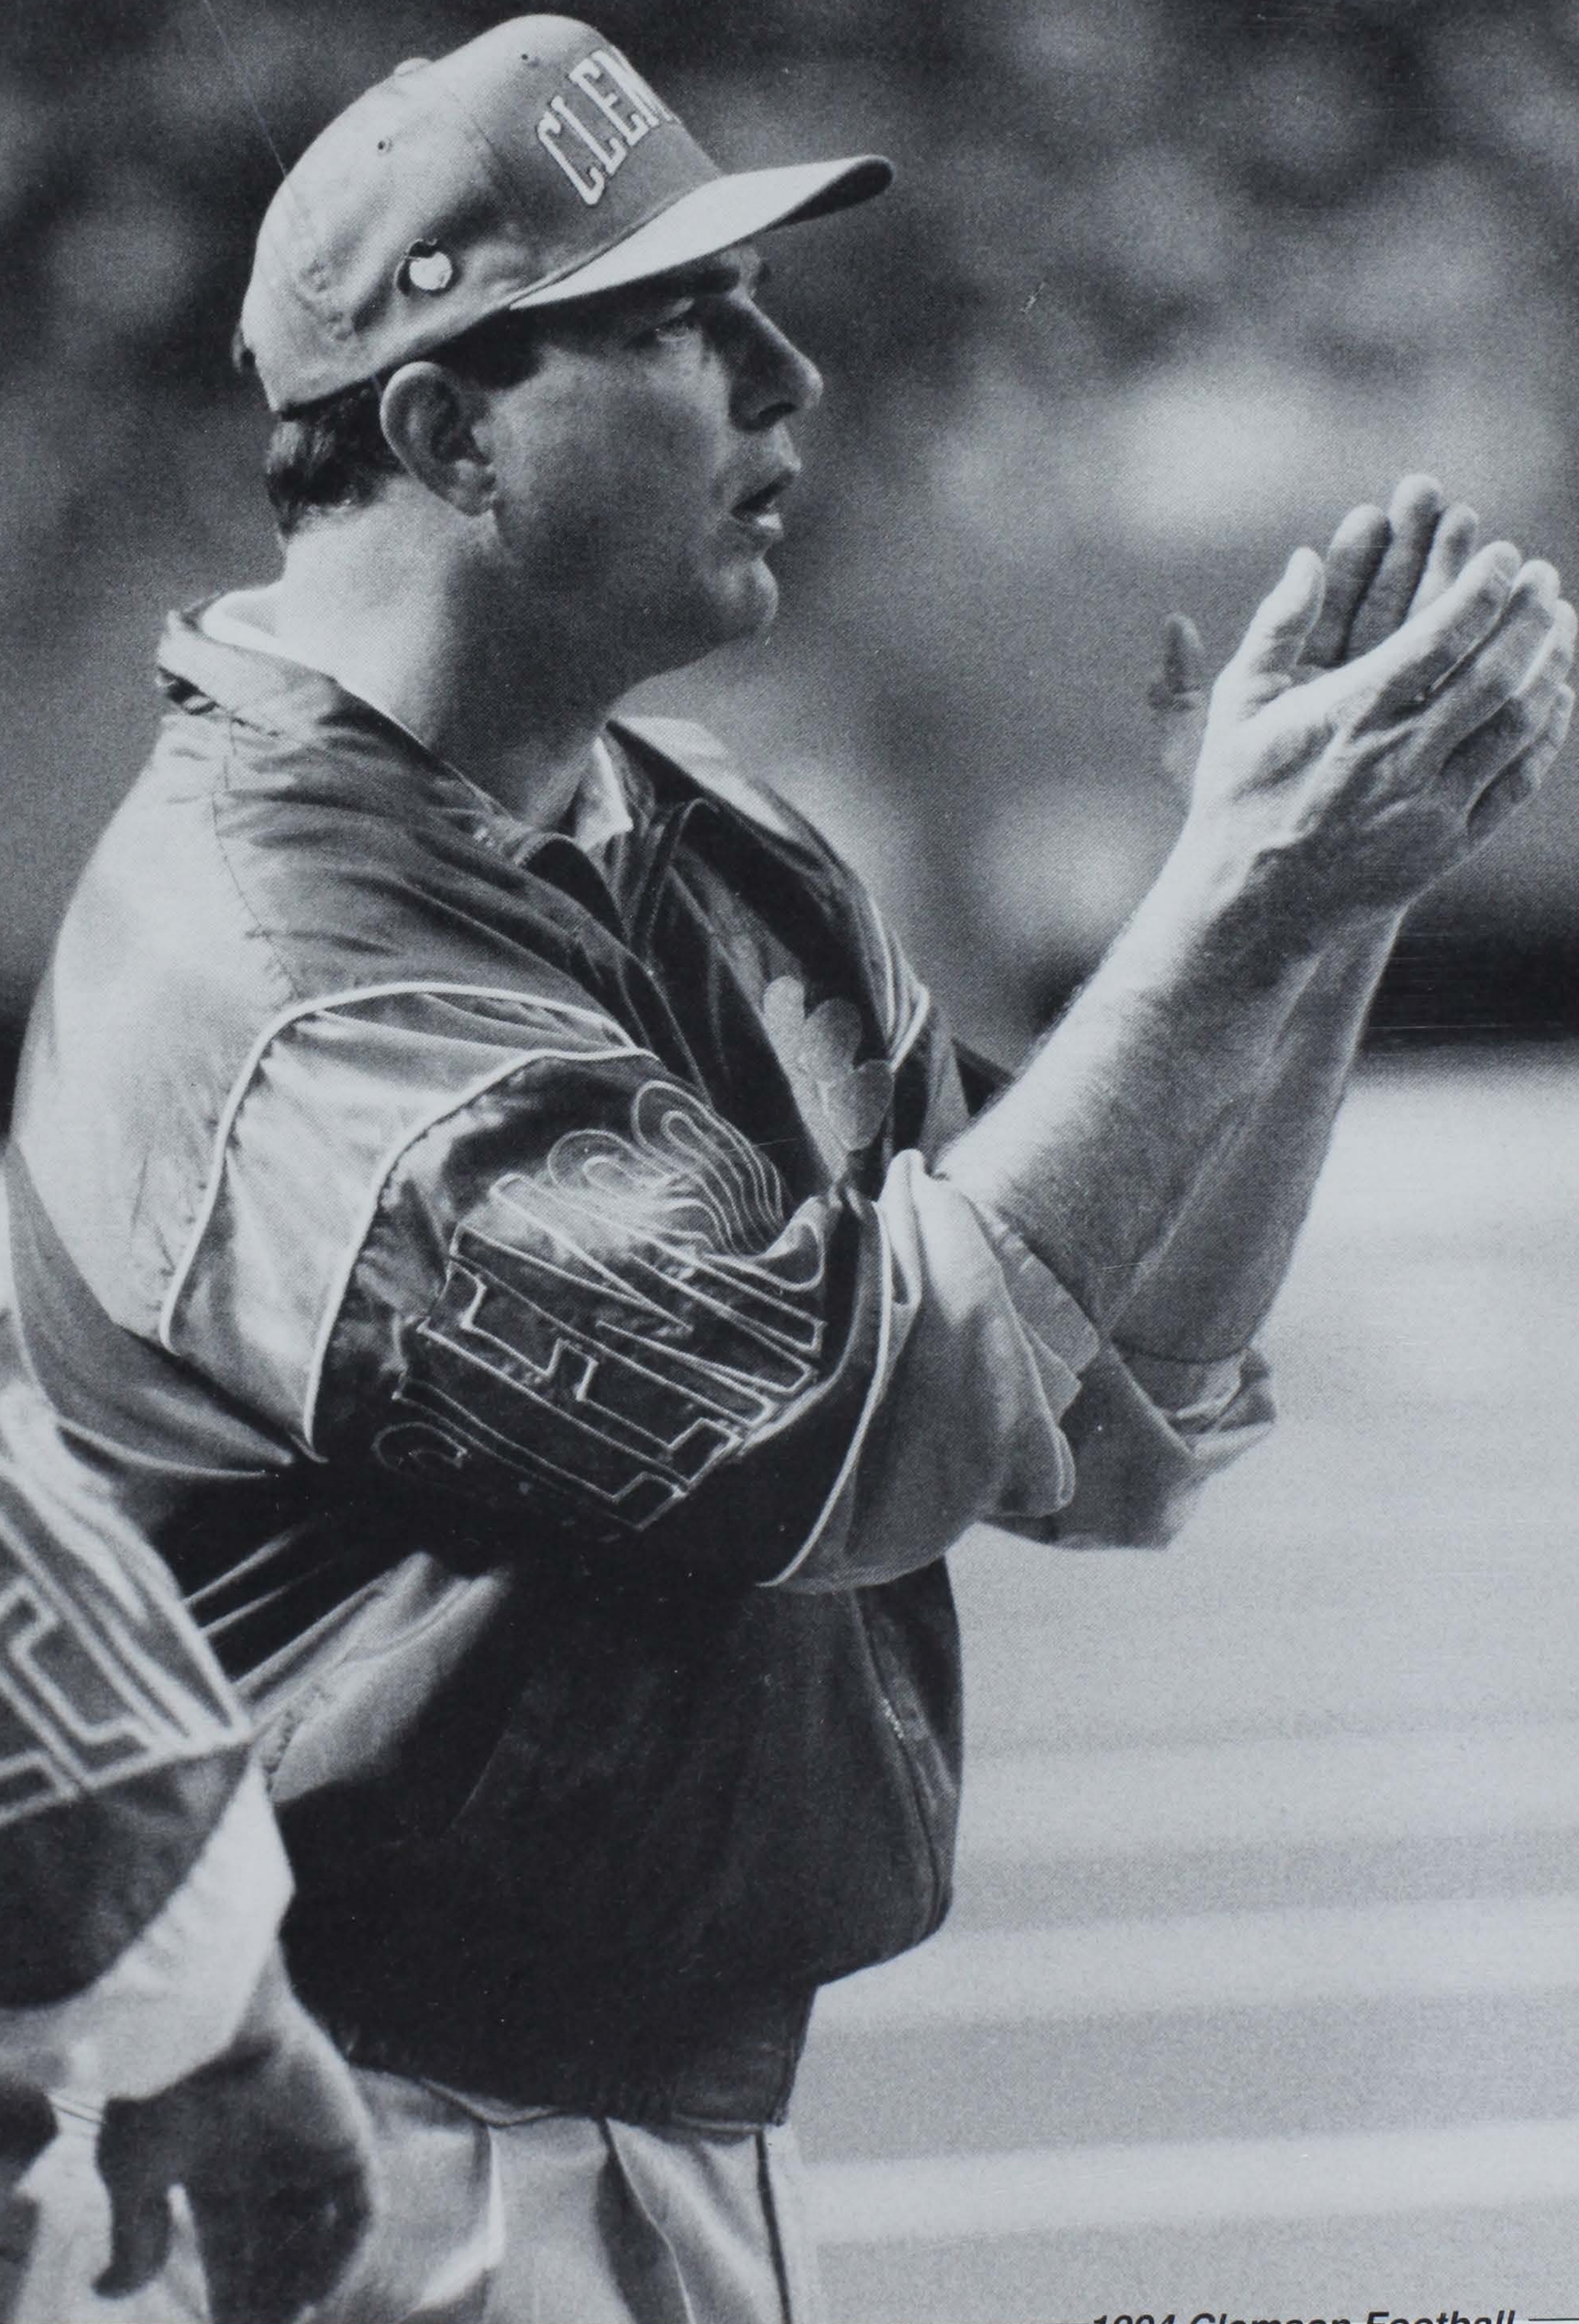

John Heisman's 19-3-2 record is still the best in Clemson history on a percentage basis. The man named after the famous trophy that each year honors the best player in college football, holds the distinction of building the early foundation of Clemson's football tradition.

Hall of Famer John Heisman coached Clemson to its first perfect season.

Did not participate in spring practice.

Warren Forney was a starter at defensive end in 1992 and missed Spring practice recovering from knee surgery.

Andre Humphrey was a starter at cornerback last year but played baseball during the spring.

Dexter McCleon, a starter at quarterback and defensive back last year, also sat out spring practice while competing with the Clemson baseball team.

Time: 3:05 (Including 17 minute delay)

Patrick Sapp completed 10-14 passes for 194 yards and two touchdowns to lead Clemson to a 24-14 season opening victory over UNLV. Sapp registered a 235.0 efficiency rating for the game, the sixth highest figure in Clemson history (given a minimum of 10 attempts). It was the highest rating for a game by a Clemson player since 1983.

Overall, Clemson gained 332 yards in total offense against the Rebels, 209 through the air. It was the first time since 1985 that Clemson had gained at least 60 percent of its yardage through the air, and won the game. As a team, the Tigers were 12-17 for 209 yards, two touchdowns and no interceptions. The 212.7 team passing efficiency was the eighth best in Clemson history.

Clemson won the battle of players named Jason Davis. There were three players in the game with that name, but the Clemson senior wide receiver with that name had the most impact. Davis had four catches for 81 yards, career highs in both areas for the red-shirt senior. He had a 47-yard reception in the first half that led to a Clemson field goal. The reception was made against UNLV strong safety Jason Davis.

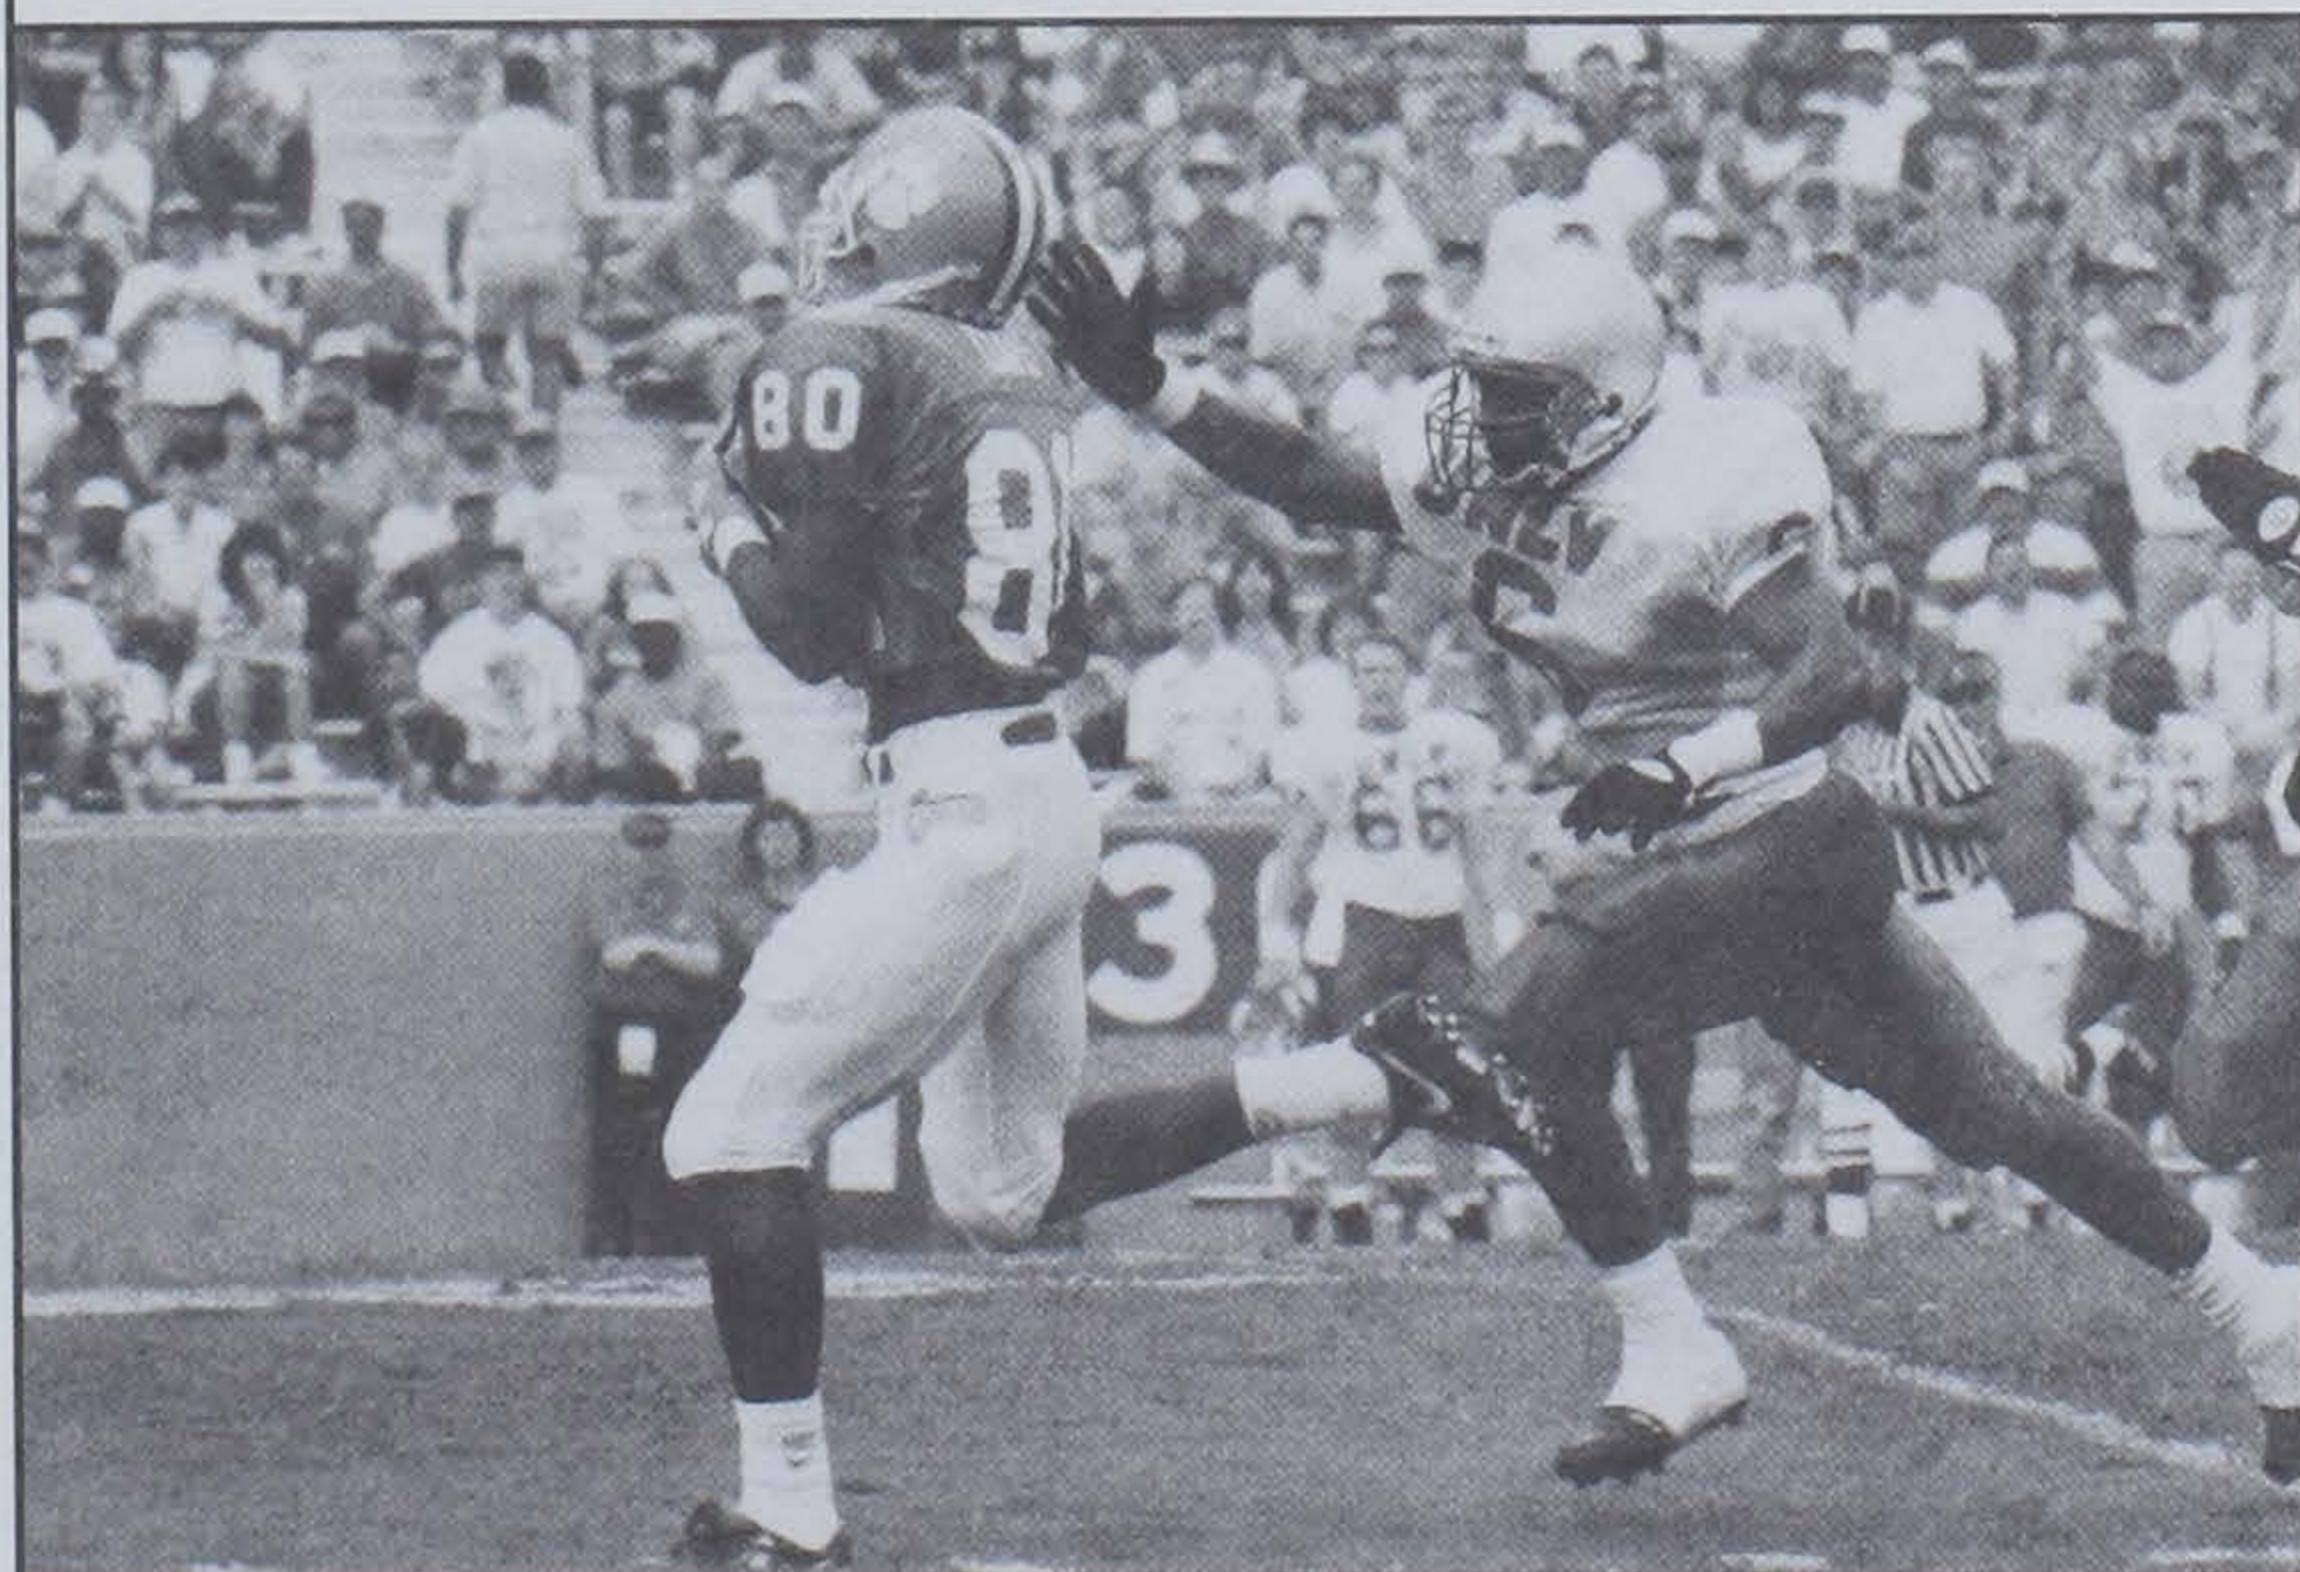

UNLV took a 7-3 lead in the second period when the Rebels drove 53 yards in 10 attempts. But Clemson came back later in the period by driving 69 yards in seven plays. Sapp hit 4-4 passes for 70 yards, a drive that included an 18-yard touchdown pass to Derrick Witherspoon.

The rebels took the lead early in the third period. Andre Humphrey fumbled a punt and UNLV recovered at the Clemson three. Two plays later Branch scored the go-ahead points.

The Tigers came right back on the next possession and drove 62 yards on nine plays. Sapp hit Terry Smith twice on the drive for 39 yards, including the 13-yarder for a touchdown. Humphrey atoned for his earlier fumble in the fourth period. The sophomore defensive back returned a punt 49 yards to the UNLV 30. Two plays later Rodney Blunt scored from four yards out and Clemson had a 24-14 lead.

Clemson's defense held UNLV to 234 yards in total offense and just 12 first downs. Tim Jones led the Tigers in tackles with nine, while strong safety Leomont Evans had eight. Brian Dawkins had five tackles and three pass deflections. Clemson's all sophomore secondary combined for 20 tackles and five pass deflections.

The game was delayed 17 minutes in the fourth period due to lightning. It was the first time a Clemson game had been delayed since 1962.

Jason Davis beat Jason Davis on a pivotal 47-yard pass in the first half.

QB Patrick Sapp posted the sixth-highest single game passing efficiency mark in Clemson history (235.0) in a game delayed 17 minutes due to severe lightning.

1994 Clemson Football

Florida State 57, Clemson 0

At Doak Campbell Stadium

September 11, 1993

Weather: Sunny and 85 degrees

Time: 3:20

Number-one ranked Florida State handed Clemson its second worst defeat in history when Bobby Bowden's team defeated the Tigers, 57-0. It was just the second time that Clemson had faced the number-one ranked team in football, the first time since the 1958 season.

Time and again Florida State made the big plays on defense in the first half, negating a Clemson offense that gained 209 yards, including 188 in the air. The Tigers controlled the clock for over 20 minutes and had five successful third-down conversions in the opening half.

Quarterback Patrick Sapp, a native of Florida, was on a 380-yard passing pace in the first half. He hit Terry Smith six times for 118 yards, but the Tigers just could not put the ball in the endzone. Three times in the first half Clemson drove inside the Florida State 25, but came up empty. All-American Derrick Brooks provided two big plays in the first half. He blocked a punt that resulted in a touchdown, then stopped Rodney Blunt on a third-and-goal with a one-on-one tackle. Later in the game Brooks returned a fumble 83 yards for a score.

Smith ended the game with eight catches for 156 yards, just eight yards away from setting a Clemson single game reception yardage standard. Sapp ended the day 15-30 for 223 yards and was Clemson's top rusher with 23 yards. Derek Burnette was the top tackler with 10 stops, while Brian Dawkins had nine. Brentson Buckner had Clemson's only sack of Charlie Ward.

Warren Forney reinjured his knee in his limited play and was lost for the season. He received a medical red-shirt year. Forney was Clemson's third leading tackler in 1992.

Florida State set numerous Clemson opponent records in its victory. The Seminoles gained 442 passing yards, breaking the record of 418 set by Maryland in 1992. They also had a record six touchdown passes, gained an average of 8.7 yards per play and had 634 yards of total offense, all Clemson opponent records.

Clemson had three turnovers to just two for Florida State, the only game in the regular season in which Clemson committed more turnovers than the opposition. The loss continued Clemson's problems in the second game of the season. The Tigers have won 75 percent of their games since 1978, but have just a 7-8-1 record in the second game of the year during this 16-year span.

Terry Smith gained 156 yards in receptions at Florida State, third-best receiving yardage total in Clemson history.

Patrick Sapp passed for 188 yards against the National Champion Seminoles in the opening half.

1994 Clemson Football

Clemson 16, Georgia Tech 13

At Clemson Memorial Stadium

September 25, 1993

Weather: Cloudy and 72 degrees

Time: 2:51

The Tigers scored on two two-point conversions in the win over Georgia Tech, the first time a Clemson team had done that since 1962.

Clemson made the most of two touchdowns, scoring the maximum 16 points in registering a 16-13 victory over Georgia Tech. The victory was perhaps the key to Clemson's eight-win regular season. The Tigers had two weeks to think about the 57-0 loss at Florida State, but took the time to concentrate on Georgia Tech, instead of dwelling on the past.

Georgia Tech took a 10-0 lead in the first 17 minutes and were driving for another score when Terrence Dixon recovered a Jimmy Lincoln fumble. Ken Hatfield then inserted Louis Solomon, the sophomore who was the master of the comeback in 1992. Solomon led the Tigers to a touchdown on his first possession in the game. He hit Terry Smith with a 36-yard touchdown pass on a third-and-12 play. Travis Harvey bobbled the snap on the extra point, but then ran in for the two-point conversion.

Georgia Tech then scored on a 65-yard drive in 11 plays that culminated with a 32-yard field goal by Jarrett. The Yellow Jackets held a 13-8 lead at halftime.

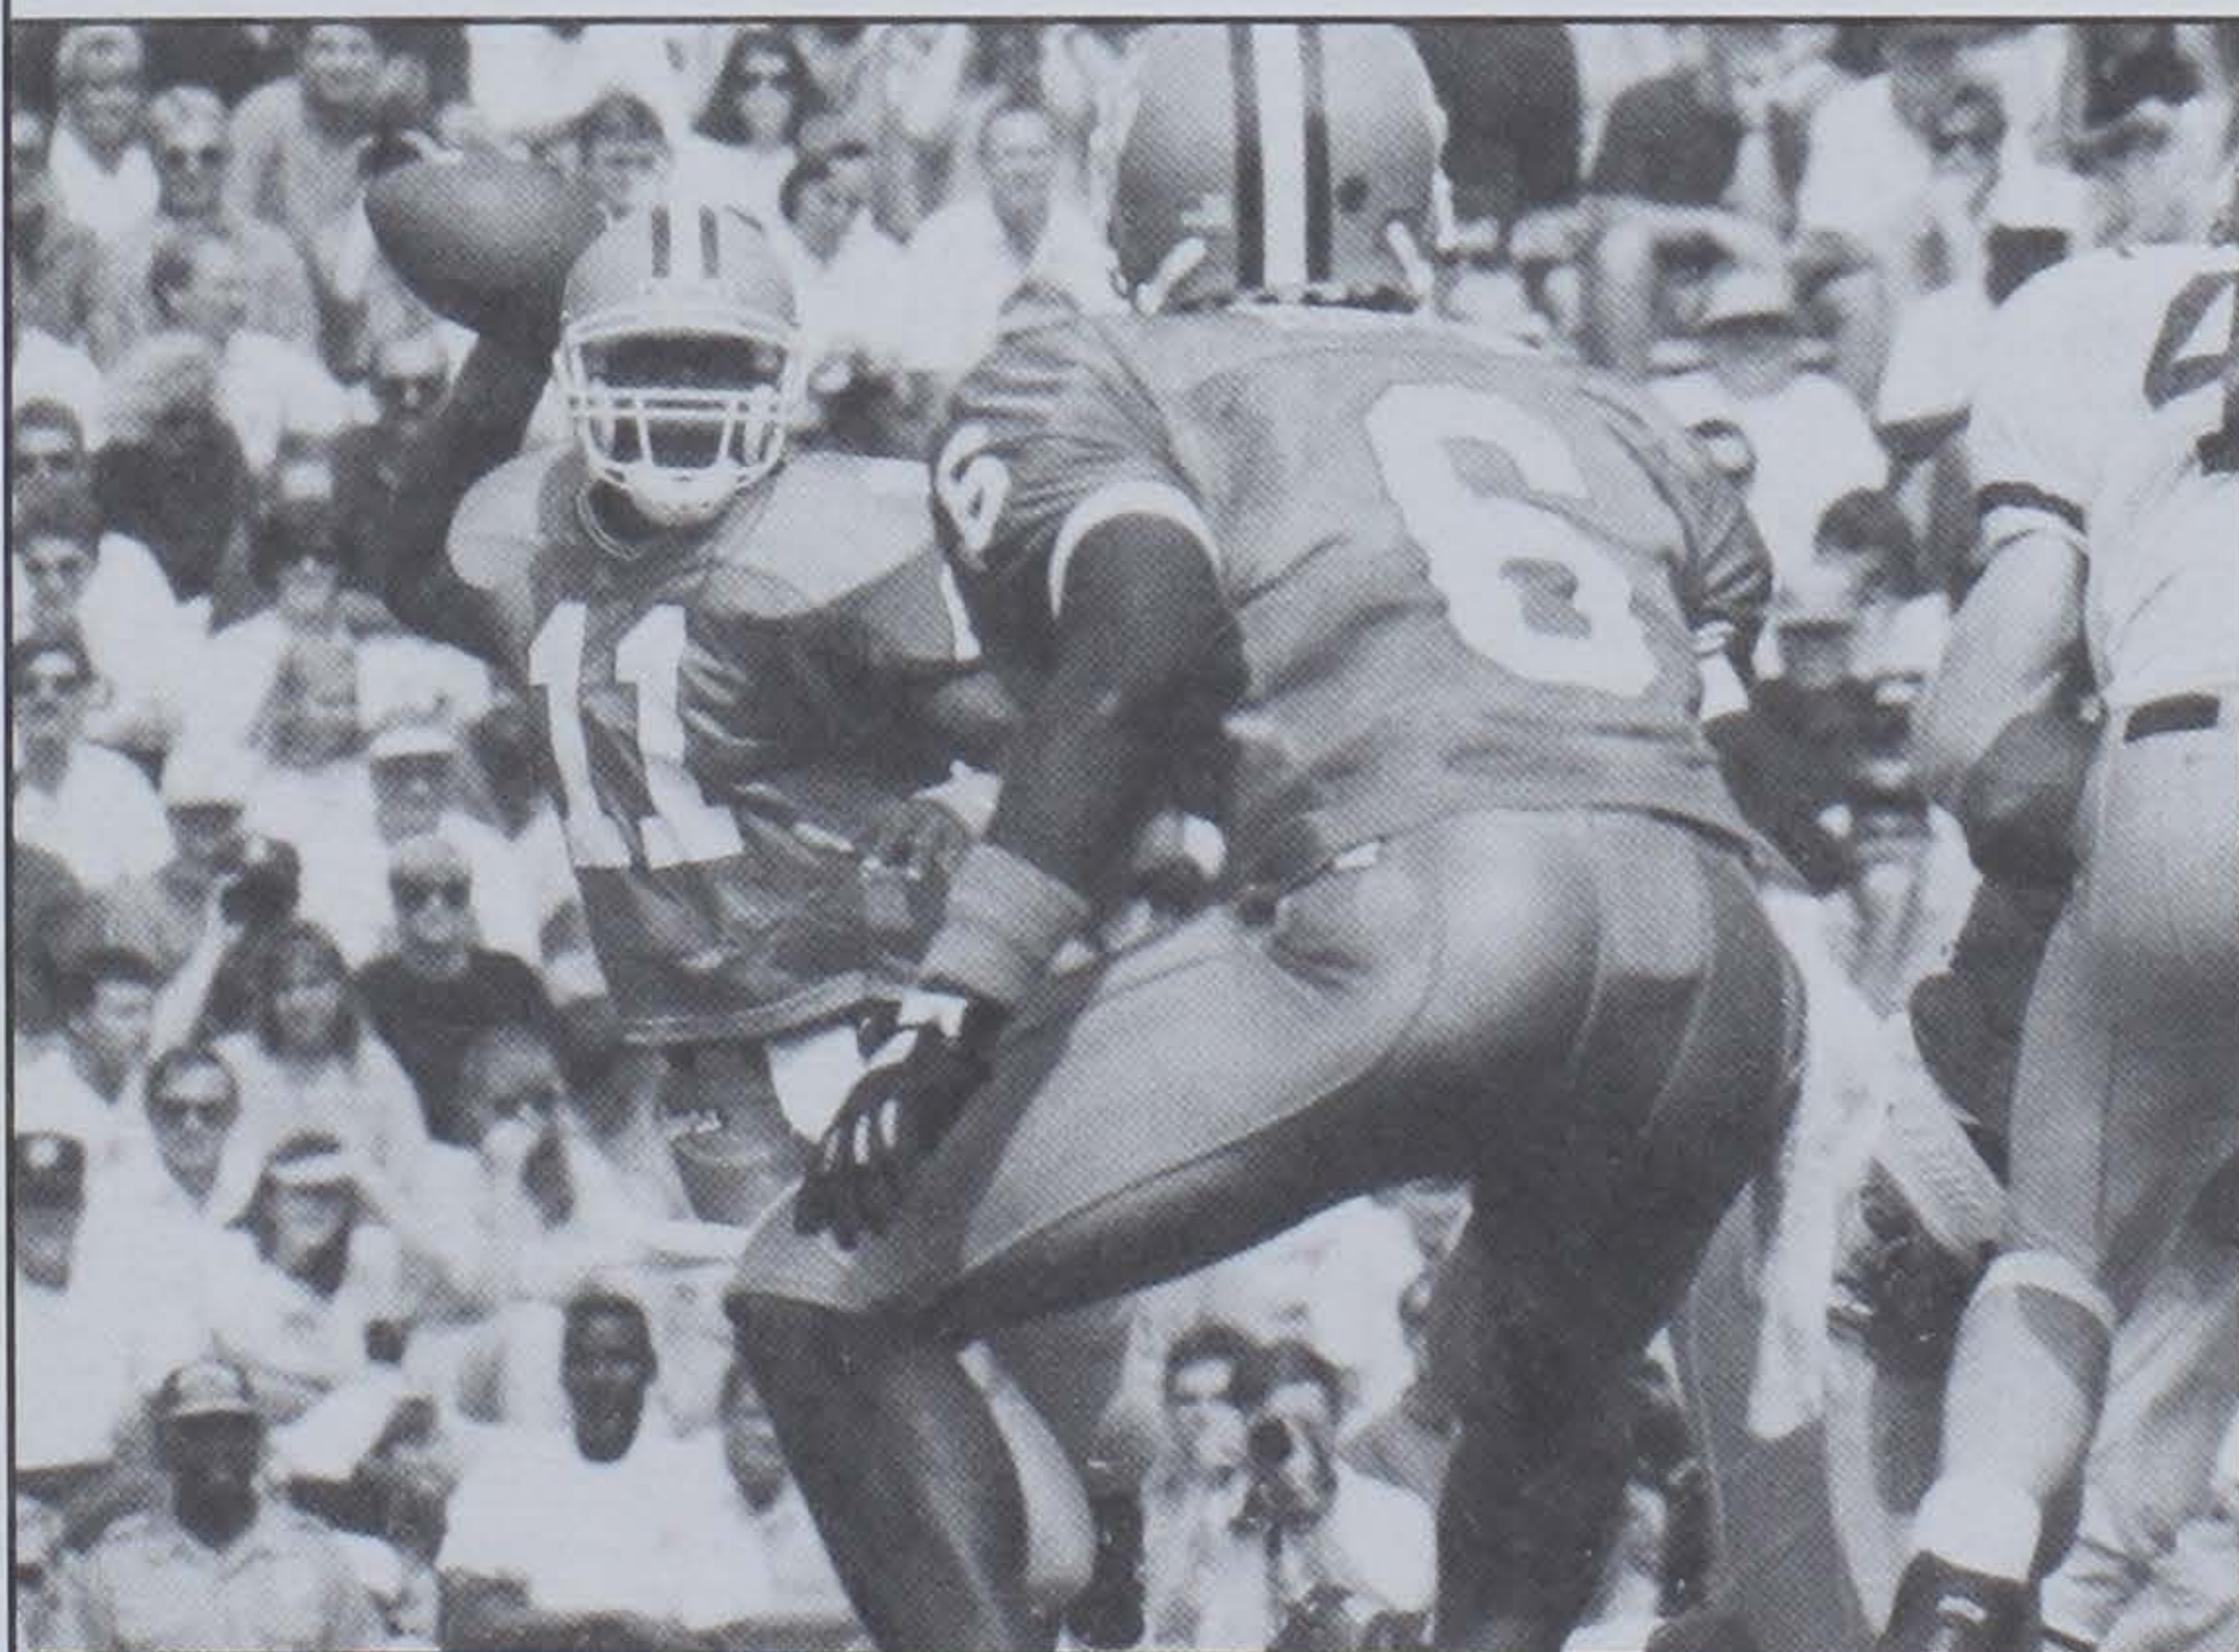

Clemson took the lead early in the third period and Brentson Buckner provided the big play. On a third-and-17 play, Buckner recorded his first interception as a Tiger and returned it to the Georgia Tech 35. Solomon then led the Tigers 35 yards in seven plays for the score. Milt Shaw scored from one yard out with 10:24 to go in the period. Solomon then scored the two-point conversion on an option play to give the Tigers a 16-13 lead.

From there it was a game of defense and field position. Georgia Tech drove into Clemson territory just once in the last two periods. They arrived at the Clemson 24, with 3:01 left, but Jarrett's 41-yard field goal was wide right.

Clemson's defense allowed just one touchdown in the victory. Bill Lewis's team gained just 72 yards in total offense in the second half, and most importantly, did not score. Derek Burnette had 11 tackles, including two for loss, while Andre Humphrey had nine. Buckner had seven tackles, a tackle for loss and the interception.

Clemson's ability to score a pair of two-point conversions was a key to the victory. It was the first time since November 10, 1962 that Clemson has scored at least two two-point plays in a game. In the 1962 44-3 win over Furman the Tigers made four two-point plays. The Tigers were 2-2 on two-point conversions against Georgia Tech. They had made just 35 percent of their two-point conversions over the last 22 years going into the game.

Derrick Witherspoon was the top rusher with 111 yards in 20 attempts, the second 100-yard game of Witherspoon's career. He gained 88 of those yards in the second half. Robert Jackson, a 340-pound tackle, provided many key blocks and graded 79 percent with seven knockdowns.

Solomon led Clemson to 16 points on two touchdown drives.

At Clemson Memorial Stadium

October 2, 1993

Weather: Sunny and 66 degrees

Time: 3:06

Clemson won its second straight game by a touchdown or less and upped its record to 3-1 with a 20-14 win over N.C. State. The Tigers jumped out to a 20-0 lead after three periods in its most impressive performance to date. The Pack was held to 127 yards in total offense for the first three periods and did not penetrate the Clemson 45. But State scored 14 points in the fourth quarter, then drove to the Clemson 12 with just seconds left. Tim Jones broke up each of the Wolfpack's last two pass attempts in the vicinity of the endzone over the last 12 seconds and Clemson had the six-point win.

Jones led the Tigers defensively with 11 stops, an interception and three pass deflections. "That was Tim Jones's greatest all-around performance at Clemson," said Ken Hatfield after the game. Wardell Rouse had eight tackles, while Brentson Buckner had seven, including two behind the line of scrimmage.

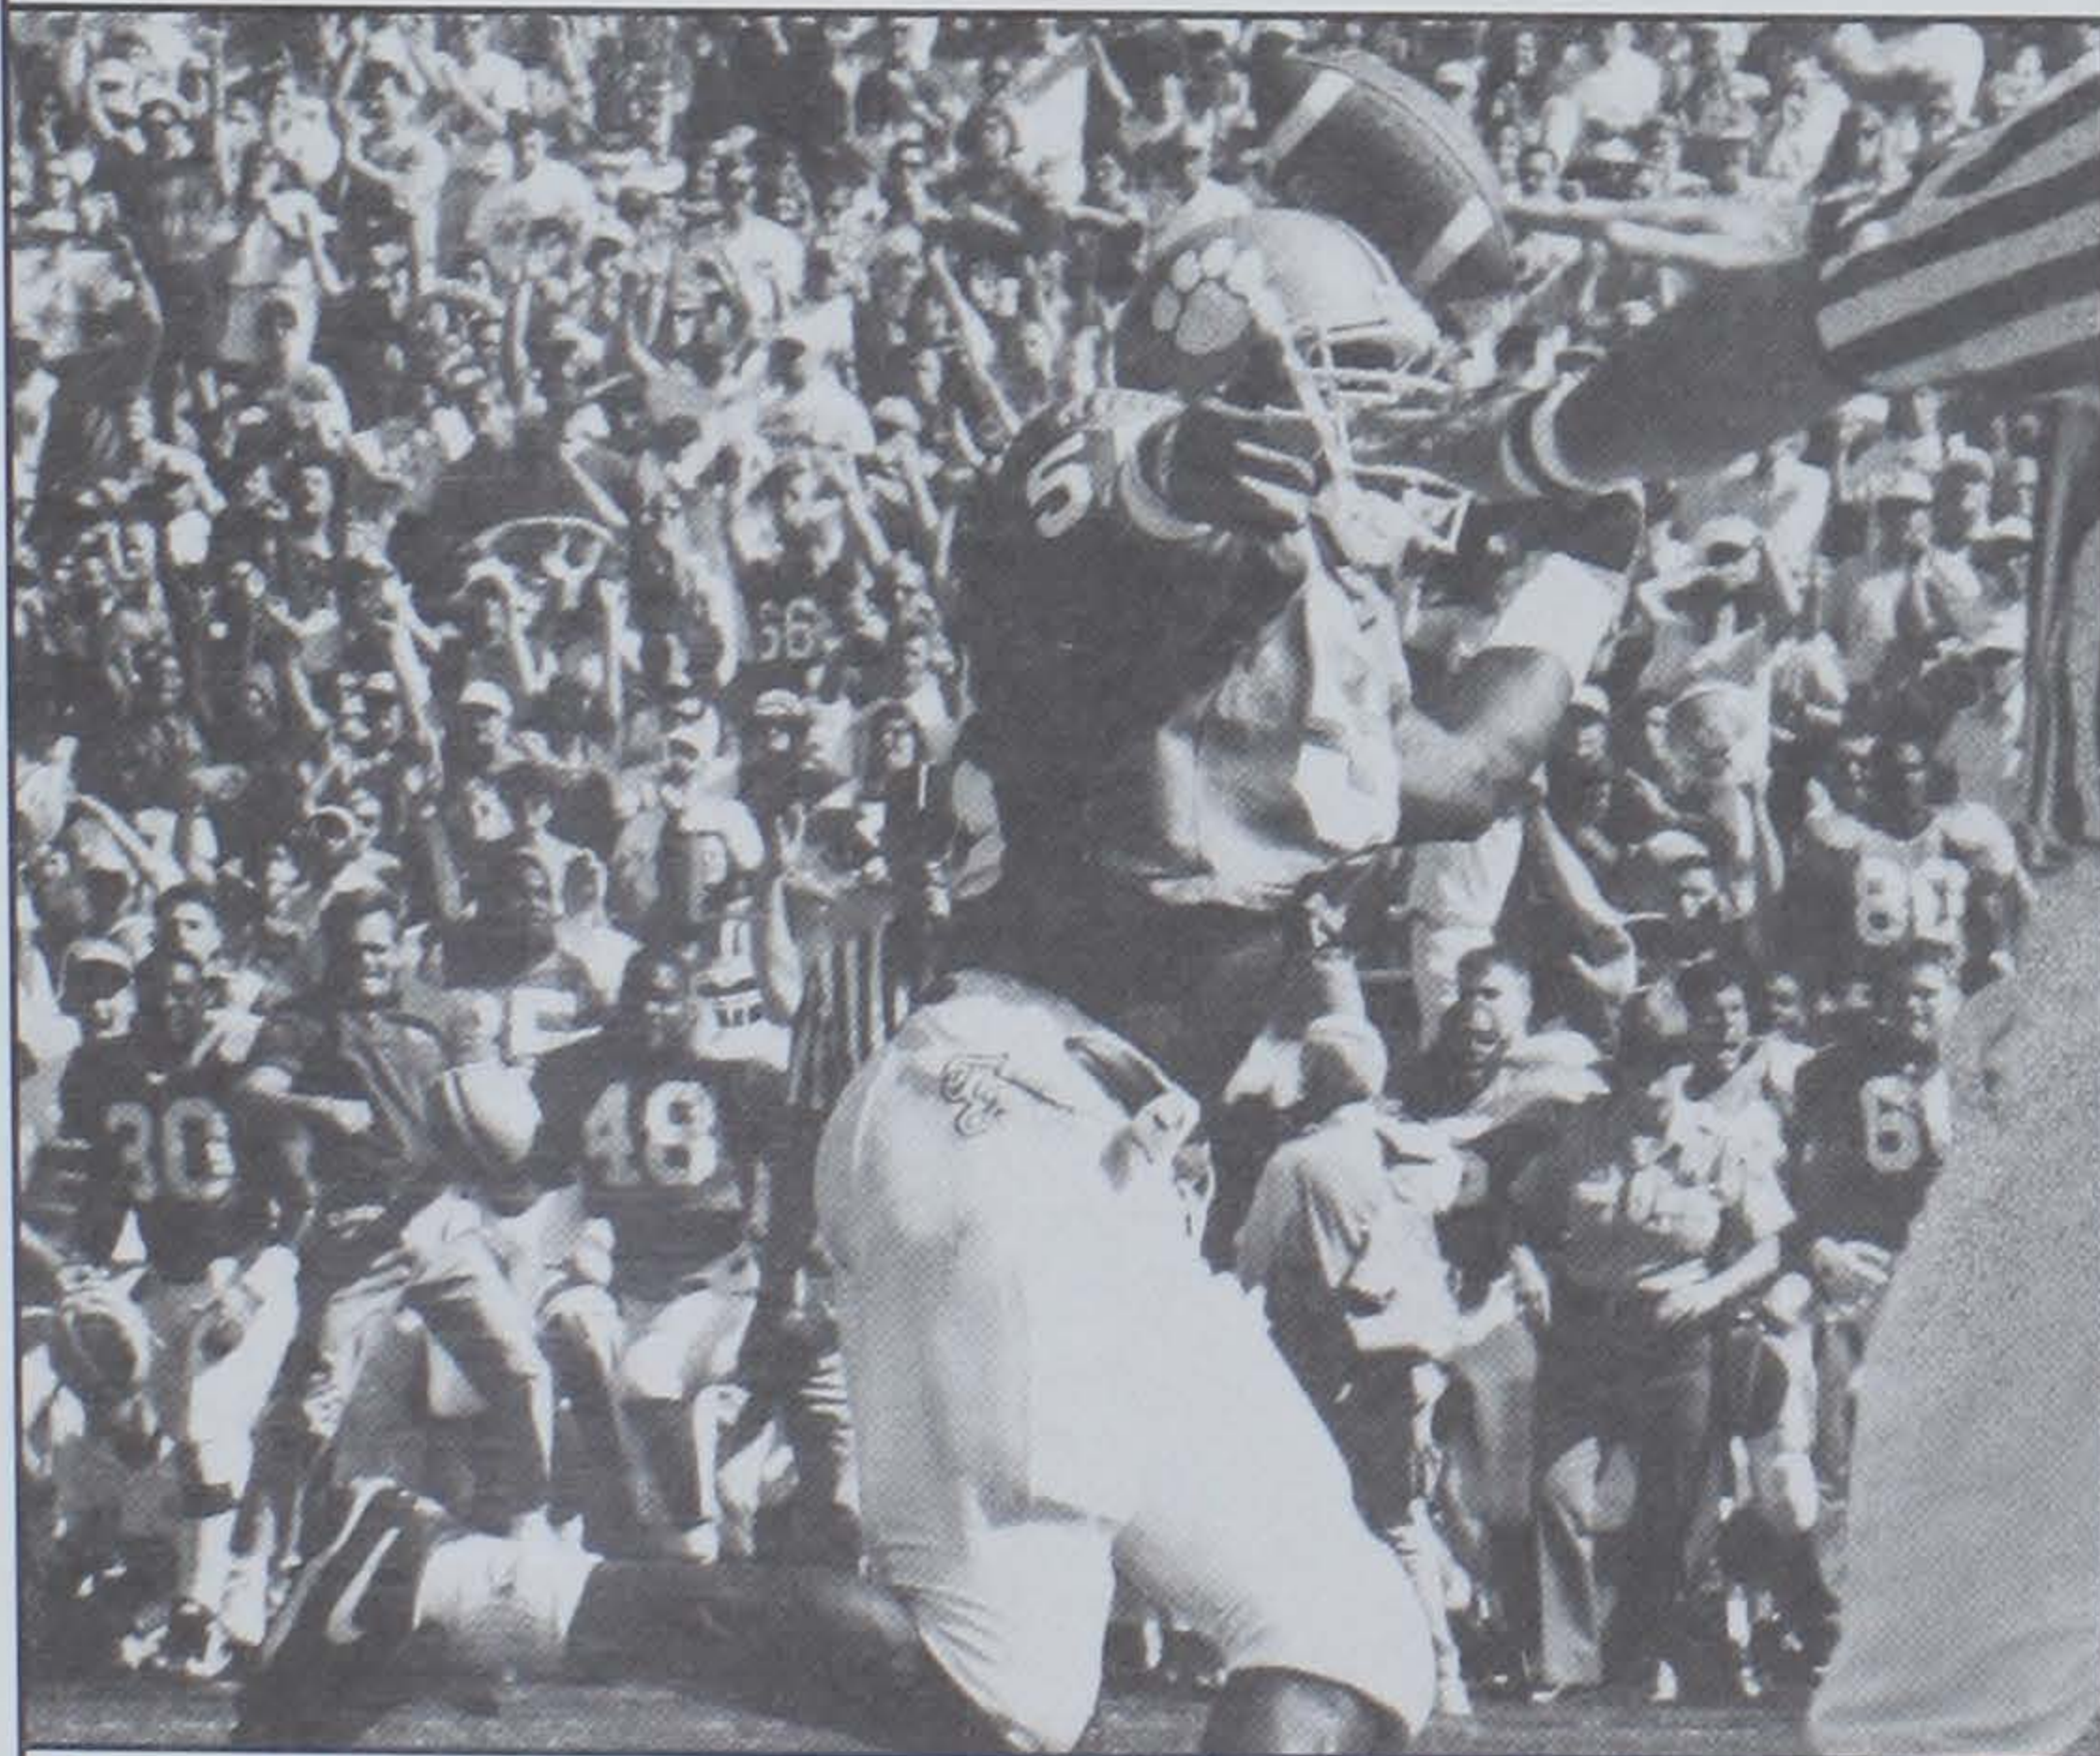

Offensively, the Tigers gained 250 yards rushing, Clemson's 15th win against just one loss and a tie over the last four years when they have at least 250 yards on the ground. Patrick Sapp had a career high 65 yards rushing, while Derrick Witherspoon had 69 yards rushing and 103 all-purpose yards, his second 100-yard all-purpose rushing game in a row. Chris Franklin also provided a spark with a 14-yard TD run in the second period.

Brent LeJeune was a key for the Clemson offense as he graded 85 percent. He had five knockdowns for his 63 plays. It was his fourth straight game of at least 80 percent in offensive line grade.

The Tigers did score via the pass, a 43-yarder from Patrick Sapp to Marcus Hinton that gave Clemson a 7-0 lead. A 34-yard pass to Derrick Witherspoon also set up a score as Clemson gained 104 yards passing on just five completions.

Clemson defeated one of its former quarterbacks when it beat N.C. State. Mike O'Cain, the quarterback for the Tigers from 1974-76 was the head coach for the Wolfpack, the first time in Clemson history the Tigers had faced a Clemson graduate on the opposing sideline. O'Cain still holds the Clemson record for rushing yards by a quarterback.

Nelson Welch booted two field goals for the Tigers and is now 9-12 in his career against N.C. State. He also had a 37-yard punting average and allowed just three punt return yards for his four punts. Dexter McCleon had four punt returns for 53 yards and gave Clemson solid field position all day.

Jones deflected passes near the goalline on the last two plays of the game.

Clemson improved to 15-1-1 under Ken Hatfield when gaining 250 yards rushing in the 20-14 win over N.C. State

Clemson 13, Duke 10

At Wallace Wade Stadium
October 9, 1993
Weather 73 degrees and sunny

Time: 2:50

Dexter McCleon made his first college start a memorable one as Clemson downed Duke in Durham for the first time since 1985 by a 13-10 score. While McCleon would make his mark as a quarterback later in the season, he was the star for the Tigers from the defensive secondary on this day. All the red-shirt freshman did was intercept two passes, break up another, record four tackles and return four punts for 69 yards. His interceptions and punt returns all came at key times for the Tigers.

The victory was the third in a row by a touchdown or less for the Tigers, the first time in Clemson history that Clemson had won three straight by a touchdown or less.

For his efforts McCleon was named ACC Rookie-of-the-Week. After the game, McCleon moved up to first in the conference in punt returns and second in interceptions. He ranked in the top 12 in the nation in both areas.

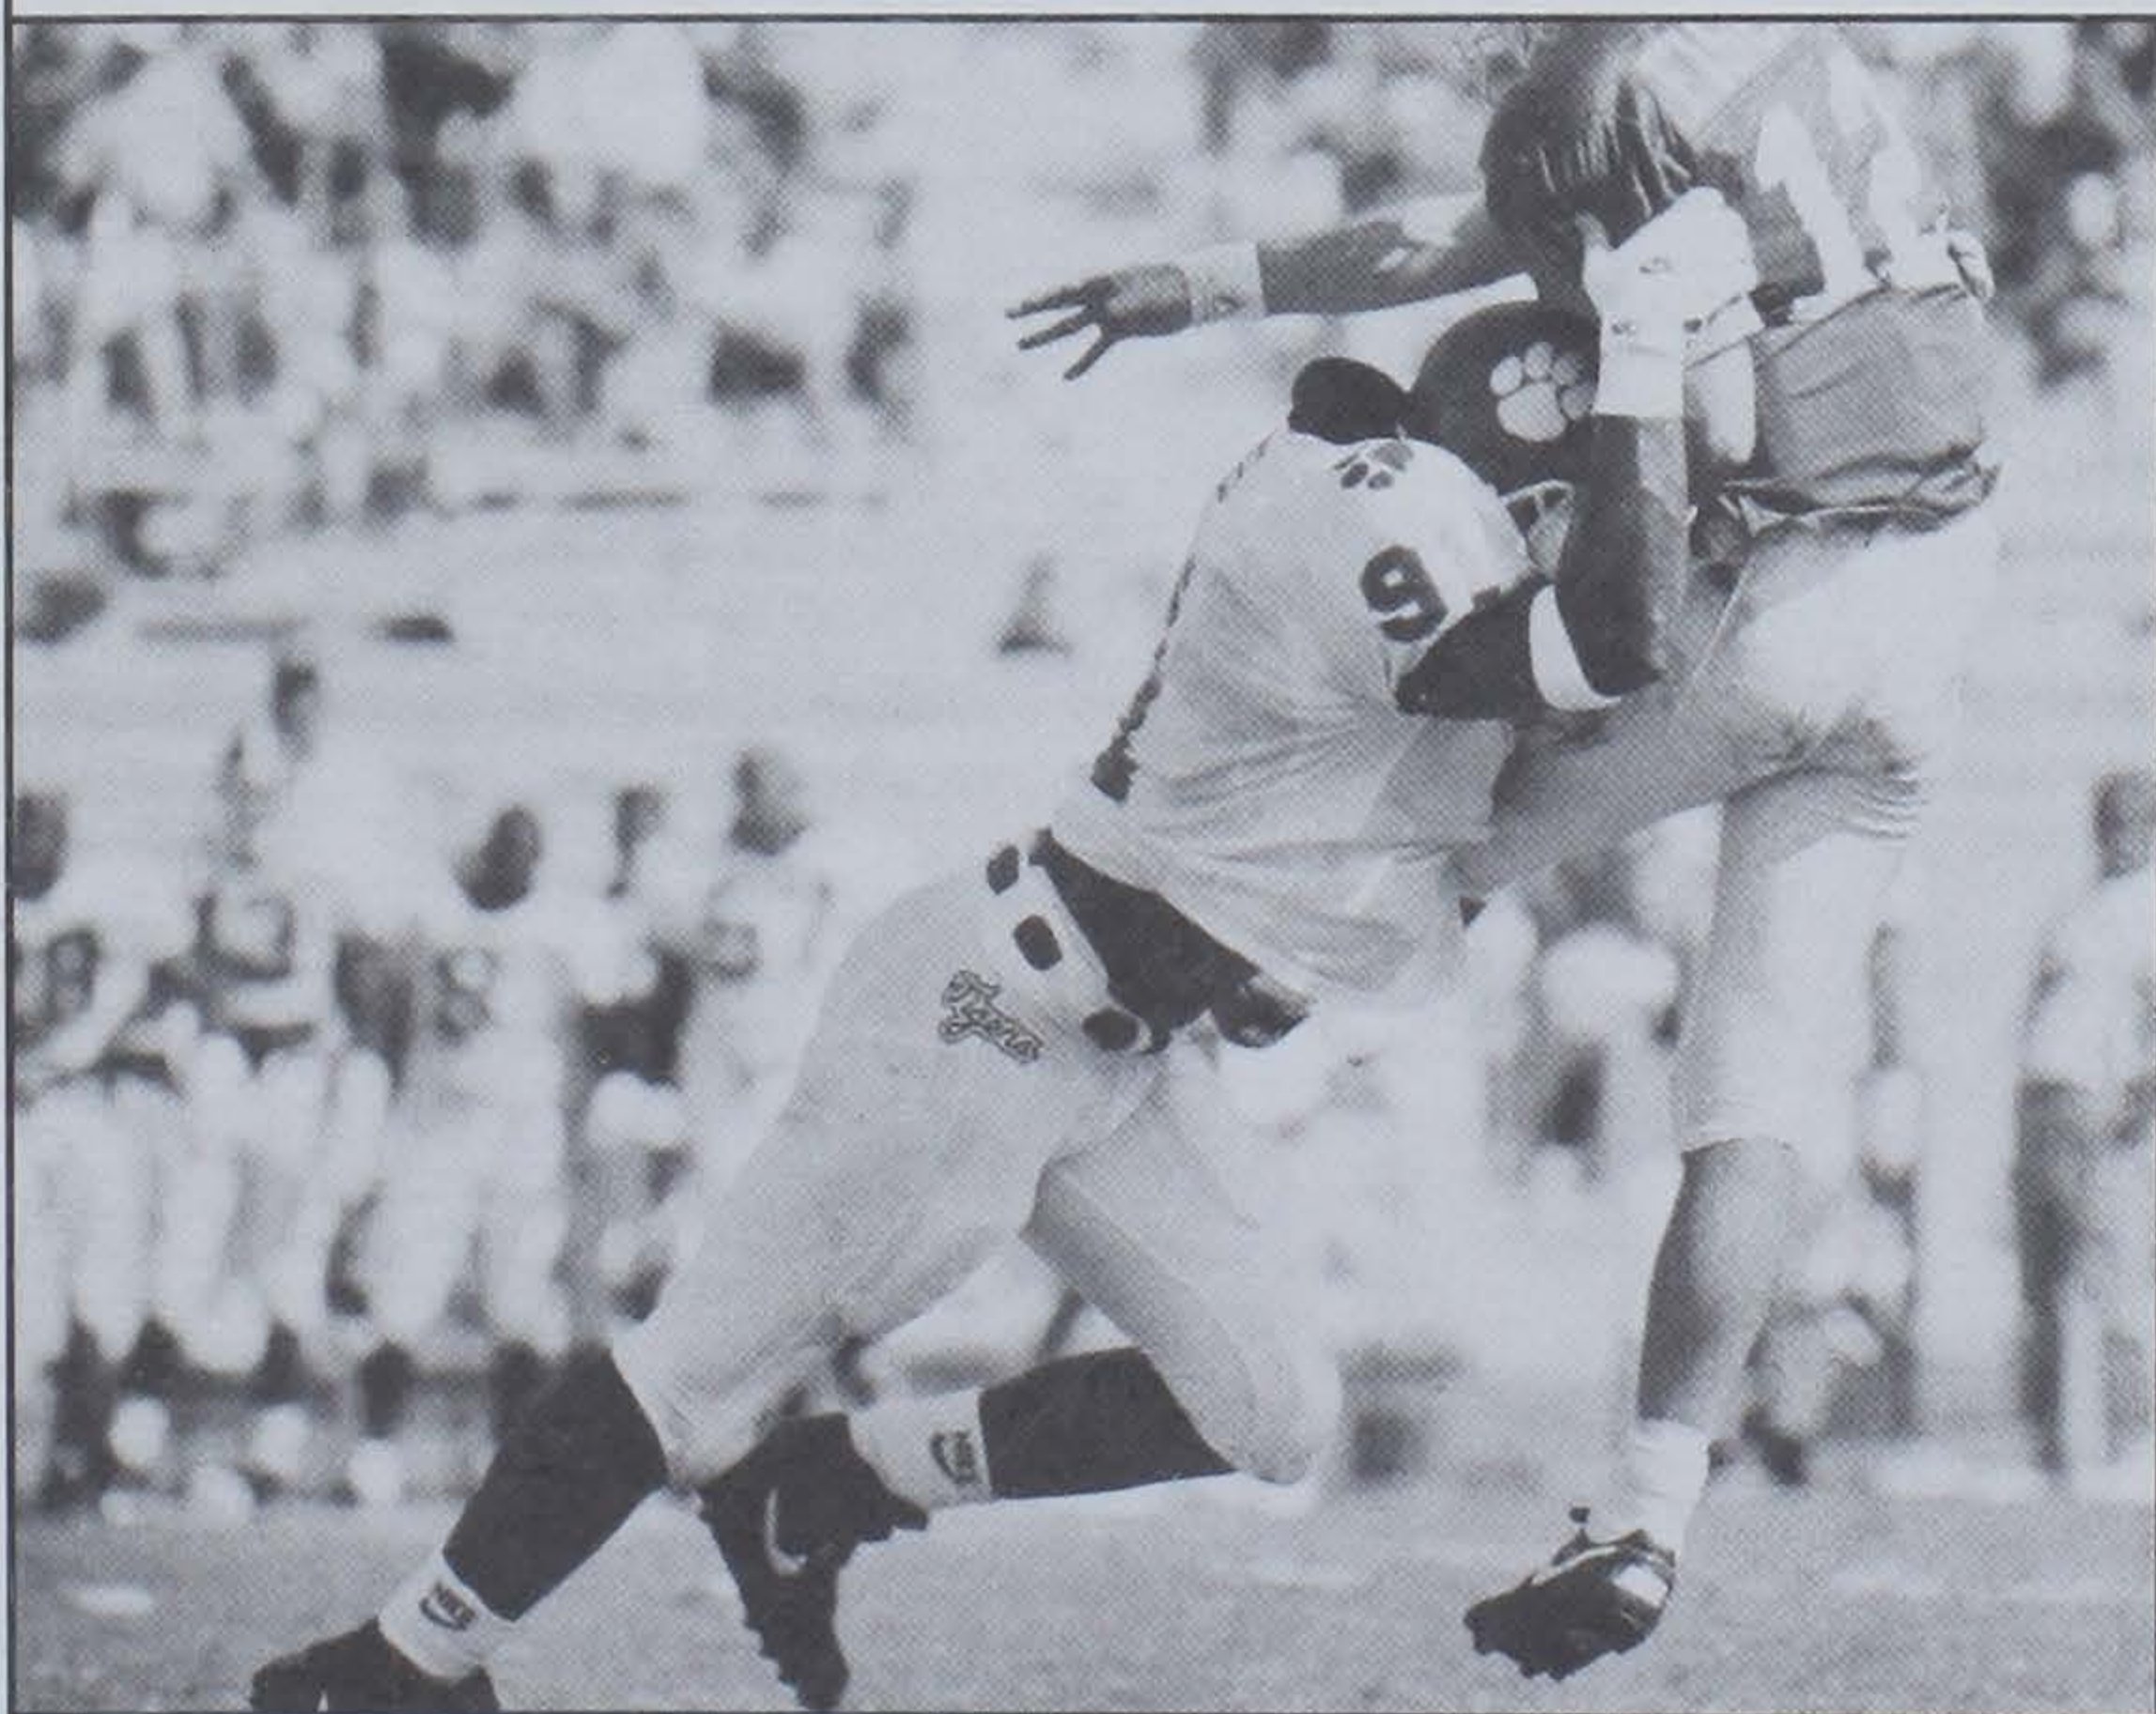

McCleon was one of many outstanding defenders for the Tigers on this afternoon in Durham. Brentson Buckner had eight tackles, a tackle for loss, two pass deflections, a quarterback pressure and a blocked field goal. Michael Barber had a career high 12 tackles and led the club that day, while Tim Jones had 10 stops. Andre Humphrey added seven tackles and two pass deflections.

That group was a key reason Duke did not score an offensive touchdown. The Blue Devils only TD came in the second period when Scott Youmans recovered a Patrick Sapp fumble and ran three yards for the touchdown. That gave Duke a 10-3 lead.

Clemson came back with a 10-play, 67-yard drive that resulted in an Emory Smith one-yard score. That left the two teams tied at halftime. Clemson took the lead in the third period. A Dexter McCleon punt return set up a 27-yard field goal by Nelson Welch.

Duke threatened twice in the last five minutes of the game. Buckner blocked a 43-yard field goal attempt that would have tied the score at 13-13, then McCleon had his second interception of the game in the final seconds. He grabbed the ball at the Clemson 10 with 10 seconds left and the Tigers ran out the clock.

Both teams struggled offensively. Duke had 378 yards in total offense, but did not have an offensive touchdown. Clemson gained just 197 yards in total offense and had just 11 first downs. Greg Hood had 8-67 rushing to lead the Tigers, while Rodney Blunt added 12-53. Terry Smith had 45 receiving yards to move into second place on Clemson's career reception yardage list. Nelson Welch had his best punting day of the year with a 41 yard average on six punts.

Durham native Marvin Cross was one reason Duke's offense did not score a touchdown against the Tigers.

Dexter McCleon was named ACC Rookie-of-the-Week as a defensive back after intercepting two passes and recording four tackles.

Wake Forest 20, Clemson 16

At Clemson Memorial Stadium

October 16, 1993

Weather: Rain and 59 degrees

Time: 3:07

Jim Kemp completed 15 of 23 passes for 177 yards and a touchdown to lead Wake Forest to a 20-16 win over Clemson at Death Valley. It was the first win for the Demon Deacons at Clemson since 1961. Wake Forest had nearly a perfectly balanced offense in defeating the Tigers as Jim Caldwell's team gained 172 yards rushing and 177 yards passing. Caldwell became the first opposing coach in 15 years to gain victory over Clemson in his first game in Death Valley.

Wake Forest jumped to a 13-0 lead behind a two-yard run by Kemp and a 10-yard TD pass from Kemp to All-ACC receiver Todd Dixon. The TD pass to Dixon culminated a nine-yard drive as Nelson Welch fumbled a snap from center on a punt attempt. It was Dixon's fifth career TD reception against the Tigers.

Clemson battled back with a 6-play 69-yard drive that was completed by a Chris Franklin one-yard run. Louis Solomon had 39 yards rushing on the drive. A Nelson Welch field goal brought the Tigers within 13-10 in the third. But, Wake Forest came right back with an 83-yard drive that ended in a six-yard run by the ACC's top rusher in 1993, John Leach. Ned Moultrie actually provided the big play of the drive with a 48-yard run on the first play.

Clemson came back in the fourth period and drove 73 yards in 14 plays. Richard Moncrief scored on an option play to make the score 20-16. But, Clemson could not recover the on-side kick and Wake Forest ran out the clock.

Clemson was forced to use three different quarterbacks in the contest. Louis Solomon started, but suffered a toe injury. Patrick Sapp was 8-13 for 78 yards in relief, but injured a shoulder. That left Moncrief, Clemson's starter in 1992, and he did a solid job on Clemson's last TD drive, but never got a chance to take the Tigers on a game-winning drive.

The victory gave Wake Forest back-to-back wins over Clemson for the first time since 1946 and 1947. Dred Booe, a first-team All-ACC defensive lineman in 1993, had 10 tackles and was a nemesis for the Tigers all day.

Peter Ford was a bright spot for the Tigers. The first year freshman had six tackles, including two tackles for loss from his cornerback position. He was the first Clemson cornerback to record two tackles for loss in a game. Andre Humphrey was the top tackler with 10, while Leomont Evans and Brian Dawkins also had eight.

Moncrief, Clemson's third quarterback of the game, scored to bring Clemson within four points with 3:26 left.

Freshman Peter Ford became the first Tiger cornerback to ever record two tackles for loss in a game in the loss to Wake Forest.

Clemson 27, ETSU 0

at Clemson Memorial Stadium
October 23, 1993

Weather: Sunny and 60 degrees

Time: 2:32

Clemson had its first 400-yard total offense game and its first shutout of the season in registering a 27-0 homecoming win over East Tennessee State. ETSU Coach Mike Cavan had been 3-0 as a player for Georgia against Clemson, but he tasted defeat in his first game as a head coach against the Tigers. Clemson improved its homecoming record to 51-16-3. The victory was the 29th in a row for the Tigers over a Southern Conference school.

After the loss to Wake Forest, Head Coach Ken Hatfield switched to the Flexbone Offense in an attempt to get more production. He also inserted graduate student Richard Moncrief at quarterback.

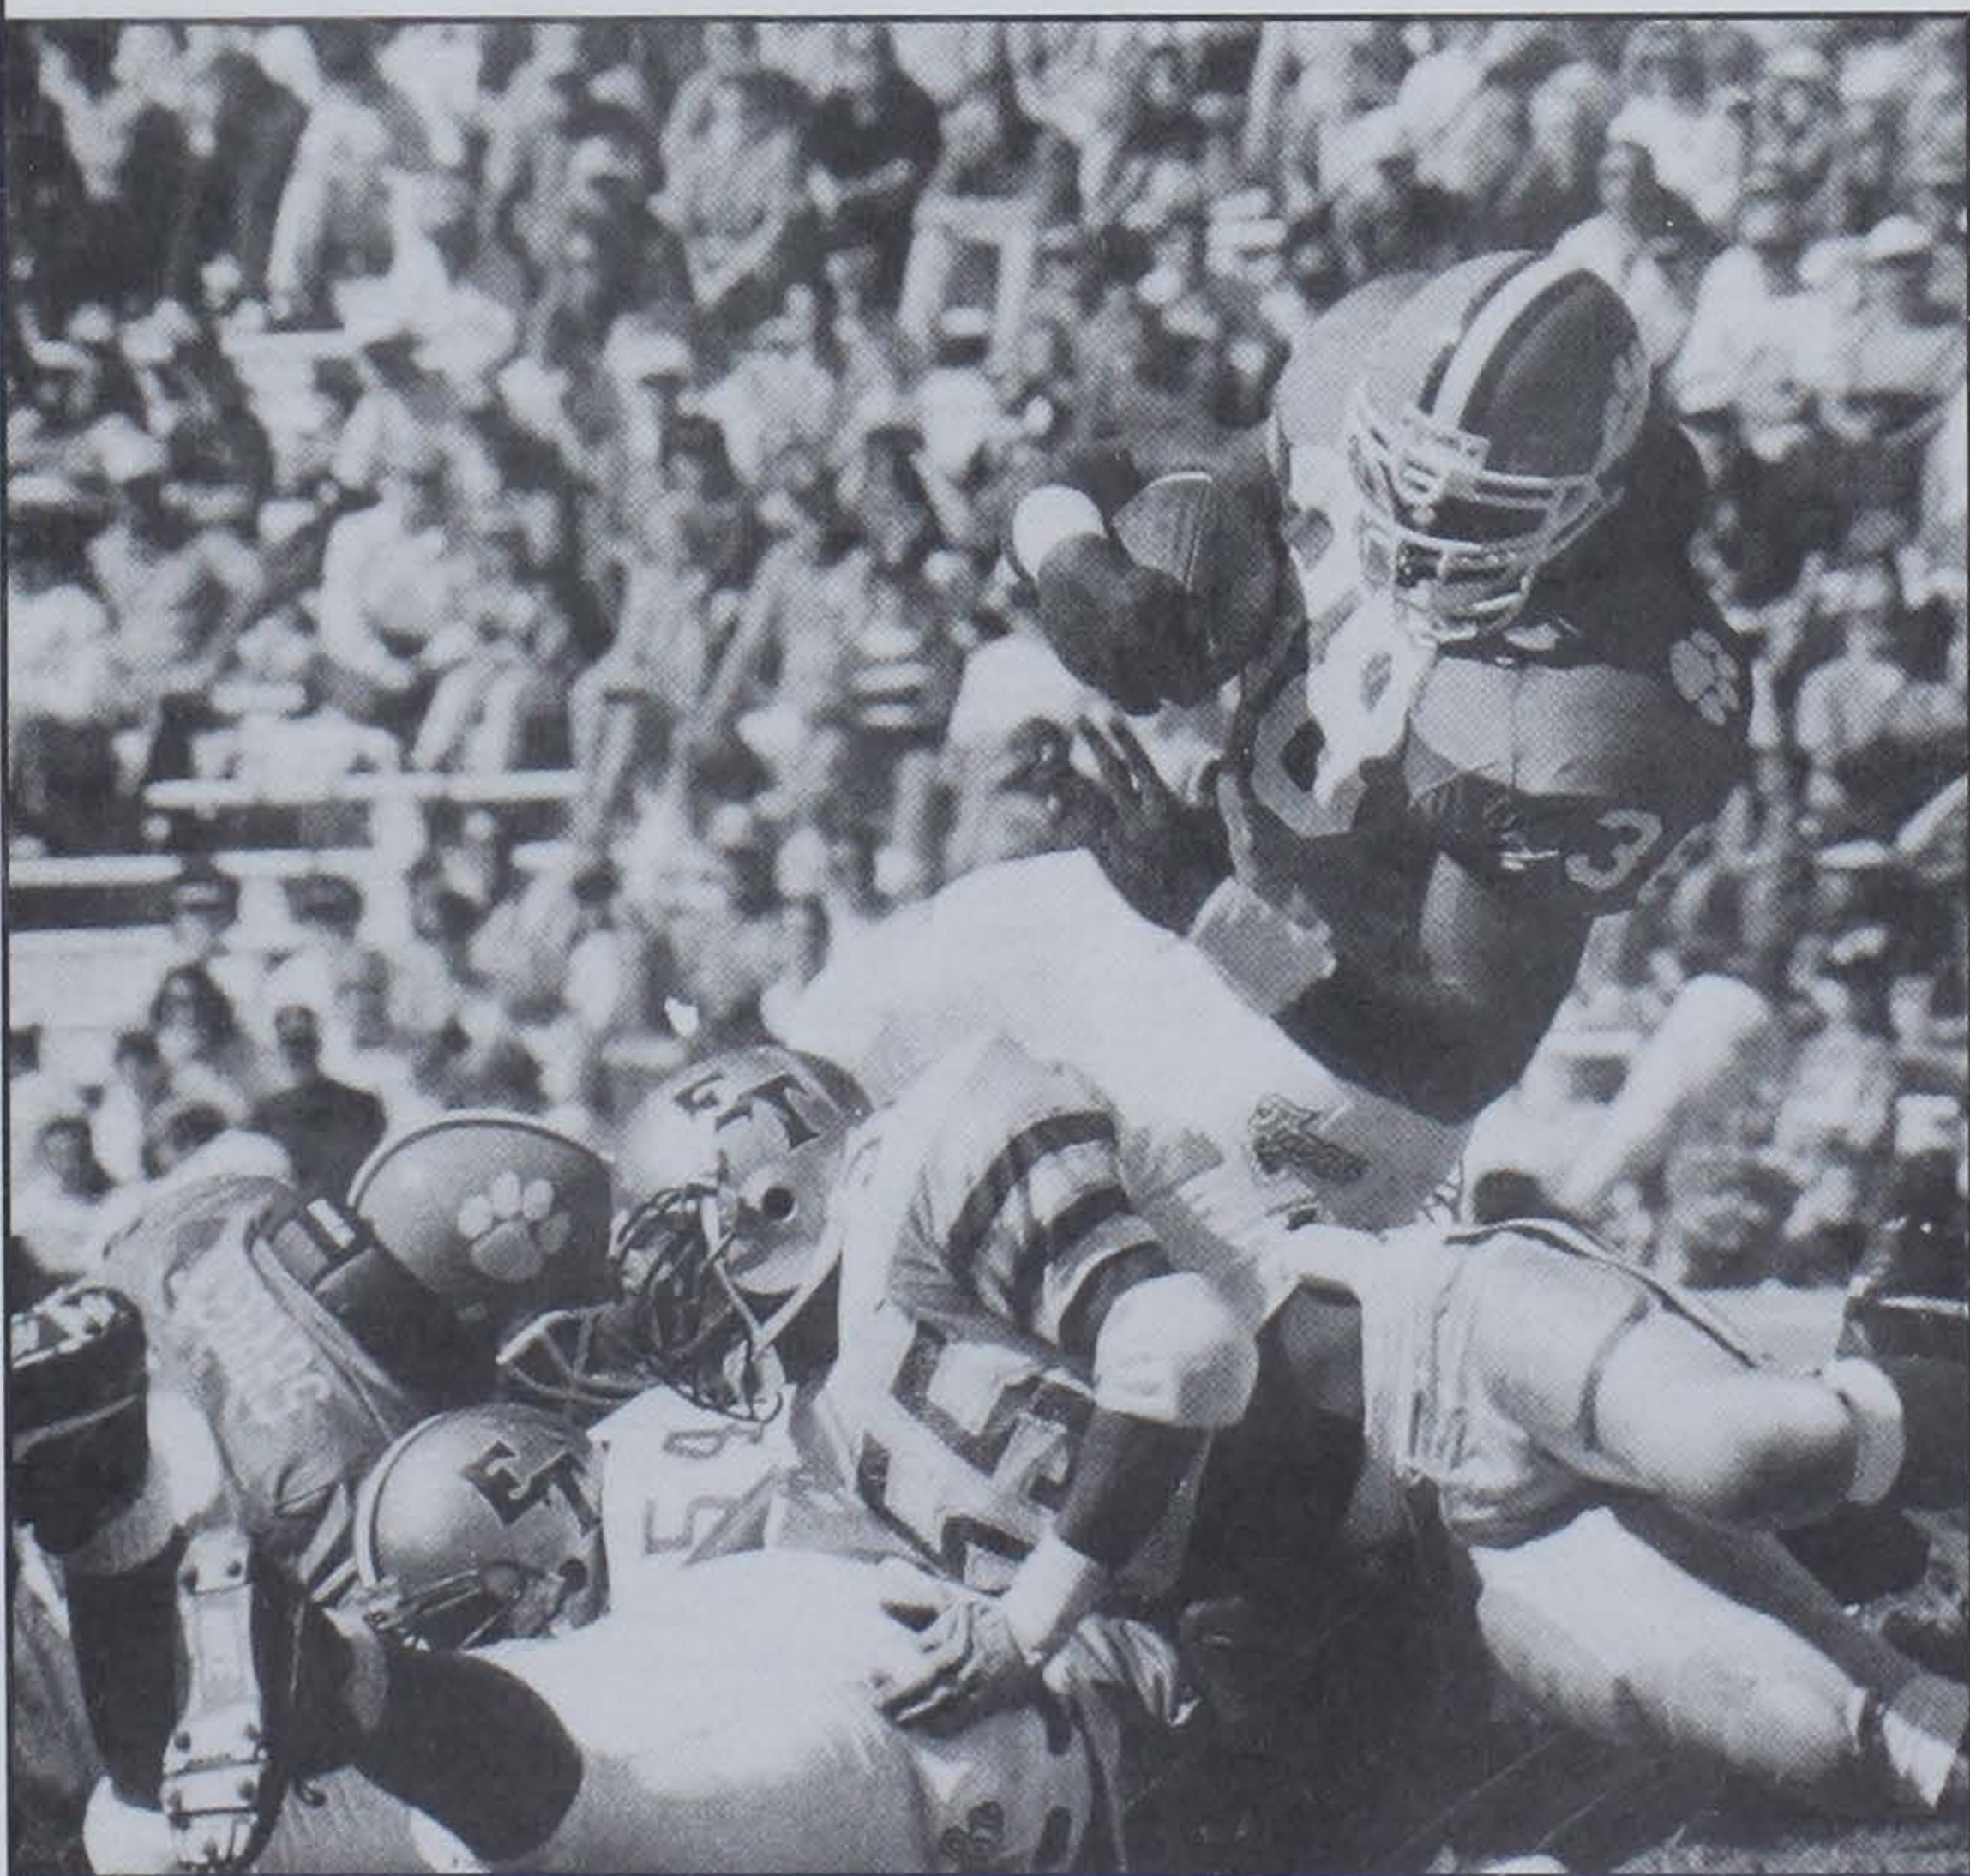

The Tigers gained 410 yards on the day, including 278 yards on the ground and had four TDs. The Tigers also held the ball for 36:54, another season high. The Tigers started three running backs, a tight end and a wide receiver. Derrick Witherspoon led the way with 67 yards, while Milt Shaw added 64.

Chris Franklin gained 105 yards in all-purpose rushing, 85 receiving and 20 rushing. Franklin got things started in the right direction in the first period when he caught a flair pass from Richard Moncrief and sped 77 yards for a touchdown. That was the second longest pass reception for a Clemson running back in Tiger history and the longest since 1954. Only an 81-yard reception by Joe Pagliei against South Carolina in 1954 is longer.

Franklin also scored on a one-yard run in the third period and thus became the first Tiger to score a TD rushing and receiving in the same game since 1986.

The Clemson defense held East Tennessee State to just 199 yards in total offense. It was the first shutout for the Clemson defense since 1991. The total defense of 199 yards was the best for the Tigers in 1993 and the seven yards rushing by ETSU was the 10th best rushing defense in Clemson history.

Many young players contributed to the victory. Brett Williams had three tackles for loss and two sacks and recovered a fumble from his defensive end position. Peter and Andy Ford both contributed in the secondary and the twins were in the game at the cornerback positions on the same play many times. Peter Ford had his first career interception, had four tackles and a touchdown saving tackle in the third period that preserved a shutout.

Franklin scored a pair of touchdowns against ETSU.

Freshman fullback Chris Franklin was named the ACC Rookie-of-the-Week after he scored a 77-yard TD on a pass reception, second-longest by a Tiger RB.

Clemson 29, Maryland 0

at Clemson Memorial Stadium

October 30, 1993

Weather: Rain and 51 degrees

Time: 3:08

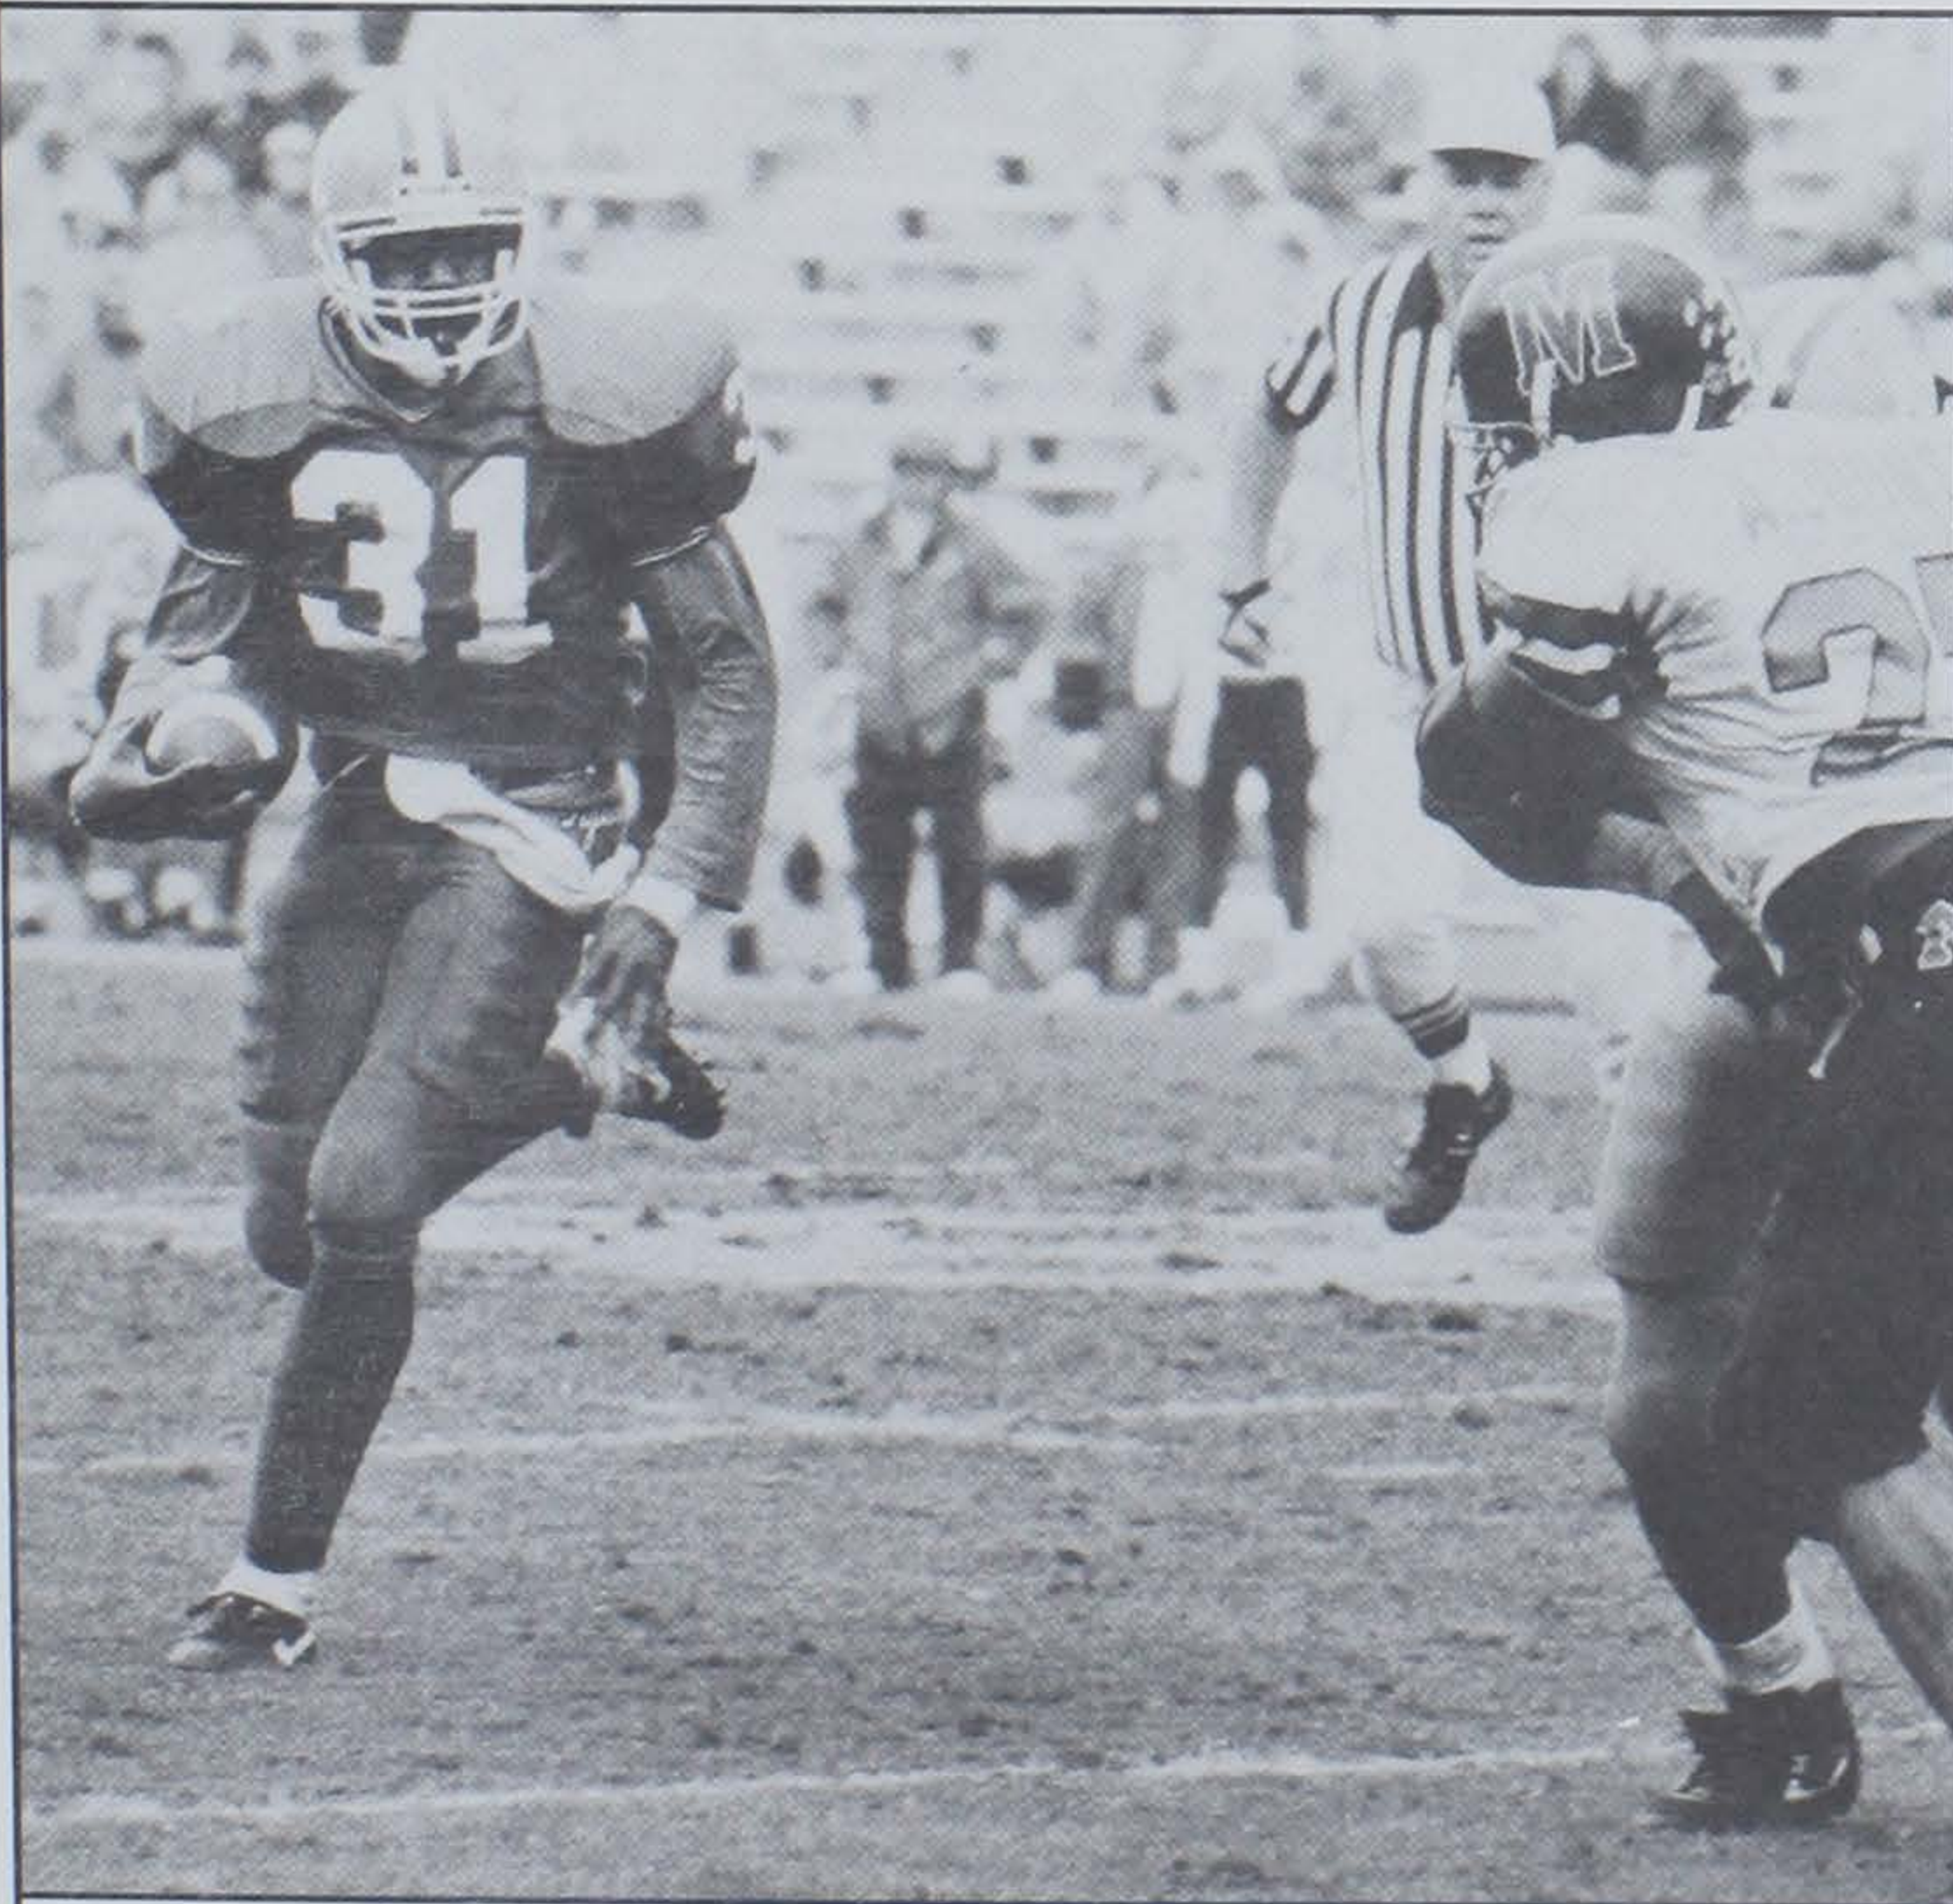

Derrick Witherspoon had a career high 172 yards rushing, including an 89-yard run that was the longest run in the history of Death Valley, as Clemson downed the Terps 29-0. The victory avenged a 30-point loss by the Tigers at Maryland in 1992. It certainly showed dramatic improvement for the Tiger defense which made a 53-point improvement against the Terps run-and-shoot offense.

Witherspoon's total was the second most by an ACC running back in 1993. His 89-yard TD in the fourth period gave Clemson a 19-0 lead with 10 minutes left. The run also gave Witherspoon the distinction of being the only player in Clemson history to record two runs of 80 yards or more. He also had an 81-yarder against Appalachian State in 1990.

Clemson had a balanced effort in the Flexbone Offense. The Tigers got 190 yards passing and 245 yards rushing in reaching a season high 435 yards in total offense for the day. Clemson did not have a turnover for the second straight game.

Patrick Sapp came off the bench in relief of Richard Moncrief, who played the first half, but suffered a hip injury. Sapp hit 5-9 passes for 134 yards, including a 52-yard pass to Marcus Hinton and a 39-yard strike to Terry Smith. Sapp led the Tigers to 209 yards in total offense in the fourth quarter alone.

There were many defensive standouts for the Tigers in recording back-to-back shutouts for the first time since 1963. Wardell Rouse tied a Clemson single game record with three sacks and had four tackles for loss for the day. He also had nine tackles for the game. Brentson Buckner had two sacks and moved into a tie for third place in Clemson history in that category (20.5). Buckner had a season high 10 tackles for the game. Tim Jones led the way with 12 total tackles. Andre Humphrey had nine tackles and a 39-yard interception return, the first of his career. The Tigers had seven sacks against Maryland, a season high.

Witherspoon rushed for 172 yards in the win over Maryland, the second-most rushing yards by an ACC player in 1993.

Wardell Rouse became the first Clemson linebacker to record three sacks in a game.

1994 Clemson Football

N. Carolina 24, Clemson 0

At Kenan Stadium
November 6, 1993

Weather: cloudy and 47 degrees

Time: 3:15(ESPN)

WR Terry Smith became Clemson's career reception leader with his eight grabs for 120 yards in the loss to the Tar Heels.

Jason Stanicek hit 15-25 passes for 221 yards and gained 272 yards in total offense in leading North Carolina to a 24-0 win over Clemson in a nationally televised game from Chapel Hill. It was North Carolina's first win over Clemson since 1985.

North Carolina fumbled on its first possession at the Clemson 40, but the Tigers could not drive for a score and that inability to convert seemed to carry over the entire game for Clemson. The Tar Heel offense jumped out to a 24-0 advantage in the first half as Stanicek took North Carolina on four scoring drives against a Clemson defense that had not allowed a point in eight quarters. In the second half the North Carolina defense took over, continually coming up with the big play that kept Clemson out of the endzone.

Terry Smith was the star of the game for the Tigers as he caught eight passes for 120 yards. He became Clemson's career reception leader when he caught his third pass of the game, a 27-yarder from Louis Solomon in the second period. That play contributed to Clemson's deepest penetration of the first half, the North Carolina 26. But, Nelson Welch's 48-yard field goal was short. North Carolina scored a touchdown just 21 seconds before the half to make it 24-0.

Clemson just could not get its ground game going and ended the game with just three yards rushing, its lowest total since 1947 when the Tigers had -1 in a game at Boston College. Six sacks by the North Carolina defense certainly contributed to the low rushing total.

The Clemson defense settled down in the second half, limiting the Tar Heels to just 144 yards in total offense and zero points. The Tigers got to the North Carolina 14 on their first drive of the second half, but Patrick Sapp was sacked on a fourth-and-five and North Carolina took over. Later in the fourth period the Tigers got to within the North Carolina 31, but Sapp was sacked on consecutive plays for 20 yards in losses.

Austin Robbins was a key for North Carolina with eight tackles, including two behind the line of scrimmage. Six different North Carolina players had sacks. It was just the second shutout for the Tigers offensively since 1979. Tim Jones was Clemson's top defensive player with 12 tackles. Brett Williams and Darren Calhoun had two tackles for loss each.

Dexter McCleon became the first player to ever win ACC Rookie-of-the-Week honors as an offensive and defensive player after winning the award as a QB vs. Virginia.

Dexter McCleon became the fifth Tiger to play quarterback in 1993. He might have had the most impressive performance of the group in Clemson's 23-14 win over 16th ranked Virginia. McCleon was named the ACC Rookie-of-the-Week as a quarterback for his performance, the second time in 1993 that he had won that honor, once as an offensive player and once as a defensive player.

McCleon ran for 127 yards, the second highest total in Clemson history for a Clemson quarterback and just 13 yards off the Clemson single game record for a QB. He also passed for 102 yards and became just the third Tiger QB in the last 15 years to throw and run for at least 100 yards in the same game. It was an incredible performance by McCleon, who did not move to the quarterback position until the Monday before the Virginia game.

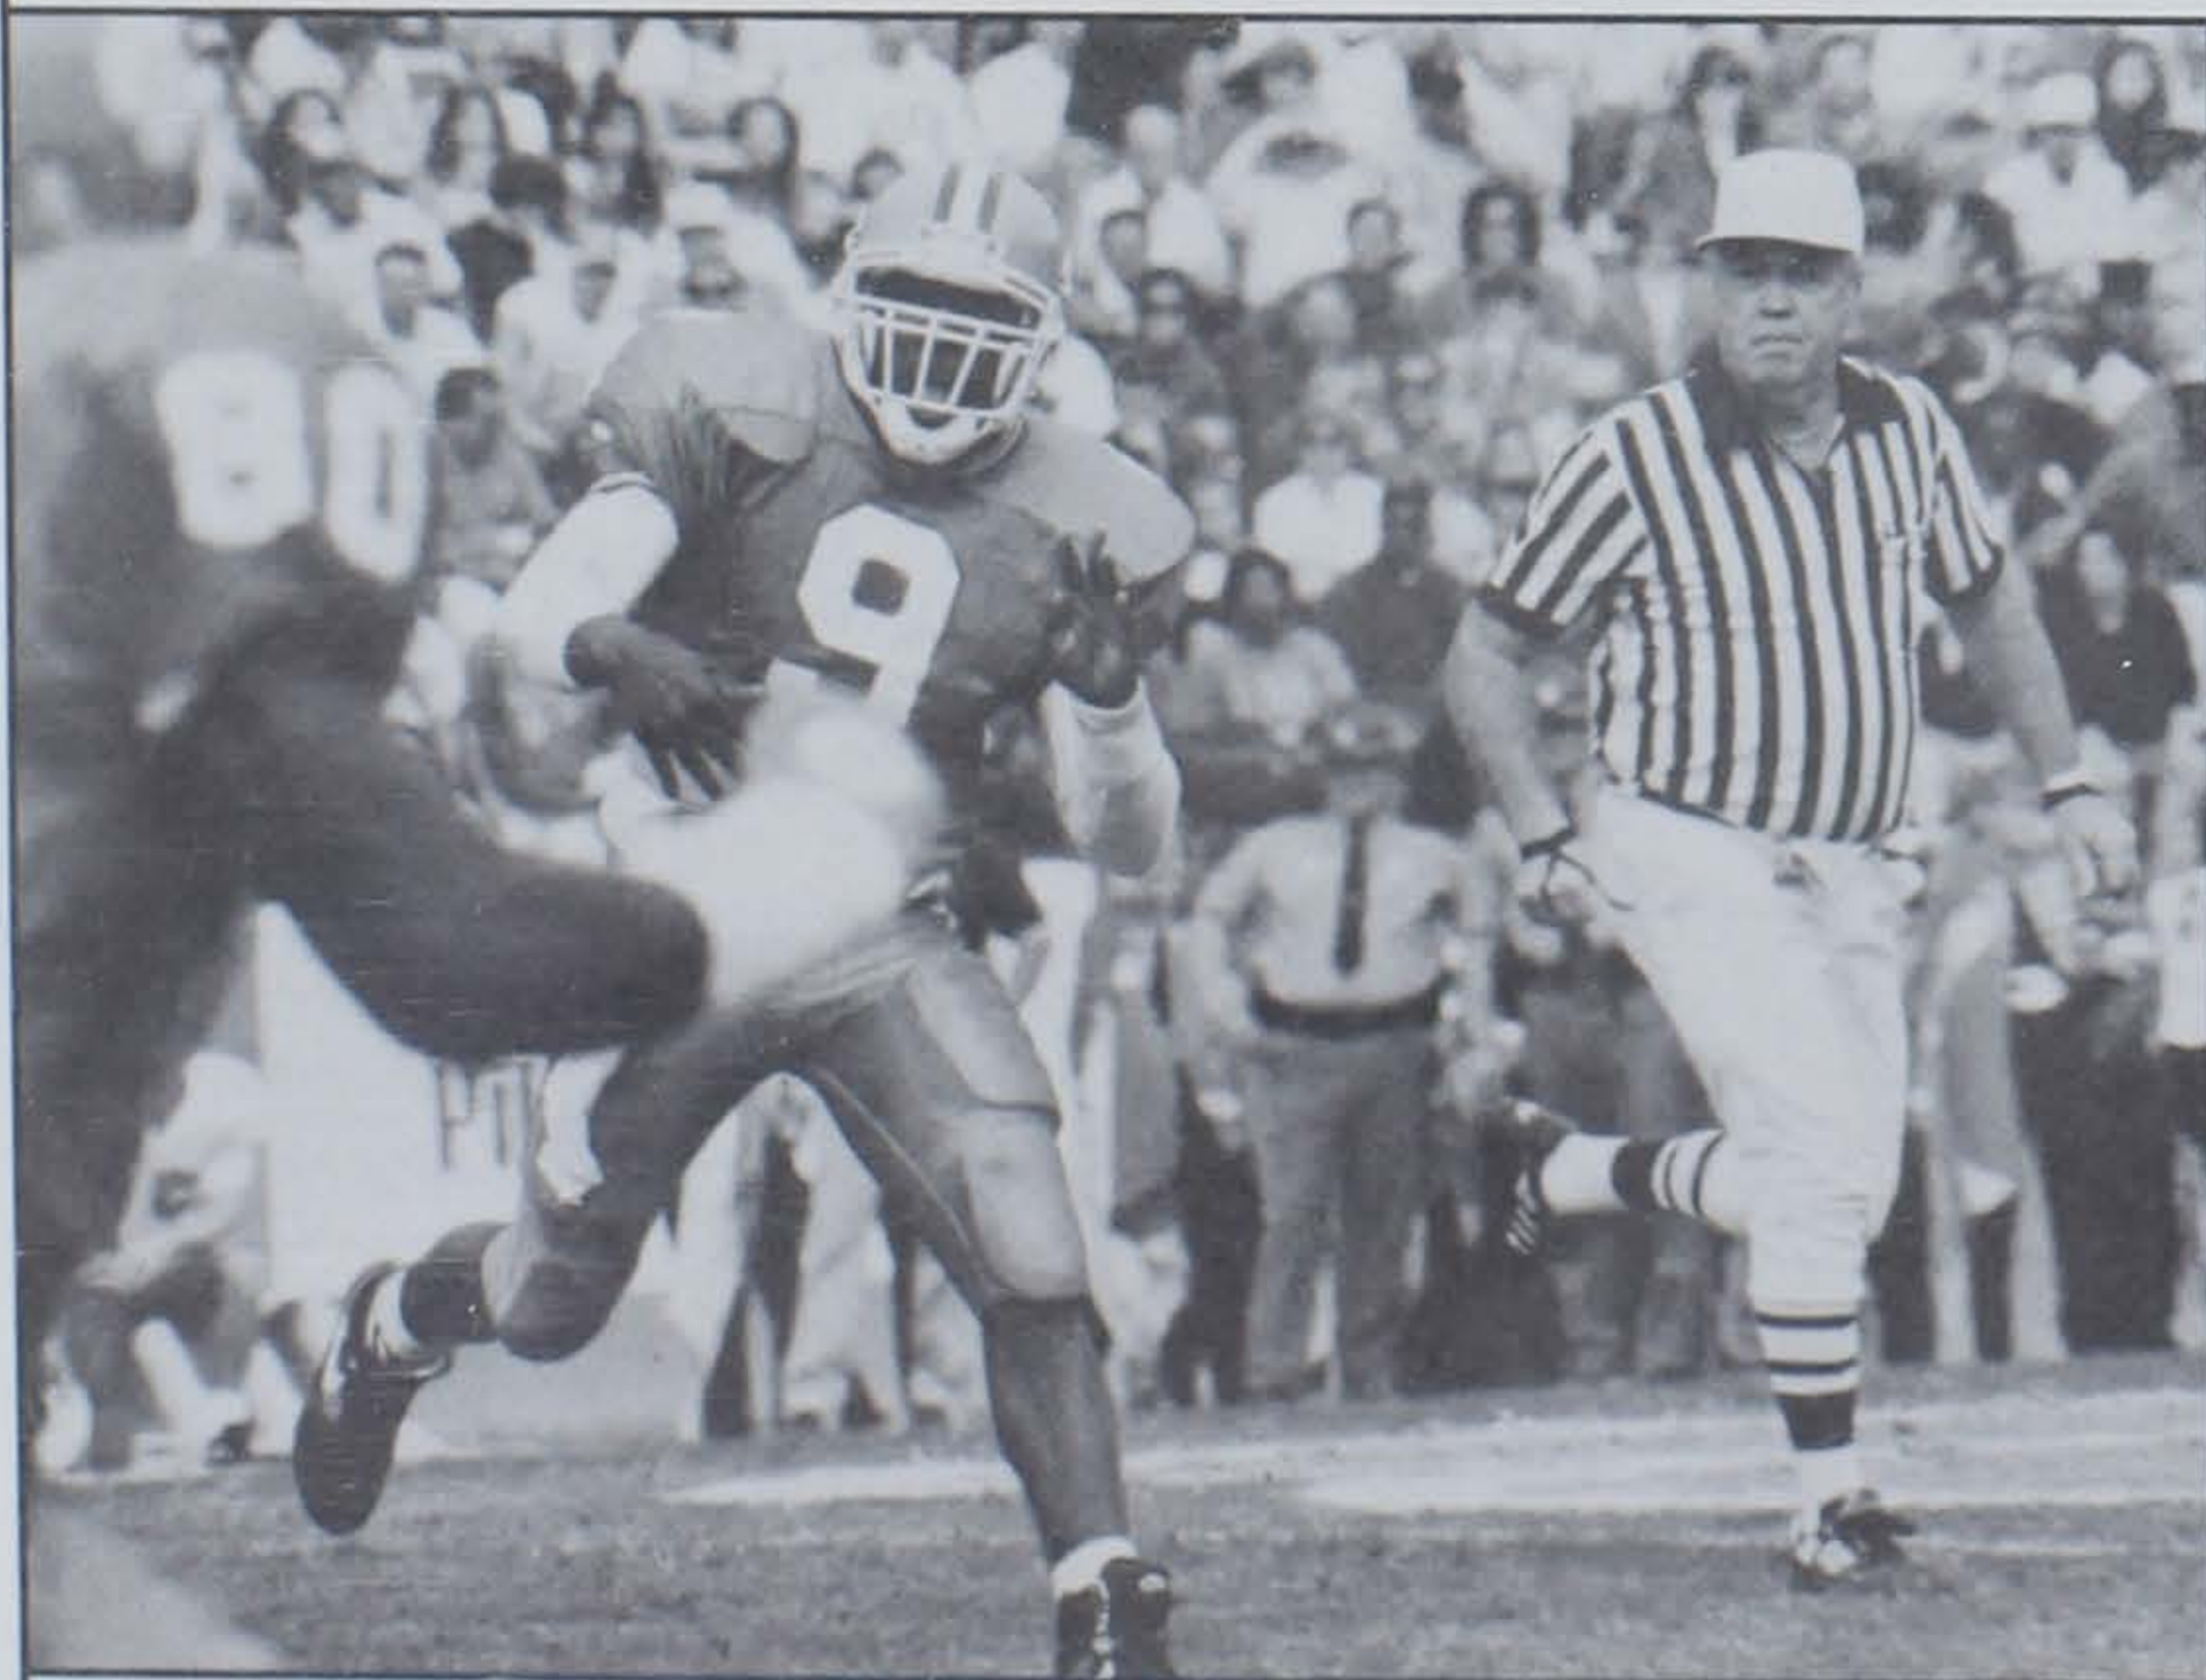

McCleon ran the Flexbone like he had been running it for four years. The Tigers gained 470 yards for the day, a season high, and that included 361 yards on the ground. Virginia had not yielded more than 205 yards rushing in a game all year and that was to #1 ranked Florida State. Only one other team had gained as many as 165 yards rushing against Virginia.

Emory Smith provided support for McCleon with 113 yards, while Chris Franklin added 62 yards and a touchdown. Clemson got 175 yards rushing from the fullback position, the most at that position since 1983.

It was the final home game for the Tiger seniors. It was a special day for senior Terry Smith as he became Clemson's career leader in reception yardage. He had two receptions for 96 yards and broke Perry Tuttle's record with a 73-yard touchdown reception that broke the game open. Tuttle was on hand to congratulate him after the game. It was McCleon's first TD pass and Smith's last TD reception in Death Valley.

The Clemson defense picked off four passes, the most by the Clemson defense since the Florida State game in 1992. Tim Jones was the top tackler with 12, and he also had an interception, the fifth of his career. Wardell Rouse added 11 tackles, while Brentson Buckner and Darren Calhoun had eight stops apiece. It was a season high for Calhoun who registered his total in just 31 plays. The Clemson defense forced five turnovers, while the Tiger running backs went through their seventh straight game without a lost fumble.

The victory moved Clemson back into the top 25 of both polls and clinched a bowl bid for the Tigers. Ken Hatfield became the first mentor in Clemson history to coach three bowl teams in his first four years and he moved into third place on the ACC's list of winningest coaches on a percentage basis.

Clemson 16, S. Carolina 13

at Williams Brice Stadium
November 20, 1993

Weather: Sunny and 60 degrees Time: 3:03

Clemson overcame a 10-point second half deficit and defeated South Carolina in Columbia, 16-13. It was Clemson's fifth win over South Carolina in the last six years, and its third triumph in a row in Columbia.

Dexter McCleon made his first career start at quarterback for the Tigers and he was the fourth different starting signal caller for Clemson in the 11 regular season games. It was the first year in Clemson history that the Tigers started four different quarterbacks in the same year. McCleon hit 6-12 passes for 89 yards and rushed for 27 more in pacing the Clemson offense from the QB position.

The Tiger defense was outstanding, especially in the second half when the Gamecocks did not score a point and gained just 72 yards in total offense. LaMarick Simpson, Michael Barber and Tim Jones all had 12 tackles to lead the Tigers. Simpson became just the third Clemson defensive lineman in the last eight years to record at least a dozen tackles in a game. The other two were Michael Dean Perry and Rob Bodine, who were both All-Americans at Clemson.

South Carolina took a 13-3 halftime lead on a pair of field goals by Reed Morton and a two-yard run by Mike Reddick. South Carolina scored 10 points over the last five minutes of the second quarter and had the momentum going into halftime.

Clemson had a strong third period, gaining 163 yards to just 39 for the Gamecocks, and outscoring the host team 10-0. Nelson Welch booted a 28-yard field goal to culminate a six-play, 53-yard drive. Peter Ford had an interception of a Steve Tannehill pass on the next South Carolina possession and the Tigers took over at the Gamecock 43.

Clemson converted a pair of fourth-down conversions on the touchdown drive. On a fourth and five from the South Carolina 38, McCleon hit Jason Davis, who made a leaping catch and a 24-yard gain. On fourth and one from the South Carolina five, McCleon executed the option to perfection and Derrick Witherspoon scored on the late pitch, tying the game.

Clemson scored on its third straight possession overall and its first of the fourth period. Andre Humphrey set up the score with a 53-yard punt return, the longest return of the season for the Tigers. A 13-yard run by Emory Smith and an eight-yard run by Rodney Blunt put Clemson in field goal position. Nelson Welch's 31-yarder with 11:53 left put Clemson ahead for the first time in the game.

South Carolina drove to the Clemson 28 with about five minutes left. But Harom Pringle stopped Toby Cates for a seven-yard loss on a second and six that pushed the Gamecocks out of field goal range.

The Tigers celebrated after their three-point win in Columbia.

History of Clemson Football

O.K. Pressley was Clemson's first All-American in any sport.

Sept. 30, 1896—A small crowd gathered in one of the barrack's rooms and discussed the advisability of organizing a football association and to devise some means of getting a coach. The organization known as the Clemson College Football Association was perfected and the following officers elected: President F.G. Tompkins, Secretary and Treasurer C.W. Gentry, Manager T.R. Vogel, Temporary Captain R.G. Hamilton. A committee of three was appointed to consult professor Walter Riggs as to management of a football team and to ask his aid as coach.

October 5, 1896—Practice began on the Clemson College campus on a 50x200 foot field in front of the college.

October 28, 1896—Clemson played its first intercollegiate football game, defeating Furman, 14-6, at Greenville, SC. This was the first time that many of the Clemson players had seen a full sized football gridiron. Charlie Gentry scored Clemson's first touchdown.

November 10, 1897—Clemson defeated South Carolina for the first time and won the school's first state championship.

October 20, 1898—The Tigers played their first home game against Bingham. Clemson won 55-0, as W.C. Forsythe kicked every point after touchdown (11). R.T.V. Bowman, the man for whom the field at Clemson is named, was an assistant coach at that time with Clemson and helped referee the game.

November 10, 1899—The football association stood on a very weak financial basis. The organization could not even afford to hire a coach. W.M. Riggs agreed to coach the Tigers for free.

November 18, 1899—Clemson defeated N.C. State, 24-0. The game was called early because many of the State men were injured and they requested that the game be called.

December 8, 1899—John Heisman was hired as head coach.

October 22, 1900—The Tigers defeated Wofford, 21-0. Actually, Clemson scored many more points, but a pre-game agreement between the teams stated that every point Clemson scored after the first four touchdowns would not count.

November 29, 1900—Clemson's 35-0 win over Alabama allowed Heisman's team to finish the season undefeated with a 6-0 record. This was Clemson's first undefeated team and was the only team to win all of the games in a season until the 1948 squad went 11-0.

October 5, 1901—Clemson opened the season with a 122-0 win over Guilford. The Tigers averaged 30 yards per play and a touchdown every minute and 26 seconds. The first half lasted 20 minutes while the second half lasted only 10 minutes. Legend has it that every man on the Clemson team scored a touchdown in this game.

October 30, 1902—Col. Charles S. Roller Jr., who was football coach of Furman, was the only referee for the Clemson-USC game. Bronco Armstrong, a famous Yale player and official, was to be the umpire but was in a railroad wreck on the way down and it was impossible for him to get to the game in time. Not a single penalty was called in the game. A riot between Clemson and USC fans broke out the night after the game. Officials at both colleges called off the football series between the two schools. Clemson and USC did not meet again in football until 1909.

November 27, 1902—Clemson played in the snow for the first time in a game against Tennessee. The Tigers won the game, 11-0, and claimed the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association crown.

October 17, 1903—Clemson defeated Georgia Tech 73-0. Clemson rushed the ball 35 times for 450 yards, while Tech ran the ball 25 times and collected 18 yards.

November 26, 1903—One day after Tech's deadline for its offer had expired, Heisman wired Georgia Tech's president Lyman Hall, that he would accept the institute's offer of $2,250 per year plus 30 percent of net receipts to coach its athletic teams.

November 11, 1905—The Clemson-Auburn game was called on account of darkness. Clemson won, 6-0.

November 29, 1906—Clemson's first forward pass occurred in a 10-0 win over Georgia Tech. Powell Lykes dropped back to kick, but instead made a "pretty" forward pass of 30 yards to George Warren.

November 4-9, 1907—Clemson played three games within a week's time. Clemson lost to Auburn 12-0 on November 4, and lost to Georgia in Augusta, GA on November 7. The Tigers barely made it back in time to play Davidson at Clemson on November 9, and lost 10-6.

April 1, 1908—Tiger football hopes of the 1908 season were shattered on this day, not by what happened in spring practice, but what 300 students did as a college prank on April Fool's Day. The cadets were expelled for removing a Civil War cannon from the town square of Pendleton, four miles down the road from campus, and bringing the cannon back to Clemson. Many of the football stars, as well as many future star players, were among those who were expelled.

October 13, 1917—Clemson downed Furman 38-0, as the Tigers' Stumpy Banks scored five touchdowns.

Oct. 4, 1926—Bud Saunders, Clemson head football coach, resigned in the middle of the season. Cul Richards and Frank Padgett were put in charge of the squad.

October 15, 1926—Bob Williams was named advisory coach.

December 27, 1926—Josh Cody was named head football coach at Clemson.

September 19, 1928—Clemson began this season with new uniforms. The Tigers wore a brilliant orange jersey for the first time, with black composition cloth strips on the front with purple numbers.

September 20, 1929—Clemson announced the completion of its first press box which would accommodate about 30 writers. The glass enclosed box was completed with heaters and electric fans for ventilation.

December, 1928 - O.K. Pressley, a center, is named third-team All-American by the Newspaper Enterprise Association. He is Clemson's first All-American in any sport.

October 17, 1930—Maxcey Welch scored five touchdowns (all rushing) in Clemson's 75-0 win over Newberry.

March 13, 1930—Josh Cody signed a three-year contract to stay at Clemson.

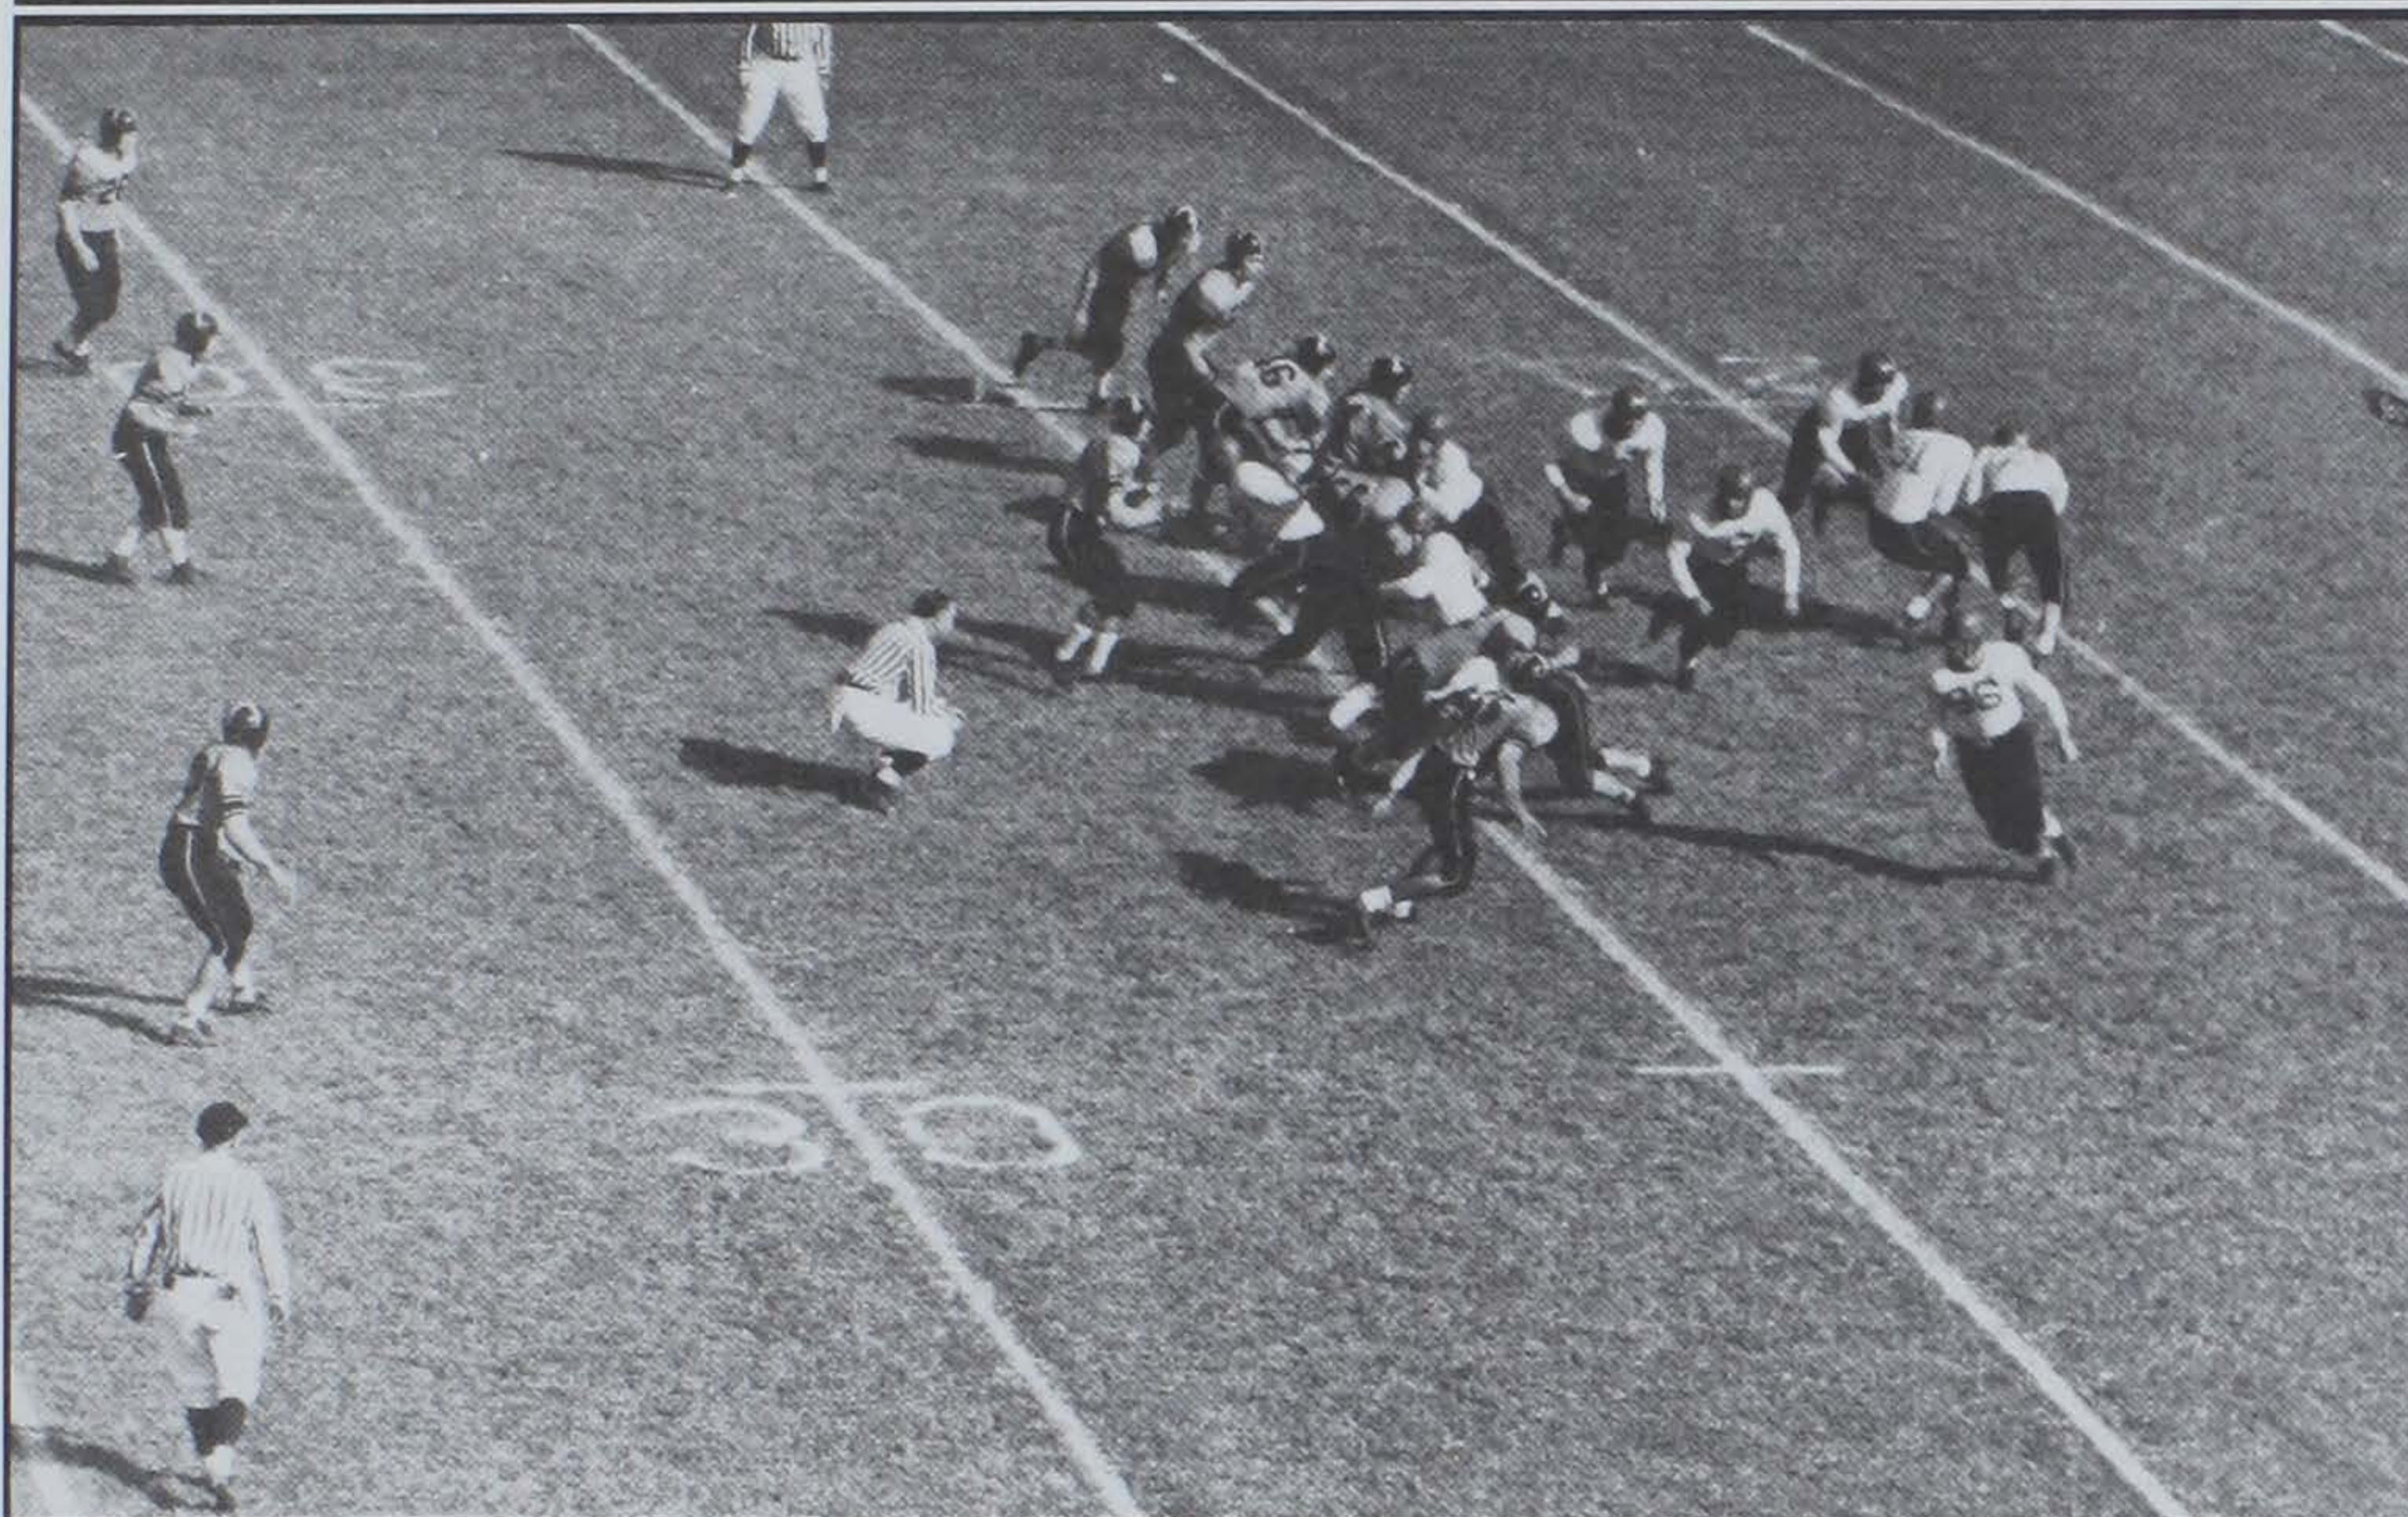

November 26, 1930—Josh Cody resigned as head football coach.

January 17, 1931—Jess Neely was named head football coach at Clemson.

Clemson ran the single wing in its perfect 1948 season.

October 14, 1933—Clemson played at George Washington in a 0-0 tie. This was the first time Clemson had ever played under the lights. Fans followed the game on a grid graph in Tillman Hall at the Clemson chapel. A grid was an electrical machine that was marked off like a football field. Lights were so arranged on the graph that every possible play was flashed on the board. The lineups of both teams were written on the sides and the man carrying the ball on each play had a light flashed by his name. Another light representing the runner moved along the board in the same direction and for the same distance as the runner.

August 20, 1934—IPTAY was founded.

November 19, 1935—First night time practice. Two powerful floodlights were installed on one of Clemson's practice fields enabling the Tigers to get in more practice time.

September 23, 1939—Banks McFadden ran 90 yards for a touchdown in Clemson's 18-0 win over Presbyterian.

November 13, 1939—Clemson was ranked in the Associated Press poll for the first time. Clemson claimed the number-16 spot in the poll.

December 8, 1939—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Cotton Bowl.

December 15, 1939—Banks McFadden was named Clemson's second All-American in football.

January 1, 1940—In Clemson's first bowl appearance, it defeated Boston College 6-3. Charlie Timmons scored the game's lone touchdown from two yards out.

January 10, 1940—Jess Neely resigned as athletic director and football coach to accept the head football coaching job at Rice University. Neely inherited a $47,000 deficit when he arrived in 1931 and earned Clemson $100,000 during his tenure and left Clemson with $57,000 in the treasury. His overall record at Clemson was 43-35-7.

January 11, 1940—Frank Howard was named head football coach.

May 30, 1940—Banks McFadden was named Nation's Most Versatile Athlete.

July 25, 1940—Banks McFadden accepted a bid to play in the College All-Star game against the Green Bay Packers on August 29.

September 1, 1940—Banks McFadden signed a one-year contract to play with the Brooklyn Dodgers professional football team.

September 2, 1940—Frank Howard opened his first fall practice.

September 21, 1940—In Frank Howard's first game as head coach, Clemson scored on the first play as George Floyd reversed around left end and raced 18 yards across untouched for a Clemson touchdown.

November 23, 1940—Clemson won the Southern Conference football title with a 13-7 victory over Furman.

October 6, 1941—Work began on Memorial Stadium. The work of cleaning, digging and leveling the site as well as cutting large trees and clearing underbrush was supervised by Frank Howard. A pipe was also installed for drainage under the field.

October 11, 1941—Clemson defeated Boston College at Fenway Park, 26-13.

November 15, 1941—Clemson defeated Wake Forest, 29-0, in the last game at Riggs Field.

September 19, 1942—Clemson ran down the hill for the first time. Butch Butler gained 192 yards, as the Tigers opened the new stadium in front of 5,500 with a 32-13 win over Presbyterian. High school students were admitted for 25 cents, while servicemen were allowed in for 50 cents.

October 22, 1942—Clemson defeated South Carolina, 18-6. Autographed balls were auctioned off at the game. For a minimum of $1,000 a fan could bid on one of the balls. The fan's money would then be used to buy war bonds.

October 19, 1944—First rain at a Clemson-USC game since 1896.

September 22, 1945—Fourteen Clemson backs netted 516 yards in a 76-0 win over Presbyterian. Bobby Gage led the Tigers with 144 yards.

September 23, 1947—Clemson flew to Boston College on an Eastern Airline DC-4. This marked the first time that a state football team had flown to a football game.

November 8, 1947—Clemson began a 15-game winning streak, the longest in school history, with a win over Furman, 35-7.

November 22, 1947—Bobby Gage ran for 141 yards and passed for 233 as he led Clemson to a 34-18 win over Auburn. Gage threw four touchdown passes and had 374 yards total offense to his credit, both still Clemson records.

September 25, 1948—Clemson defeated Presbyterian 53-0 in the first night game at Clemson.

November 27, 1948—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Gator Bowl.

January 1, 1949—The Tigers won the Gator Bowl by a 24-23 score over Missouri. Jack Miller's 32-yard field goal in the fourth quarter proved to be the winning margin.

November 28, 1950—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Orange Bowl.

January 1, 1951—Clemson appeared in the Orange Bowl for the first time and squeaked out a 15-14 win over Miami. Sterling Smith's tackle of Frank Smith in the end zone gave Clemson a safety with under six minutes left in the game and gave the Tigers the victory.

November 27, 1951—Clemson accepted a bid to play in the Gator Bowl.

May 8, 1953—Clemson joined the Atlantic Coast Conference.

June 22, 1956—Joel Wells was the cover boy of the 1956 Official NCAA Guide. The Guide is compiled by the NCAA and contains data on all major college teams in the nation.

November 16, 1956—Vice President Richard Nixon was in attendance at the Clemson-Miami football game on this date. Surrounded by security from various agencies, a loud explosion sounded and alarmed the body guard along with the Vice President. To everyone's relief, it was discovered that it was just the cannon fired off by a Clemson cheerleader when Clemson kicked off. The eighth-ranked Hurricanes defeated the Tigers 21-0 in the game played at Miami, FL.

December 1, 1956—Clemson clinched an Orange Bowl berth with a 28-7 win over Furman at Clemson.

March 25, 1957—It was announced that Clemson and South Carolina would play at Clemson on November 12, 1960 ending the 61-year old state classic, Big Thursday.

September 20, 1958—Clemson ran down the hill on a rug for the first time. The rug was officially given to Clemson on this date before the Clemson-Virginia game by W.W.Pate, Sr., president of Wunda Weave Company. It measured 104 feet long and was 13 feet wide. Also at this game, Clemson's recent expansion of Memorial Stadium was used for the first time.

Memorial Stadium was expanded from 20,000 to 38,000 seats.

September 27, 1958—Clemson defeated North Carolina, 26-21, as Frank Howard picked up his 100th collegiate coaching win. Also the scoreboard at the east of the stadium was used for the first time. The scoreboard had an added feature, as the Tiger above the scoreboard still wags his tail after each Clemson touchdown.

October 6, 1958—Clemson was ranked eighth in the country, the highest ranking in Clemson history, at that time.

November 19, 1958—Clemson defeated N.C. State 13-6 and won its second ACC title in three years.

November 29, 1958—Clemson accepted a Sugar Bowl bid to face the number-one team in the nation, LSU.

December 24, 1958—It was announced that Clemson would take the rug the Tigers used to run down the hill with them to the Sugar Bowl. The rug weighed 527 pounds.

December 27, 1958—Clemson announced it would wear navy blue jerseys with wide numerals front and back. Orange helmets with a white stripe from back to front in the center would also be worn to give a contrasting color for the nationwide television coverage of the game.

January 1, 1959—Number-one ranked LSU defeated Clemson 7-0 in the Sugar Bowl.

October 22, 1959—Clemson won the last Big Thursday game by defeating South Carolina, 27-0. Clemson fans tore down the steel goal posts which were set in concrete.

November 21, 1959—Clemson defeated Wake Forest 33-31 for Clemson's second ACC title in a row.

November 28, 1959—Clemson defeated Furman 56-3 and accepted a bid to the first Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston, Texas on December 19 against TCU.

December 19, 1959—Clemson defeated TCU in the Bluebonnet Bowl, 23-7.

October 1, 1960—The west stands were used for the first time, as Clemson defeated Virginia Tech, 13-7.

October 8, 1960—Clemson defeated Virginia 21-7 and used special pants for rain protection in this game. After the contest Clemson sent the pants to Greenville and allowed Furman to use the pants for a game that night against William and Mary. Furman Head Coach Bob King said, "after those big Clemson boys got out of them some of our guys had a hard time making them stay up and we had to tape the legs of the pants for several players." The pants beat two teams from Virginia on the same day.

November 12, 1960—Clemson defeated South Carolina, 12-2, in the first ever appearance for South Carolina at Clemson.

November 11, 1961—A team resembling Clemson entered the field prior to the meeting with South Carolina. They did a few serious calisthenics and then started dancing to band music. The team was actually members of the Sigma Nu Fraternity of South Carolina. Clemson students entered the field and worked some of the imposters over. Finally state police brought order to the field.

October 13, 1962—Hal Davis raced 98 yards with a kickoff return for a touchdown against Georgia, the last time a Tiger would return a kickoff for a score for 25 years.

January 2, 1989—Clemson became the first ACC team to defeat Oklahoma in a 13-6 Florida Citrus Bowl victory. Clemson held the Oklahoma offense without a touchdown for just the second time in the decade of the eighties. Clemson closed the season with a #9 ranking and became the only school in the nation to win a conference title, a bowl game and rank in the final Top 20 for three straight years.

September 9, 1989—Clemson earned a landmark victory at Florida State, 34-23. The Tigers jumped out to a 21-0 lead behind a 73-yard interception return by Wayne Simmons and a 73-yard touchdown run by Terry Allen. The victory moved Clemson to number-seven in the AP poll and it was the last loss of the season for Florida State, who eventually ended the season ranked third in the nation.

November 18, 1989—Clemson slaughtered South Carolina 45-0, the largest margin of victory for Clemson in the series in 89 years. Clemson outgained the Gamecocks 466-155, and picked up 355 yards rushing. Clemson's fifth-ranked defense forced five turnovers.

December 30, 1989—The Tigers defeated West Virginia 27-7 in the Gator Bowl. It was Clemson's fourth straight bowl victory and the fourth straight year Clemson concluded the season ranked in the national top 20. The Tigers held West Virginia to just 119 yards passing and forced Heisman Trophy runner up Major Harris into three fumbles. The win gave Clemson 38 wins in a four-year period, an all-time ACC record.

January 18, 1990—Danny Ford resigned as head coach after 11 full seasons. He finished his career tied for first in ACC history in career victories with 96 and he was second in winning percentage. He had a 96-29-4 overall record and 76 percent winning mark. He was the third winningest active coach in the nation at the time of his resignation.

January 21, 1990—Ken Hatfield became Clemson's 22nd head coach. Hatfield had been the head coach at Arkansas since 1984 and took his alma mater to bowl games each of his six seasons.

January 1, 1991—Clemson shut out Illinois 30-0 in its first Hall of Fame Bowl appearance. It was Clemson's largest margin of victory in a bowl game. The win elevated Clemson to #9 in the final AP poll and gave Clemson a Top 10 ranking in Ken Hatfield's first year. He was the first ACC coach ever to take a team to a Top 10 ranking in his first year. It was a record 40th win for Clemson's seniors.

October 26, 1991—Clemson wore purple jerseys for the first time since the 1930s in a 29-19 victory over 10th-ranked (USA Today) N.C. State. The 18th-ranked (AP) Tigers were led by freshman Nelson Welch, who kicked a Clemson record five field goals. Clemson scored its first touchdown on a fake field goal as Rudy Harris ran three yards for a score.

November 16, 1991—The Tigers clinched their 12th ACC Championship, first under Ken Hatfield, with a 40-7 win over Maryland at Death Valley. DeChane Cameron was 13-23 for 213 yards in leading Clemson to victory in his final home game.

November 30, 1991—Clemson ran its overseas record to 2-0 with a 33-21 win over Duke in the Coca Cola Bowl in Tokyo, Japan. Clemson had to score 26 points in the fourth period to register the victory. It was Ken Hatfield's 100th win as a college coach.

September 12, 1992—Florida State defeated Clemson 24-20 in the first night game at Clemson since 1956. The contest was televised by ESPN. The Seminoles led by quarterback Charlie Ward, scored the winning TD in the two final minutes.

October 10, 1992—Clemson overcame a 28-0 deficit to defeat Virginia in Charlottesville 29-28. Nelson Welch kicked a 32-yard field goal with 52 seconds left to cap the comeback. Quarterback Louis Solomon came off the bench with the score 28-0 and led the comeback. His 64-yard scoring run just before the half changed the course of the game. The victory over the 10th-ranked Cavaliers was just the third in Clemson history over a top-10 team on the road.

November 7, 1992—Clemson soundly defeated #18 North Carolina 40-7 at Death Valley, the largest margin of victory for the Tigers over a top 20 team in history. Freshman Patrick Sapp hit 13-23 passes for 205 yards, while Rodney Blunt scored three TDs in leading the Clemson offense. The Tigers controlled the clock for a record 42:58.

September 4, 1993—Clemson opened the 1993 season with a defeat of UNLV in the first meeting between the two teams. Sophomore quarterback Patrick Sapp posted the sixth-highest passing efficiency mark in Clemson history (235.0) in the game, throwing two touchdown strikes in the 24-14 Tiger victory. But most of the strikes were coming from above, as the game was delayed 17 minutes in the fourth quarter due to lightning. Both teams and most fans cleared the field.

November 24, 1993—Coach Ken Hatfield and Clemson University announced a separation, ending Hatfield's four-year career as head coach. Hatfield sought a contract extension, but Clemson administrators declined. Hatfield was 32-13-1 at Clemson and his .707 winning percentage is third in ACC history.

November 29, 1993—Tommy West was named Clemson's 23rd head coach and took over the Clemson team heading for the Peach Bowl. West, who spent the 1993 regular season as head coach at UT Chattanooga, became the sixth coach in Division I history to make his head coaching debut for a school in a bowl game and the second coach to ever become head coach for a bowl game after not serving as an assistant at that school during the regular season.

December 31, 1993—The Tigers scored the latest touchdown to gain victory in a game since 1958, as Patrick Sapp connected with Terry Smith with 0:20 remaining to defeat Kentucky, 14-13, in the Peach Bowl. West experienced his fifth consecutive bowl victory with Clemson, as the Tigers won four straight bowl games during his years as an assistant (1986-89).

Former Head Coaches

Walter Riggs

WALTER RIGGS, 1896, 1899

Walter Riggs could easily be called the father of Clemson Football. He coached the football program at Clemson, not only because he had football experience, but he was also one of only two people on the Clemson campus to have ever seen a football game when the sport started in 1896. (The other person was Frank Thompkins who played in the backfield on Clemson's first team in 1896).

On September 30, 1896, a small crowd gathered in one of the barrack's rooms and the group discussed the feasibility of organizing a football association. A committee of three was appointed to consult Professor Riggs as to management of a football team and to ask his aid as coach.

When the Tigers traveled to Furman for their first game on October 28, 1896, it was the first time that many of the players had ever seen a full-sized regulation football field.

Riggs stepped down as football coach after the first season because the players wanted him to devote all of his time to being a professor in the engineering department.

Clemson athletics and Riggs, however, could not be split. Although not given the title, Riggs also was the equivalent of an athletic director, managing money and making contracts with other teams.

Riggs could easily be called a loyal man, as he answered the need of the Clemson football team again in 1899. The Clemson Athletic Association was low on money and could not afford to hire a coach. So Riggs once again answered the call of the school and became the coach of the 1899 team for free.

Riggs originally came to Clemson from Auburn. He graduated with top honors in 1892 with a B.S. degree in electrical and mechanical engineering. At Auburn, he was captain and catcher of the baseball team as well as the manager and left end of the football team. He also served as class president and was the director of the Glee Club.

Upon his graduation at Auburn, he was assistant to the president of the college until 1896, then he made his trek to Clemson.

on March 7, 1911 and in 1915, a new football stadium with other athletic facilities was named in his honor as Riggs Field. It is currently the home of the Tiger soccer team. In two years of coaching, Riggs guided the Tigers to a career record of 6-3 overall.

W. M. WILLIAMS, 1897

Clemson's second coach, W.M. Williams, was a native of West Point, GA. He played at Auburn on the teams of '94, '95, and '96, under the coaching of John Heisman. He was considered the best blocking halfback in the south.

Williams led Clemson to the state championship and to a 2-2 season. During his time as coach, Clemson played two games in a matter of three days. Clemson was victorious over the Charlotte Y on October 23, but lost to North Carolina 28-0, on October 25.

JOHN PENTON, 1898

The Tigers' third coach, J.A. Penton of Alabama, was captain and starting guard on the University of Virginia teams of '93, '94, and '95. Penton also played fullback at Auburn in '97 under Heisman's coaching. Under Penton, Clemson won 55-0 over Bingham in its first home game, as W.C. Forsythe kicked every point after touchdown (11). In his only season at Clemson, Penton guided Clemson to a 3-1 record and the state championship.

JOHN HEISMAN, 1900-1903

Probably one of the most famous football coaches in America, John Heisman, coached at Clemson from 1900 to 1903. Heisman turned Clemson from virtually an unknown college to a southern powerhouse at the turn of the century.

Heisman attended Brown University, taking the two-year law course offered at that time, and was a center on the football team. In the fall of 1889, he transferred to the University of Pennsylvania. He lettered in football at both schools and graduated from Pennsylvania in 1893.

In the spring of 1894, Walter Riggs was a graduate manager for the football team at Auburn. It fell on his shoulders to find a coach for the season of 1895. Riggs wrote to Carl Williams, the Pennsylvania captain of 1894, asking him to suggest a suitable coach. He replied recommending J.W. Heisman, an ex-Penn player, and his coach at Oberlin.

After several weeks, Riggs finally found Heisman in Texas, where he was engaged in raising tomatoes. Having sunk about all of his capital into the tomato venture, he was glad to go back to his old love and he readily went to coach at Auburn for $500.00 a year.

His coaching career began at Oberlin in 1892 and lasted 36 years. It included positions at Akron, Auburn, Clemson, Georgia Tech, Penn, Washington and Jefferson, and Rice University. He had an overall career record of 185 wins, 70 losses, and 17 ties.

John Heisman invented the hidden ball trick, the handoff, the double lateral, and the "flea flicker." He pioneered the forward pass, arguing that it would scatter the mob. Coach Heisman also originated the center snap and the word hike (previously the center used to roll the ball on the ground to the quarterback).

Heisman guided Clemson to its first "bowl game" in 1904, when Clemson and Cumberland met on November 26, for the championship of the South. Cumberland, who had earlier defeated Auburn, Alabama, and Vanderbilt, was considered to be champion of the southern states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, and Kentucky. The game was played on a neutral site, Montgomery, Al. Cumberland and Clemson fought to an 11-11 tie. After the news got back to Clemson that the game ended in a tie, the students and the local townspeople built a bonfire and paraded around the campus.

Overall, Heisman took Clemson to a 19-3-2 record in his four seasons at Clemson. His .833 winning percentage is still the best in Clemson history. He was also the Clemson baseball coach in 1901-1904.

SHACK SHEALY, 1904

Shack Shealy holds the distinction of being the only Clemson player to have coached his alma mater. Shealy lettered at Clemson in 1896, 97, 98, and 99 and later played two years at Iowa State. Shealy was a four-year starter playing right guard, end, and in his senior year, he played in the backfield. Shealy only coached Clemson one year in 1904, and guided the Tigers to a 3-3-1 record overall, which included wins over Alabama, Georgia, and Tennessee.

ED COCHEMS, 1905

Ed Cochems lettered at the University of Wisconsin in 1899, 1900, and 1901. Cochems was described as a great halfback or end on the strong Wisconsin teams at the turn of the century, including the undefeated team of 1901. During his playing career, he had a 100-yard kickoff return in a 35-0 win over Chicago in 1901, and had four touchdowns in a game against Notre Dame in 1900. After his playing days, he immediately went into coaching. He was the head coach of North Dakota in 1902 and 1903 and served briefly as an assistant with former teammate, Art Curtis at Wisconsin in 1904.

Cochems led Clemson to a 3-2-1 record overall, including wins over Georgia and Auburn. After his Clemson career, he was head coach and athletic director at St.

two schools that are involved in rivalry. Williams coached football at both Clemson and South Carolina. Before coming to Clemson, he coached at Davidson in 1905. He coached at South Carolina for two years and guided the Gamecocks to a 6-1 record in 1902 and an 8-2 slate in 1903.

During his South Carolina career, he administered the most unexpected defeat of Clemson, as he beat a heavily favored John Heisman team, 12-6 in 1902.

Williams served the Tigers as head coach a total of three terms 1906, 1909, and 1913-15. Between the years of 1915 and 1926, Williams practiced law in Roanoke, VA, and was the city's mayor.

One of the highlights of his Clemson career included leading the 1906 Tigers to an undefeated season (4-0-3), which included wins over Georgia, Auburn, Tennessee, and a Heisman-coached Georgia Tech team.

FRANK SHAUGHNESSY, 1907

Frank Shaughnessy was known for his ability as an administrator in sports as he served many positions, from a professional hockey coach to the commissioner of the International Baseball (Triple A) League.

A graduate in law at Notre Dame, he was captain of the baseball and football teams his junior and senior seasons. After his graduation in 1905, he coached baseball at Notre Dame. The summer before coming to Clemson he played for Ottawa of the Eastern League. That summer, he played left field and had a .352 batting average. He also played with Washington and the Philadelphia A's.

At Clemson he coached the baseball teams in 1907 and 1908, and was head football mentor in 1907, posting a 4-4 record.

During his lifetime, Shaughnessy made his name in baseball, but he took part in many other sports. Besides being a sports legend at Notre Dame, he managed the Ottawa Senators of a professional hockey league and coached football teams at Clemson, Washington and Lee and McGill University. He retired as the president of the International Baseball league.

During his football playing days, in a game against Kansas, Shaughnessy raced 107 yards for the only Irish touchdown as Kansas won, 24-5. Football fields were 110 yards back then and touchdowns were five points. This is still a Notre Dame record.

JOHN STONE, 1908

John Stone is one of three coaches to have graduated from Vanderbilt and later become a Clemson head football coach. At Vanderbilt, he was a member of the All-Southern Football team for four seasons. He was a big man for his time, standing 6'2". Clemson was 1-6 in 1908, but the Tigers lost many of their star players and substitutes from 1907 due to a college prank that saw as many as 306 students expelled from school.

FRANK DOBSON, 1910-12

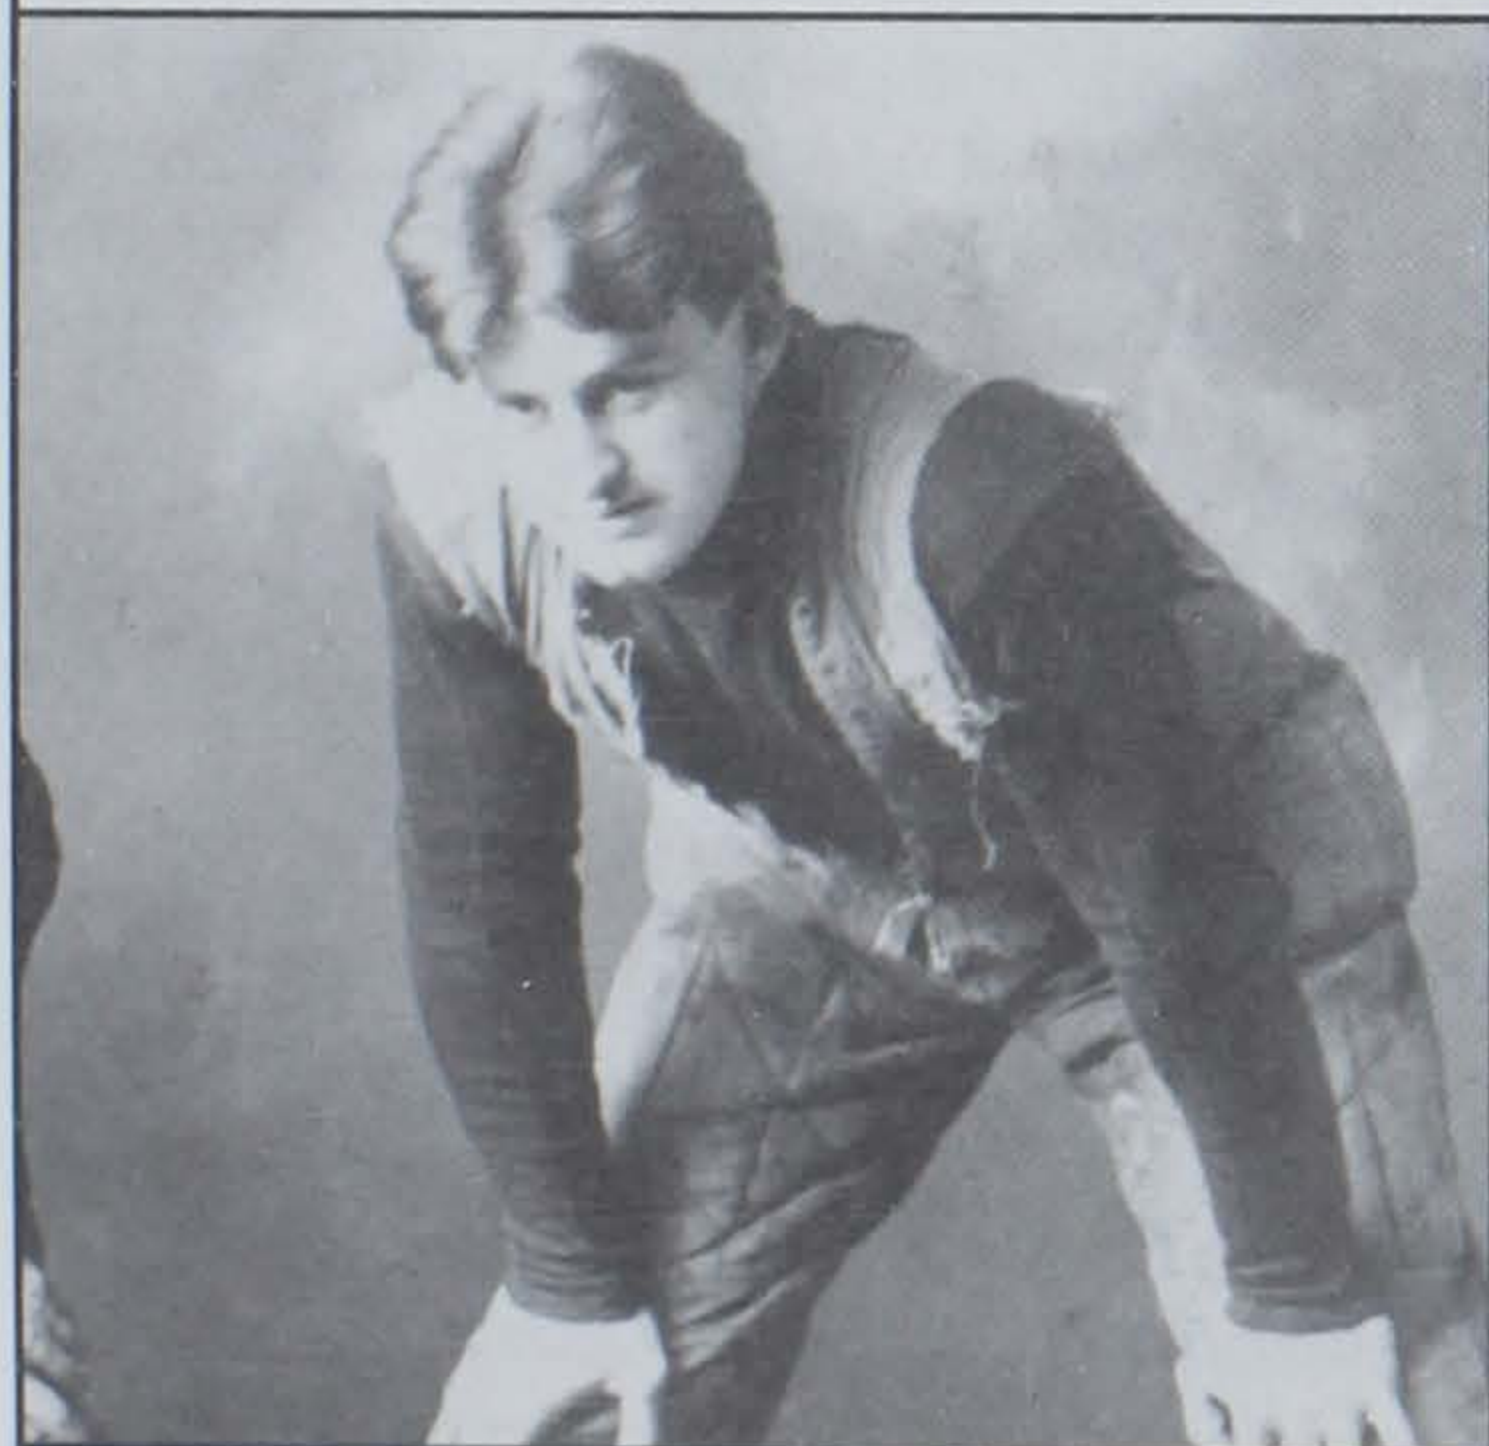

Frank Dobson was a professional baseball player before coming to Clemson as he was the property of the Pittsburgh Nationals. Walter Riggs, President of the Clemson Athletic Association, thought it was unfair to keep shuffling coaches year after year. Riggs offered Dobson a three-year contract, which was the first contract offered and signed by a Clemson coach.

At Clemson, he coached football, basketball and baseball. He was Clemson's first basketball coach, leading Clemson to its only undefeated season in history in the inaugural season 1911-12, (4-0). In 1912-13, Clemson finished the basketball season with a 9-5 record. He was head baseball coach in 1911-1913.

WAYNE HART, 1916

Wayne Hart coached Clemson in 1916 and led Clemson to a 3-6 finish. Under Hart, the Tigers defeated state rivals Furman and South Carolina.

Hart played three years at tackle for Georgetown. He also played one year at George Washington. He was a member of the All-South Atlantic team for four years. He was also an assistant coach at Georgetown. In 1913, he coached the Washington Vigilants, a professional

Eddie Cochems

Louis University in 1906. After the forward pass was legalized in 1906, Cochems did something with the pass at once in his first year at St. Louis, while other coaches stuck with the running game. He taught his players not to throw the ball end-over-end, but instead like a projectile - a spiral. He called this new weapon a projectile pass.

In 1906, St. Louis went undefeated rolling up 407 points while allowing its opponents only 11.

Historians credit Cochems as being the first coach to use and perfect the first legal pass in a game. The first studied refinements in throwing the ball, which led to the spiral, occurred in 1906 under Cochems. Brad Robinson of St. Louis University threw the first forward pass to Jack Schneider in a game played Sept. 5, 1906 in Waukensha against Carroll College.

Bob Williams is probably the only coach in the country to have coached football at football team, and did not lose a game. The last two seasons before arriving at Clemson, he coached various sports at Technical High School in Washington, D. C.

EDWARD DONAHUE, 1917-20

Edward Donahue had to be one of the most organized men in the country. During the 1918-19 school year, Donahue was head coach of four Clemson sports: football, basketball, baseball, and track. During his four-year career at Clemson, he was basketball and baseball coach for two seasons, and head track coach for one season.

Donahue was an outstanding athlete at Washington and Lee as he played in the backfield on the football team and played catcher on the baseball team. Upon graduation, Donahue was an assistant coach in football and was the head coach in baseball and basketball.

E. J. STEWART, 1921-22

E. J. Stewart was head football coach for two years at Clemson, 1921-22. However, he coached more than one sport during his stay at Tigertown. In the spring of 1921, Stewart coached the baseball and track teams while conducting spring football practice. In the fall, Stewart's football team went 1-6-2, but he improved to a 5-4 slate in 1922. He went on to coach the track teams in 1922 and 1923.

Stewart played football, baseball, basketball and ran track at Western Reserve University in Ohio. Upon his graduation, he played, organized and served as head coach in Ohio of the Massillon, Ohio Professional football team.

He also coached at Nebraska and the University of Texas. At Nebraska, he led the Cornhuskers to a combined record of 11-4 in 1916-1917. They also won the Missouri Valley Conference title both seasons. After leaving the University of Nebraska, he entered the automobile business as President and Treasurer of the Stewart Motor Co. Because of the economic conditions at the time, he decided to go back into coaching.

BUD SAUNDERS, 1923-26

Bud Saunders graduated from Missouri in 1911, with a bachelors degree in Law. At Missouri, he played football and basketball.

He wanted to play two other sports, but a conference rule at the time forbid an athlete from participating in more than two sports.

Saunders was football coach at Knox College before coming to Clemson. In football, Saunders coached for four seasons, 1923-1926. He also coached the basketball teams in 1924 and 1925. His best season in football came in 1923, as he led the Tigers to a 5-2-1 slate.

JOSH CODY, 1927-1930

Josh Cody, fondly known as "big man," will always be a favorite to Clemson fans. Cody, a big man in stature at 6-2, 220 pounds, led Clemson to victories over South Carolina for four straight years. He is the only coach in Clemson history who has been around more than two years who never lost a football game to South Carolina. He also defeated Furman three straight years. Cody had a 13-0-1 record in home games and had a 72 percent winning mark overall, fourth best in Clemson history.

After a 5-3-1 start in 1927, Cody guided Clemson to two 8-3 seasons in 1928 and 1929. On May 6, 1929, to show appreciation to Cody, he was presented with a new buick by the alumni, student body and faculty. This presentation took place in front of Tillman Hall.

In his final season, 1930, the Tigers finished with an 8-2 record. Cody also coached basketball at Clemson for five years and guided Clemson to a 16-9 slate in 1930. During the 1928-30 seasons, he guided Clemson to a 22-4 mark at home.

JESS NEELY, 1931-39

Clemson played in its first bowl game under Jess Neely in the 1940 Cotton Bowl. The Tigers, unknown at the time, became a household word after beating heavily-favored Boston College 6-3 in the Cotton Bowl Classic. Neely came to Clemson in 1931 and his recruitment of Banks McFadden brought Clemson to another level of competition. In 1938, Neely had Clemson at second place in the Southern Conference with a 7-1-1 record. In 1939, Banks McFadden became Clemson's first All-American, and the team concluded the season with a trip to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl. Neely left Clemson that spring and moved on to Rice, where he took that school to new heights. Neely is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

FRANK HOWARD, 1940-69

Frank Howard succeeded Jess Neely in 1940 when Neely moved on to Rice. Howard got the job when he seconded his own nomination during a meeting of the president and athletic council. Howard signed a one-year contract, then lost the document, and never had another in his 30 years as head coach.

Howard graduated from Alabama in 1931 where he was a football star lineman. He played in the 1930 Rose Bowl, then started his coaching career under Neely at Clemson in 1931, and was a part of a rebirth of Clemson football in the late 1930s. He was an assistant coach on Clemson's 1939 team that posted a 9-1 mark and beat Boston College 6-3 in the Tigers' first bowl game.

In 1940, he began his head coaching career with a bang as he won the Southern Conference championship, the first of eight conference titles Howard won in his coaching career.

Howard had his most successful season in 1948 when he took Clemson to an 11-0 record, the Tigers' first perfect season since 1900. The campaign included a Southern Conference championship, a Gator Bowl win over Missouri, and a number-11 final ranking. He nearly duplicated the feat in 1950 when he guided Clemson to a number-10 AP final ranking, a 9-0-1 finish and a 15-14 win over Miami (FL) in the Orange Bowl.

When he retired in 1969, Howard was the fifth winningest coach in the nation with 165 victories. He had 96 wins as an ACC coach, tying the ACC record for coaching victories, and he captured six (five outright and one co-championship) ACC titles, more than any other coach. His teams appeared in six bowl games, 63 of his players were drafted by the NFL and 37 played in the league.

Howard, a native of Barlow Bend, AL, had six Top 20 seasons, won eight conference titles (two Southern and six ACC), won an even 100 conference games and was a two-time ACC Coach-of-the-Year. He coached 25 academic All-ACC selections and five Academic All-Americans. Eleven of his players were chosen on-the-field All-Americans. Howard was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1989.

HOOTIE INGRAM, 1970-1972

Hootie Ingram will be best remembered as the coach who made the Tiger Paw famous. Before his first year as head coach in the summer of 1970, Clemson introduced the Tiger Paw as the official logo of Clemson University's Athletic teams.

Ingram graduated from the University of Alabama in 1955. He also received his master's in school administration from Alabama and is now athletic director for the Crimson Tide program.

The native of Tuscaloosa, AL was an All-Southeastern Conference defensive back for the Crimson Tide his senior year.

Ingram had his best year at Clemson during the 1971 campaign with a 5-6 overall record. He also finished second in the ACC with a 4-2 league mark in 1971.

RED PARKER, 1973-76

Red Parker coached at Clemson for four years. His 1974 team lived up to the theme "Excitement Galore, Clemson Football '74." It finished the season with a 7-4 record (6-0 at home), with wins over Georgia, Georgia Tech and South Carolina.

Before arriving at Clemson, Red Parker spent seven years at The Citadel from 1966 through 1972. During this time, he guided the Bulldogs to a fine 8-3 finish in 1971.

Parker earned a BA degree in Physical Education from Arkansas A&M in 1953. Prior to his graduation, he earned three letters each in football, basketball and track, as a running back-defensive back, second baseman-shortstop, and sprinter.

CHARLEY PELL, 1977-78

Charley Pell authored college football's Cinderella story in 1977.

The Albertville, AL product took a Clemson team that was 3-6-2 in 1976, and led the '77 Tigers to a sparkling 8-2-1 regular season mark and a berth in the Gator Bowl. It was Clemson's first final Top 20 season since 1959. He coached Clemson to a 10-1 regular season in 1978 before he left to become head coach at Florida. Clemson's 1978 team beat Ohio State in the Gator Bowl and finished sixth in the final AP poll in only his second year as head coach of Clemson.

He was a near unanimous choice as ACC Coach-of-the-Year. A two-way starter and three-year letterwinner at Alabama, Pell was a member of the Crimson Tide's 1961 National Championship team and played in the Orange, Sugar and Bluebonnet Bowls during his Alabama career.

He came to Clemson in 1976 and served as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator that year.

DANNY FORD, 1979-89

Danny Ford had an auspicious beginning to his head coaching career. He gained a 17-15 win over Ohio State in the 1978 Gator Bowl in a game shown on national television. The 30-year-old coach, youngest in Division I at the time, also defeated a college football legend in a contest that truly put Clemson football on the map as he beat Woody Hayes in the latter's last game. Ford had taken over the coaching reigns on December 10, 1978 when Charley Pell resigned to become head coach at Florida.

Ford kept things going in 1979 with wins over Georgia and Notre Dame and another trip to a bowl, this time the Peach Bowl. In 1981, he helped Clemson reach the summit of college football by winning the National Championship. His Tigers downed three top 10 teams during the course of the 12-0 season that concluded with a 22-15 victory over Nebraska in the Orange Bowl. Ford was named National Coach-of-the-Year.

The victories continued in 1982 and 1983 as Clemson had consecutive 9-1-1 seasons. The Tigers finished in the top 12 in both seasons, and thus had a 30-2-2 record over a three-year period, best in the nation.

Clemson won three straight ACC titles under his guidance between 1986 and 1988. In 1989, Clemson registered a 10-2 season and top 12 national ranking, the fourth straight season Clemson finished in the final AP top 20. He closed his career with a 27-7 win over West Virginia in the Gator Bowl, his sixth bowl win in eight tries and his fourth in succession.

Ford was the third winningest active coach in the nation on a percentage basis at the end of the 1989 season. He finished with a 96-29-4 career ledger at Clemson and remains the winningest coach in ACC history. He finished with a 76 percent winning percentage and five ACC titles, second only to Frank Howard's six crowns.

The 1969 Alabama graduate is still the youngest coach to win the national title, as he was just 33-years-old when the Tigers shocked the college football world in 1981. He coached 71 first-team All-ACC selections and 26 All-Americans. Forty-two of his former Tigers were drafted by the NFL, and he earned 18 wins over Associated Press top 20 teams during his career, more than any other ACC coach. Additionally, eight of his former players won Super Bowl Championship rings. At one stretch his teams were ranked in the AP top 20 for 41 consecutive polls, a Clemson record.

Ford was an All-SEC selection and was also an All-SEC Academic choice at Alabama. He attended Alabama initially on a basketball/football scholarship but played only football after his freshman year. He played in three bowl games for Alabama. He is now the head coach at Arkansas.

KEN HATFIELD, 1990-93

Ken Hatfield led the Tigers to a 32-13-1 record over his four year tenure, led the squad to three bowl appearances and an ACC Championship. With a victory over Illinois in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl, Hatfield became the first Clemson coach to win 10 games in his first year and his .833 winning percentage was the best for a first-year Clemson coach since 1900, when John Heisman was 6-0. That season included six wins over teams with winning records, more than any other team that year with the exception of National Champion Georgia Tech.

Hatfield was also just the eighth coach in the previous 13 years to take a team to a Top 10 AP final ranking in his first year with the program, as the Tigers finished the season ranked ninth in the AP poll. The Helena, AR, native would also lead the 1991 and 1993 teams to top 25-rankings. Clemson became the third school that Hatfield had coached to a Top-20 ranking, as his 1983 Air Force team ranked 15th and he led four Arkansas teams to top-20 rankings. Only six coaches in NCAA history have accomplished that feat.

Arkansas won back-to-back conference championships in 1988 and 1989 under Hatfield's guidance. He was named the Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Decade by the Houston Post.

Hatfield played for three years at Arkansas (1962-64) and was a starter on the National Championship team of 1964. A defensive back, he earned his fame as the nation's top punt returner in 1963 and 1964. He still ranks as the only college football player ever to finish in the top two in the nation in punt returns three straight seasons, as he finished second nationally in 1962. He is now the head coach at Rice University.

Two Clemson coaches, Danny Ford and Tommy West, have both coached their first game for Clemson in a bowl game.

1940 Cotton Bowl

Boston College 3

Jess Neely's last Clemson team won eight games in the regular season with just one loss to Tulane. The 8-1 Tigers were rewarded with an invitation to play Boston College in the fourth Cotton Bowl, but Clemson first had to get permission from the Southern Conference, which they immediately granted. The 1939 season not only resulted in Clemson's first bowl appearance, but also the Tigers' first first-team All-American, Banks McFadden.

On the last play of the first quarter, Bru Trexler punted to BC's Charlie O'Rourke, who fielded the punt on the Clemson 40 and returned it to the 13. Two running plays lost 10 yards, but on third down Frank Davis gained six. Alex Lukachik then kicked a 34-yard field goal to put the Eagles up, 3-0.

Clemson's scoring drive began when McFadden returned an Eagle punt to the 33. Charlie Timmons rushed for 15 yards in two plays, and two plays after that, McFadden hit Wister Jackson with a 16-yard pass to the Eagle 20. Timmons ran the final 20 yards in three carries, but Shad Bryant missed the extra point.

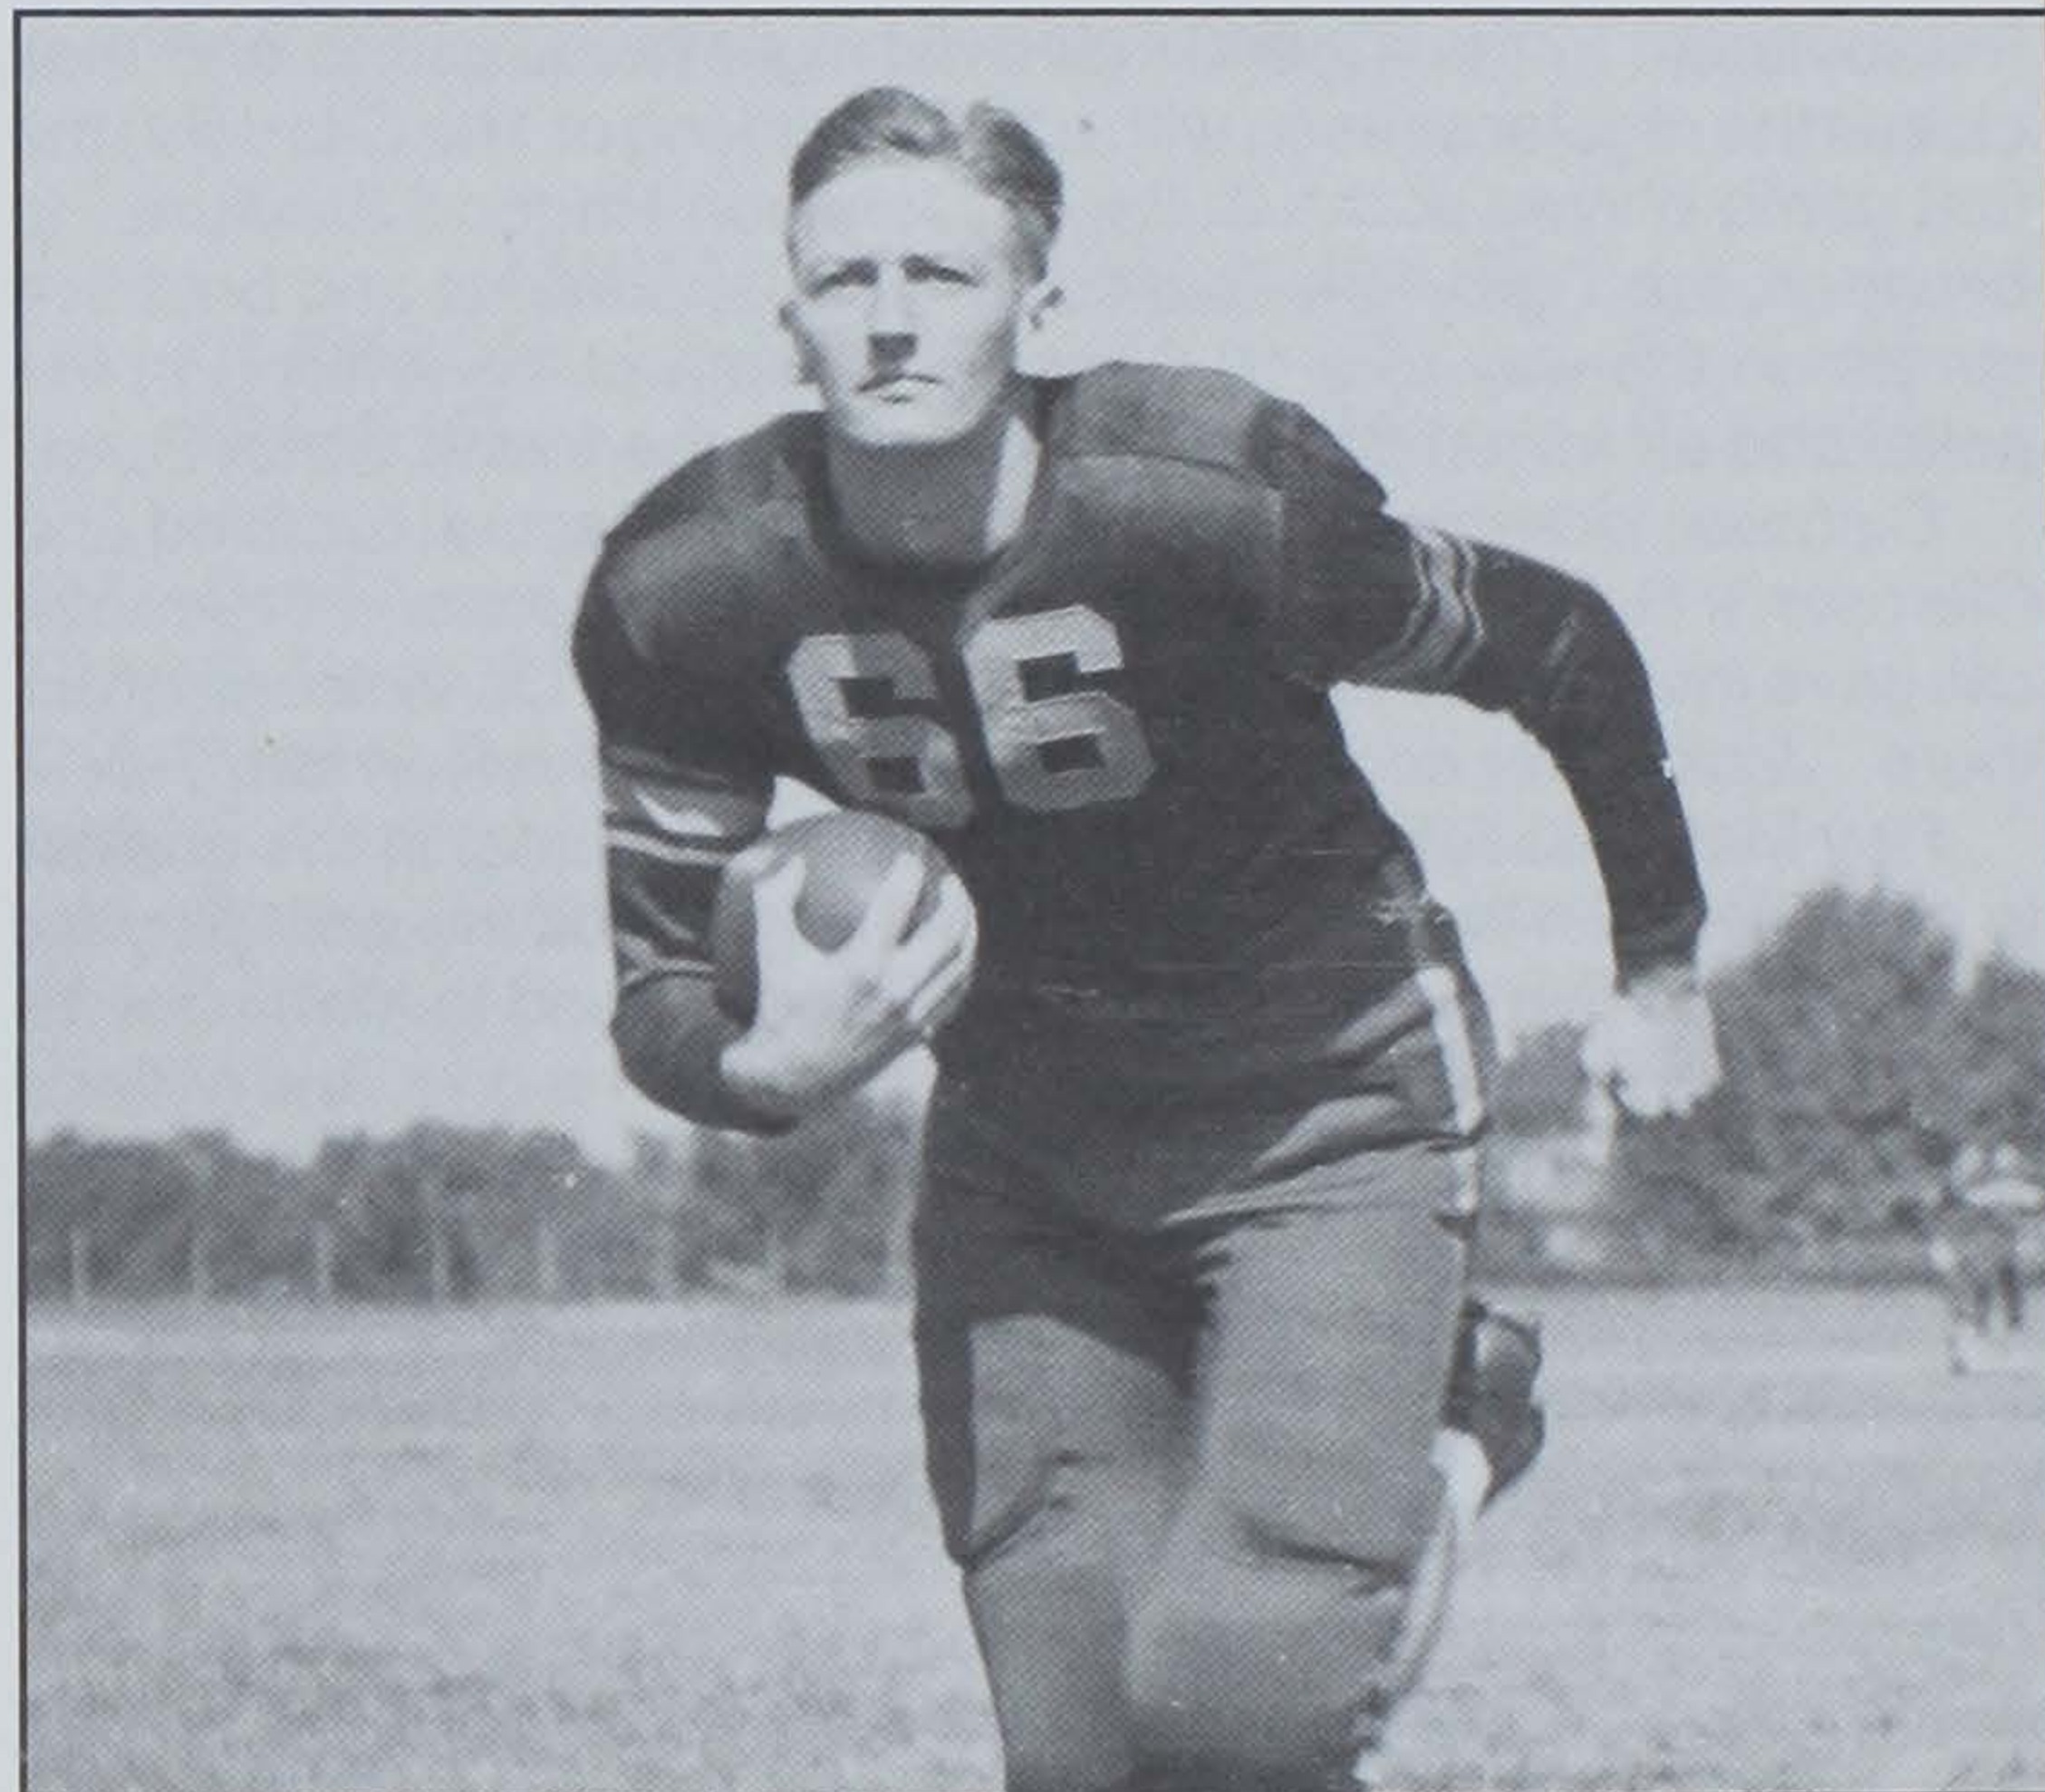

Later in the period, 51-yard punt by McFadden started Boston College at its 20. The Eagles fumbled on first down and Clemson's George Fritts recovered at the 24. The Tigers could do nothing with the gift, however, as Joe Blalock fumbled after a short pass.

The game turned into a defensive struggle in the second half, although Boston College did penetrate deep into Clemson territory on two occasions. The Eagles took the opening kickoff to the Clemson 19, but a holding penalty and an incomplete pass ended the threat and BC was forced to punt.

Late in the game, the Eagles drove to the Clemson 11, but Bryant and McFadden each broke up two passes and Clemson took over on downs.

McFadden effectively bottled up the Eagles other than those drives with his punting. His 45-yard average on nine kicks, Defense dominated Clemson's first bowl win ever as the two teams combined for just 20 first downs and 110 yards passing. Banks McFadden averaged 45 yards a punt on nine boots in his final game as a Tiger.

McFadden averaged 45 yards a punt, had four pass deflections and quarterbacked the Tigers in their first bowl game.

including two boots for 51 and 55 yards in the second half, prevented Boston College from getting good field position, and the Clemson defense made the 6-3 score stand.

1949 Gator Bowl

Missouri 23

Clemson opened the 1948 season with a 53-0 shutout of Presbyterian in the Tigers' first-ever night home game and they closed the regular season with a 20-0 blanking of The Citadel in the first game played at the Bulldogs' Johnson Hagood Stadium. In between, the Tigers shut out three more opponents and beat five others on the way to a 10-0 record, a ninth-place ranking in the polls, and an invitation to play Missouri in the fourth Gator Bowl.

Clemson kicked off, but three plays later Missouri fumbled and Clemson's Bob Martin recovered at the 19. A pass interference call gave the Tigers the ball at the one, and Fred Cone scored from there. Jack Miller added the point after and Clemson led, 7-0.

Ray Mathews recovered a Missouri fumble later in the quarter to give Clemson the ball at its 35. Mathews took the next play for 26 yards and five plays later Bobby Gage passed to Martin for 19 more. Cone scored for the second time from the one, and Miller's conversion gave the Southern Conference champs a 14-0 lead.

After a kickoff, Missouri launched an 80-yard drive to score its first touchdown. Harold Entsminger capped the 13-play march with a quarterback sneak from the two. Robertson Dawson added the seventh point.

Gage was intercepted on the next Clemson drive and Wilbur Volz returned the theft to the Missouri 46. Missouri kept the ball on the ground and Entsminger carried over from the one for the score. Dawson added his second point after and the game was tied up at 14.

Clemson took the second-half kickoff and used up six minutes of clock on the way to its third touchdown. Gage ran and passed for 19 yards on two separate plays and the Tigers scored on a flea-flicker pass from Cone to Gage to John Poulos in the end zone. Miller completed the 80-yard drive with his third PAT.

A Missouri punt rolled dead at the Clemson one, and after an incomplete pass, Gage threw a pass that hit the ground in the end zone and was ruled a safety. Clemson's lead was then cut to 21-16.

Clemson then launched an 11-play surge to the Missouri 12. With fourth-and-10, Miller kicked a 32-yard field goal that would prove to be the winning points.

Dave Ashley returned the kickoff to the Missouri 40, and seven plays later, halfback Richard Braznell passed to Kenneth Bounds for a 20-yard touchdown. Dawson added the point to bring Missouri within one point with five minutes left. (Two-point conversions were not a part of the game yet). Clemson took the kickoff and ran out the clock to preserve the win.

Clemson concluded its first perfect season under Frank Howard in a battle between two balanced offenses. Fred Cone and Ray Mathews combined for 155 yards and two TDs in a game in which both teams gained exactly 298 yards total offense.

Jack Miller, with Jim Miller (no relation) holding, gave Clemson a 24-23 win over Missouri in the 1949 Gator Bowl. It was Clemson's only field goal of the season and gave the Tigers a perfect 11-0 record.

1951 Orange Bowl

Miami (FL) 14

Rarely does a safety win a game, but it happened in the 1951 Orange Bowl. Sterling Smith of Clemson won the game on defense, while Billy Hair hit 9-16 passes for 178 yards to lead the offense.

Clemson's bid for a repeat of the 1948 perfect season ended when the Tigers had to rely on the toe of Charlie Radcliff to tie South Carolina after three season-opening shutouts. Clemson regrouped, however, with a 13-12 win at Wake Forest and then won the remaining four games by convincing margins. The Tigers' 8-0-1 mark and second-place finish in the Southern Conference earned them a bid to play Miami, who was also undefeated at 9-0-1, in the 17th Orange Bowl.

After a scoreless first quarter, Clemson got on track with a 45-yard pass from Billy Hair to Bob Hudson that put the Tigers at the Miami one. Fred Cone capped the 76-yard drive on third down with a sweep for the score and Radcliff tacked on the extra point.

Clemson mounted a six-play, 70-yard drive in the third quarter for its second touchdown. Hair threw a 31-yard pass to Ray Mathews, who, as the papers said, "made a circus catch with two men on his back" to move the Tigers to the Miami 28. Hair tossed a pass to Glenn Smith at the Miami seven and Smith scrambled in for the score. Radcliff's extra point try was blocked.

Miami caught fire two minutes later when Jack Delbello intercepted a pass in the Clemson end zone and returned it to the 40, and then a 10-yard penalty was assessed the Tigers for unnecessary roughness. On the next play, Frank Smith ran a reverse for 45 yards to move to the Clemson five. Harry Mallios took a pitch from quarterback Bob Schneidenbach in for the score and Gordon Watson added the conversion.

Miami went 95 yards in five plays for its second score. Ed Lutes caught a pass at midfield and rambled down to the Clemson 17 before he was stopped. On fourth down, Jack Hackett threw to Frank Smith for the score and Watson's point put Miami in the lead for the first time, 14-13.

Mallios' 80-yard punt return was called back and two clipping infractions and one unnecessary roughness penalty put Miami in a deep hole with six minutes left in the game. Frank Smith took a pitch-out from Hackett, but before Smith could get out of the end zone, Sterling Smith, a second-team defensive guard for Clemson, tripped him up for a safety, and Clemson led 15-14. Don Wade ended the last Miami threat with an interception, his second of the game, and Clemson ran out the clock for the win.

Clemson 0

Clemson won the first three games of the 1951 season as well as the last four. In between, however, the Tigers dropped games to Pacific and South Carolina on the road. The Gator Bowl Committee invited Clemson with its 7-2 record to play Miami (FL) in a rematch of the 1951 Orange Bowl, but the Southern Conference had decided to ban its teams from any bowl competition that season. Clemson and Maryland accepted bowl bids anyway, and were prohibited from playing any other conference team except each other the next year.

The Tigers opened the game with a bang as Billy Hair took Elmer Tremont's kickoff and returned it 72 yards to the Miami 26, but Clemson could only make six yards in four downs and the Tigers turned the ball over.

After an exchange of punts, Miami mounted an 82-yard drive to score the game's first touchdown. The drive was highlighted by quarterback Jack Hackett's only two passes of the game - a 15-yarder to Frank McDonald and a 40-yard throw to Ed Lutes. Two plays later, fullback Harry Mallios took the pitch and ran 11 yards for the score. Tremont added the extra point and Miami led, 7-0.

Miami defensive back Jim Dooley intercepted the first of four passes to kill the Clemson drive at the Miami 15. Clemson got the ball back after a punt, but on fourth down, defensive end Leo Martin blocked Hair's punt at the Clemson 32. Mallios converted twice on fourth down to keep the drive going, and he scored from two yards out. Tremont converted again and Miami had all the points it needed.

The Clemson defense turned stingy in the second half, as the Tigers did not allow Miami to penetrate their 35 and the Hurricanes did not gain another first down. The Clemson offense moved well, but a fumble at the Miami 18 and three Dooley interceptions inside the 20 kept Clemson off the scoreboard as Miami handed the Tigers their first bowl loss in four tries.

Miami defensive back Jim Dooley intercepted four passes, still a record for a Clemson opponent, in Miami's win in Jacksonville. Three of the thefts were inside the Miami 20, contributing to the Hurricane shutout.

Clemson 21

Clemson claimed its first Atlantic Coast Conference championship in 1956 on the strength of a 4-0-1 league mark. The Tigers were 7-1-2 overall and were a surprise choice to participate in the 22nd Orange Bowl, as only three weeks before their selection, the Tigers had been shut out by Miami, 21-0, in the same stadium. Colorado, which was 7-2-1 and the Big-Seven runnerup, was chosen as Clemson's opponent.

After a scoreless first quarter, Colorado got on track with a seven-play, 75-yard drive. The Buffaloes' catalyst was a 26-yard run by Bob Stransky that moved the ball to the Clemson 23. Four plays later, John "The Beast" Bayuk scored from the two. Ellwin Indorf added the point after.

Stransky intercepted an errant Charlie Bussey pass at the Clemson 46 and returned it to the 10 to spark Colorado's second score. Boyd Dowler, who later starred with the Packers, scored from six yards out two plays later. Howard Cook added the conversion and Colorado led 14-0.

Colorado's Frank Clarke partially blocked Horace Turbeville's punt on the next Clemson drive and the Buffaloes recovered on the Clemson 26. Cook then went wide right and scored on the next play, but he missed the extra point.

Clemson came out of the locker room and marched 69 yards in 15 plays to score on Joel Wells's three-yard run. Bussey's extra point try was good.

After a Colorado punt, Clemson moved to the 29 on Bob Spooner's two runs. Three plays later, Wells ran 58 yards on a counter trap off the belly series for the Tigers' second score. Bussey's point after made the score 20-14 Colorado.

Clemson recovered the onside kick, but the Tigers were forced to punt four plays later. Colorado then fumbled at its 11 and Tommy Sease recovered for the Tigers at the 10. Spooner, who had been the workhorse on the first scoring drive, carried the ball over from the one, and with Bussey's third extra point, Clemson led for the first time at 21-20, with 11:22 to go.

Although leading, Bussey attempted a second onside kick. Colorado recovered and marched 53 yards in eight plays to go ahead for good on Bayuk's one-yard plunge. Indorf kicked the extra point and the Buffaloes led, 27-21. The two teams traded turnovers, and Colorado ran out the clock.

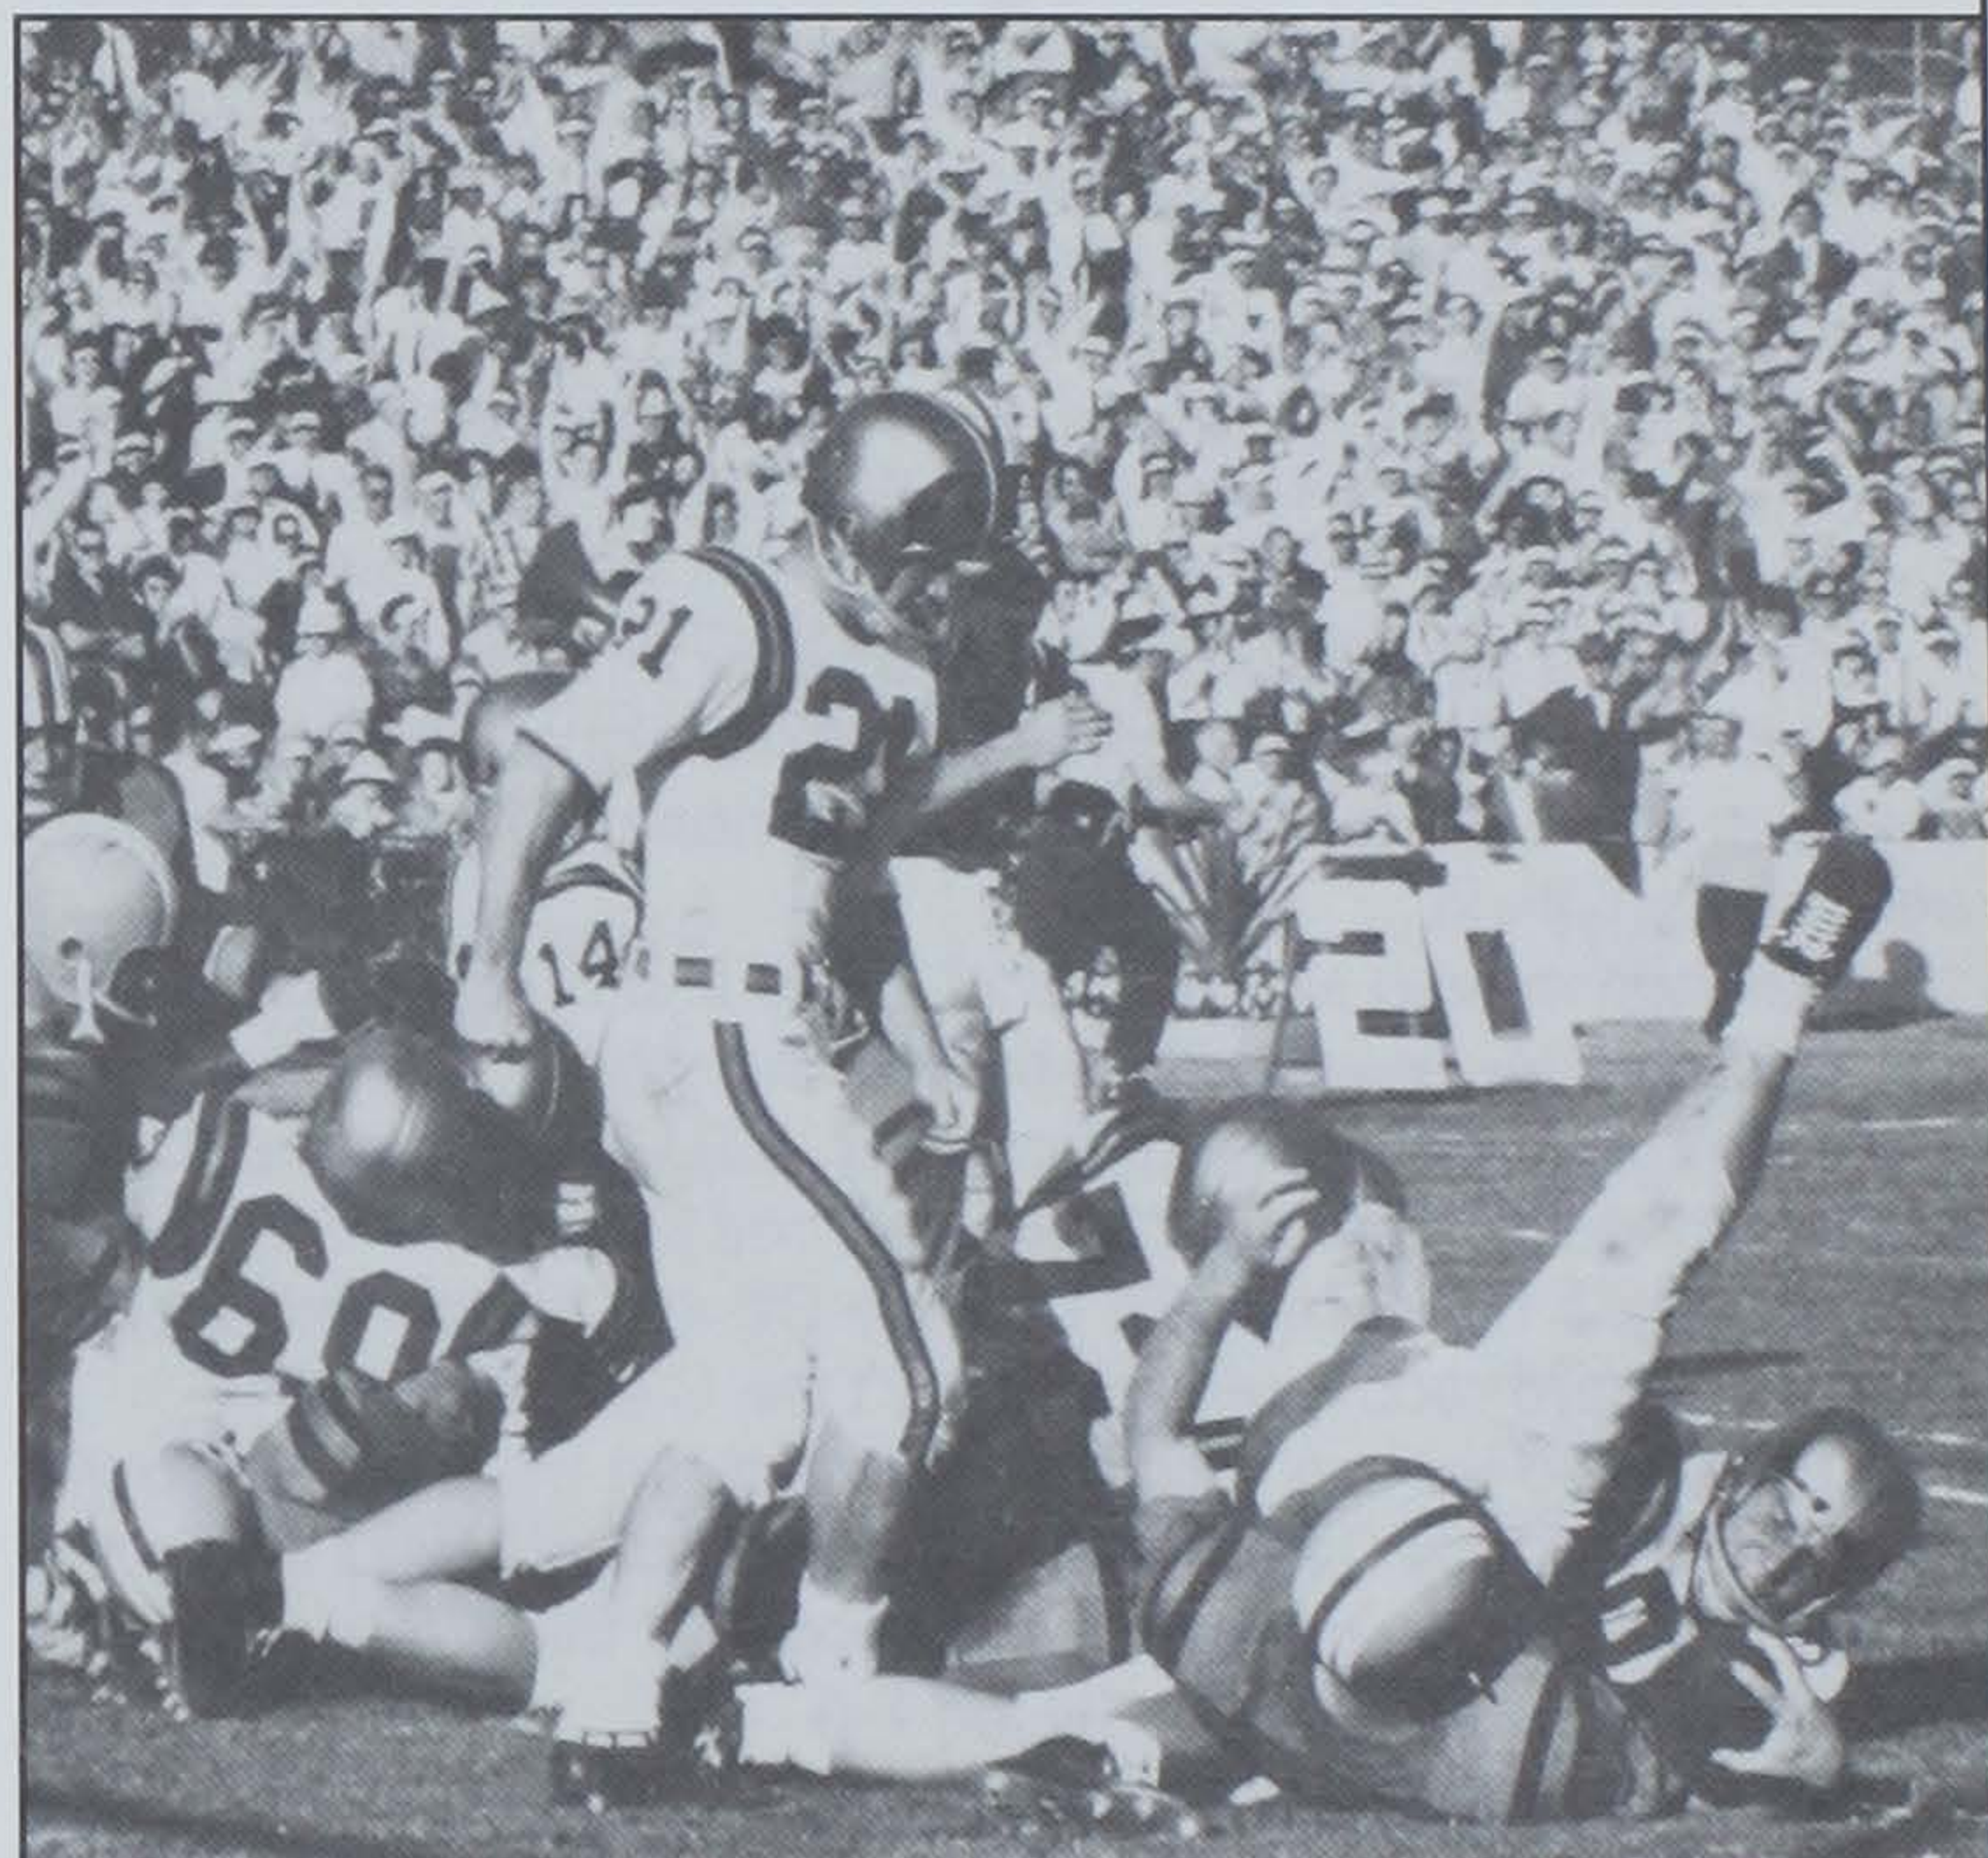

Frank Howard's threatened resignation during intermission inspired Clemson's comeback in the second half.

"I told them I was going to resign if they didn't play better in the second half. I told them I didn't want to be associated with any team that played like they did in the first half."

When Howard met Dal Ward, Colorado's Head Coach, at midfield, Ward asked him what was the matter with his team. Howard replied "I just don't know."

Later Howard explained that the Tigers just refused to block in the first half, but in the second half they got down to business. He had words of praise for John Bayuk, Colorado's big fullback, and said he was as good as any fullback that Clemson had faced all year.

With Clemson trailing 20-0 at the half, Frank Howard threatened to quit if his team did not improve. The Tigers stormed back to take a 21-20 lead in the fourth, only to see the Buffs score with 7:13 to go to win the game.

LSU 7

South Carolina, who had been shut out by Clemson the previous two years, scored 20 second half points to take a 26-6 win over Frank Howard's 1958 team. The only other blemish on the ACC Champions' 8-2 regular season record was a 13-0 loss at Georgia Tech. For their efforts, the Tigers were invited to play the nation's number-one team, Louisiana State, in the 25th Sugar Bowl.

LSU drove deep into Clemson territory three times in the first half, but two fumbles and a thwarted fake field goal killed the drives. Clemson could do no better, though, as none of its first six drives went past midfield.

Clemson moved to the LSU 27 on its first drive of the second half, but a fumble gave the ball back to the other set of Tigers. On Clemson's next possession, however, LSU got the break it had been looking for. On fourth down, the ball slipped out of snapper Paul Snyder's hands and hit up-man Doug Cline in the leg and Duane Leopard recovered for LSU at the Clemson 11.

LSU picked up two yards on its first three tries, but on fourth down halfback Billy Cannon hit tight end Mickey Mangham in the corner of the end zone for the only score of the game. Cannon kicked the extra point and LSU led 7-0.

Clemson had one last chance late in the fourth quarter. The Tigers started at their 17 and 17 plays later were on the LSU 28, but Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was incomplete. LSU took over on downs and ran out the clock.

In his usual relaxed way, Coach Frank Howard of Clemson said he was pleased with his team.

"Hell! I think we'd have beat them if that boy had held onto that little screen pass," Howard said. "I was going for those two points and beat them.

"I didn't think we would hold them to one touchdown, but I didn't think they would shut us out, either.

"LSU has a good team, they rate the No. 1 spot in the nation.

"Cannon is quite a boy. Deserves his All-American rating."

"It was a wonderful victory. They're just as fine when you win 'em, 7-0 as 30-0. I'm very happy that we won," said LSU Coach Paul Dietzel, who won the national championship at age 34.

"That was a perfect strike Cannon threw on that pass for the touchdown.

"Losing Rabb hurt us in this respect. He had been working with the White backfield all season, but Durel Matherne, our No. 2 quarterback, did a fine job, though, both on offense and defense.

"Clemson proved tougher than most people figured. But we knew we would have to play at our top peak to beat them. They were a good team."

Clemson hit the 300-mark in terms of victories with the 23-7 win in the first Bluebonnet Bowl. Clemson had to score 20 points in the final period to erase a 7-3 lead by TCU.

The 1959 season was one of firsts, lasts, and other milestones. Clemson won the last "Big Thursday" game with archrival South Carolina, 27-0, one of five opponents the Tigers would whitewash, the second-highest shutout total in a Clemson season. The 9-2 team was Clemson's third ACC Championship unit, and Frank Howard's last bowl team. After the season-ending win over Furman, Clemson was invited to play Texas Christian in the inaugural Bluebonnet Bowl, which would be the Tigers' second post-season appearance in the calendar year of 1959. The 23-7 win over the Horned Frogs was Clemson's 300th football victory.

Alternate quarterback Lowndes Shingler guided Clemson on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the TCU five, but the Tigers stalled. Lon Armstrong hit on a 22-yard field goal as the second quarter started, to put Clemson up, 3-0.

Not to be outdone, TCU second-stringer Donald George moved his team on a 12-play, 63-yard drive to the Clemson end zone. The Horned Frogs scored the go-ahead touchdown on a 19-yard halfback pass from Jack Reding to Harry Moreland.

Neither team scored in the third quarter, but Clemson did drive to the TCU 29 midway through the period. Harvey White's fourth-down pass to George Usry was just one yard short of the needed first down and TCU took over.

Clemson got pass-happy in the final 15 minutes and scored two touchdowns to give Clemson a comfortable lead. With a third-and-18 situation at the Clemson 32, White threw to end Gary Barnes who caught the ball at midfield and sprinted in for a score. After an interception, Shingler threw to Tommy King coming across the middle for a 23-yard touchdown, but Shingler's point after was wide, and Clemson led, 16-7.

Clemson returned to its running game for its final scoring drive late in the quarter. Shingler, Doug Daigneault, and Ron Scrudato moved the Tigers from their 37 to the TCU one and Scrudato ran off right tackle for the score. Armstrong's kick put the game out of TCU's reach and it capped a 20-point fourth quarter for the Tigers.

Clemson 3

Clemson resurfaced in the national spotlight in 1977 after winning eight games and making its first bowl appearance in 18 years. First-year coach Charley Pell guided his team to a 7-6 win at Georgia, a near-upset of eventual National Champion Notre Dame at home, and had come within an extra point of claiming the ACC Championship. After Jerry Butler's twisting, diving catch in the end zone beat South Carolina, Clemson accepted the invitation to play defending National Champion Pittsburgh in the 33rd annual Gator Bowl.

Clemson won the opening coin toss, but that was to be the only thing the Tigers would win that night as the Matt Cavanaugh-led Panthers scored six of the 12 times they had the ball, set seven Gator Bowl records, and handed the Tigers one of their 25 worst defeats in history with a 34-3 score.

Cavanaugh threw four touchdown passes (three to fullback Elliott Walker), passed for a Clemson opponent record 387 yards and accounted for 402 yards in total offense. Pitt set a Gator team record for passing yards and first downs, while Cavanaugh set the individual mark for passing yardage. If that was not enough, the Pitt defense stymied the Clemson offense all night by keeping Steve Fuller & Company bottled up or causing turnovers when the Tigers' offense did get on track.

Pitt was leading 17-0 when the Tigers began their only scoring drive early in the second quarter. Fuller mixed passes to Anthony King and Butler with runs by Ken Callicutt to move to the Pitt 32. The drive bogged down and Obed Ariri hit on a 49-yard field goal which set the Gator Bowl record for distance.

Matt Cavanaugh passed for 387 yards, still the best performance ever against Clemson in a bowl game, in Pittsburgh's victory. It was Clemson's first bowl game in 18 years. Randy Scott and Mark Heniford had 13 stops apiece for Clemson's defense.

Although the Tigers were out-classed by Pittsburgh, the 1977 appearance in the Gator Bowl was the start of a new era of football pride for Clemson.

1978 Gator Bowl

Ohio State 15

The Clemson team of 1978 was notable for many reasons, and not the least of which was a 17-15 victory over Ohio State in the Gator Bowl. The '78 team won 11 games (eight by convincing margins), had the nation's longest winning streak after the bowl game, changed head coaches 19 days before the Gator Bowl, and ended the coaching career of Woody Hayes.

The first quarter of new Clemson coach Danny Ford's first game was scoreless, although Ohio State had been stopped at the Clemson one-yard line on a fourth-down play.

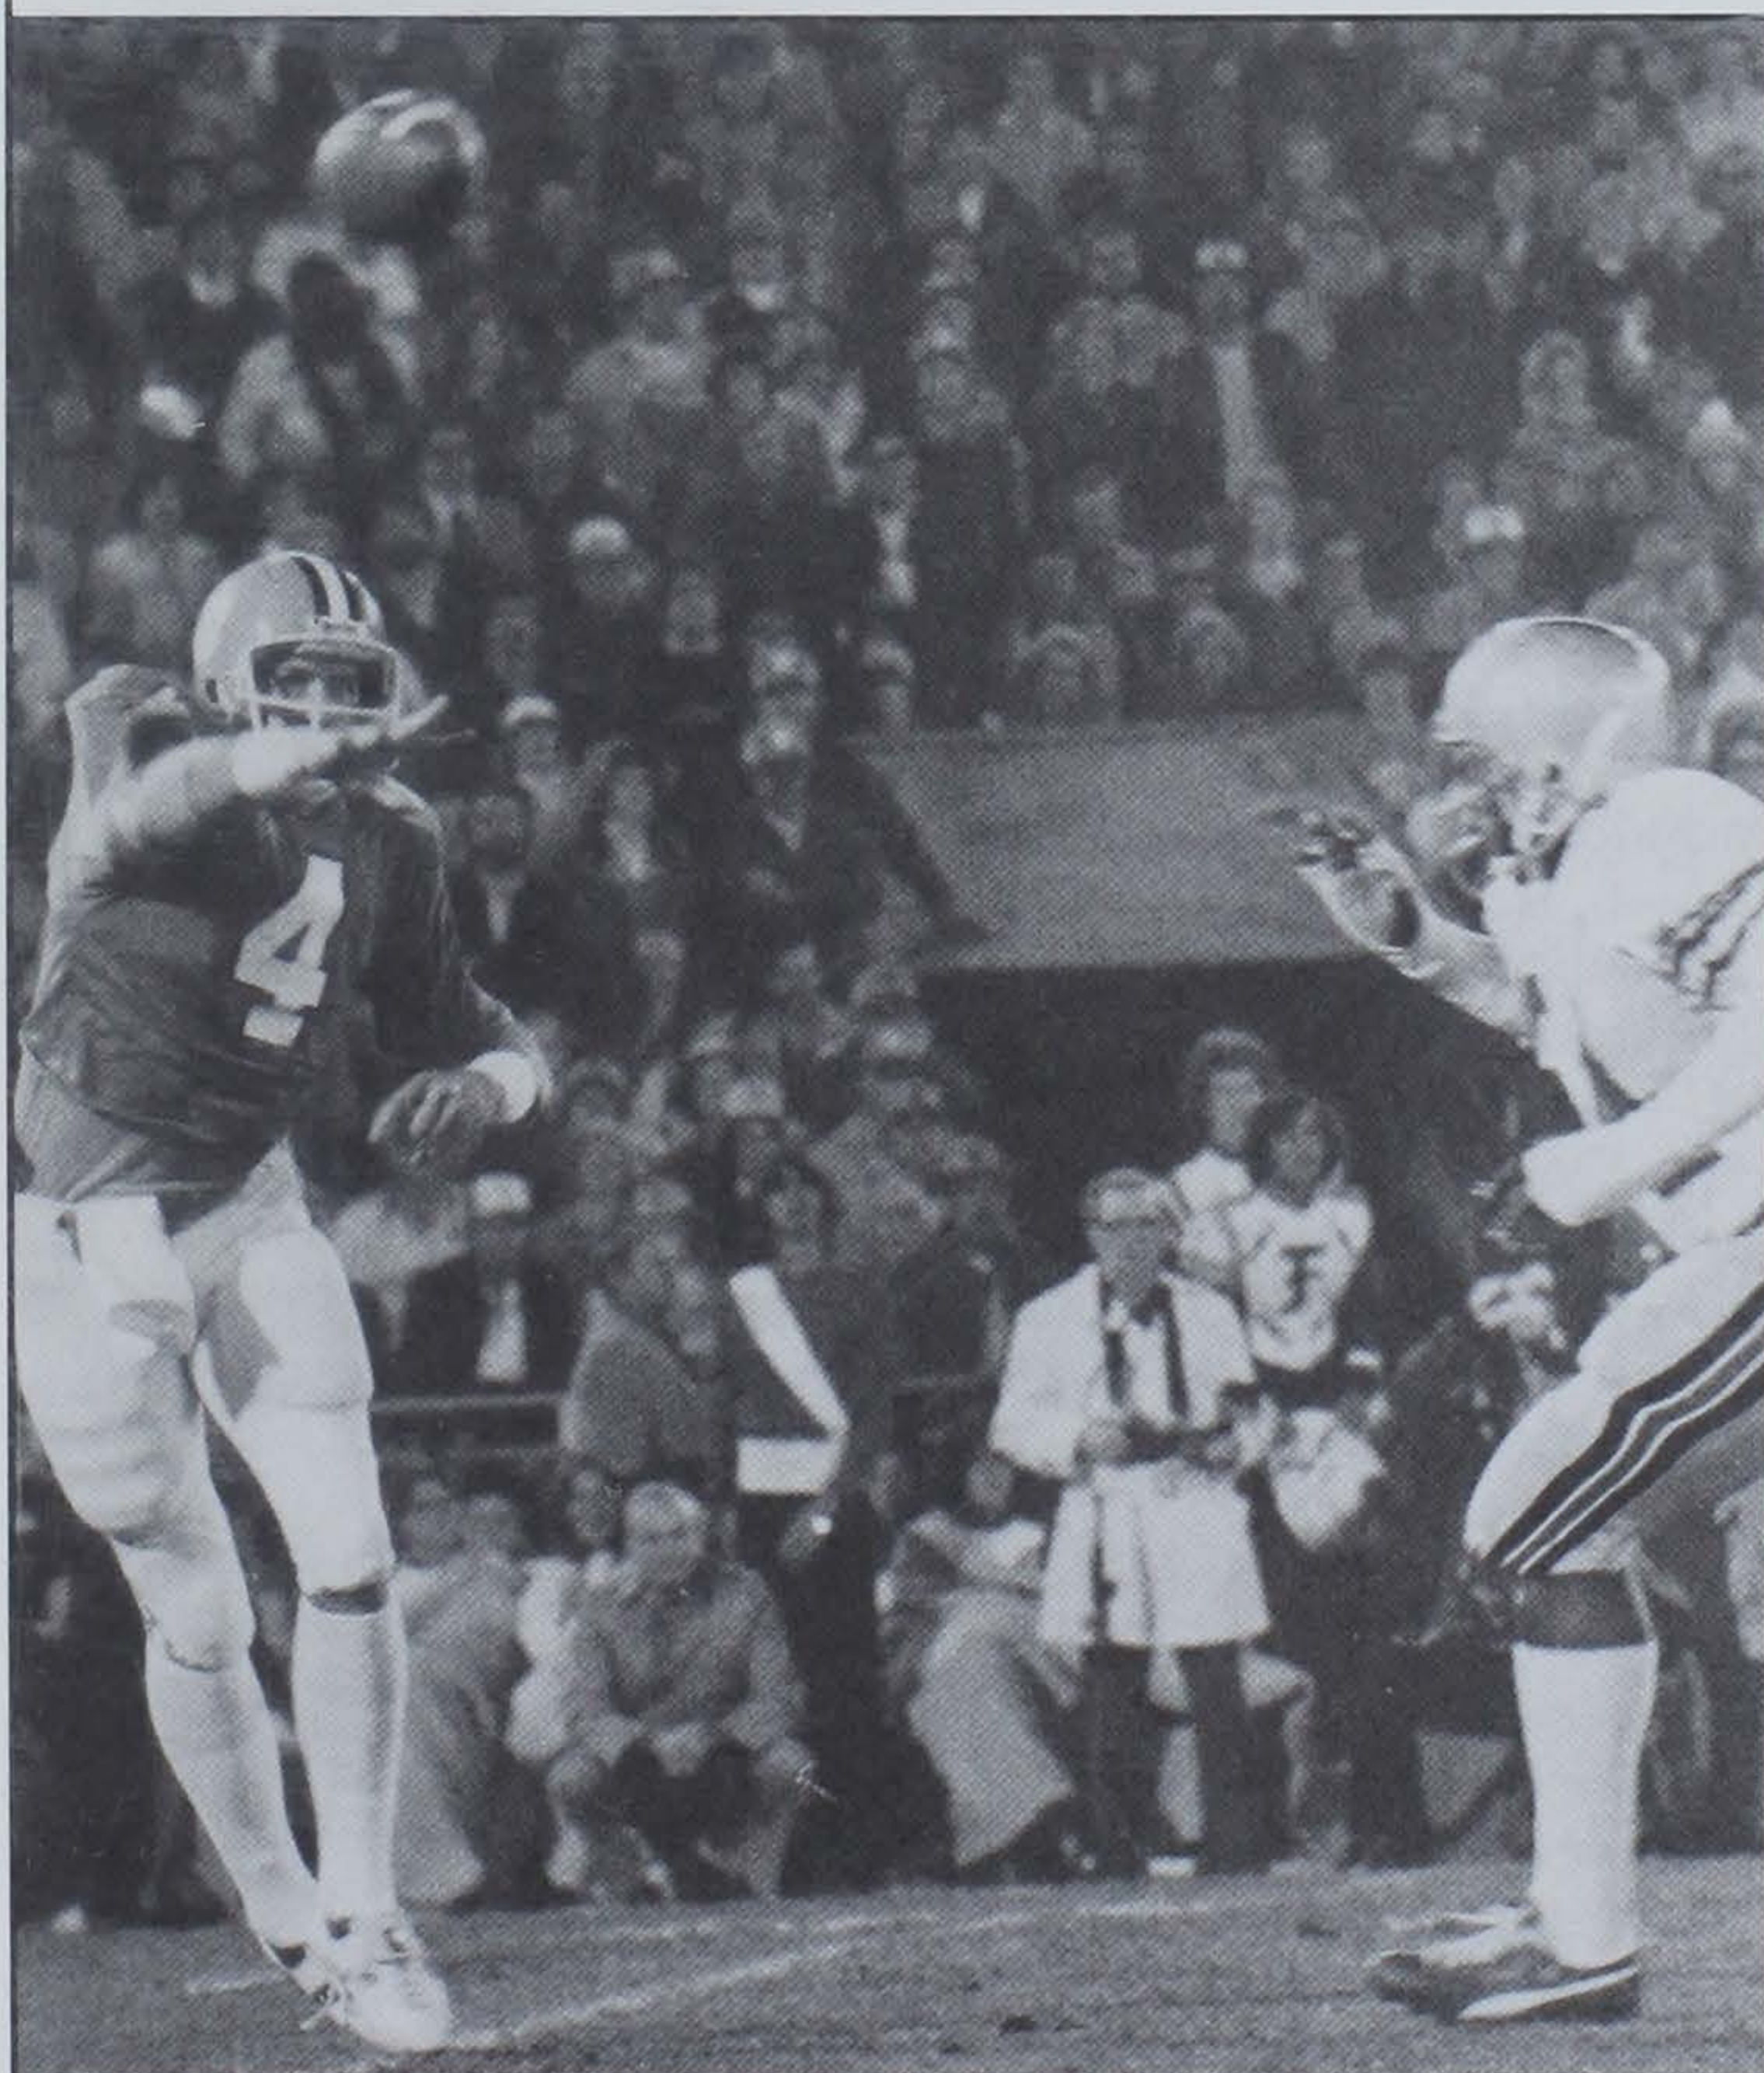

The second quarter was unusual in that there were four possessions in the stanza and each team scored twice. Ohio State drove to the Clemson nine on the passing of Art Schlichter, but the Buckeyes had to settle for Bob Atha's 27-yard field goal.

Clemson quarterback Steve Fuller engineered an impressive 80-yard, 15-play drive after the kickoff. Staying mostly on the ground, Fuller himself ran around left end from four yards out to give Clemson the lead. Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-3.

Schlichter duplicated Fuller's feat nine plays later, but Clemson right end Steve Gibbs blocked Vlade Janakiewski's extra point try, leaving Ohio State in the lead, 9-7.

Clemson got the ball back with 1:15 remaining in the quarter and Fuller passed his way to the Buckeye 30. With only five seconds left, Ariri hit a 47-yard field goal that gave the Tigers a 10-9 lead at halftime.

Clemson scored the only points of the third quarter as the running combination of Fuller, Marvin Sims, and Warren Ratchford ground out 83 yards in 18 plays. Cliff Austin went the final yard for the score, and Ariri's conversion gave Clemson a 17-9 cushion.

Steve Fuller directed Clemson to the win over Ohio State in his last game as a Tiger.

Danny Ford won his first game as a head coach and Woody Hayes lost his last contest in Clemson's 17-15 win. Cliff Austin, a freshman who had scored just three TDs all year, scored what proved to be the game winner for the Tigers.

With 8:11 left in the game, Schlichter scored his second touchdown to bring Ohio State within two points. Jim Stuckey tackled Schlichter on a sweep to prevent the two-point play, and Clemson still led at 17-15.

Ohio State mounted one final drive. Faced with third-and-five at the Clemson 24, an interception by second-team middle guard Charlie Bauman (the only theft of his four-year career) killed the drive. Bauman was run out-of-bounds on the Ohio State sideline, and Buckeye coach Woody Hayes swung at the Clemson player. Consecutive unsportsmanlike conduct penalties gave Clemson excellent field position, and Fuller was able to run out the clock, giving Clemson its first win over a Big Ten team.

Clemson made its third consecutive bowl appearance in 1979 after an 8-3 season. The year included a 19-10 win over Gator Bowl-bound North Carolina and a dramatic, come-from-behind 16-10 victory at Notre Dame. The 1979 season was also Danny Ford's first full campaign as head coach.

The Tigers got on the board first with an eight-play, 66-yard drive highlighted by Billy Lott's 27-yard pass to Lester Brown. Brown scored two plays later on a one-yard dive over the middle and Obed Ariri's point after made the score 7-0 midway through the first period.

Baylor took the lead on two second-quarter touchdown passes from Mike Brannon to Bo Taylor and Robert Holt. Robert Bledsoe converted after both scores and the Southwest Conference representatives led 14-7 at intermission.

Clemson took the second half kickoff and a combination of runs by Lott, Brown, and Tracy Perry took the Tigers to the Baylor 22. The drive stalled there and Ariri's 40-yard field goal narrowed the margin to 14-10.

Quarterback Mickey Elam led Baylor on a 64-yard field goal drive after the kickoff, and he later threw a seven-yard touchdown to Raymond Cockrell to push the Bears' lead to 24-10.

Mike Singletary (future All-Pro with the Chicago Bears), led the Baylor defense with 20 tackles. He was a major reason Clemson gained a season low 67 yards rushing in 51 attempts.

Andy Headen began Clemson's furious comeback with a blocked punt that was recovered by James Robinson at the Baylor one. Chuck McSwain scored with 20 seconds left in the game and Lott passed to Jeff McCall for the two-point conversion. Headen recovered the ensuing onside kick, and Lott completed a 30-yard pass to Perry Tuttle to move the Tigers to the Baylor 33. An interception killed the winning touchdown drive, however, and Baylor ran out the remaining seconds for the win.

Nebraska 15

Clemson claimed its first ever national title in any sport with a 22-15 win over Nebraska. Homer Jordan was the offensive MVP, while Jeff Davis, playing in his final game at Clemson, was the defensive MVP.

After 86 years of playing football, Clemson claimed its first National Championship with a 22-15 win over perennial Big Eight power Nebraska in the 48th Orange Bowl. After a 13-3 win over 1980 National Champion Georgia at home, the Tigers worked their way to the number-one ranking in both wire service polls by season's end. The win over the Cornhuskers gave Clemson the national title and its third perfect season in history.

Nebraska took the kickoff, but three plays later, Tiger middle guard William Devane recovered a Mark Mauer fumble at the Nebraska 33. Quarterback Homer Jordan drove Clemson to the Nebraska 27 before the drive stalled, and Donald Igwebuike drilled a 41-yard field goal to put the ACC Champions up, 3-0.

Nebraska came right back, however, as the Big Eight title holder drove 69 yards in eight plays to score on a 25-yard halfback pass from Mike Rozier to Anthony Steels. Kevin Seibel's extra point gave Nebraska the lead at 7-3 with 6:43 to go in the first quarter.

After an exchange of punts, the Clemson offense moved from the Nebraska 42 to the 21 to set up Igwebuike's second field goal. The 37-yard boot narrowed the score to 7-6.

A second-quarter Phil Bates fumble gave Clemson the ball at the Nebraska 27, and the running combination of Jordan, Kevin Mack, and Cliff Austin moved the ball to the Cornhusker two. Austin, who had been stuck in the hotel elevator for two hours earlier in the day, scampered in for the score that gave Clemson a lead it would not relinquish.

On its second possession of the second half, Clemson drove 75 yards in 12 plays to score its final touchdown of the night, a 13-yard pass from Jordan to All-American receiver Perry Tuttle in the corner of the end zone. For Tuttle, it was his eighth touchdown grab of the season, which set a school record. Bob Paulling's extra point put the Tigers ahead, 19-7.

After Billy Davis's 47-yard punt return, Jordan moved the Tigers to the Nebraska 20, where Igwebuike kicked a 36-yard field goal, his third of the evening, to put Clemson ahead 22-7 with two-and-a-half minutes left in the third stanza.

Nebraska was down but not out. After a near-interception by Johnny Rembert, Mauer engineered an eight-play, 69-yard drive that was capped by a 26-yard run by Roger Craig. After a penalty, Craig ran in the two-point conversion from eight yards out to close the gap to 22-15 with nine minutes to play.

The Clemson defense shut down the Big Red on their final extended drive, then the offense held on to the ball for nearly five-and-a-half minutes to run down the clock to six seconds. Andy Headen deflected Mauer's desperation pass to preserve the win and the championship for Clemson.

Clemson 13

Clemson met a Big 10 school for only the second time in history when it faced Minnesota in the Independence Bowl. It was an interesting matchup of teams that enjoyed moving the ball on the ground, as both clubs gained over 200 rushing yards in the contest. The team with the higher rushing total prevailed, a fact that was easily predictable, as the Gophers churned out 257 yards rushing in a 20-13 Minnesota win.

Clemson held a 13-10 lead heading into the fourth quarter, but for the fifth time in the last 13 games the Tigers could not hold the fourth-period lead. Valdez Baylor scored on a one-yard run with 4:56 left to give Minnesota a final ledger of 7-5. Clemson mounted a final drive in the last few minutes and advanced to the Minnesota 31, but a fourth-down pass for Ray Williams was overthrown.

Kenny Flowers had another outstanding day for the Tigers with a career high 148 yards, including a 32-yard run. It was his seventh 100-yard day of the year, his sixth century game in the last seven contests. Ray Williams caught five passes for 58 yards, while Terrance Roulhac had 63 yards in receptions and 90 yards in kickoff returns. Another wide receiver, Keith Jennings, scored Clemson's only touchdown when he caught a three-yard pass from Stacey Driver in the third period.

Henry Walls led Clemson defensively with 13 tackles, while A.J. Johnson was outstanding in the secondary with seven stops. Dwayne Meadows established a career high with 13 stops from his defensive line position.

1986 Gator Bowl

Stanford 21

Rodney Williams was the MVP of Clemson's Gator Bowl win over Stanford. The Tigers scored 27 points in the first half, then held off Stanford after three second-half TDs by Brad Muster.

Christmas came two days late for the Tigers as they won their first bowl since the 1982 Orange Bowl. After a brilliant first half display of offense and defense, Clemson managed to hold off a second-half Stanford rally and go on to defeat the 17th-ranked Cardinal, 27-21. Before a Gator Bowl crowd of 80,104, the Tigers scored 27 unanswered points in the first half and appeared to be on the way to a rout. But the second half was a different ball game as Stanford came out strong and put up 21 unanswered points of its own.

Gator Bowl MVP Rodney Williams completed 8 of 11 passes in the first half for the Tigers, but it was his execution of the option that helped Clemson gain a 27-0 halftime lead. After punting on their first possession, the Tigers scored on their next five. With the score 17-0 in the second quarter, Reggie Harris knocked the ball loose on a Stanford kickoff return and the Tigers recovered on Stanford's 16-yard line. Two plays later, Ray Williams took a reverse in for a 14 yard touchdown, his first of the season. David Treadwell added his longest field goal of the year on Clemson's next possession, putting the Tigers up 27-0 at the intermission.

But the Cardinal came back from halftime a different team. Kodak All-American tailback Brad Muster rushed for a touchdown and caught two scoring passes while the Clemson offense came to a standstill. With 1:43 left to play in the game Clemson was forced to punt to the Cardinal with only a touchdown's lead. But the Tiger defense rose to the occasion, as Stanford gained only six yards on the next four downs. The offense fell on the ball to run the clock out and the Tigers emerged victorious.

Tailbacks Terrence Flagler and Kenny Flowers combined for 149 yards. Sophomore Ricardo Hooper led the receiving corps with two catches for 44 yards. Terrance Roulhac and Flagler each had three catches with 22 and 23 yards, respectively. Rodney Williams rushed 16 times for 18 yards and one touchdown.

Defensively, the Tigers were led by linebacker Henry Carter who recorded a career high 13 tackles. Gene Beasley added seven tackles and broke up two passes. The game also marked Michael Dean Perry's offensive debut, as he was put in as a blocking back on a goal-line situation in the first half.

1988 Citrus Bowl

Penn State 10

A 499-yard offense led Clemson to a 35-10 win over defending National Champion Penn State. It was the Nittany Lions' worst bowl loss ever. Rodney Williams became the first Tiger ever to be a bowl game MVP in consecutive years.

Everything went the Tigers way in sunny Florida as Clemson soundly defeated Joe Paterno's Penn State team, 35-10. Rodney Williams was selected the Citrus Bowl's Most Valuable Player as he led the Tigers in a brilliant air attack that took the Nittany Lions by complete surprise, and complemented it with a solid ground game.

The win was Danny Ford's fourth bowl victory in only nine seasons as Clemson's head coach. It also marked Rodney Williams' second bowl victory in his three-year playing career at Clemson and the second consecutive year that he was named the MVP of a postseason bowl. In 1986, Williams won the honor as the Tigers defeated Stanford in the Gator Bowl.

Williams, who was also named the Offensive Player-of-the-Game, completed 14 of 24 passes for 214 yards. His primary target was wide receiver Keith Jennings who hauled in seven passes for 110 yards, his best career performance. Gary Cooper also had four receptions for 56 yards against Penn State.

The Tigers rushed for 285 yards against Penn State. Terry Allen was the leading rusher with 105 yards and one touchdown. Fullback Tracy Johnson ran for 88 yards and three touchdowns. Joe Henderson added 54 yards and another touchdown.

Defensively, Clemson was led by cornerback James Lott's eight tackles. Safety Richard Smith also had seven tackles and one pass broken up. Strong safety Gene Beasley and linebacker Doug Brewster both had six tackles. Linebacker Dorian Mariable was selected the Citrus Bowl's Defensive Player-of-the-Game with his five tackles, including one for a loss. He also intercepted a pass in the endzone and returned it 46 yards in the third quarter.

Oklahoma 6

The Tigers rang in the New Year in fine fashion with a 13-6 victory over the Oklahoma Sooners, moving into the top-10 of the final AP poll for the first time since 1982 with a ninth-place ranking. The victory also gave Danny Ford a victory over the winningest active coach in Division I, Barry Switzer. Ford defeated the top-three winningest active coaches this decade with wins over Switzer, Tom Osborne of Nebraska and Joe Paterno of Penn State.

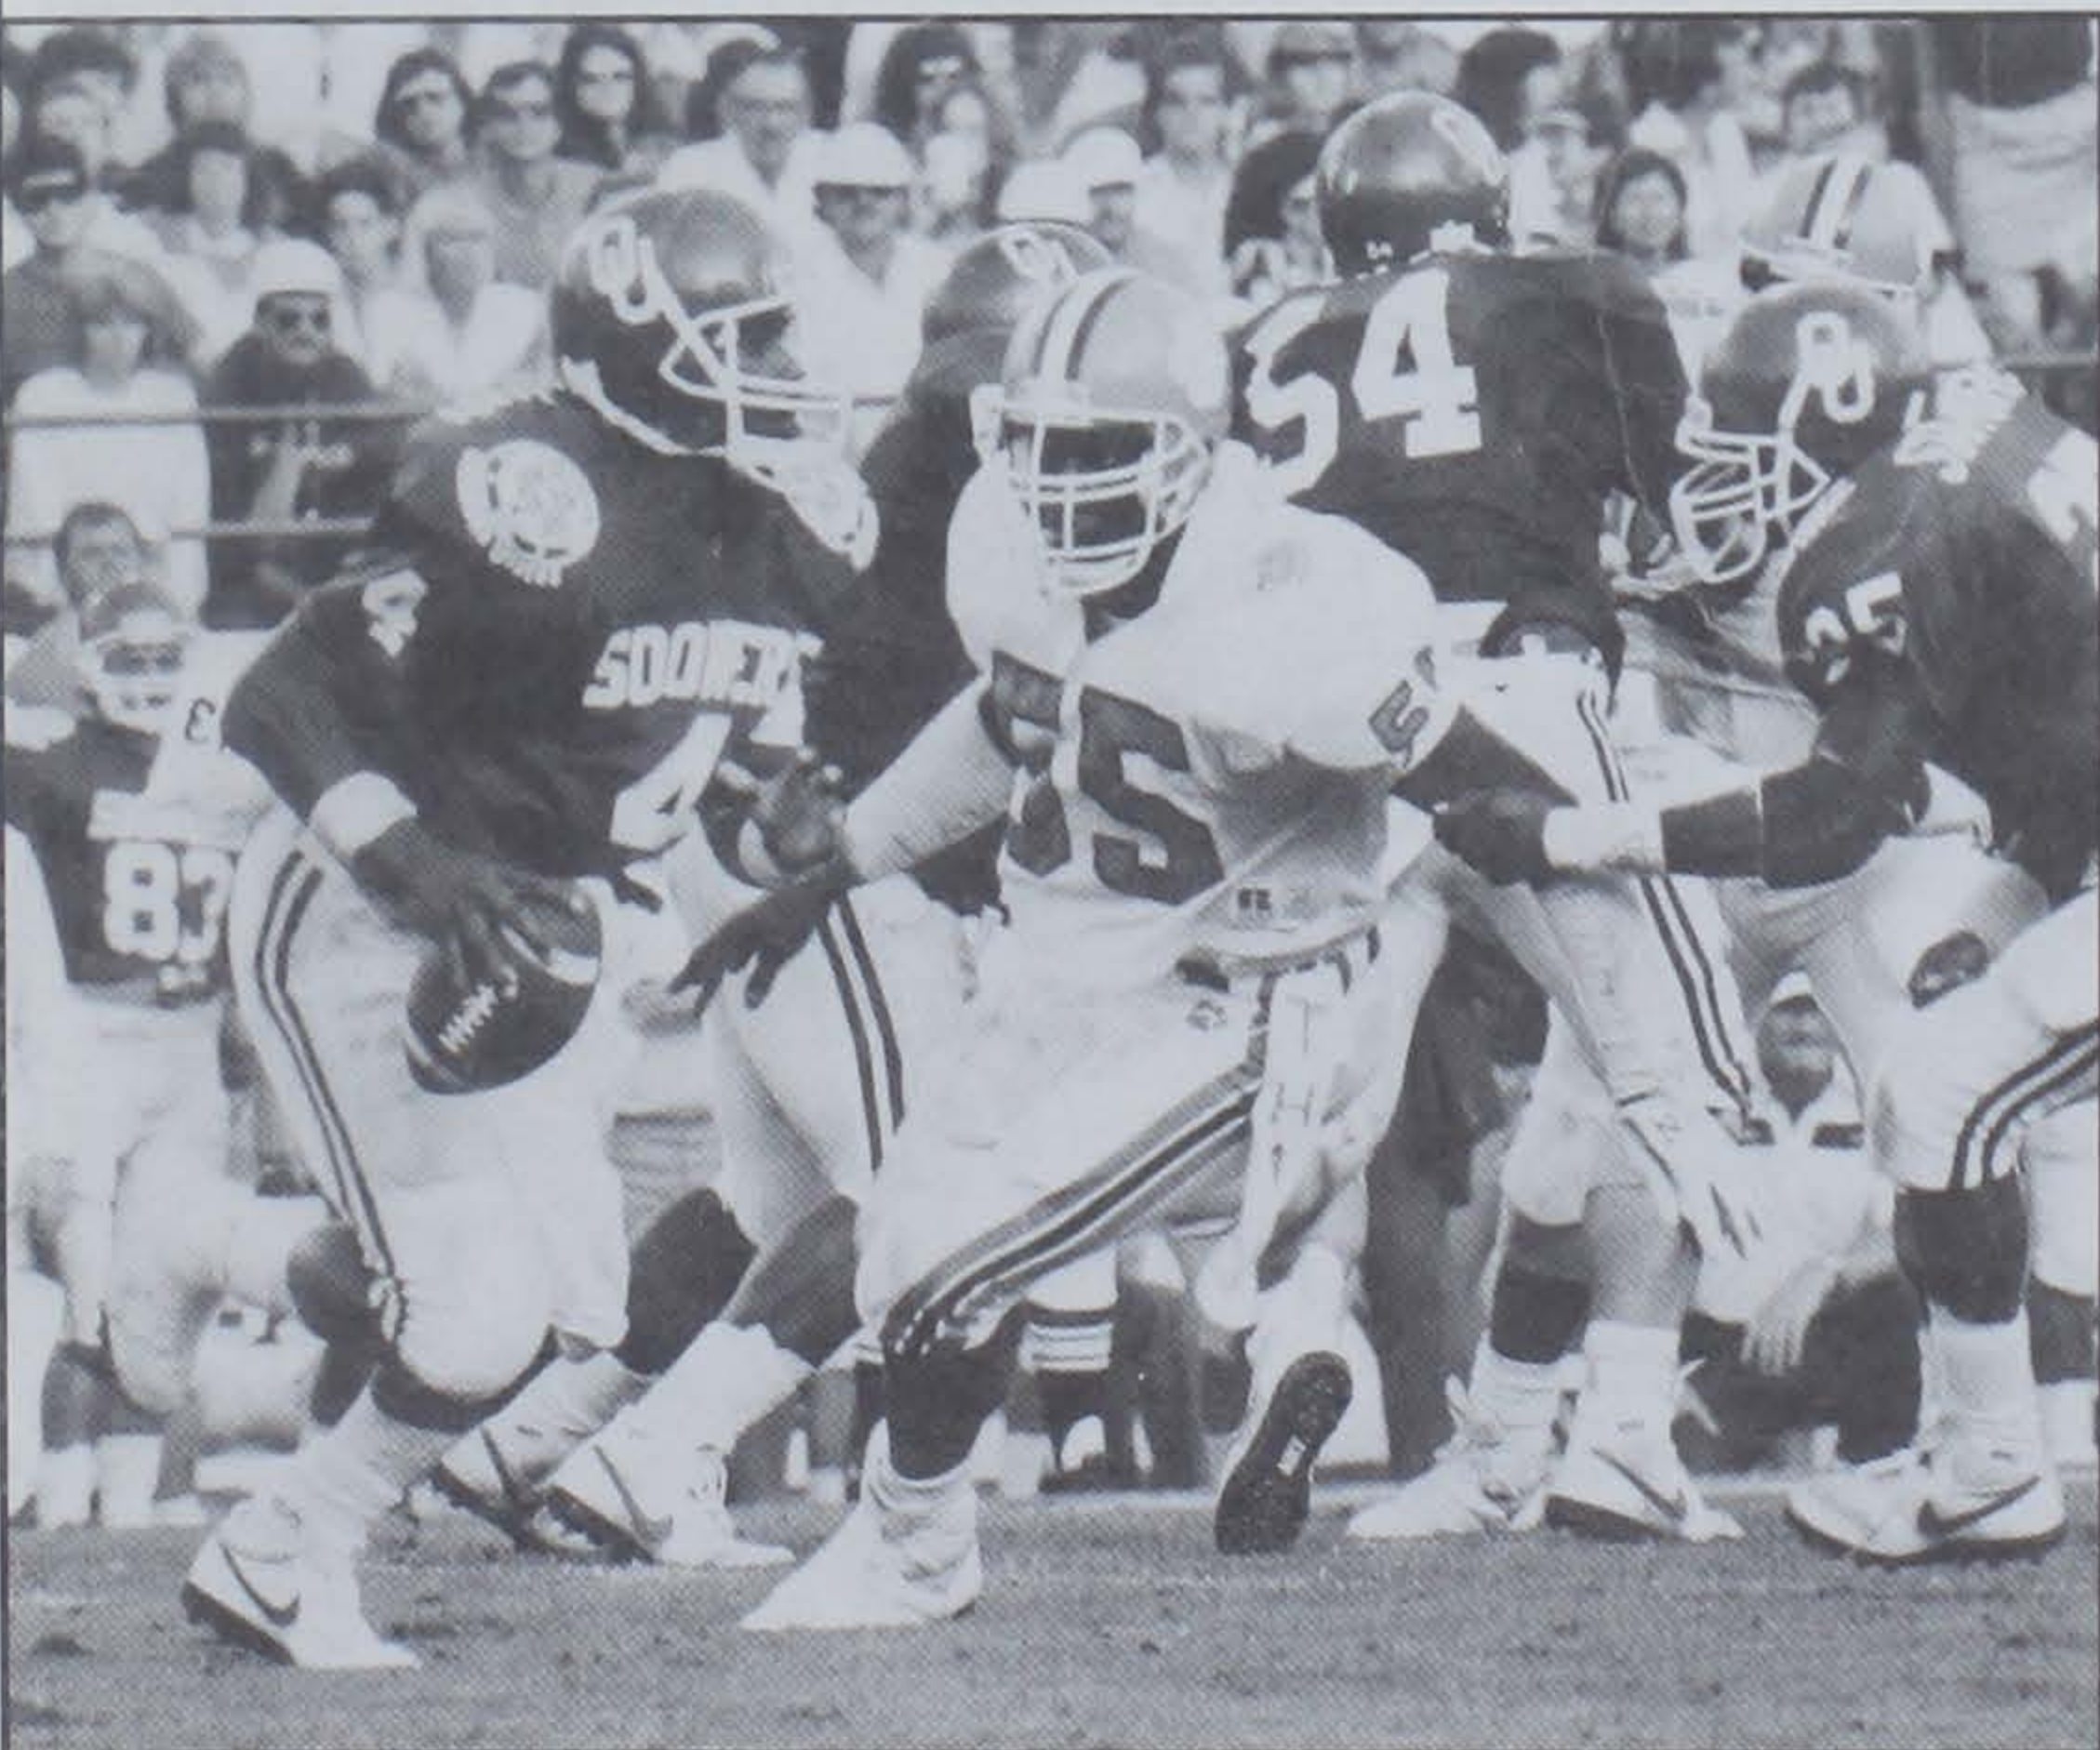

Although the Tigers faced a wishbone offense for the first time since Ford became head coach, the Clemson defense came through with flying colors, holding the Sooners to only 116 yards, and zero touchdowns.

The first five series of the first quarter ended in punts for both teams. Late in the period, the Sooners drove down to the Clemson one-yardline, and the Tigers defense faced a first-and-goal situation. Outside linebacker Levon Kirkland stopped the ballcarrier for no gain on first down. On second down Jesse Hatcher sacked Jamelle Holieway at the 19. After an incomplete pass, the Sooners were forced to settle on a field goal and moved up 3-0.

Doug Brewster intercepted a Holieway pass early in the second quarter to set up the Tigers' first score, a 20-yard field goal by Chris Gardocki. With time running out in the first half, Gardocki put the Tigers up with another kick, this time a 46-yarder.

A Clemson fumble in the third quarter gave the Sooners the opportunity to take the lead, but the Clemson defense held and R.D. Lashar hit again from 30 yards. The Tigers responded on the next series, driving 80 yards in 15 plays for the game's only touchdown, as Terry Allen scored on a four-yard run. Allen, the game's Most Valuable Player, rushed for 25 yards and caught two passes for 17 yards on the drive.

Defensive MVP Jesse Hatcher caused and recovered a fumble on the Sooners' next drive, but the Sooners would have one more opportunity to score before the final horn sounded. After the Tigers punted, Oklahoma drove from its own 20 to the Clemson 14, as Holieway put the Tiger secondary to the test by putting the ball in the air. On the last play of the game, freshman Dexter Davis knocked down a pass in the endzone to seal the Tiger victory.

Jesse Hatcher was the defensive MVP of the victory over Oklahoma, the senior had nine tackles, a sack and two PBUs.

Clemson downed Oklahoma in a battle of two of the top five winningest active coaches in college football. Jesse Hatcher made his final game as a Tiger memorable with nine tackles, two PBUs, an 18-yard sack, and a caused fumble.

Terry Allen was named the Citrus Bowl MVP for his performance. Allen rushed for only 53 yards, his season low, but scored the game's only touchdown and caught four passes to lead all Clemson receivers. Bandit end Jesse Hatcher was named Defensive MVP for what was his best career performance as he racked up nine tackles, had two tackles for a loss of 33 yards, including an 18-yard sack, broke up two passes, caused and recovered a fumble, and had four quarterback pressures.

Clemson 27
West Virginia 7

Clemson allowed Major Harris and West Virginia just 237 yards total offense in a 27-7 victory. Clemson's defense forced three Harris fumbles in the second half, and had four sacks.

The Tigers closed out the 1989 season with a stylish victory over West Virginia and Heisman Trophy finalist Major Harris, as a dominant Clemson defense held the high-powered Mountaineer offense to only 237 yards in total offense. The win gave Clemson's senior class the ACC record for victories as they became the first class in conference history to record 38 wins and the first Clemson team ever to win four straight bowl games.

WVU quarterback Major Harris came into the game ranked eighth nationally in total offense and ninth in passing efficiency but the Clemson defense, led by outside linebacker Levon Kirkland, enabled the shifty Harris to gain only 17 yards on the ground and 119 yards in the air on an 11-21 passing effort. Kirkland was named MVP for his efforts, as he had nine tackles, a five-yard sack, caused a key fumble, broke up a Mountaineer pass, and recorded three quarterback pressures.

The fourth quarter was all Clemson, as the Tigers moved the ball 47 yards on the ground to set up a four-yard Joe Henderson touchdown. Vince Taylor recovered a second Harris fumble and after a Clemson punt, freshman defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, the ACC sack leader, knocked the ball loose from Harris once again and fell on it in the endzone for a Tiger touchdown, upping the score to 24-7 in favor of Clemson. As the final seconds ticked off the clock, DeChane Cameron came in at quarterback for the Tigers and hit Rodney Fletcher over the middle for a 34-yard gain to set up a 24-yard Chris Gardocki field goal, putting the final score at 27-7.

Senior tailback Joe Henderson led the Tigers in rushing with 92 yards on 22 carries and one touchdown, while Chris Morocco, who was shaken up late in the game, gained 65 yards on 11 carries. Rodney Fletcher was the leading receiver as he pulled down three catches for 66 yards.

Chris Gardocki kept the Tigers in excellent field position as he posted a 46-yard average on four punts, including a long kick of 63 yards. Defensively, inside linebacker Doug Brewster led the team in tackles with 10, followed by Kirkland's nine and strong safety Arlington Nunn and inside linebacker Ed McDaniel, who had seven stops each.

1991 Hall of Fame Bowl

Illinois 0

After a separation of 22 years, two coaches found themselves once again on the same football field. This time, however, they were on opposite sidelines. Ken Hatfield and John Mackovic, who had been graduate assistants together at Army in the 1960's, were reunited in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl.

The Clemson defense dominated the line by holding Illinois to 247 yards, 150 yards under their season average. The Clemson offense surprised the Illini defense with an unexpected aerial assault. Tiger quarterback and game MVP DeChane Cameron, who was less than a 50 percent passer in the regular season, completed 14 of 19 passes for a Hall of Fame Bowl record 73 percent.

Cameron's passing yardage totalled 141 yards and he completed TD passes to Doug Thomas and Howard Hall. It was the first TD reception for both players in their respective careers. Thomas caught five passes on the day for 57 yards, career highs for both categories for the senior in his last game as a Tiger.

Clemson took its opening possession 71 yards to the Illinois two where Chris Gardocki tapped in any easy three. After Illinois fumbled on its first offensive play of the game, Clemson scored a touchdown with a 14-yard pass from Cameron to Thomas. Clemson had not scored a passing touchdown in any of its four previous bowl victories.

In the second quarter, the Tigers would score two more touchdowns. The first was the result of a 17-yard Cameron pass to fullback Howard Hall. It was just the third TD pass to a Clemson fullback in the last 18 years. Clemson then put the contest out of reach just three plays later when Arlington Nunn scored on a 34-yard interception return. It was the senior's third TD on an interception return in 1990, a Clemson record.

The Clemson defense continued to hold Illinois throughout the remainder of the game. John Johnson led the Tiger pass defense as he picked up two sacks to lead a Clemson point prevention unit that had five sacks on the day. Illinois reached the Clemson eight-yard line in the fourth quarter, but the Tiger defense forced a fumble which Ed McDaniel picked up. Illinois had the ball in Clemson territory just three times all day.

The Clemson defense earned its third shutout of the year. This was the first shutout at a Hall of Fame Bowl game and Clemson's third bowl shutout in 17 bowl appearances. The 30-0 triumph was a Tiger record for victory margin in a bowl game.

Clemson scored 24 points in the first 21 minutes in registering its largest margin of victory ever in a bowl game. DeChane Cameron hit 14 of 19 passes and Arlington Nunn had his third interception return for a TD in 1990.

1992 Citrus Bowl

Clemson's bowl game victory streak ended at five as the Tigers left the state of Florida with their first bowl loss since 1985, and their worst defeat since 1986, when the 14th-ranked Golden Bears of California defeated 13th-ranked Clemson 37-13 in the Florida Citrus Bowl. Also, for the first time since the 1988 season, the Clemson defense, which led the nation in rushing defense in 1991, allowed an opposing running back to rush for over 100 yards, as Cal's Russell White crossed the century mark with 103 yards.

The Golden Bears scored early and often in the first half, taking the opening kickoff 76 yards for a touchdown and adding a 31 yard field goal on their third possession. The Tigers were unable to gain a first down after the ensuing kickoff and were forced to punt. Although Chuck Lynch hit a 49-yard boot, California's Brian Treggs eluded the Tiger special forces unit and went the distance for a 72-yard touchdown. Clemson got on the boards for the first time with time running out in the first quarter as Nelson Welch connected on a 32 yard field goal on a drive highlighted by a 43-yard run by fullback Rudy Harris.

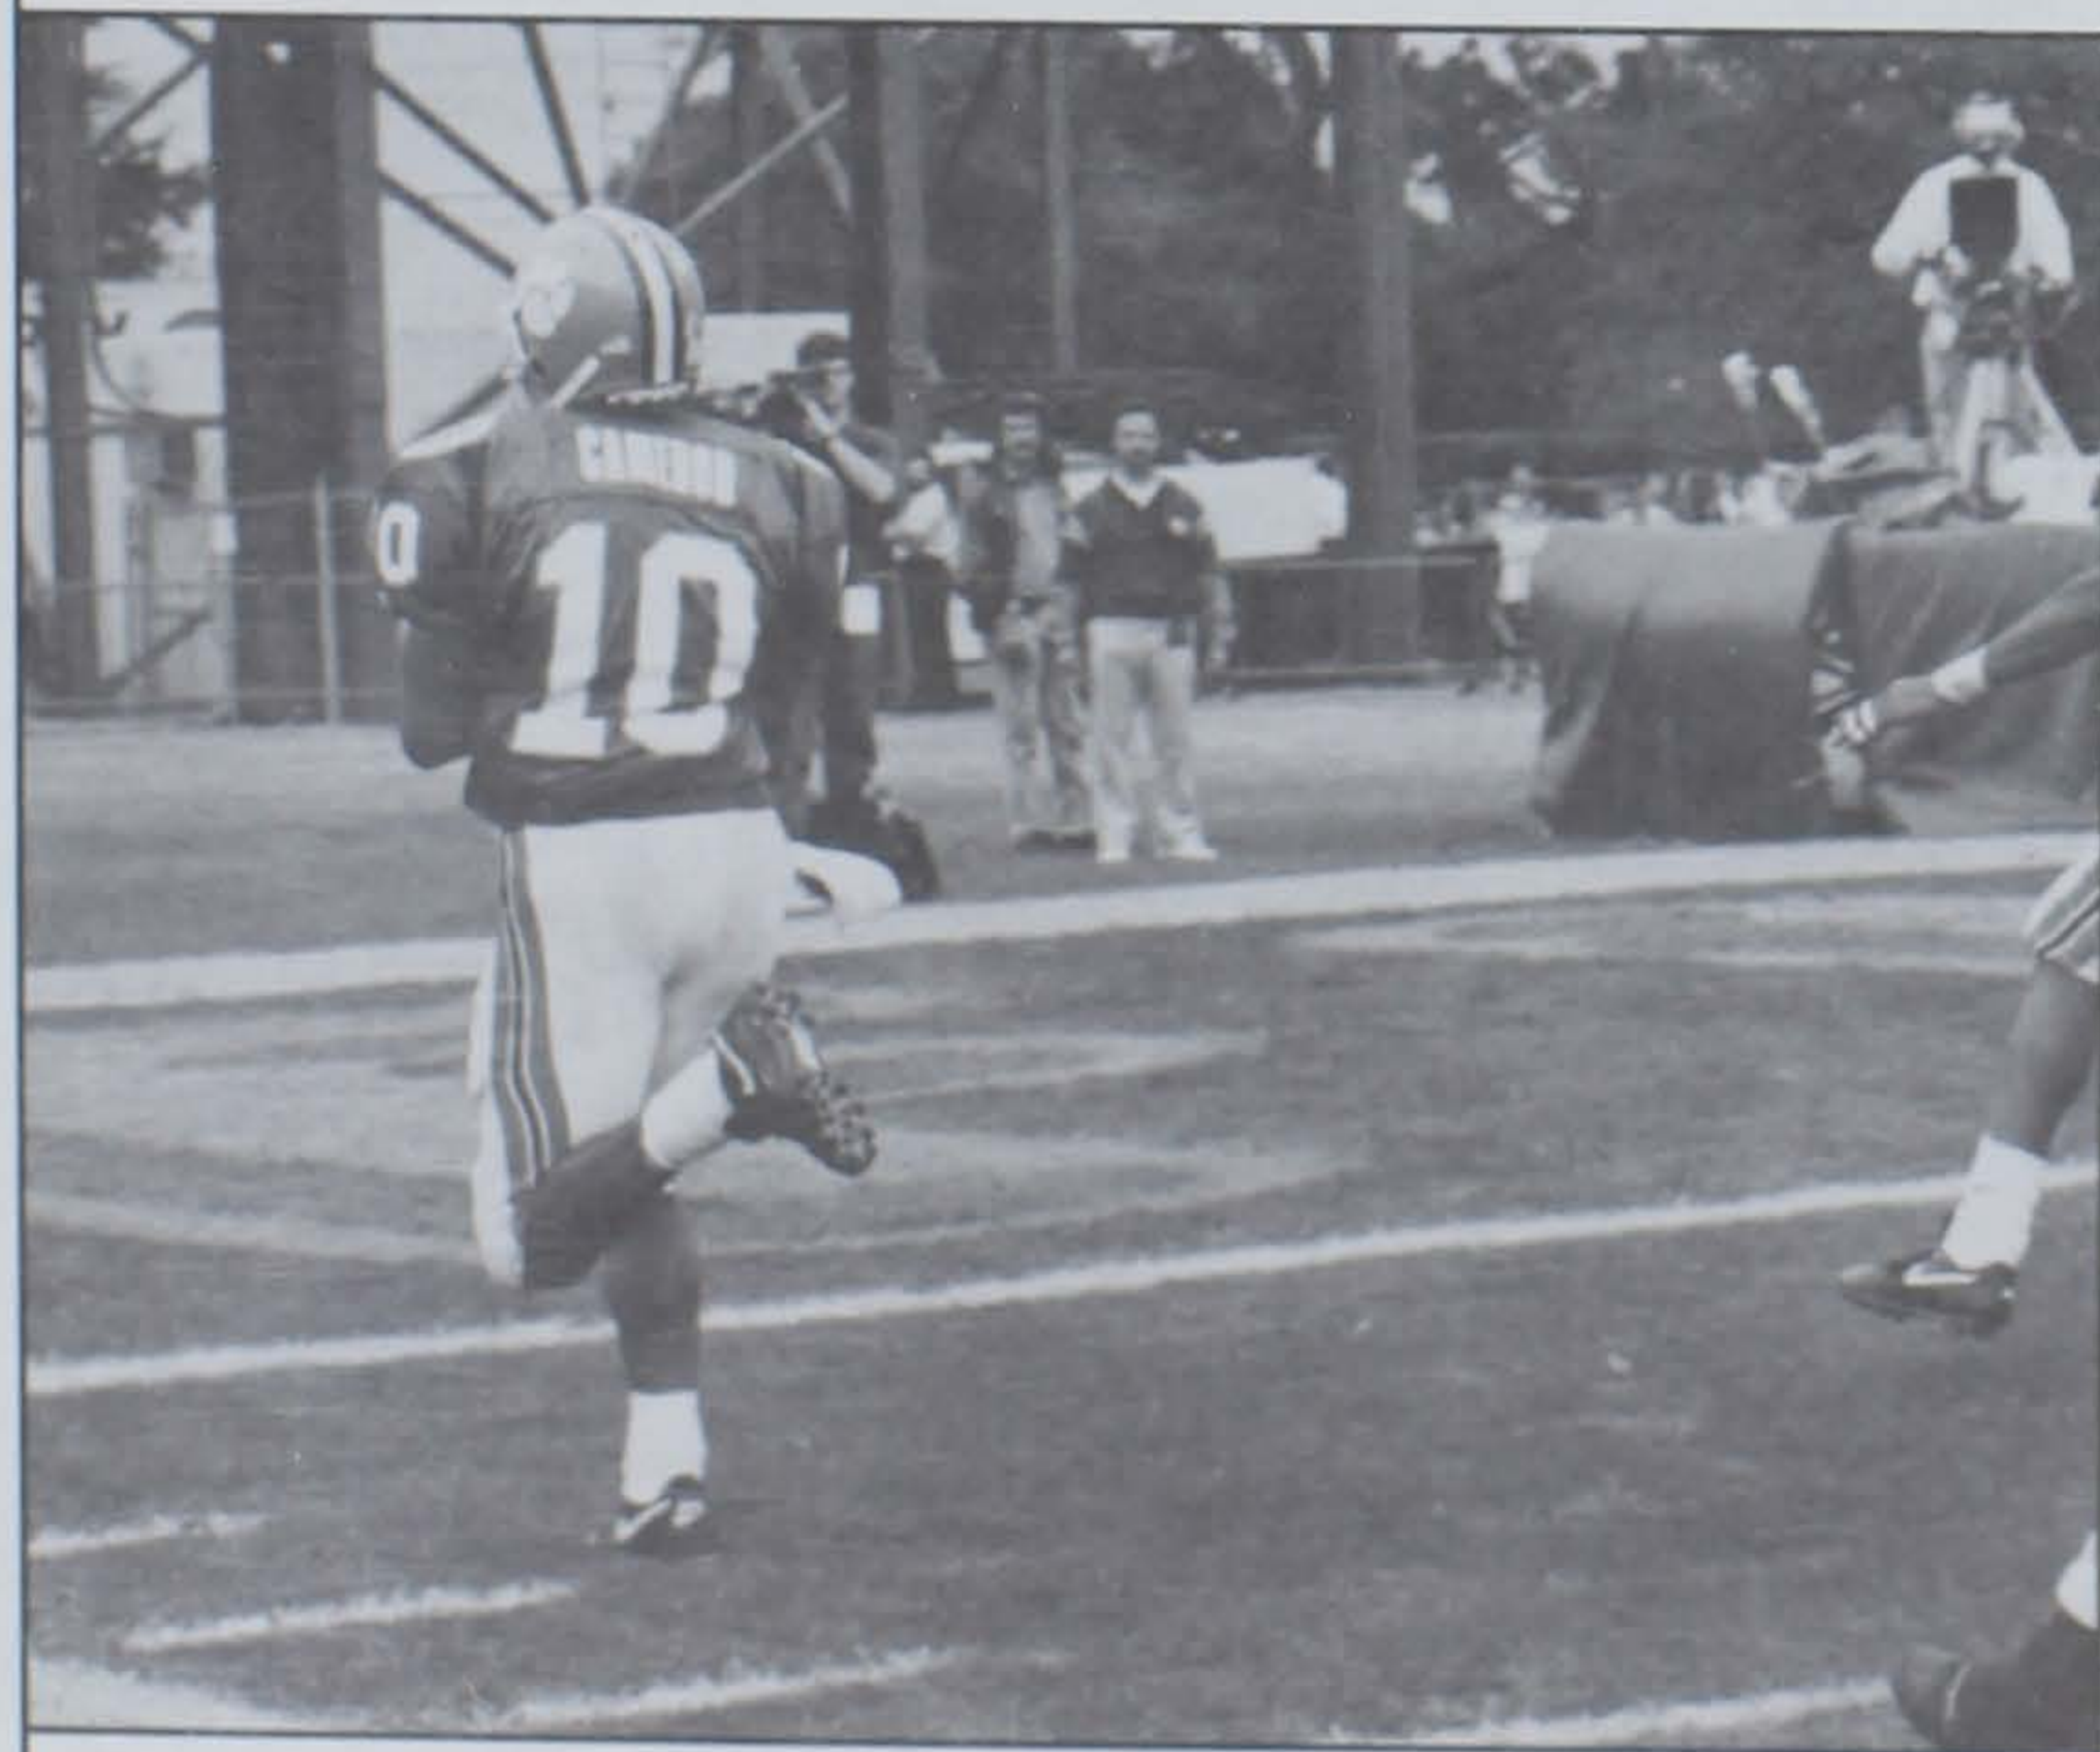

The highlight of the game for the Tigers came with just under five minutes remaining in the first half as quarterback DeChane Cameron broke loose for a 62-yard scoring romp. That play marked the longest run from scrimmage for a Clemson quarterback in 13 years, but also marked the only touchdown that Clemson would score that afternoon.

The only score for Clemson in the second half was a 36-yard field goal by Welch in the third period, while the Golden Bears would add a field goal and a touchdown on a 23-yard pass play. The Tiger defense managed to hold Cal scoreless through the fourth quarter, but Clemson could not put up any points, as they turned the ball over three times on interceptions and once on downs.

Two Tigers who were playing in their last game in Clemson uniform were named team MVPs in the loss. Defensive tackle Chester McGlockton, who had six tackles for the game, including three tackles for loss and one-and-a-half sacks, was named the Tigers' defensive MVP, while quarterback DeChane Cameron was named the Clemson's Most Valuable Offensive Performer, after he scored Clemson's only touchdown and had 189 yards in total offense.

Cameron's 62-yard TD run was the longest by a Clemson quarterback in 13 years.

The Tiger defense allowed an opposing running back to rush for over 100 yards for the first time in three seasons, as Cal's Russell White's 103 yards helped the Golden Bears end Clemson's bowl game victory streak at five.

1993 Peach Bowl

Kentucky 13

Heading into the Peach Bowl contest with Kentucky, Clemson owned the seventh-best bowl winning percentage in college football history with a .611 mark. The Tigers upped that percentage in an exciting way with a 14-13 victory over Kentucky, putting Clemson's overall bowl record at 12-7. On the way to the victory, Tommy West became the first coach in NCAA history to win his first game for a school in a bowl game without serving as an assistant coach in that program during the regular season.

West's first game as Tiger head coach did not lack for excitement, as Clemson sealed the victory with a 21-yard touchdown pass from Patrick Sapp to Terry Smith with 20-seconds remaining in the fourth quarter to give the Tigers a one-point victory. Smith led all Clemson receivers with four grabs for 56 yards for the contest.

A tandem of running backs who hailed from Pensacola, FL, led the Clemson rushing attack, as starting tailback Rodney Blunt rushed for a season-high 58 yards on 15 carries to lead the team. But, it was red-shirt freshman Emory Smith who was named the Tigers' Offensive MVP, as he rambled for 45 yards from his fullback position, including a two-yard touchdown run. Smith also helped set up the winning score on a 57-yard pass reception late in the fourth quarter.

Kentucky took the opening kickoff and drove 79-yards to the Clemson one, before linebacker Mike Barber forced a fumble that was recovered by LB Tim Jones. Clemson took over at the two, and starting QB Dexter McCleon engineered a 98-yard scoring drive that culminated in a one-yard run by Emory Smith.

The Wildcats drove back down the field on their next possession, this time reaching the Clemson one again, where they decided to go for it on fourth down. The Clemson defense held once again, as defensive tackle Brentson Buckner stopped the UK ball carrier for no gain. Buckner was named the game's Defensive MVP after tallying a dozen tackles, including three tackles for loss, and pressured the Wildcat quarterback three times. Buckner became just the fourth Tiger defensive lineman in the last eight years to record at least a dozen tackles in a game.

The Tigers were forced to punt after taking over at the one and Kentucky got on the scoreboard with a 17-yard field goal by Nicky Nickles. The score heading into the half stood at 7-3.

Neither squad scored in the third quarter, and barely into the fourth period, Kentucky took the lead with a 46-yard touchdown drive. On Clemson's next possession, McCleon was intercepted by Kentucky's Willie Cannon, and the Wilcats upped their lead to 13-7 on a 43 yard scoring drive, culminating in another Nickles field goal, this one from 26-yards.

With time running down in the fourth quarter, QB Patrick Sapp came off the bench after playing sparingly in the first half. The two teams exchanged punts before the Tigers got the ball at their own 18 with 3:50 left. On the first play of the drive, Sapp threw a screen to Emory Smith for 57 yards. With under a minute left, Kentucky linebacker Marty Moore intercepted a Sapp pass. But, on the return Stacy Seegars jarred the ball loose and Brent LeJeune recovered. With 20 seconds left in the game, Sapp connected with Terry Smith on a 21-yard TD and Nelson Welch hit the PAT to give the Tigers a one-point victory.

O.K. Pressley was Clemson's first All-American in any sport.

The record book never gives the complete story.

Although a typical record book lists the accomplishments of former greats in various categories, it never tells of an athlete's character, integrity, leadership, dedication, or his love for the game and Clemson.

Those accomplishments are etched in the minds of his family, friends and those he or she has touched during their lives.

Former Clemson football great O.K. Pressley is listed in the Clemson record book as the Tigers' first football All-American in 1928. The Tiger archives also tell of him being All-Southern in 1928 and captain of the first Clemson football team to win eight games in a season (1928). He was a unanimous choice for All-State honors in 1928, and named to the All-Southern team.

But most importantly according to the records (memories) of family and friends, he was also an All-American in the game of life.

"O.K. Pressley was like his initials—he was O.K.!", said Henry Asbill who was an end on the Clemson teams in the late 1920s.

"O.K. was a dedicated player. He played the game because he loved football and his school. He would help his team play better and harder by encouraging us. He would yell to us on defense 'lets go boys, let's hold them here, we can do better than that, or good play.' He never complained if he got hurt."

O.K. Pressley was the starting center and linebacker on the Clemson varsity football team in 1926-28. Back in those days a player participated on both offense and defense. He was named third-team All-American according to Newspaper Enterprise of America, John Heisman and Walter Trumull teams.

"He was a great player and person. He gave it his all," said Bob McCarley who was a running back on the Clemson teams in the late 1920s.

"He was an inspiration to all of us. He played clean and was a good sportsman who represented Clemson well. We all admired him. He was a great leader and was our team captain."

"A better center than Captain O.K. Pressley of Clemson is hard to find," said former South Carolina Head Coach Billy Laval.

Pressley was a dedicated family man as his son explains.

"My father was a great father and an All-American in every aspect of his life," said Kirk Pressley.

O.K. Pressley almost did not make it to Clemson, as his brother Tom tried to get him to go to Wofford with him and play football. Tom got off the train at Spartanburg and tried to convince his brother, but O.K. insisted he needed to go to Clemson. After he had gone 10-15 miles up the track towards Clemson, he almost jumped off the train and ran back to Spartanburg, but something inside of him told him to go on and be a Tiger— thus beginning one of the greatest football careers ever at Clemson.

When O.K. arrived at Clemson he began playing for the local YMCA team. Too modest to tell of his high school exploits, he remained on the YMCA team until he was discovered by the Clemson varsity coaches.

The YMCA team and varsity would scrimmage quite often on Bowman field in front of Tillman Hall. He was playing defensive tackle on the first scrimmage and he was an instant star. At first the varsity put their best blocker on him then they started double and triple teaming him, and he was still making tackles.

The Clemson varsity team claimed he was stealing their signals and Pressley challenged the varsity team to have their huddles at Tillman Hall then come and play. A star had been found and immediately he was asked to join the Clemson football squad.

Pressley was not only a great football player but at times served as trainer, publicist and friend—anything to help the Clemson Tigers win.

As a trainer, Pressley helped Team Doctor Lee Milford. "It was in the South Carolina game in 1928 on the opening kickoff, that two of our boys ran together and both of them had severe cuts over their eyes," recalled Pressley in an 1983 interview. "They could barely see out of them. Dr. Milford came running out on the field and said. 'We got to take these boys out.' Those were the days when you couldn't substitute. If you left the game you were finished for the day. I told him we didn't have anybody else to put in the game. I told him to give me some tape so I could work on one while he worked on the other. We patched them up so they could see out of their eyes and remain in the game."

Pressley acted as a publicist when he kept the Winthrop University campus informed of the Tigers' exploits, especially his hometown girlfriend and later wife. Still in pads after a ball game, he would walk to the Western Union Office and send a telegram to her at the Winthrop Campus and tell of the Clemson fortunes. Several Winthrop students would wait anxiously for the news of the Clemson Tigers. (Back in those days Clemson was the state's all male school and Winthrop was the state's all female college. Winthrop was considered Clemson's sister school.)

O.K. loved his teammates and was willing to share with them as any good friend would. The day before an Auburn game, the players went downtown in Auburn, AL. O.K. Pressley had 50 cents for the trip and bought a banana split for 25c. Pressley insisted on 12 spoons so his teammates could share in this special and unusual treat. It must have had some special power as Clemson upset Auburn, 6-0. It was in this game that Pressley suffered a severe hand injury.

He was in a great deal of pain on the train trip back home but he never complained. He would miss the next game against N.C. State, and he was being held out of the South Carolina contest.

In the South Carolina game, the Gamecocks were driving. O.K. Pressley knew he could help his team, but Head Coach Josh Cody did not want to play him because of his injury. South Carolina kept driving. O.K. went to Cody and begged to be put in and the coach said firmly "no". South Carolina was on the Tigers' 10-yard line. O.K. looked at the coach with pleading eyes.

Cody looked at O.K. and then looked at the field with an approving nod of the head as if to say please go in and stop the Gamecocks. Pressley charged out onto the field. On the first play he tackled the South Carolina player for an eight-yard loss. The next play Pressley tackled the South Carolina ball carrier for a seven-yard loss. The next two plays Pressley tackled the Gamecocks ball runners for a five and seven-yard loss respectively. It was probably the greatest one-man defensive stand in the history of Clemson football. Pressley must have given the Tigers a charge, as Clemson defeated the favored Gamecocks 32-0. Both teams came into this game with undefeated records of 5-0.

Pressley once commented on the gear used in the 1920s. "We wore patches on patches, but they were good times. We often tossed those leather skullcap type helmets to the sidelines and played without. One player shunned any pads or protective equipment because it slowed him down."

Josh Cody also coached basketball at Clemson. He convinced O.K. to play on the basketball team. Pressley had never seen much basketball and it was a new experience to him. A week later Clemson was playing at Furman in Greenville, SC. Pressley was sitting on the bench, and the Tigers were getting beat so Cody was willing to try anything.

He put Pressley in the game to help the defense. He told Pressley to stop the man with the ball. A Furman player was dribbling the ball down the court. Pressley was bound and determined not to let him shoot the ball, so he starting running after him and ran into the Furman player. The Furman player went straight up in the air and was knocked out. Cody immediately put Pressley on the bench for safety reasons. (the Furman fans and the Paladins were upset) His basketball career had lasted 45 seconds.

College graduation in 1929 didn't end Pressley's football playing days in that he entered the Marine Corps and served as a player/coach for some seven years. He went on to become a much decorated military figure before he retired with 20 years service to his credit in 1949 and returned to his native Chester County. He taught in the public schools there for several years, and retired to his farm near Chester.

He was honored at Clemson in 1983, over 50 years later, by being inducted into the Clemson Hall-of-Fame along with other Clemson greats. Pressley died on September 22, 1984.

Clemson's first All-American football player continued to be an All-American long after his Clemson career and made his mark in many people's records books.

Yearly Clemson Stats

Clemson has averaged only 1.5 turnovers per game over the last six seasons.

The Last Time It Happened

Clemson—89 yards by Darnell Stephens vs. Maryland, Nov. 16, 1991 at Clemson (Clemson 40, Maryland 7).

Opponents—72 yards by Brian Treggs of California on Jan. 1, 1992. The return gave the Bears a 17-0 lead at 2:14 of the first quarter in the 1992 Florida Citrus Bowl in Orlando (California 37, Clemson 13).

Clemson—98 yards by Doug Thomas vs. Maryland in Baltimore Memorial Stadium, Sept. 15, 1990 (Clemson 18, Maryland 17).

Opponents—78 yards by Leroy Gallman of Duke, Sept. 29, 1990 at Clemson (Clemson 26, Duke 7).

Clemson—Mitch Belton vs. Furman, Sept. 2, 1989 at Clemson. With the line of scrimmage being the Furman 25, Belton blocked the Paladin punt into the end zone, where Tony Mauney recovered for a touchdown (Clemson 30, Furman 0).
